CALLED ON BISMARCK.

Prince Henry of Prussia Visited the Ex-Chancellor Today.

Freidrichsruhe, March 27.—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother ofthe emperor, accompanied by his 6-year-old son, arrived at 11 o'clock. He was followed by the grand duke of Baden, Prince Hohenlohe, the chancellor, Prince Von Hohenlohe, youngest son of the chancellor; the Baden ministry and Count Von Wilmonski. The visitors were received by Count Von Ratzeau, the son-in-law of Prince Bismarck, who escorted them to the castle, where Prince Bismarck met them on the threshold and greeted them warmly. At the luncheon, Prince Henry of Prussia proposed the health of Prince Bismarck, saying: "May God still long preserve you."

Prince Henry and Prince Waldemar, his son, left here at 12:15 p. m. Before the arrival of his guest Prince Bismarck, with his household, attended the trooping of the colors of the Halberstadt cuirassiers and bade the most cordial farewell to the officers.

THURSTON'S DEPARTURE.

Washington, March 27.—The communication sent by Minister Thurston to the department yesterday of his intention to leave this country was received by the department today, and hereafter Mr. Hastings will be recognized as Hawaii's diplomatic representative until notice of selection of a new minister is received.

GREENHUT BACK IN PEORIA.

Peoria, Ill., March 27.—President Greenhut, of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding company, is back in Peoria after a protracted absence. He was at the company's headquarters today in consultation with Walter Barker, manager of the Peoria distilleries. He treated the charges against himself with contempt, saying they were unworthy of notice.

PENSION GRANTED.

Washington, March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—An original pension was today granted to Valorous Chilson (father) of Monticello, Minn.

DEBATED

The House Today Wrestled With the Question of Prison Labor.

Two Bills Restricting Number of Workers In the Same Industry.

McInnes' Bill On Taxation of Vessels Recommended to the Senate

St. Paul, March 27.—Among the petitions this morning was one from Minneapolis from a committee of Soo railroad employes against any measures reducing railroad rates. The following committee reports were made and adopted: S. F. 375, to forfeit Hastings & Dakota land grants, to pass; H. F. 567, to inspect hay at terminals, substitute to pass; H. F. 537, to appropriate money for monuments on battle field of Woodlake, substitute to pass; H. F. 665, to provide for free traveling libraries, to pass.

Mr. Staples introduced a resolution requesting the judiciary committee to prepare and introduce a bill calling a constitutional convention, and on his own notice of debate it went over until tomorrow. Mr. Schroeder called up H. F. 237, which was defeated during his absence but later reconsidered and laid on the table. It amends the laws relating to duties of township assessors, and Mr. Schroeder explained that the bill simply corrected a typographical error in the existing law. There was considerable opposition to the bill and it was lost, 54 to 40, needing 58 to pass.

The special order—the Schurmeier and Jacobson prison labor bills—was then taken up, both bills being read in full. Mr. Schurmeier offered a number of amendments including many of the features of the Jacobson bill.

He then spoke at considerable length in support of his bill and the amendments proposed by himself. He had the clerk read National Labor Commissioner Carroll D. Wright's opinion on the various systems of prison labor. Mr. Schurmeier then argued against any contract labor system and discussed the various systems of prison labor, concluding with an argument in support of his own bill.

Mr. Jacobson argued on the difference between the two bills, claiming that the per centage of labor in Mr. Schurmeier's bill was wrong. He insists that, with the changes proposed in that bill, there was little diffrence between the bills, and the one thing that should be considered was whether the prisoners should be made self sustaining, which he maintained was possible under his bill.

Mr. Warner thought any class of people knew best what legislation they wanted and needed, and he favored the percentage of the Schurmeier bill which allows but 15 per cent of the prisoners to work in the same industry, while the Jacobson bill allows as many prisoners to be employed in one industry as 15 per cent of the number in that industry in the state. He believed the Schurmeier bill the best drawn and likely to give the best results.

Mr. Feig said he endorsed Mr. Warner's speech in every particular.

Mr. Grondahl supported the Schurmeier bill in a strong speech, which was not completed when the noon recess was taken.

THE SENATE.

St. Paul, March 27.—The senate this morning adopted appropriate resolutions on the death of Col. F. E. Snow, of St. Paul, a former secretary of senate. The following bills were introduced:

Senator French, by request, to repeal chapter 54, laws of extra session of 1851, relating to taxation of mineral ores. Taxes and tax laws.

Senator Wing, to amend section 29, chapter 132, laws of 1883, as amended, relating to control infectious diseases. Judiciary.

Senator Stevens, to provide for organization and government of societies organized for the purpose of relieving the worthy poor. Passed under suspension.

Senator Stevens, to amend statutes of 1878, as amended, relative to security where judgment is entered by default. Judiciary.

Senator Howard, proposing an amendment to the constitution, authorizing other methods of voting than by ballot, provided that secrecy in voting is preserved. Elections.

Judiciary committee, to provide a speedy hearing in special proceeedings instituted upon a writ of habeas corpus and review thereof in the supreme court by any party being aggrieved by the decision and orderof the district court, a district judge or court commissioner. Judiciary.

The following bills were reported from committee: H. F. 305, to provide for the organization of schools, to pass; S. F. 643, to provide for the orderly observance of Memorial day, to pass; H. F. 532, Mr. McInnis, to regulate the taxation of vessels, to pass; S. F. 592, to provide for the examination of ore and clay at the state university, to be indefinitely postponed, but on motion of Senator Barr placed on general orders; H. F. 262, to authorize village councils to grant license money to schools, to pass; S. F. 456, to regulate the amount of liquor licenses at summer lake resorts, to be indefinitely postponed, bnt on motion of Senator Ilies placed on general orders; S. F. 141, to amend general law 1887, relating to intoxicating liquors, to pass; S. F. 448, to regulate sale or disposal of liquors, to be indefinitely postponed.

Senator Culkin called up his resolution of yesterday asking the railroad commission various questions as to its power in fixing rates and moved its adoption, and it was adopted, 30 to 9.

The senators found thirty-eight bills on the calendar awaiting final pasasge. One of the first passed was senate file 273, Ozmun's civil service service bill. The vote was 31 to 8.

Other bills passed were as follows: H. F. 520, a bill to change the name of the Minnesota state reform school and to consolidate the various acts relating to said school and to amend the same; S. F. 346, to amend chapter 131 of the general laws of 1891, relating to building, loan and saving associations doing a general business; S. F. 361, authorizing building, loan and savings associations doing a general business to invest money and to receive deposits in certain cases; S. F. 539 (substitute for S. F. No. 190) to amend chapter 200 of laws of 1889, giving liens for the better security of mechanics, material men, laborers and others; S. F. 540 (substitute for S. F. 536) to amend section 111, chapter 65, general statutes of 1878, relating to appeals from courts of justices of the peace; S. F. 332, to amend sections 205, 206, 207 and 208, title 3, of chapter 34, general statutes of 1878, relating to corporations.

THE UNITED WORKMEN.

St. Paul, March 27.—The A. O. U. W. today elected the following officers: Grand master workman, Fred M. Lloyd, of St. Paul; C. G. Hinds, of Shakopee, grand foreman by acclamation. George W. Fischer, of Winona, was chosen grand overseer and Grand Recorder Olof Olson, of Willmar, and Grand Receiver J. J. McCardy were re-elected without opposition. E. A. Englin, of Stillwater, was elected grand guide.

MRS. IRELAND DEAD.

St. Paul, March 27.—Mrs. Julia Ireland, aged 87, mother of Archbishop Ireland, died at her home in this city at 2 o'clock this morning.

THE MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

There Are Rumors of Dissensions In the Cabinet.

Winnipeg, Man., March 27.—There are no new developments in the school case today, although there are rumors of dissensions in the local cabinet. The opposition will move an amendment, forming a compromise with the Catholics.

A special from Ottawa, Ont., says: The Dominion cabinet was organized last night, so as to be ready for the meeting of parliament next month. J. S. Patterson, minister of militia, resigned his portfolio, which was accepted. He will remain in the cabinet without portfolio for a few weeks before going to Manitoba as lieutenant governor. Dr. Montague, member of cabinet without portfolio, was sworn in as secretary of state by Lord Aberdeen. Meantime Mr. Patterson will remain acting. The appointment of Dr. Montague will necessitate his being re-elected. He sits for Haldimand, a strong Conservative riding in Ontario.

A special from Toronto says: The crisis in government affairs is further complicated by the resignation of Sir Charles H. Tupper, minister of justice. Sir Charles is in accord with the government on the school question but he favors a direct appeal to the people on it at a general election.

THE MIKADO'S REGRET.

The Attack Upon Li Hung Chang's Life Deplored.

New York, March 27.—A special from Shanghai says: The following is a translation of an imperial rescript, published in a special issue of the Japanese official gazette on the attempt on the the life of Li Hung Chang:

"China is now in a state of war with our country but she has, with a due observance of forms of international etiquette, sent an ambassador for the conclusion of peace. We, on our part, named our plenipotentiaries who were instructed to meet him and nominate terms. Thus it was incumbent upon us, in pursuance with international usage, to afford the ambassador treatment consistent with the national honor and accord him a suitable welcome and look out for his protection. We consequently gave orders to all officers to use most diligence, and it is therefore with profound regret that a ruffian should have dared to inflict personal injury upon the Chinese ambassador.

"The culprit must receive the severest punishment provided by the law. Our official subjects must respct our wishes to preserve the glory of our country and must provide against the recurrence of such violence."

Bajon Von Buhl Berbohn Was Elected President Today.

Berlin, March 27.—The reichstag today elected Baron von Buhl Berbohn, first vice president of the reichstag, and recently acting president to be president of the body in succession to Herr von Levitsow, who resigned Saturday last, as a result of a refusal of the reichstag to permit him to congratulate Prince Bismarck in the name of the house on his birthday. The vote stood 291 for the election and 182 against it. The new president of the reichstag in accepting the presidency took occasion to praise the services in office.

BLEW OUT HIS BRAINS.

San Francisco, March 27.—W. W. Carrington, a professed anarchist, committed suicide in his room in the presence of a police detective who had him under arrest. He had been advertising for young and pretty girls for whom he pretended he had situations. When told to accompany the officers to the police station, he stepped aside for a moment and blew out his brains.

SUICIDE AT ATCHISON.

Kansas City, March 27.—A special to a local paper from Atchison, Kan., tells of a suicide in that city of John H. Wilde, a well-known railroad man and nephew of Chauncey Depew. No cause is given for the act. Wilde's mother was a sister of the railroad magnate. Wilde was a railroad route agent and well known in the West.

FIVE CHILDREN PERISHED.

Minot, N. D., March 27.—The residence of Sinius Christianson, a carpenter, was consumed by fire last night. Five children, ranging in age from 3 to 15 years, perished in the flames.

BUCKET SHOP FAILURE.

CHOLERA AT PORT ARTHUR.

London, March 27.—Dispatches received here from Shanghai say there were thirty-eight cases of cholera on Monday among the Japanese troops at Port Arthur.

IN HAWAII

Latest Advices From Honolulu Say Nothing In Regard to Thurston.

There Was no Knowledge There of His Recall Being Demanded.

Martial Law Was Declared Off And the Military Commission Adjourned.

San Francisco, March 27.—The steamship Australia arrived today from Honolulu. The latest Hawaiian advices contain no reference to the demand made by Secretary Gresham for the recall of Minister Thurston, and it is evident that no knowledge of this diplomatic incident has reached the Hawaiian people. Whether the Hawaiian government has any knowledge of the state of affairs at Washington is simply a matter of conjecture. The following is from the special correspondent of the Associated Press at Honolulu: Martial law was declared off March 18. The military commission has been adjourned and the larger part of the 190 prisoners brought before this body are now working out their sentences in quarries or on roads. Interest the past few days has centered principally in the sessions of the advisory council, which has been passing laws bearing directly upon the recent rebellion. A law of no little interest to the deported continent makes it unlawful for any person to land on the islands from any vessel arriving from a foreign port who is a criminal or a refugee from justice or who has been convicted of crime, or been under arrest for a criminal offense and has departed or escaped from the Hawaiian islands in order to avoid trial, or who has been deported from the Hawaiian islands by order of the president or marshal in time of martial law, or who has been banished by sentence of any court, unless such person shall have received permission from the minister of foreign affairs so to land.

Violation of this law by an attempt to land on the islands is punishable by a term of imprisonment at hard labor not exceeding two years and a fine not to exceed $5000. Any master of a vessel who knowingly brings such people back to the country is subject to a fine of $500 for each person brought and landed, or he may be imprisoned for a year at hard labor and his vessel not given clearance until the fine is paid.

The question of the disposition of Lilioukalani is causing rumors, but the government officials state nothing has been done or suggested, other than is already in force. Attorney General Smith, on being asked what disposition was to be made of the ex-queen, said: "She already is disposed of. No advances have been made to the government on her part. She will be kept where she is."

The appropriation to cover the expense of the rebellion has been raised $15,000 and will undoubtedly reach $100,000 before all bills are paid. The failure of the cable appropriation in congress has in no degree lessened the interest in cable matters. A member of the cabinet stated in an interview that the Hawaiian government is ready at any time to consider any cable proposition that may advance the interest of the nation.

The arrival of nearly 1000 Japanese laborers by the German steamer Independent, has given rise to the usual rumors concerning the Japanese. Out of 900 passengers, 125 were "free laborers," nearly all of whom have served in the Japanese army. The English man-of-war Nymph arrived Sunday, but will soon proceed to the South seas.

MADELINE POLLARD IN GOTHAM.

Pittsburg Dispatch: Madeline Pollard and Bradley, her brother, can frequently be seen among throngs on Upper Broadway. As her identity is unknown to the many, she is not stared at as much as she might be. It's just as well for all concerned that only a few are able to point her out to the passers-by and thereby keep afresh the unsavory story.

MAN MILLINER WORTH A STOIC.

Of Worth, the famous French milliner, it is said that, though he personally fitted all his patrons, "the woman is not living to whom he ever paid a compliment. When one remembers his temptations, and that he had fitted every beautiful woman of fashion of his period at one time or another, his stold self poise, or rather stoicism, is a marvel."

INCLINED TO FREE COINAGE.

Washington correspondence of the St. Paul Globe: Congressman Towne, as has been indicated many times, is still a good deal of a Michigan man. Since his election he has spent nearly all his time in his old home, and has become inoculated with the free silver sentiment that seems to have such a strong hold on men of all parties in that state. In case he decides to follow the majority of his friends in the Michigan Republican delegation on this question there will undoubtedly be some opposition on that ground.

PUBLISHED FOR A CENTURY.

There are only thirteen American newspapers which have reached the century mark. The names of these papers and the dates when they were founded were as follows: 1756, New Hampshire Gazette, Portsmouth, N. H.; 1758, Newport Mercury, Newport, R. I.; 1764, Connecticut Courant, Hartford, Conn.; 1771, Massachusetts Spy, Boston and Worcester, Mass.; 1779, New Jersey Journal, Elizabeth, N. J.; 1785, Augusta Chronicle, Augusta, Ga.; 1786, Hampshire Gazette, Northampton, Mass.; 1790, Salem Gazette, Salem, Mass.; 1792, New Jersey State Gazette, Trenton, N. J.; 1792, Greenfield Gazette, Greenfield, Mass.; 1792, The Guardian, New Brunswick, N. J.; 1793, Portsmouth Journal, Portsmouth, N. H.; 1794, Rutland Herald, Rutland, Vt.

SHE SIGHED.

Indianapolis Journal: She sighed. She had been looking into the mirror, but still she sighed.

"Yes," she admitted, "I have reached the age when I must expect to stand up in a crowded car. I can neither get a seat on account of my youthful beauty nor by reason of my helpless old age."

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Capt. Miller Explains the Objects of the Society.

The Associated Charities of Duluth stands for co-operation between all charitable organizations and workers and for personal service to the poor. It sees that every case referred to it is inquired into and dealt with as wisely as its judgment can devise and a report sent to the parties referring. The objects of this society are to secure the concurrent and harmonious action of the different charities, public and private, in order to raise the needy above the need of relief, to prevent street begging and imposition, to diminish pauperism, to encourage self dependence and industry through friendly intercourse, advice and sympathy and to help the poor to help themselves.

There will never come to our city again a time when the work of the Associated Charities will stand for as much as now. I believe that the indiscriminate giving as now practiced is simply an injustice to the poor and the taxpayer alike, and we are not only educating the poor that we have but the population that will come to us in the future to be a never failing curse to the community and themselves. This constantly doing for others what they should do for themselves breeds paupers.

Drummond in his "Natural Law of the Spiritual World" says any principle which secures food to the individual without the expenditure of work is injurious and accompanied by the degeneration and loss of parts. Drummond has well said for those parts which have been sacrificed are loss of manhood and womanhood, self-respect and all that goes to make a man or woman the equal among their fellows. Outdoor relief should be practically abandoned. Of course there will be cases where instant relief is necessary, but in a large majority of cases of outdoor relief we are only encouraging pauperism.

I believe that where there is a strong healthy man no relief should be given. I have found more reluctance to receive charity among women than among men, more pride also more true charity toward and sympathy for the poor. I believe that indiscriminate giving on a surface investigation should not be done. Thorough systematic investigation, once performed, should be continuous until they are educated out of pauperism. My advice to those whose duty it is, never pass the door of a mendicant without calling. Show them that you care for them. Talk to them; encourage them, teach them to respect themselves; teach them to be industrious and economical, for remember that giving yourself is far better than giving money to provide him with that which with a little effort he might provide for himself.

Indiscriminate giving is a curse to the recipient and a sin to the giver. Experience has taught me that once a pauper always a pauper. What we have to do is to educate them away from it. We can help one, if we do it with the right spirit for once having received something for nothing they will look for it again and again until the once ever busy, active man becomes a pauper and his children a burden and a curse for the future. And the descent from poverty as a situation to pauperism as a condition is as certain as fate. Charity to be effective must be administered with just discrimination. Without thorough systematized effort the benevolent intention of those who joyfully respond to their noblest impulses only result in fostering and increasing the evils which they desire to mitigate. Whenever individuals or societies undertake to minister to the wants of the needy without interchanging information, but by concealing their transaetions one from another, they are simply conspiring to increase pauperism.

J. W. MILLER.

NO NEW TRIAL.

Judge Lewis Denies the Merritts' Motion for One.

Judge Lewis has denied the motion for a new trial made by Leonidas Merritt's Attorneys in the case against the Biwabik Mountain Iron company. The suit resulted in a verdict for $500, and the motion for a new trial was made on the ground that the verdict was not justified by the evidence. The case will be appealed, and will probably result in deciding the vexed question of whether an officer of a corporation can recover for services performed as such.

RECEPTION AND BANQUET.

The executive committee of the associate alumni of the Duluth high school met yesterday at the High school. It was decided to arrange for a reception and banquet to be given during commencement week. The idea is to welcome the graduating class, to promote fraternity and to discuss ways and means of procuring a college scholarship to be awarded to some one of the graduating class each year. The executive committee is composed of Miss Stella Stearns, Miss Fanny Marvin, W. N. Edson, George P. Tvedt and B. N. Wheeler. Any of the above will receive suggestions concerning the annual meeting.

WILL SOON START UP.

In about two weeks the saw mills will be starting up for the season's run The Gray mill at Rice's Point will begin sawing for the Cranberry Lumber company about April 10. The company has about 5,000,000 feet of logs coming in by rail, and by the time those are out of the way the ice will have been out for some time.

The B.B.Richards Lumber company's mill at New Duluth will start up as soon as the ice goes out which will be about April 15 from the present outlook.

The logs from the Amnicon and the Nemadji rivers are expected in between May 1 and 15.

LUMBER FREIGHTS.

From Port Huron comes the report of the charter of the steamers Canisteo and consorts and Street and consorts for lumber from Duluth to Chicago at $1.85, the owner of the lumber paying tug bills in Chicago. This must be taken with a liberal grain of allowance.

THREE PRISONERS SHOT.

Matamoras, Mex., March 27.—Advices have just reached here that Sostanes Saldana and two other desperate prisoners, who were being conducted from this place to La Mala, where they were to be tried, attempted to escape, when all three were shot and killed by the military escort.

A DUCHESS DYING.

London, March 27.—The dowager duchess of Buccleuch is dying.

ROMANTIC

Attachment Between Robert Louis Stevenson and a Boy in Samoa.

San Francisco, March 27.—From Samoa comes a romantic story of an attachment between Robert Louis Stevenson and Joseph Austin Strong, the 12-year-old son of Joseph D. Strong, well known on the Pacific coast as an artist and a newspaper caricaturist. Mr. Strong married the daughter of Stevenson's wife and settled in the Hawaiian islands. It was while on a visit to them that Stevenson became acquainted with the little boy. A mutual attachment sprang up between the two. It was here that the novelist indulged in his celebrated cruises in his yacht over the Pacific ocean. In all his sea water wanderings Stevenson was accompanied by young Strong. Australia, Samoa and the Gilbert islands were visited at intervals by the chums. Stevenson has bequeathed half his entire estate to his boy comrade.

The property includes the immense estate owned by Stevenson in Samoa, who developed it into a high state of cultivation. About a year ago Stevenson sent the boy to Oakland to be educated, but the separation was too much for Stevenson, who sent for the lad. During Stevenson's illness the boy was constantly at his bedside, and was present at his death. He is now living on the Samoan plantation inconsolable at the death of his companion and benefactor.

CHICAGO AS A MUSICAL CENTER.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Who says that Chicago is not coming on as a musical center as well as a literary center? The Journal of that city declines to echo the praise of the Metropolitan Opera company, notwithstanding the fact that it bears the stamp of New York's approval, in its criticism of "The Huguenots" the Journal, with judicious restraint, refuses to commit itself positively, but says that the artists can only be properly judged when they have sung some real music like "The Bells of Corneville." Let the company stand the test if it wants to win Chicago's aproval. If it fails in "The Bells of Corneville" it may fare better with "Comin' Thro' the Rye," "In the Wheat Fields and By," "The Cows Are in the Corn," or "Root Hog or Die."

A DANGEROUS GIFT.

Household Words: George—I have been invited to a flower party at the Pinkies. What under the sun is a "flower party?"

Jack—That's one of the new notions this season. It is a novel form of birthday party. Each guest must send Miss Pinkie a boquet containing as many flowers as she is years old, and the flowers must have a meaning. Study the language of flowers before ordering.

Florist's Boy (a few hours later)—A gentleman left an order for twenty of these flowers to be sent to the Pinkies with his card.

Florist—He's one of my best customers. Add eight or ten more for good measure.

THE MANITOBA SQUABBLE.

Minneapolis Journal: Over in Manitoba the old quarrel has broken out with added bitterness. The attempt of the Ottawa government to force the people of the province to subsidize separate parochial schools of the Roman Catholic church, which the legislature had abolished, has fired the hearts of the non-Roman Catholic population. Revolution, rebellion, defiance, are in the air, and the Ottawa government may have an ugly piece of business on its hands. It will at least require a backdown by the Dominion government to pacify the province. The disturbance is such as we might expect in this country if the tendency to subsidize sectarian religious schools and other institutions is allowed play.

THE EVIL PETTICOAT RULE

Boston Herald: The governor of Virginia had no need to apologize. He would have been all right if he had simply stood up in his boots and insisted that he acquitted himself properly in permitting a colored representative from Massachusetts to partake of his hospitality. The governor of Virginia shouldn't permit himself to be terrorized by his wife.

IMPIETIES.

Once Mr. Gladstone had been cutting down a tree in the presence of a large concourse of people, including a number of "cheap trippers," relates a London paper. When the tree had fallen and the prime minister and some of his family who were with him were moving away there was a rush for the chips. One of the trippers secured a big piece and exclaimed: "Hey, lads, when I dee this shall go in my coffin!" Then cried his wife, a shrewd, motherly old woman, with a merry twinkle in her eye, "Sam, my lad, if thou worship God as thou worships Gladstone thou'd stand a better chance for going where the chip wouldn't burn!"

The parson replied: "Put the tip of your apostolic tongue in the roof of your episcopal mouth, my lord, and hiss like a gander."

Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone were sitting in a church at Cannes the other day. They were near the pulpit, but when the sermon began Mr. Gladstone turned to his wife and said, irritably, "I can't hear!" "Never mind, my dear, she replied, in a whisper loud enough to reach the pulpit, "never mind; go to sleep, it will do you much more good."

San Francisco Examiner: Churchman—Do you think it right for that Oakland minister to dance in the pulpit? Deacon—I'm a leetle doubtful, brother, leetle doubtful. But, remember, the more he dances the less he preaches, and we must consider all the mitigating circumstances.

A few Sundays ago a clergyman in Ireland made the following announcement: "Next Sunday, in this church, the Rev. Mr. —— will renounce the errors of Rome for those of Protestantism."

TERRIBLE

The Plankington Block, the Y. M. C. A. Building and Others Were Burned.

Public Library Scorched and Total Loss Over One Million.

Milwaukee, March 27.—Fire broke out last night the 4-story block on Grand avenue owned by the Plankinton estate and completely destroyed the building and its contents. It was occupied by Landaur & Co., wholesale dry goods and Tanner & Co., furnishing goods. Not until nearly 2 o'clock was the fire under control. It proved to be one of the worst fires in the history of local conflagrations and the total loss is figured to reach $1,065,000. In addition to the Plankinton block, the Y. M. C. A. building on the north, one of the handsomest and most completely equipped in the West was burned and the large public library building was badly damaged.

The fire started in the Plankinton block on Grand avenue, which was soon gutted. Before an hour the flames had crossed Fourth street and were feeding on the Y. M. C. A. building, and twenty minutes later the two upper stories of the library block were a seething mass of fire. About that time the department under Chief Foley's direction, had done its work to save the library and the three clothing and dry goods stores it contains. The force of the blaze had spent itself on the south side of the avenue, after having reduced the Plankinton estate's block, occupied by Landaur & Co. and Tanner & Co., to ashes. There was now danger to surrounding property on Fourth street near the Y. M. C. A. building, owing to the firebrands scattered broadcast by the flames from the uper portion of the library block. It was only by desperate work that thelibrary was saved, and at 2 o'clock the more than scorched building was saved from all damage except to the upper floor.

The fire brands leaped across to the north side of the avenue, ruining the art store of Roebel & Reinhart and two or three little saloons. The public library building at the northwest corner of Grand avenue and Fourth was saved by hard work. The loss on the building is believed to be nearly $150,000. The building is owned by the Plankinton estate. At one time it was thought nothing could save the structure.

On the fourth floor of the library building are the rooms of the Germania society. In the art room is the library containing about 1000 books. Water and smoke did great damage to the Foster building at the southwest corner of Grand avenue and Fourteenth street, which contained a number of suits, all of which were occupied by families. Many of the occupants owe their lives to Luke McCormick, a clerk in the postoffice. Passing the building during the fiercest of the fire in the Tanner building, he ran upstairs and aroused the sleeping tenants.

The buildings owned by the Plankinton estate were the large brick buildings occupying nearly a block and a half, occupied by the Tanner company, furniture, and Landaur & Co., dry goods; the building in the rear of Landaur & Co., occupied by the Reliance Storage company. The estate will suffer a loss of about $250,000 on the buildings, which were practically destroyed. The insurance was estimated at 90 per cent.

Max Landaur, of Landaur & Co., said the stock carried at present by his firm was valued at $400,000, and he, too, usually carried about 90 per cent insurance, which would make the actual loss of the firm $320,000. The firm is composed of Max and Adolph Landaur and A. J. McKelther. Tanner & Co.'s loss is about $100,000. The block occupied by Tanner & Co. and the Matthews building was destroyed. The structure was one of frame and was worth $20,000 at the outside. The insurance was said to foot up to about $15,000.

Bartin & Wambold had just received a large consignment of spring goods, and the entire stock as well as the building was lost completely. With the new goods the stock was worth $90,000 or more, so one of the firm said. The insurance was about $70,000.

CROPS IN EUROPE.

Great Damage Has Been Doue by Severe Weather.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The report of the European agent of the department of agriculture has been made public. It treats of the conditions respecting crops prevailing in most of the countries there, and is as follows:

In Great Britain the month has been one of continued frost and low temperatures. No field work has been done in any part of the country for five weeks.

Beans and clover are also expected to show evidence of the unusual severity of the winter. In many districts wheat is being fed to stock in large quantities. Potatoes are beginning to respond in price to the anticipated scarcity throughout the world, and values have increased about $4 per ton. Stocks in England have not been so short in years, and seed was higher than it has been known for a long time. In France it is believed that the sudden alterations of temperature in the early part of the month, before there were heavy snowfalls, have injured wheat and rye.

HE PLEADED GUILTY.

A Land Office Clerk Confesses to Having Embezzled.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 27.—The trial of Nathan T. Gadd for embezzling over $2300 of government money while a clerk in the Broken Bow land office, came to a sudden end yesterday afternoon, Gadd pleading guilty. The case was one of great importance, the title of about forty homesteads in the state having been at one time jeopardized by Gadd's embezzlement of the important papers connected with final proofs and entries. Gadd was at one time in the ministry.

Bismarck's Animosity Recalled.

LONDON, March 27.—A dispatch to the Post from Berlin says that the Vossiche Zeitung, while regretting the vote in the reichstag on Herr von Levetzow's proposal, says the majority only meted his own measure to Prince Bismarck. The paper recalls Prince Bismarck's wrathful rejection of the unanimous vote of condolence that the American congress sent to the reichstag on the death of Herr Lasker. The Vossiche Zeitung thinks that the man who thus carried his personal animosities beyond the grave, would never have consented to congratulate an opponent.

Bank Vault Robbed.

ROCKFORD, Ill., March 27.—The vault in the bank of Mount Horris was blown open with dynamite by burglars early yesterday evening, wrecking the vault and fixtures. Nearly $10,000 was in the safe in the vault, but it is not believed they secured any part of this. It is known that they got away with several hundred dollars in silver.

Charged With Murder.

PITTSBURG, March 27.—Twelve members of the "Bee" gang are in jail here charged with being implicated in the murder of Kearney Sutton, the non-union glass worker at Tarentum, Saturday night. George M. Clelland, the leader of the gang, surrendered to the sheriff yesterday.

Execution Postponed.

FREMONT, Neb., March 27.—Charles Carlton was to have been hanged yesterday for murdering August Gothman, but the execution was indefinitely postponed pending a petition from the supreme court to the governor, requesting that, on account of the vagueness of the evidence, the sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

A Compromise Offer.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 27.—The Railroad Coal Operators' association met yesterday and offered to enter into an agreement with the miners to pay 60 cents per ton for one year from April 1. A committee was appointed to confer with the Miners' organization and present the compromise offer.

To Dissolve the Reichstag.

LONDON, March 27.—A dispatch to the Times from Berlin says that it is stated that Emperor William said at the luncheon with Prince Bismarck yesterday that he was determined to dissolve the reichstag, and that he also said that Count von Waldersee would shortly become chancellor.

Wheat Whisky Maker.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 27.—Deputy United States marshals raided an illicit still on the East Side yesterday and arrested A. Quelleto, who made the whisky from refuse wheat bought here. A complete outfit was captured.

Manslaughter Charged.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 27.—"Doctor" Richard Cook, a Christian science healer, and Jesse Samis, whose wife recently died as a result of Christian science treatment, were arrested yesterday under charges of manslaughter.

The Venezuela Claims.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—After months of deliberation the Venezuelan claims commission has concluded its labors and announced its decision, being a judgment in favor of the citizens of the United States for $143,500, about one-third of the amount of the claims.

Spanish Troops in Cuba Repulsed with Heavy Loss.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A special from Tampa says: Havana passengers by the Olivette confirm the rumor that the insurgents have taken possession of Nayo and Manzanilla, repulsing Col. Santo Cilde's troops at Manzanilla with heavy loss.

The Royal Arcanum.

Could Not See His Friends.

PORT TAMPA, Fla., March 27.—The Plant steamship arrived last night from Havana with a fair number of passengers, among whom was a large manufacturer who has been to Cuba prospecting for lignum vitae. He had introductory letters to two prominent Cubans near Pinas Del Rio, on the Venta Abajo district, but upon arrival at his destination, found one of them in prison and the other a fugitive with a price upon his head, both of them having been in several skirmishes a few weeks before.

Was Jealously Insane.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 27.—In a fit of jealous insanity brought on by remorse and grip, James W. McGarvey made an attempt yesterday with a hatchet to murder his housekeeper, Miss Sadie Martin, and kill himself at his residence, 372 Nineteenth street. He has imagined that his son John and Miss Martin were trying to kill him and had frequently said he would kill them before he killed himself. Neither Miss Martin or McGarvey will die, although both are quite severely injured.

Sunday Closing Crusade.

ST. LOUIS, March 27.—The Sunday Closing associations scored another victory yesterday in the conviction of Jacob Kurtz, who was charged with selling whisky on Sunday. It is given out that the crusade is to be vigorously pushed.

Remembered Washington.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 27.—Aunt Julia Thompson, an old colored woman, who claimed to be 158 years old died in Dallas county yesterday. She clamed to remember when George Washington licked the Britishers.

Shot His Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Frank Sattler, an assayer, shot and fatally wounded his wife last night and then killed himself. The couple quarreled and separated several weeks ago.

More Congratulations.

BERLIN, March 27.—The object of the visit of Prince Hohenlohe to Prince Bismarck today is to convey to him the congratulations of the Prussian council and ministry.

Right Arm Paralyzed!

Saved from St. Vitus Dance.

"Our daughter, Blanche, now fifteen years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. We feared St. Vitus dance, and tried the best physicians, with no benefit. She has taken three bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine and has gained 31 pounds. Her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid."

KILLED

Two Train Robbers Killed and One Mortally Wounded by Detectives.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 27.—The Cincinnati Southern train No. 3, arrived here on time today, although it stopped a few minutes to kill three robbers. A News representative met the train on its arrival here and obtained the following interviews from the conductor and engineer. Engineer Tom Springfield has been runing on the road for a number of years and is regarded as a very reliable engineer. This is his first experience with train robbers, and he told the following story:

"We were coming along on time. Engine 586 is a humper and Rankin, my fireman, was keeping her hot. We had mail, express and baggage cars, a smoker, two day coaches and two sleepers. We left Somerset on time. I slowed down a little as we ran through tunel No. 9, about six miles south of Somerset in Pulaski county, Ky. About 300 yards this side of the tunnel a man on the track with a white lantern flagged me down. This is one of the loneliest spots on the entire road. You know it is up in the rough and rugged mountain districts of Kentucky. There is not a house within two miles of the place. In fact there is no house that is nearer than Greenwood. That place is two miles to the east. The road somewhat curves too, and altogether a better place could not have been selected for a train robbery.

"Did you think of train robbers?"

"No, I did not."

"Did you suppose that a freight wreck was ahead?"

"No, I did not. I did not think anything. I just saw the fellow swinging the lantern and I stopped the train. I did not see anybody else. When I stopped to seewhat he was swinging the lantern for, the fellow climbed into the cab and said: 'stand here till I tell you to go on,' and he pointed a pistol at me. He stood on the left side of the cab. He looked like a desperado. As near as I can recollect, he had a big black mustache, a slouch hat and rather seedy clothes. He looked like a rough country man. The fellow did not say another word, but he kept his pistol pointed at me."

Did you not seem alarmed when the shooting was going on?"

"No he just kept standing there with his pistol pointed at me. I don't know what kind of a pistol it was, but it was a big one."

With this the brave engineer straightened out his hand and placed his left hand almost to his right elbow to show the length of the robber's pistol It might have been a horse pistol.

"Rankin, the fireman, looked out of the cab on his side and said: 'They have killed two of them.' But the fellow kept me covered with his big gun and did not say a word. After one or two more shots were heard up in front the robber dropped from the cab and said, 'Go ahead.' I opened the throttle and we ran to Cumberland Falls, about four miles further down."

When asked why he did not shoot the robber as he left the engine, Mr. Springfield said that neither he nor his fireman had any weapons of any kind.

"As the fellow told me to go ahead, we had gone but a short distance when Rankin found a wounded man on the tender. We stopped at Cumberland Falls, four miles from the tunnel, and put him off, leaving him in the telegraph office. They say he was badly shot in the arm and side. He said he was a tramp stealing a ride and that he was not with the train robbers, but we do not believe it. We were not stopped by the robbers more than twenty minutes. We came on to Chattanooga and got here on time. That's all I know about it, and I don't want to experience any more fellows standing in my cab and pointing a big pistol at me."

There were five robbers in the party. The company had received warning and had detectives on the train. The detectives killed two of the robbers and mortally wounded a third one. The wounded robber was taken to Oakdale, and was unconscious. The robbers were not known, but it is supposed they were native mountaineers, green at the business. A passenger on the train says the excitement among the passengers was intense while the shooting was in progress.

SMELTING INDUSTRY.

Senator Stebbins Gives Reasons for His Bonus Bill.

Senator Stebbins, in speaking of his bill to encourage the smelting of iron ore in Minnesota, yesterday, said:

"The bill is the outgrowth of the visit to the mines by the legislature. While up there, I took pains to inquire into the whole business as far as possible; to ascertain how much money was received for the ore, where it went, the transportation charges, how much of the money was received in the state, and all that. I found that under the present system, the cream of this business goes down to Buffalo and Cleveland, while all that is left to Minnesota from her rich mines is very thin skim milk. I found that all the ore will bring as it leaves this state is from $2.25 to $2.40 per ton, while down there it is manufactured into steel rails and other articles and brings from $12 to $14 per ton.

"Now there is no reason why this state should not develop its own resources to the fullest extent and not stop half way giving these people down East the cream of everything. As a rule I do not believe in subsidies and bonuses; but this is a plain business proposition, where there seems to be no question but what the state would realize 100 per cent profit on the investment, and that alters the case very materially. But it costs an immense amount of money to establish these smelting plants, rolling mills, etc. A smelting plant alone would cost from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. It was estimated up there that a plant could be put in for about $2,000,000. Now, it seems to me to be worth while to encourage the investment of that much capital in this state, and in these times we cannot expect it unless some encouragement is offered.

"We do not want to interfere with the school fund in any way. That is sacred; so we do not propose that the royalties shall be abated or that the money shall be taken from them, but simply that a sum shall be appropriated from the general fund for ten years to encourage these manufactories that will develop our iron industries, and in order that the appropriation shall not all go to one concern it is provided that it shall be apprationed according to the output of the various plants. If a smelting plant was established, others would soon follow it, and the results would be of incalculable benefit to the state. It is admitted by all that the conditions up here are favorable to the establishment of these industries; but to bring them up here now when we most need them, we should offer some encouragement, and this semis to me the best way to offer it."

STARVING

In the Midst of Plenty.

That's what people with poor digestion are doing every day. They have no appetite, or if they do have an appetite and eat what they require it does them no good because the stomach does not digest it and the fermenting mass of food becomes a source of disease, of headaches, sleeplessness, languor and the thousand and one symptoms resulting from disordered digestion. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets promptly relieve and cure all forms of indigestion. They have done it in thousands of cases and will do it in yours. The reason is simple. Because they digest the food whether the stomach works or not. That's the whole secret about Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for we tell you plainly just what they contain because we believe that every man and woman ought to know what they are putting into their stomachs.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the freshest, purest pepsin, free from animal impurities, combined with bismuth and the most valuable vegetable essences and fruit salts, making it not only the surest cure for stomach troubles but a perfectly safe, reliable preparation. Sold everywhere by druggists at 50 cents per package or sent direct by mail by Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Weak Nerves

Indicate as surely as any physical symptom shows anything, that the organs and tissues of the body are not satisfied with their nourishment.

They draw their sustenance from the blood, and if the blood is thin, impure or insufficient, they are in a state of revolt. Their complaints are made to the brain, the king of the body, through the nervous system, and the result of the general dissatisfaction is what we call Nervousness.

The cure for Nervousness, then, is simple. Purify and enrich your blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the nerves, tissues and organs will have the healthful nourishment they crave. Nervousness and Weakness will then give way to strength and health.

That this is not theory but fact is proven by the voluntary statements of thousands cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read the next column.

"With pleasure I will state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me wonderfully. For several months I could not lie down to sleep on account of heart trouble and also

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of twenty-nine hundred thirty and 56-100 dollars, which amount is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage containing a power of sale made and delivered by Mary H. Lewis to American Loan and Trust Company, dated January 3rd, 1888, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 17th day of February, 1888, at 11 o'clock a. m., in Book "R" of mortgages, on page 621.

Which mortgage was duly assigned by said American Loan and Trust Company to W. W. Braden, state auditor of Minnesota, by written instrument, dated April 23d, 1890, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said county on the 28th day of April, 1890, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 50 of mortgages, on page 276.

Which mortgage was duly assigned by Adolph Biermann, as state auditor of the state of Minnesota, successor in office to said W. W. Braden, to William E. Richardson as assignee of said American Loan and Trust Company, by written instrument, dated December 11th, 1894, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said county, on December 15th, 1894, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 123 of mortgages, on page 154.

Which mortgage was also assigned by said W. W. Braden to said William E. Richardson, as assignee of said American Loan and Trust Company by written instrument dated January 18th, 1895, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds on January 23rd, 1895, at 4 o'clock p. m. in Book 120 of mortgages on page 319.

And, whereas all interest in said mortgage held or owned by said American Loan and Trust Company on July 11th, 1894, was by said company duly assigned to said William E. Richardson for the benefit of creditors by written instrument dated July 11th, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on November 7th, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m., in Book P of miscellaneous records, on pages 42-43-44, a copy of said assignment duly certified by the clerk of the court of said county having also been recorded in the office of the said register of deeds on July 12th, 1894, at 11 o'clock a. m., in Book I of miscellaneous records on pages 271-272-273.

And whereas said default is a default in the conditions of said mortgage, and no action has been commenced to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit:

Lots number sixty-six, sixty-eight, seventy, seventy-two, seventy-four, seventy-six, seventy-eight and eighty, in block number one hundred eleven, in Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Thursday, the 11th day of April, 1895, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy the amount then due upon said mortgage, including interest and one hundred dollars attorney's fee, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale, as by law provided.

Dated February 28th, 1895.

An Obstinate, Chronic Disease that Yielded to the Copeland System of Treatment in One Month.

There is no need of anyone suffering for years with catarrh of the stomach when a brief treament at the Copeland Medical Institute will effect a cure. The Herald has, during the past three years, told of a considerable number of instances where the Copeland Medical Institute has permanently and speedily cured such cases.

Take the case of Mrs. H. B. Starkey, who resides at No. 321 Sixth avenue west in this city. For three years she suffered greatly with catarrh of the stomach throat and head.

"I was troubled with pains back of the eyes and headaches," said Mrs. Starkey to a Herald reporter recently, "and I was sick abed a great deal. There were the usual symptoms attending catarrhal troubles of the throat but, worse and chief of all, was the stomach trouble. The catarrh had the effect of making it impossible to digest my food. If I took a drink of cold water into my stomach the water remained cold. I tried the use of hot water but it did no good and I got no more benefit from my food than before. I was, at length, confined to my bed and through lack of proper nourishment was extremely weak. I happened to think that a specialist ought to be able to help me, if help was possible in my case—up to that time I had not been able to secure any real help—so I called at the Copeland Medical Institute and commenced a treatment. Circumstances prevented me from continuing the treatment longer than one month, but I was fully cured. I have full confidence in the Copeland physicians and have recommended them to many affected with catarrhal troubles. In the payment of $5.00 I made for a month's treatment and medicine, I feel that I was repaid many times over."

It was just one year ago this month—March—when Mrs. Starkey took her treatment. The cure was permanent. When a Herald reporter called upon her one day last week, she declared that she was not troubled in the least with catarrh of any form. Her head, throat and stomach were wholly free from any touches even, of the disagreeable disease.

A CASE OF RINGING.

A California Horse Campaigned Under Several Names.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A case of alleged ringing came to light a few days ago. In 1893, John A. Goldsmith brought from California the bay horse Ben Ali, who had a record of 2:22, and campaigned him on half a dozen of the most prominent trotting tracks in the East, where hundreds of experienced horsemen saw him perform.

At the close of the season Goldsmith sold the horse to John McGuire, of this city. The next that was known, Ben Ali turned up in the hands of H. H. Ballou, trotting at New City and other places as Sagwa, and at the Orangeburg and Parkway tracks under the name of John Y. According to the testimony now at hand, some prominent New York horseman has been looking up the case for the secretary of the New York Trotting association. He has now received the evidence to prove that John Y is the California horse Ben Ali. Ballou and all parties concerned have been cited to appear before the board of review of the National Trotting association.

THE CUT.

Saw Mills Will Soon Be in Operation for the Season's Sawing.

Merrill & Ring Will Start Up About the Middle of April.

About Two Weeks Will See Mitchell & McClure Running.

The remarkable weather of late and the decided appearances of an early spring have caused people to wonder when the saw mills will again start up for the season's cut. Last year the Merrill & Ring mill commenced operations on April 19 and the Mitchell & McClure mill on the 23d of the same month. This was considered an early start but the prospects now are that the record will be badly broken this year. Of course no one can tell what this climate may yet produce in the shape of weather the coming month but taking present conditions as a basis the season is now at least two weeks ahead of last year.

Charles Little, of the Merrill & Ring mill stated this morning that his company was well along with repairs and the mill could be put in shape for running in a few days if necessary. He did not think however, they would start up before the middle of April as they had logs enough on hand to last from that time to June 1, which is considered as early as they can get logs rafted in. A double force of men will be put on and the mill will run day and night from the start.

Mitchell & McClure Mill.

Superintendent Pake, of the Mitchell & McClure mill, was also interviewed this morning and stated that he anticipated conditions would be in the proper shape for starting the season's work in about two weeks. He said the mill had received its annual overhauling, his sawyers had been notify to be on hand shortly and everything would be in readiness for the earliest opportunity, to commence sawing. When asked if the continued dry weather or lack of spring rain later would cramp the mills this summer he said it probably would at some places but it would make but little difference with the larger firms as they would get out their logs by other means if nature failed to supply the necessary water to run the logs. He said the day has gone by when a large sawmill can be hung up for want of logs as the companies would build temporary railways if need be to transport them to the larger bodies of water.

Mr. Pake says the mill will probably not be run nights but a steady day run will be kept up through the season.

In talking with experienced lumbermen it appears to be the general opinion that the lumber market will not be particularly brisk this season although it is the hope that there will be an improvement over last year's business.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Independent Order of Forresters is making preparation for its third annual entertainment to be given April 8. A musical program will be given followed by a supper and dance.

Some excitement was stirred up on the business streets this morning by a runaway horse attached to C. B. Oleson's milk wagon. The animal was caught before much damage was done.

An April fool dance will be given at Great Eastern hall next Monday evening.

E. Habberstad and family have moved to Deerwood to live on their farm.

On Friday night the village council of Proctorknott will appoint a village attorney. Among the candidates are Van R. Brown, of West Duluth, Frank Crosby and several other attorneys of Duluth.

A FERRY STEAMER INVOLVED.

At Chicago Judge Gibbons of the state circuit court issued an injunction restraining Thomas J. Kelly, James A. O'Connell, the Independent Tug line, Miles Barry and John Barry, their agents and watchmen, from removing the steamer Superior from the port of Chicago or from removing any of the machinery from the boat. The complainant in the bill is the Duluth-Superior Steamship company of Wisconsin, which has been the owner of the steamer for the past five years.

The steamer was libeled for $66 on March 5, by Arhcibald Winne, and on March 20 was sold by the United States marshal to Michael Kelly for $205, and the court was informed that preparations were being made to take the steamer out of the jurisdiction of the Northern Illinois district court. As Judge Grosscup of the United States court was absent it was alleged that the vessel would be lost to the owners unless immediate action was taken; hence the application to a state court.

BABY'S BAD ECZEMA

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his finger nails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

MONEY TO BURN.

Idle Men Are Plenty But None of Them Are Broke.

There have not been so many idle men in town all winter as there are today, and a look at the sunny corners will bear out this statement. But most of them have money to burn, and they are having a good time in their own fashion, so there is not nearly so much destitution as there has been during the winter. Aside from the hordes of lumbermen pouring into the city from the adjacent camps there are not many idle men, and there will be few in a couple of weeks.

There are probably 3000 men in town now from the woods, nearly all the camps having broken up for the winter, and few of them bring less than say $75 as the result of their winter's work. Most of them are single men, and a goodly number proceed immediately on arrival in town to spend their money. Much of it goes for clothes, etc., but a fair proportion of it goes in internal libations to Bacchus, as it were. Anyway, a large proportion of the money brought in by the woodsmen stays in Duluth, bringing prosperity to the merchants and saloonkeepers, and also to the confidence men, of whom there are not a few in Duluth.

If the open weather continues the driving season will open in a couple of weeks, and a good many men will go back to the woods. Driving was begun today in an experimental way on the Balsaam, a small stream emptying into the Nemadji river.

The rest of the men employed in the woods will go into railroad work, which is expected to commence in a very short time, and those employed on the drives will follow as soon as that work is complete. There is always a certain amount of work to be done in the spring on the roadways of all the railroads, and there is enough employment for the woodsmen in this line through the summer.

Employment agents anticipate an exceptionally good spring and summer for workingmen, and wages will be good. Just at present there is nothing, as this is the intermediate season between winter and spring work when little or nothing is going on. In a few weeks railroad work will open, and following that work on the iron ranges will probably pick up. From present indications those employed in the building trades will have all they can do in Duluth this summer. The city waterworks extensions and the Minnesota Canal company are also expected to furnish a good deal of employment.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

WHEAT WAS HIGHER.

Good Trading on Change Today and Prices Better.

Wheat was firm and a shade higher at the start today. The strength resulted from the continued dry weather and the predictions for Thursday which gave no promise of rain. Cables at first were slightly weaker, but later in the day they came stronger. There was good trading in May wheat here, with a little in July and a very small amount in September. May started ¼c up at 60¼c, lost ⅛c, recovered and advanced steadily to 61c shortly after noon, which was the high point. Then it eased off ⅛c, but recovered ⅛c near the close. There was a heavy business in cash stuff. The mills were liberal purchasers and took about 70,000 bus to arrive, practically all being No. 1 hard, at ⅛c to ½c over the May contract price. The elevators were in the market but secured little as they would bid only ⅛c over May. Ten cars of cash No. 1 Northern in store sold at 60⅛c. The close was ½c higher than yesterday for cash wheat, except No. 1 Northern which was ⅛c lower, and ⅛@⅛c higher for futures. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard cash, 60⅞c; March, 60⅜c; May, 61⅜c; July, 62⅛c; No. 1 northern cash, 60⅜c; March, 60⅜c; May, 60⅜c; July, 61⅛c; September, 59⅛c. No. 2 northern cash, 57c. No. 3, 54c. Rejected, 51c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 61⅛c. No. 1 northern, 60⅜c. Rye, 46c. No. 2 oats, 30½c; No. 3 oats, 30c; barley 44@46c.

Car inspection today—Wheat, 148, oats 7. Receipts—Wheat, 81,195 bus, oats, 6086 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 328 bus, oats, 800 bus.

The Liverpool Market.

LIVERPOOL, March 27.—Wheat spot, steady; demand poor; No. 2 red winter, 4s 9d; No. 2 red spring, 5s 2½d; No. 1 hard Manitoba, 5s 2½d; No. 1 California, 5s d3. Futures opened firm, with near and distant positions ½d lower; closed steady, with June ½d lower and other months unchanged from yesterday's closing prices; business heaviest on middle positions; March, 4s 8¾d; April, 4s 8¾d; May, and June, 4s 9d; July, 4s 9½d; August, 4s 9½d. Corn, spot, quiet; American mixed new, 4s 2¾d; futures opened quiet, with near and distant positions ½d lower; closed quiet but steady with April ½d lower and other months unchanged. Business heaviest on early positions. March, 4s 2¾d; April, 4s 2½d; May, 4s 2½d; June, 4s 2½d; July, 4s 2¾d. Flour firm; demand moderate, St. Louis fancy winter, 6s.

GOSSIP.

The wheat market opened rather soft with traders generally looking for a further break, but crop damage reports from the country came in so freely that they turned the market, especially as many of them were accompanied by buying orders. There seems to be but little doubt but that the Kansas crop has been seriously damaged and from one-third to one-half killed. This is the tenor of reports from all parts of the state to different houses and elevator compaies here. There was generous rains in the state a week or two ago and the wheat should have startd if there had been any vitality. Similar reports come from Iowa and Nebraska. Winter sown grain is in no condition to stand severe weather.

Corn and oats have not responded to the strength in wheat on reports of delayed seeding. These markets look tired and should be sold on the rallies. Provisions rallied early on fair trade, but weakened later on estimates of more liberal receipts of hogs.

The stock market was weak. The bears made a drive at Whiskey today and the stock broke sharply.

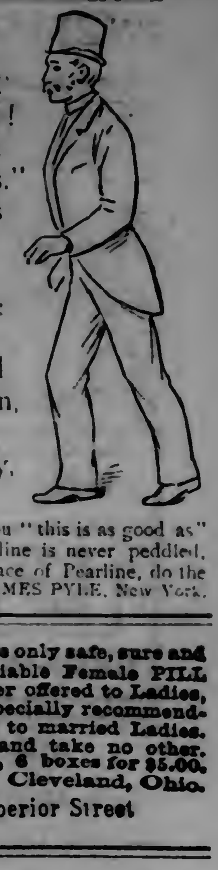
Where Is He Going?



Gentle reader, he is hurrying home. And it's house-cleaning time, too—think of that!

Fifteen years ago, he wouldn't have done it. Just at this time, he'd be "taking to the woods."

But now, things are different. His house is cleaned with Pearline. That makes house-cleaning easy.

Easy for those who do it—easy for those who have it done.

No hard work, no wear and tear, no turmoil and confusion, no time wasted, no tired women, no homeless men.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 331 JAMES PYLE, New York.

A NORWEGIAN OUTRAGE.

The Scandia states this week that information has been received from Norway that people who have taken French leave from the military service and who return from America are arrested by the Norwegian authorities, regardless of their papers as American citizens. While there may be a mistake in so far that the men referred to may only have had their "first papers," the Scandia says it knows others who have been warned against coming back, as their papers as American citizens would not protect them.

Commenting on this state of affairs, the Scandia says: "Some years ago this same thing happened in Germany, but then we had an American government, and as far as we remember the German government had to agree to keep 'hands off' from American citizens. Now it is different. The American flag has been humiliated everywhere; every European princeling seems to think that he can snap his fingers at the United States (mis)-government. And in places where consulships for the United States, Sandwich or Fiji Islands are for sale, it is, of course, still harder for the United States citizens to ask for assistance and protection.

"The United States consul general at Kristiania is, or was a few years ago at least, a Norwegian citizen, royal chamberlain, and he undoubtedly paid more attention to his duties as master of the royal bed-chamber than as American consul general. The military laws in Norway are not enforced as severely as in Germany. It is possible for a man to buy himself free by bribing one of the recruiting officers or military physicians. On the other hand, people who have been incurably sick and who should have been released from the service have been forced to serve, if some of the powers that be have had a personal or political grudge against them.

"People of this class may have come to the United States; they may have thought that they as American citizens could visit their old home whenever they wanted to; but it seems they have fooled themselves; the United States government affords no protection at all, no more than the Fiji Islands. We have written to the secretary of state to ascertain whether it is with the knowledge and consent of the department that American citizens can be humiliated abroad; or if our citizens can demand protection from our consul generals and diplomats."

This is a matter of great importance to the people who have come to America from Scandinavian countries and become American citizens. Many of them will desire to revisit their native land and see their relatives and old friends there, and they should be fully protected in that right. If the fact be as represented, that American citizens have been arrested by the Norwegian authorities and have not received proper protection from the American consuls, the secretary of state should take steps to remove such incompetent consuls and at the same time to secure full redress from the Norwegian government for the indignity offered to this country by such unwarranted treatment of American citizens. At the same time the Norwegian authorities should be given to understand that a repetition of this offense will be followed by vigorous action by this government.

NEW CURRENCY PLAN.

One of the most recent remedies for the ills of the country's financial system has been proposed by Mr. Jordan, assistant treasurer of the United States, and it is attracting considerable attention, not only because it would cause radical changes in the existing currency system, but because Mr. Jordan has given the subject much study and is recognized as a sound financier of ability.

Mr. Jordan's plan is to abolish the sub-treasuries and have all the banks, state and national, make their clearances through one central bank. According to the Jordan plan the banks would establish their own system of security and inspection and to issue all currency with gold and silver bullion as its security. The funds of the United States would be deposited in the banks through the clearing house, the government to be secured by equal deposits of United States bonds.

Mr. Jordan contends that this scheme would have manifold advantages. In the first place, he says, that instead of $50,000,000 or $100,000,000 being locked up in the vaults of the treasury and sub-treasuries, it would be available for the use of the people and would go far toward preventing panics and financial disturbances like those of 1894. The other advantages claimed for this plan is that it would create a flexible and abundant currency; that it would admit of the freer use of silver as currency security; would bring all banks of all classes under an effective system of security and inspection and would facilitate transactions and exchanges.

CANADA'S BANKING SYSTEM.

A volume by R. M. Breckenridge, containing a history and discussion of the "Canadian Banking System From 1817 to 1890," which has recently been issued by the American Economic association, is particularly valuable because it is based upon original documents and is free from errors that occur in nearly all the expositions of the Canadian system which have appeared in this country. The Canadian system is the result of an experiment in banking and note issuing under conditions very similar to those that prevail in the United States— an experiment which has been eminently successful in particulars in which our own national bank system has been found wanting. So excellent are some of its features that they were incorporated, with some modifications, in the Baltimore plan of banking reform and also in the Carlisle plan, which were recently under discussion in congress.

The system embraces thirty-eight large joint stock commercial and industrial banks privately owned and managed, but working under a uniform law and subject to the supervision and discipline of the Dominion government. They establish branches. They have the exclusive privilege of issuing notes for circulation as money, but issue them subject to the prior lien of the noteholder against the whole of the bank's assets and the double liability of its shareholders and under special restrictions as to the immediate payment of the notes at par at various points in the country.

The banks are not numerous, but they are large—averaging $1,619,986 of paid-up capital—and each bank has many branches which give banking facilities wherever there is a demand for them. In January, 1894, the Canadian banks had $8.80 of assets behind each dollar of their notes in circulation, and the average guarantee behind each dollar was $10.65. Elasticity in the loaning power of the banks is the point in which the Canadian system chiefly excels ours. Loans are made as long as good security is offered. The objection has been made to the Canadian system being adopted here that the conditions in the two countries are different; that a system that succeeds in a country with such a small population as Canada possesses might not prove successful in this more largely populated country, but this objection does not appear to be a reasonable one. The Canadian banking system is sound in principle, and it possesses desirable elements that are lacking in our system. Why then not give it a trial? At the best, any change in our currency system will be in the nature of an experiment.

DUE TO SPANISH MISRULE.

A Tampa dispatch today reports that the Cuban rebels have gained an important victory, a large force of Spanish troops being repulsed with heavy loss. There is little doubt that the insurrection in Cuba has reached large proportions. The Spanish authorities have purposely misrepresented the state of affairs, and especially the extent of the rebellion, and have prevented unbiased reports being sent to the newspapers. The people of Cuba are revolting against Spanish misrule. This is the cause of the insurrection. For the same reason, the insurgents have arisen at various times in the past but they were crushed each time by the superior strength of the Spanish forces.

The causes which lost to Spain all the colonies in America except Cuba are the same causes which have operated to create discontent and revolt in Cuba. The complete denial of all civil, political and religious liberty, the studied and systematic exclusion of the native or creole population from all positions of honor or profit, cruel and excessive taxation for the benefit of the home government, and innumerable exactions and petty tyrannies on the part of the Spanish officials, strangers to the people whom they are sent to govern, and at whose expense they are allowed to enrich themselves, would furnish the terms of an indictment far more severe than that which the pen of Jefferson indicted against Great Britain. It is small wonder that the Cubans have risen in revolt.

The Baltimore Sun says in an article on this subject that the first serious outbreak on the part of the Cubans seems to have occurred in 1834 or 1835, during the oppressive and tyrannical administration of Capt.-Gen. Tacon. From that time to this it may be said to have never ceased. Provisional governments have been organized by the insurgents, and at one time the independence of the Cuban republic, under the presidency of Gen. Cespedes, was recognized by several of the republics of South America. In 1878, after a succession of vigorous campaigns conducted by Marshal Martinez de Campos, who as captain-general of Madrid, is today endeavoring to suppress the disturbances in that capital, a sort of peace was patched up with President Garcia and other insurgent leaders.

It is stated that up to 1878 the records of the war office at Madrid show that 8000 officers and 200,000 private soldiers had perished either in battle or through disease while campaigning in Cuba. According to the same authorities more than 13,000 Cubans have been killed in battle and over 43,000 taken prisoners and executed. Reinforcements sent to Cuba have cost the home government over $200,000,000, and the amount of property confiscated, burned and destroyed is estimated at a like amount. For a purely guerrilla war, as represented, these are rather startling figures. And since 1878, although no later statistics are accessible, the work of garrotting, shooting, burning and destroying has, with varying intermissions, continued to go on.

Insurance Commissioner Smith's annual report on the life insurance business in Minnesota shows that at the end of 1894 there were 35,078 policies in force, amounting to $84,934,563, as against 33,574 policies, amounting to $85,735,625 at the end of 1893, showing that, although the number of policies was much larger at the end of 1894 than at the end of 1893, they were of smaller denomination, since the total amount represented by them is smaller than that represened by hose in force at the end of 1893. The total amount of premiums received by the companies from the people in this state during 1894 was $2,508,875.10; while the losses made amounted to $895,665.80. Evidently Minnesota is a profitable state for the life insurance agents.

The report that Li Hung Chang may die as the result of the wound received at the hands of his would-be assassin will be received with regret, because Li Hung Chang is by far the ablest man in China and it is due to his ability and influence that China is now ready to grant all the demands of Japan in order to secure peace.

In declaring positively against silver and that he would leave the Republican party if it declared in favor of free silver, Governor McKinley has shown that he possesses plenty of courage. He would rather be right, according to his convictions of what is right, than be president.

Senator Stebbin's reasons for his bonus bill to encourage the iron smelting industry in Minnesota are given in an interview published in another column. They form an effective reply to the arguments presented against the bill.

The New York Chapter of the American institute of architects, assisted by the Architectural league of New York, has caused the introduction in the legislature of that state of a bill requiring everybody who wishes to become an architect to pass an examination and get a license.

Mrs. Langtry advertises that she changes her jewels at every performance. But she does not change her style of acting, more's the pity.

The Wadena Tribune has a libel suit on its hands, but it does not appear to be worrying much about the outcome. Its rivals in Wadena are the most agitated, probably owing to jealousy of the Tribune's enterprise.

SHE SAVED THE PENNIES.

Bangor Commercial: Way back in 1875 a Hallowell young lady had deposited to her account in the Hallowell Savings Institution $80.11. Very wisely she allowed the money to remain, and this month she was notified that the institution had her credited with $1028.83. These cases may not be rare, but they are not a bit too numerous, either.

HARD ON THOSE WHO GET THE MITTEN.

New Orleans Picayune: A member of the Texas legislature has in hand a bill providing for the taxation, at the rate of $50 a year, of all unmarried men 30 years old. A member of the proscribed bachelor class, however, may escape the levy by producing a certificate or affidavit from some reputable female, stating that at least once during the preceding year the person named has proposed to her. That arrangement is all right for the fellows who are accepted, but it won't do at all in the cases of young men who have proposed and been rejected. These disconsolate youths deserve special consideration, but they'll be compelled to pay just as though they had'nt made an effort to enter the marriage state, for no one of them will care to own up to being rejected. On the other hand, many will sooner pay the tax than run the risk of being accepted when playing for a refusal certificate.

A World of Modern Dress Fabrics Selling Here at 39c A Yard.

The fact that those who consider themselves poor invariably obtain the least for their money, is due to the fact that they are always to be found in the poorest places to trade, says Tillier.

Was there ever anything more true. Everyone will admit that the bankrupt sale and all other bogus scheme sales of unsalable goods would be impossible if it were not for the unaccountable tendency of those who have little to spend, to spend it at the very poorest places and for the poorest goods.

But we started to talk a little of these great assortments of Fine Dress Goods at 39c. many you will concede are worth double and triple; not old styles; O, no; first-class, fresh new stylish fabrics, full widths, unlimited assortments, handsome weaves. See them.

Such Gathering Of Ladies

That filled the store yesterday, and the smart, active selecting they did point to an exceptional season. Our most ultra materials are selling freely in every Dept., which refutes the claim that Duluth is slow to adopt the modern styles.

Wash Dresses, Laces and Embroideries . .

Teeming With Activity.

Starting with the Lawns and Dimities, you become acquainted with a thousand new and lovely effects before you catch your breath. The common expression is, "How Lovely! How Cheap!" and then the question, "What shall I trim it with, Lace or Embroidery?" And behold another world of daintiness and loveliness. Val Laces, Perforated Laces, Lierre Laces, all Over Laces, Swiss Laces and Insertions, Perforated Lace Trimmed, Lierre Point, Embroideries and Insertions. All especially adapted for trimming of wash Dresses.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Delmonico's at Six."

"Delmonico's at Six" was a disappointment to most of those who witnessed it at the Temple last evening and nothing but the excellent material in the company saves it from total failure. It has some good situations but what play of any merit at all does not. It is talky and drags badly, especially in the third act. The story is that of an elderly doctor who has an intrigue, harmless enough, with an actress and is caught by his wife. This idea is not especially new but some originality is given by the fact that the husband wants to arouse the jealousy but does so to a point beyond his expectation. There are a few bright lines but they are scarce enough.

Miss Jansen did not seem to be entirely herself last evening. If she was she is on the decline, especially as far as voice is concerned, for her singing was wretched. She is not quite as sprightly as of old but has still a supply of dash and chic that will last her for many years to come. A momentary view of Miss Jansen's superb figure in black tights is granted in the second act but there is only one excuse for showing it—the figure itself. There is nothing in the play that demands the display and it is awkwardly introduced.

Without a man like Frederick Bond in the part of Dr. Clark the piece would fall flat. He is a thoroughly capable actor and was for a long time identified with Charles Frohman's leading men. His work as the doctor was easy and natural and deserving of high praise. William Norris made the most of a character part, that of a French waiter masquerading as a count and acted it admirably. Clarence Heritage as Capt. Holland, Charles Mason as MacPounders and Fred Peters as Benson, the detective, were all good.

Miss Grace Huntington made a capital injured wife and Hope Ross looked very pretty and had a delightfully catching manner. Annie Shindle as the maid, was good.

The display of handsome gowns was quite sufficient to satisfy the yearnings of any of the ladies and some of them were remarkably elegant.

"Alabama."

"Alabama," which will be presented at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday nights and at the Saturday matinee, moves as quietly as the life it reveals. There is a vein of humor in it which is never coarse, but keeps the audience in a merry mood all through the four acts. There is also a vein of pathos which will surely call forth a tear or two. It is true to the life it pictures, it is bright in dialogue, clean in plot, direct in story and interesting in character. Those who were so delighted with "Alabama" three years ago will warmly welcome the return of this fine company and beautiful play.

Scottish Song and Story.

Mr. and Mrs. Durward Lely will give recitals of Scottish song and story at the Temple on Friday evening. Mr. Lely has been with Mme. Patti in three or four concert tours in Great Britain and one in the United States. He is a tenor and has a magnificent voice. The Indianapolis Sentinel said of the Lely entertainment:

"One of the cleverest and most enjoyable entertainments was given by Mr. and Mrs. Lely last night. Mr. Lely was particularly happy in several directions, he recites admirably and with fine dramatic effect. He is a capital story teller, his voice is sweet, musical, cultivated and strong. Mrs. Lely added largely to the success of the evening by her brilliant piano solos and accompaniments.

WILL MEAN MUCH.

Removal of Taxation From Vessels a Good Step.

Monday afternoon the house of representatives, under a suspension of the rules, took House File 532 from general orders and passed it by an affirmative vote of 81 and none in the negative. This is the bill introduced by Mr. McInnis for the purpose of making the law for the taxation of vessels in the state of Minnesota more favorable to vessel owners. As stated in The Herald some time ago, not only is the present law practically prohibitive, but Wisconsin has just passed a law most favorable to vessel owners. If Duluth desires to be the port of hail for a fleet of vessels Minnesota must make her law a little more favorable, if anything, than that of Wisconsin.

Many people down the lakes hardly know that there is such a port as Duluth, never seeing the name on the sterns of any of the vessels plying between the head of the lakes and the lower lake ports.

When the Cleveland Dry Dock company decided to build its new vessels for Lake Superior traffic, Capt. Wolvin stated that he could have them hail from Duluth and gladly would do so were it not for the excessive taxation imposed by Minnesota laws.

In some of the states along the lower lakes the laws are very favorable. It is stated that vessels hailing from some of the little towns along Lake Huron do not pay over $200 a year.

Oden Again Running.

Today the little steam ferry Oden commences its season's work of carrying passengers from Rice's Point to Tower Bay slip.

The ice in the bay now practically affords no resistance to vessels and open water could be reached in a very short time. Yesterday afternoon Capt. Inman with a small party of friends went out in the lake and easily penetrated the ice to a point half a mile beyond the Endion pumping station. The high winds are breaking off great cakes from the ice field and navigation can open as soon as desired or necessary. Yesterday, the Record found the ice not over ten inches in thickness at any point.

Two Divorce Suits.

Maggie McInnis has begun a divorce suit against Angus McInnes on the grounds of cruelty and inhuman treatment. Her tale of the cruelties to which her husband has subjected her is frightful.

William Henry Koll alleges that his wife has on various occasions violated her marriage vows, and he also wishes the marriage dissolved.

Land and Title Register.

H. J. Gonden arrived in Duluth yesterday representing the American Land and Title Register, of St. Paul. The Register is recognized as an authority on the subjects of real estate and municipal affairs, and is the only periodical devoted to such interests. Mr. Gonden will arrange for the representation of Duluth's interests in those lines in his paper.

NO FIGHT.

Dr. Goffe Says There Will Be No Sensational Proceedings.

Two Men Have Different Pulls for City Engineer Reed's Shoes.

There is not the slightest prospect of sensational proceedings over the possession of the city health office by Drs. Goffe and Routh. The settlement of the matter will be left wholly to the courts.

Dr. Goffe has recovered from his illness and was on the street yesterday. He will not go near the health office, however, until the supreme court passes on the question.

H. F. Greene will take the matter directly before the supreme court on quowarranto proceedings. He has been very busy this week and will be unable to begin proceedings before the first of next week. After that, it is expected that a decision will not be received for five or six weeks.

Engineer Reed's Place.

Some time ago The Herald announced that M. R. Lewis and W. B. Patton were prominent aspirants for D. A. Reed's place as city engineer. It is understood by many that Mr. Lewis stands especially strong with the board of public works and that Mr. Patton is especially strong with the city council.

Some of the political wire pullers, who endeavor to control the official appointments, a while back had a plan to give George Hughes his old place as clerk of the board of public works and to take care of A. M. Kilgore, the present clerk, by finding a place for him in the city engineering department. Nothing has been heard of that scheme lately, however, and it is supposed that those back of it either ran up against a stone wall or else decided that they were chasing bubbles and rainbows.

DURWARD LELY CONCERT.

Tenor of International Reputation at the Temple on Friday.

The Herald erroneously stated last night that the Scottish concert by Mr. and Mrs. Durward Lely will be given on Thursday evening at the Temple. The correct date is Friday, the 29th, and all who go will enjoy a fine treat.

It is doubtful if Duluth knows and appreciates what a great tenor Durward Lely is. Mme. Patti, the great cantatrice, has selected him in several of her tours to accompany her as the tenor of her concert organization. What more flattering recommendation would be ask? He assisted her at the opening performances of Craigy-Nos theater, which she has built at her castle of that name in Wales. Madame Patti presented Mr. Lely with a sapphire and diamond solitaire pin, which he is very proud of and always wears, as a token of her esteem.

For several years Durward Lely was associated with Col. Mapleson. Upon leaving him he was engaged to sing at the Savoy theater in London. In 1891 he was with the famous Carl Rosa Opera company, singing three nights a week, as is the custom with the artists in that world-renowned company. He sustained the part of "Don Jose" to the "Carmen" of Madame Marie Roze. In Durward Lely the Spanish soldier was splendidly represented, and he sang the exacting music of the role with great dramatic force and intensity of expression. Mr. Lely's success is not confined to the operatic stage. In oratorio, in classical works of the higher sort, in ballad-singing, he has made a name for himself.

The Perthshire Journal of Perthshire, Scotland said of him: "Not a man or a woman in his own profession who knows him has anything but the highest feeling of respect for Durward Lely; that is much; few indeed can claim it. Others there are who attempt to ingratiate themselves in the favor of the public by singing to them regardless of art, this Lely knows not. If success ever came to any man by a slavish adherence to art and simply art it came to this tenor. No singer sings Scotch songs as this one. It is much that in this of yore Highland boy the world has one of its greatest singers; the operatic stage one of its most consummate artists; the concert platform one of its brightest ornaments; art one of its slaves and Scotland one of its most distinguished sons."

MRS. SCOTT-SIDDONS.

In October next the annual meeting of Christian Endeavor societies of the state will be held in Duluth. It will bring at least 500 people here who will remain from four days to a week. Duluth will not be asked to provide any entertainment for their guests. Each individual pays his or her own way while here. The Endeavor societies of the city will have to go to some little expense for securing a meeting place, advertising and other incidentals.

To defray this expense and to create a fund it has been decided to give an entertainment the receipts from which will be used for that purpose. A first class attraction has been secured and the societies feel that they may well ask the citizens of Duluth to give it their patronage because of its own merit. With the deserving benefit feature added they ought to pack the house.

The attraction secured is Mrs. Scott-Siddons, the famous elocutionist, assisted by Miss Clara Murray, harpiste. They will appear at the Lyceum on April 10.

Although successful on the dramatic stage, Mrs. Scott-Siddons prefers the platform for many reasons. It gives her a wider scope for her many powers; it relieves her from the onerous duties of management; it is in every respect more satisfactory, giving her more time for the enjoyment of the peace and quiet of home life, which is to her more grateful than the flash of the footlights or the praise of the people. For the past three years she has limited her number of engagements, appearing only three times a year at periods of six weeks each; but, responding to a general demand, she has consented to give a season to America. She will be as warmly welcomed here as she was on her return to England, and her time is already largely spoken for.

FREE. AND WHAT EVERYBODY WANTS.

Perfect health and strength, to dare and to do, that's what you want and you know it. Here is a sure way to get it. Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city, is the most successful specialist in the world in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He is also the discoverer of that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. He has established a remarkable system of letter correspondence, by which you can write him about your complaint, telling just how you feel and stating each symptom from which you are suffering. He will answer your letter, describing your case thoroughly and telling you a sure way to regain health, strength. And for all this you have nothing to pay. He gives most careful attention to every letter, and describes each symptom so exactly that you cannot fail to understand precisely what ails you. He makes a specialty of curing patients through letter correspondence. You have no fee to pay and you don't have to leave home. Here is the best opportunity you ever had to get well. Will you accept or reject it?

LOG ROLLED ON HIM.

J. H. Davis, employed at Whitesides' lumber camp, was fatally injured at Whitesides' lumber camp above Two Harbors yesterday. He left in the morning for the camp and shortly after his arrival, while engaged in loading logs, one of them rolled over on his chest crushing it and inflicting terrible internal injuries. He was brought to St. Luke's hospital and died shortly before 11 o'clock. He came here from Dakota and has a family there.

HAVE NEARLY ALL RECOVERED.

The spring term of the public schools will open April 1. Last term quite a number of teachers were kept from their work by typhoid fever. All but a couple have so far recovered as to be able to resume their duties next week.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

In police court this morning John Malone and John Larson were sentenced to the county jail ten days for drunkenness. Dan Esien and Matt Flood pleaded guilty to similar offenses and regained their freedom by the payment of $10 and costs each. Perdon Koch, a trespasser on private property, received a suspended sentence. John Tully pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy and his trial was set for this afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon in police court Marcus Kusmer was found guilty of cruelty to animals—he beat a horse—but sentence was suspended. The trial of Jack Curtis, charged with disorderly conduct, was continued until April 5. James McCabe, drunk, went to Butchart's bastile for ten days.

Joseph Oreckovsky, charged with keeping an unlicensed, second-hand store, had his trial postponed until April 2 at 2 p. m.

Murder at Sandstone.

Hugh Glenn died at Sandstone Monday evening as the result of a blow on the head from a club wielded by a Swede with whom Glenn had some difficulty over the possession of a pump. The murderer is in jail at Sandstone, having been held by a coroner's jury.

WILL BUILD THE WALK.

For about two years, the sidewalk in front of the new Silvey block, a portion of the old St. Louis hotel block, has been impassable. Alderman Patterson has been hammering away to remove this inconvenience and this morning, Mr. Butler, the contractor set a gang of men to work constructing the walk. In a few days, pedestrians will not have to take the middle of the street in that locality.

Book Social Tonight.

The King's Daughters of the First Presbyterian church will give a social tonight at the residence of S. T. Harrison, 2120 East Superior street. Every lady is to come masked, representing some well known book. Supper will be served, and a musical program will be participated in by Miss Gertrude Hamilton, Miss Ethel Birch, Miss Sloane, Miss Ella Woodward and F. M. Stephenson.

Many Offers of Land.

The offers of land on which to support poor families on the Pingree plan are coming in at a good rate, and enough have been secured already to provide employment and sustenance to a number of families. As yet, however, not an individual has expressed his desire of "going back to the soil" and earning an honest and independent living.

A SIGN

Often conveys a warning. Warnings are frequently neglected, but whenever disregarded, those who make the mistake pay the penalty of the error. When your system is run down there's something wrong, and the wrong must be righted immediately. The blood is the river of life, and the whole system is deranged when it's out of order. There's nothing better than our Spring Blood Tonic to restore the system to its normal condition. "Blood tells" nowhere so much as in the health. You are what your blood is. Make your blood right by taking our tonic.

DIED IN PRISON.

James Reney Expired in Stillwater Monday Night.

A dispatch from Stillwater announces that James Reney died of heart disease in the penitentiary night before last. Reney was convicted here of murder in the second degree in 1888, and was sent up for life. He and another man, both tourists, stopped in Duluth on their way from Buffalo to the Dakota wheat fields in July, 1888. Together with several others of the same stripe they got into a box car to steal a ride to Dakota.

In the crowd was a man named Michael Burke, a heavy fellow who was somewhat of a bully. There were a number of bottles of whisky in the crowd, and before the train started all were more or less intoxicated. Burke began to bully Reney, and at Fond du Lac Reney got off to get away from him. Burke followed him up the track, and Reney drew a razor and flourished it. Burke drew too close and his juguler was severed. He died instantly.

Reney was tried for murder in the first degree and found guilty of murder in the second degree. The jury stood five for manslaughter, five for murder in the second degree, and two for murder in the first degree. A compromise resulted in murder in the second degree, and Reney went up for life. Lately R. P. Edson, who defended him, succeeded in having the sentence reduced to twenty years with a further reduction to ten for good behavior. He would have been released in three years had he lived. He leaves a wife in Buffalo. His relatives are said to be well to do people, and his brother-in-law is manager of one of Buffalo's largest opera houses.

VESSELS.

Maj. Sears Will Require Them to Report Their Cargoes to Him.

The Approval of the Chief of Engineers Has Been Given.

Masters Must Report Their Tonnage and Number of Passengers.

Beginning with the opening of navigation this year all vessels enteing the harbors of Duluth and Superior will be required to report their incoming and outgoing cargoes and passengers to Maj. Clinton B. Sears, the government engineer at Duluth.

The inauguration of this plan is the outcome of the agitation begun recently in the chamber of commerce, which resulted in the passage of a resolution requesting Maj. Sears to enforce a law giving him power to compel this. The resolution was sent to Maj. Sears and was by him forwarded to Gen. Poe, at Detroit, with a recommendation that the reports be required Gen. Poe approved it likewise and sent it to the chief ofengineers at Washington, who has returned it to Maj. Sears with his approval.

It was unnecessary for Maj. Sears to obtain the approval of these officers, but as it is a matter which will occasion some expenditure of money he wished their approval to strengthen his action. The law provides "that owners, agents, masters and clerks of vessels arriving at or departing from localities where work of river and harbor improvement are carried on shall furnish, on application of the person in local charge of the works, a comprehensive statement of vessels passengers, freight and tonnage."

It is Maj. Sears' intention to make this work as easy as possible for the vessel men and under the regulations which he will adopt there will be no cause for complaint and no additional work to speak of. An order is already in the hands of the printers for alarge number of books containing blank reports. These will be furnished to vesselmen upon application by mail or in person to Maj. Sears. They can also be had by applying to the superintendent of the Sault canal. The master of each vessel upon entering the harbors of Duluth and Superior must send to Maj. Sears a report of the cargo which he delivers at each port and upon clearing the cargo which he takes away from each. These reports will be in a form ready—after being filled out—for mailing without the use of an envelope and will bear the government penalty card so that no postage will be required. The reports of the cargoes are to be made in tons. Each book will contain full rules and information for making out the reports. The clerk of any ordinary vessel can fill one out in ten minutes at the most

CAN MAIL THEIR REPORTS.

Vesselmen will not be required to take their reports to Maj. Sears' office in person, but can mail them at the nearest postoffice. This will be a great convenience in many cases. Fo. example, if a vessel came in light during the night loads ore and went out again the same night it would greatly inconvenience the master to be obliged to report in person, but under the regulation he can mail his report from the Soo when he arrives there.

The employment of a few men will be necessary a night and day watchman at each entrance will be necessary to take the name of every boat entering the harbors. At each entry a locomotive head light will be erected on a swivel, so that it can be turned on a vessel in the night and its name secured. There will also be a recorder of vessels who will be located in Maj. Sears' office. This official will also be the inspector of dumping, an office which has always been in existence.

The authority of the engineer to enforce this reporting is absolute and the penalty is severe. The law provides "that every person or persons offending against the provisions of this act shall, for each and every offense, be liable to a fine of $100 or imprisonment not exceeding two months, to be enforced in any district court in the United States within whose territorial jurisdiction such offense may have been committed."

Want Transfers Annulled.

The Penn Land and Loan company has sued J. C. Schaefer to set aside certain real estate transfers. The plaintiff alleges that it lately received judgment for $1268.42 against Schaefer, but an execution was returned unsatisfied. It is alleged that in March, 1894, Schaefer transferred a lot in Endion to R. Schiffman, who in turn transferred it to Schaefer's wife. The suit is to set aside these transfers which, it is alleged, were fraudulent and without consideration.

IS NOT EXCELLED.

No Road Bed in the West Better Than the Duluth's.

The morning paper attempts today to compare the road beds of the Eastern Minnesota and the St. Paul & Duluth to the disadvantage of the latter. It is a well known fact among railroad men that the road bed of the St. Paul & Duluth is inferior to none in the whole West, so the disparaging statements in the morning paper are uncalled for and unjust. The St. Paul & Duluth trains run on a track that is as firmly and securely set as money and skill can make it, and it will easily stand any rate of speed which may be applied to it.

The time on most of the St. Paul & Duluth trains will soon be greatly reduced. The limited under the new time card will make the trip in four hours, and this will be done as soon as the frost is entirely out of the ground, probably in three or four days. The day train from St. Paul will get in at 1:50 instead of at 3 o'clock, and the time will probably soon be made 1:30.

His Public Land Bill Favorably Considered by the House Today.

Comprises Forty-Seven Sections, Which Were Explained by the Author.

The Election of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners Declared Valid.

St. Paul, March 28.—The usual petitions opened the day in the house. The following committee reports were made and adopted.

H. F. 704, providing for depositories for town monies, amended, to pass; S. F. 304, relating to salaries of county auditors and treasurers, to pass; H. F. 479, to amend laws of 1878, to be indefinitely postponed; H. F. 772, to amend laws of 1879, relating to terms of county auditors, substitute for H. F. 479, to pass; H. F. 633, compelling railroads to fence their right-of-way against sheep, to be indefinitely postponed.

H. F. 707, recompensating persons who care for non-resident paupers, to be postponed, but on motion of its author, Mr. Torson, placed on general orders; H. F. 725, amending laws relating to duties of town clerks, to pass; H. F. 724, relating to duties of clerks of school districts, to be postponed; H. F. 499, amending wolf bounty law, to pass; H. F. 736, giving town of Avon, Stearns county, right to drain a certain marsh, to be postponed; H. F. 749, J. M. Smith, relating to unorganized counties, to pass; H. F. 757, amending laws relating to duties of county commissioners and auditors, to be postponed; S. F. 292, allowing the town insurance companies to change location of business offices, to pass as amended; H. F. 173, amending laws relating to farmers' mutual insurance companies, to pass.

The special order—the Staples' public land bill—was then taken up. Mr. Staples explaining the bill, as members desired to hear more about the various sections as they were read by the clerk. The bill is a long one, forty-seven sections, and the explanations consisted chiefly in showing the difference between the present law and the bill under discussion.

A number of minor changes were made without difficulty until Mr. Mallett suggested some modification of section 13, whereby it would be made possible to sell any parcel of land which has in part been damaged. The present law leaves a good deal of a loop hole for the sale of timber and much green timber has heretofore been sold. The Staples bill limits such sale to damaged timber only.

Mr. Mallett wanted an amendment to allow the sale of parcels of timber where two-thirds of the same was damaged, and Mr. Staples was willing to accept the suggestion, if it was possible at the same time to protect the state which he did not believe possible. No change, however, was made in the section. The reading of the bill was completed before the noon recess, but the speaker declared recess before a vote was reached.

After recess, the Staples' bill passed. Yeas, 73; nays, 35.

THE SENATE.

St. Paul, March 28.—Petitions took up but little of the senate's time today. The following bills were introduced:

Senator Sheehan, by request, to repeal chapter 360, special laws of 1889, etc., relating to contracts made by city officials. Ramsey county delegation.

Senator Morgan, to amend chapter 148, laws of 1881, to prevent debtors giving preference to creditors. Judiciary.

Senator Stevens, granting additional powers to park commissioners for securing lands. Passed under suspension, the bill applying only to St. Paul.

Senator Stevens, to amend general laws 1878, relating to attorneys. Judiciary.

Senator A. G. Johnson, by request, to prohibit display of sectarian books or text books, or the wearing of any religious garb in public schools. Education.

Committee reports were made and adopted as follows: S. F. 652, to provide a speedy hearing in special habeas corpus cases, to pass; S. F. 650, to amend general statutes 1878, to pass; H. F. 135, relating to estates of adopted children, to pass; S. F. 291, to amend general laws of 1889, probate code, to pass; H. F. 9, to license peddlers, to pass, as amended; S. F. 590, to amend general laws of 1889, relative to probate records, to be postponed; S. F. 632, to amend probate code, to pass; S. F. 586, to authorize agreements by executors, etc., to pass; S. F. 524, to amend general laws of 1889, relating to probate records, to be postponed; S. F. 413, relating to national building and loan associations, to pass as amended; H. F. 45, to provide for sugar bounty, to be referred to judiciary committee; H. F. 244, to prevent obstruction of levees of villages, to pass, rules suspended and passed.

S. F. 550, to amend general laws, 1887, creating a railroad and warehouse commission; declared constitutional by the majority of the judiciary committee and by the attorney general. The bill provides for the election of railroad commissioners. Senator Stevens, chairman, presented the report, but said he dissented from its conclusions and Senator Morgan, Senator Schaller and Senator Howard joined with him in dissenting.

H. F. 202, to prohibit sale of cigarettes to public school children, to pass; H. F. 955, to appropriate money to State Dairymen's association, to pass.

Senator Spencer called up H. F. 532, Mr. McInnes' bill relating to taxation of vessel property and it was read, but at the request of Senator Masterman, it was laid over temporarily.

The calendar was then taken up and bills disposed of as follows: S. F. 344, to amend general statutes of 1887 relating to the returns to the supreme court on appeal, lost 10 to 20; S. F. 451, joint resolution relating to holding of land by corporations contrary to law, passed, 33 to 8; S. F. 413, to make all building and loan associations subject to all interest and usury laws, defeated 16 to 19; S. F. 248, raising age of consent to 18 years, passed, 43 to 6.

The senate then took a recess until 2:30 o'clock.

MAY CAUSE TROUBLE.

Steps to Evict Settlers From the Winnebago Reservation.

Omaha, Neb., March 28.—An order has been received from Judge Sanborn authorizing United States Marshal White to go to the Winnebago reservation and serve notices of eviction on 275 settlers who occupy leased lands on the reservation.

The leases have been issued by the Flourney Land company at various times and it is claimed the leases were never approved by the secretary of the interior and, as a consequence, the government refused to recognize the right of the white settlers to move to the reservation.

Around this fabric a bewildering mass of litigation has accumulated, and the decision of Judge Sanborn is one of considerable importance, involving all the improvements which the settlers have made on the lands which they have leased in good faith.

Many of the settlers are said to be determined to fight, and it may be necessary to have a detachment of troops sent to the reservation to enforce the order. A trainload of deputies will go there tomorrow and if trouble results troops will follow.

CAPTURE OF THIEVES.

Two Expert Jewelry Thieves Caught by Pinkertons.

Chicago, March 28.—Pinkerton detectives announced today the capture of two expert jewelry thieves who have been operating inthe southern part of the country. The notorious John McGowan, who has an unserved sentence of four years and a half in Joliet hanging over him, is imprisoned at Jackson, Miss., charged with robbing the jewelry store of Alfred Bourgeois, of $7000 worth of jewels, and the no less notorious Abe Rothschild was captured at St. Marys, Ont., Saturday and his case comes up at Toronto today.

The men are said to be members of the gang which during the last few months robbed a bank at Elgin, Tex., a wholesale house at Baton Rouge, La., and who also executed the $10,000 jewelry steal from Hickcock & Hickcock, of El Paso, Tex. The arrests of the other members of the gang are expected to follow soon.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED.

New York Bank President Assaulted by a Brother.

New York, March 28.—Scott Foster, president of the People's bank of this city, was assaulted today by his brother, William Foster, with a heavy cane. Scott Foster's arm was broken and his shoulder dislocated and his skull is fractured.

William H. Foster was arrested, and in court said: "It was a good thing that they stopped me when they did. I would have killed him. He has robbed me of everything I had."

THE SUPREME COURT.

Decision in the Hurd Refrigerator Case Reversed.

St. Paul, March 28.—Judge Collins of the supreme court, this morning handed down three decisions, in two of which the decision of the lower court is reversed.

The reversal is in the case of the Wisconsin Red Pressed Brick company, respondent, vs. Hurd Refrigerator company, and David Hood, appellants. Order reversed.

C. P. Lawson, respondent, vs. V. H. Trusedale, as receiver of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad company, appellant. Order affirmed.

THE YANKTON RESERVATION.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—J. C. Adams, of Cresco, Iowa, chairman of the Yankton commission, telegraphs the Journal that the state of South Dakota will be unable to cede 50,000 acres of the soon to be opened Yankton reservation. The state will attempt to relinquish 50,000 acres of poor land elsewhere and take that amount on the reservation for its school fund, making its selections before the public can get on the ground. Adams says the treaty with the Yankton Indians distinctly guards against this.

EXCHANGED CONSULATES.

Washington, March 28.—The president today appointed Carl Bailey Hurst, of the District of Columbia, consul at Prague, and Charles Jones, of Wisconsin, consul at Sheffield. Mr. Hurst was consul at Sheffield, and Mr. Jones consul at Prague, and the men have exchanged consulates.

MR. RANDAHL DEPOSED.

St. Paul, March 28.—By unanimous vote the Augustana council conference yesterday deposed Mr. Randahl, who had secured a second trial of his case from the synod. The charges were many and have been published a number of times. The conference heard the case in full and the decision was unanimous on all points.

THE ELKS CASE.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 28.—Judge Hammond delivered the charge to the grand jury in the B. P. O. Elks' case in the United States circuit court this morning. He sharply criticised the members of the order for engaging in what he termed the petty differences which had disrupted the organization.

ONE PERSON DROWNED.

Cambridge, Md., March 28.—The sloop John H. Thomas, bound for Denton, with a load of shells, sunk in the Choptank river yesterday afternoon. James Jones, colored, was drowned, and Capt. James R. Stant and wife had a very narrow escape.

NEW YORK POLICE BILL.

Albany, N. Y. March 28.—The senate has adopted the amendment of the police board bill striking out the elective feature of the bill.

WINNIPEG

The School Warfare to Continue Two Months More at Least.

Legislature to be Adjourned on Friday Until Next May.

Premier Greenway Says Remedial Order Must be Considered Carefully.

Winnipeg, Man., March 28.—The separate school warfare is to continue for another two months at least, as Premier Greenway has publicly announced that the legislature will be adjourned on Friday, until May 9. Premier Greenway says that the remedial order is too important a matter, involving as it does great vital issues, to be dealt with precipitously by the house, and it is therefore deemed wise to take ample time to become thoroughly acquainted with the whole range of the subject.

The government has already opened communication with certain eminent constitutional lawyers and submitted to them, for their advice, the chief points affecting the jurisdiction of the legislature regarding schools. The opinions of these gentlemen will doubtless have a bearing on the policy to be adopted by the government before the house reassembles in May.

It is thought by some local politicians that the early dissolution of the Dominion parliament may be one of the possible results of the adjournment of the legislature.

Prendergast, leader of the Catholic party, pronounces it a scheme to force the Dominion government to take immediate action. He thinks the house will readjourn from time to time without discussion until the Dominion government makes some decided move.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Explosion of a Boiler and Three People Killed.

Harmony Grove, Ga., March 28.—One of the most horrible catastrophes that ever occurred in this county happened yesterday evening near Apple Vallley. The large boiler at the Langston sawmill exploded with fearful and fatal results. William Goode had just left the engine and was standing near the saw when the boiler exploded, and his body was cut entirely in two and thrown several feet.

John Langston had finished eating dinner fifty yards from the engine and was sitting reading, when the boiler struck his shanty, tore one side away and hurled Langston's body thirty yards through the air. Nearly every bone in his body was broken and he was mangled beyond recognition.

The negro woman cook was in a shanty washing dishes, and she was instantly killed and thrown a considerable distance through the woods. Pieces of her clothing were found on trees twenty feet above the ground.

MURDER IN OHIO.

Cleveland, March 28.—Jurusha Hoyt, a halfbreed Cherokee, Indian woman, was murdered near Norfolk last night. George Washington, a colored man, and Dallas Washburn, a farm hand are suspected of the crime and are under arrest. Washburn's trunk was searched and clothing saturated with blood was discovered. No motive is known.

WEST POINT CADETS.

Washington, March 28.—Forty-three of the candidates for admission to the United States military academy have successfully passed the recent examinations and will enter the academy June next. Among the new members are: Roy Cornwell, Winona, Minn.; Clifford Came, Moorhead, Minn.; C. A. Tratt, Milwaukee, Wis., and F. W. Oldenburg, Antigo, Wis.

A SALOON VICTORY.

Madison, Wis., March 28.—The saloon men won a victory in the assembly this morning when they recalled from the table prohibiting saloons within half a mile of the national soldiers' home and Waupaca Soldiers' home and had it referred to the committee on charitable and penal institutions.

COLOMBIAN REBELLION ENDED.

Colon, Colombia, March 28.—The government troops have been victorious in their engagements with the rebels at San Carlos. Dispatches from Gen. Reis, commander of the government forces confirm the news of the battle at Ensizo, on March 15. The rebellion is now ended and river steamers which have been operating against the rebels are now being disarmed.

HER THROAT CUT.

Princeton, Ky., March 28.—Miss Molly Fasley, whose home is three miles from this place had her throat cut from ear to ear this morning and is now dead. It is believed she was murdered.

COUNTERFEITERS CAUGHT.

Rockford, Ill., March 28.—The local police today unearthed a nest of counterfeiters and captured their moulds for making spurious dollars and nickels. Jefferson May, who came here a year ago, and the leader of the men has made a confession implicating Chauncey Boyer and his two nephews, Joe and John Boyer. They are all in jail.

A GREEN OLD AGE.

La Crosse, Wis., March 28. Mrs. Mary Kirkland Holley died yesterday aged 91. She was the daughter of Gen Joseph Kirkland, of Utica, N. Y., where she was born in 1804. She was also a direct descendant on her mother's side of Governor William Bradford, of Massachusetts. Her home for more than sixty years was at Lyons, N. Y.

MANY ARE HOMELESS.

Thirty Dwellings in a New York Village Burned.

Canaseraga, N. Y. March 28.—The entire business portion of this village and thirty dwellings were burned today. The fire started at 12:40 a. m. and spread rapidly. A strong wind was blowing and the village had only the most primitive means of fighting the flames.

Not until a special train had arrived from Hornellsville with two companies of firemen and a steamer was the progress of the fire checked. Half of the population are homeless. The total loss will be about $100,000. The insurance will not more than half cover it. No lives were lost in the fire but several persons were injured.

SAID TO BE TOTTERING.

The Conservative Cabinet in Canada Likely to Fall.

Montreal, March 28.—The general opinion here is that the present Conservative government is tottering. The rumor is again revived that Hon. Clarke Wallace and the comptroller of customs has also resigned. This would bring the number of resignations to three, and men who are in the secrets of the party say that it should not surprise them if, under the circumstances, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, the premier, would also resign.

BOGUS REGISTRATION PAPERS.

San Francisco, March 28.—The federal officials here have unearthed a gang of forgers organized to flood the country with a bogus Chinese registration paper. The gang secured forged certificates which defy almost the inspection of the United States officers themselves. Its members have included Chinese as well as white men in the scheme, and have already secured a contract to supply 15,000 of the sets of bogus certificates of residence.

THE PROFESSOR DENIES.

Kansas City, Mo., March 28.—A special to the Times from Fargo, N. D., says: Professor Max Desel refused to be interviewed today on his wife's charges until he consulted his attorneys. All he would say was that he had affidavits to prove he had not broken open her trunk, and that her story that she had worked in New York as a servant girl is a base fabrication gotten up to elicit sympathy.

CATHOLIC CHURCH BURNED.

Omaha, Neb., March 28.—St. Paul's Catholic church, which was the scene of riot two weeks ago, in which so many were hurt, burned last night. This settles a bitter church quarrel that has been going on for four years. Both factions accuse the other of being responsible for the fire. The church was guarded by six of the priest's friends, fully armed, at the time of the fire.

BARBAROUSLY TREATED.

San Francisco, March 28.—Joaquin Miller arrived yesterday from Hawaii. The poet left Honolulu suddenly with no baggage. His intended departure was kept secret, as he says he was afraid the officials of the government would put him in prison. Miller denounced the treatment accorded the political prisoners as barbarous in the extreme. He predicts that a filibustering expedition will be organized to go to Honolulu and rescue the political prisoners.

WOULD-BE ROBBER SHOT.

Louisville, Ky., March 28.—Tom Owens was shot last night by Warren Vaughn while trying to rob O. M. Watkins' grocery on West Madison street. Owens and an unknown accomplice entered the store and ordered Vaughn, who is 18 years old and a clerk in the place, to give up the cash. He refused and six shots were fired at him. Owens was shot twice in the abdomen. His wounds may prove fatal. The police believe Owens to be an ex-convict.

POLICE OFFICER KILLED.

Ottawa, Ia., March 28.—Last night Officer Ed Groves was shot through the heart and instantly killed by Fred Pletzmeier, a coal miner. Groves had gone to the house of the coal digger to stop a family row. Officers took the murderer to the penitentiary at Fort Madison to avoid lynching.

A DECK HAND DROWNED.

New York, March 28.—The Lehigh Valley railroad tug Mary A. Packer was sunk in the inner harbor today during the prevalence of a fierce wind storm. James Kelly a deck hand, was drowned. The other eight membes of the crew were saved by the side wheeler steamer Magentie and landed at Hoboken.

SERIOUSLY SCALDED.

Madison, Ind., Mach 28.—The steamer B. S. Rhea, which left Madison at 3 o'clock this morning, burst a steam pipe at Daniels Landing, five miles above this city, and Emery Farrell, colored, was seriously scalded. The passengers were transferred to the steamer Sherley.

A LIFE SENTENCE.

Danville, Ky., March 28.—Henry Redding, colored, for causing the Miller hotel fire at Lancaster, New Year's day, in which Edward Pascoe and two others were burned to death, was this morning sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The evidence was circumstantial.

TO RAISE POTATOES.

St. Louis, Mo., March 28.—The "Detroit plan" will be introduced in St. Louis if tenders of substantial assistance will carry it through. Offers of the use of vacant property in this city have been made by a number of prominent citizens.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

Fenton, Mich., March 28.—As the result of the investigation of the circumstances of the death of Mrs. Frank Annis, who was cremated in her home yesterday, her husband has been arrested on suspicion of murder.

TWO DESPERADOES KILLED.

Fort Worth, Tex., March 28.—"Slaughter Kid" and Saunders, two desperadoes, for whose capture there is a heavy reward, were shot and killed this morning by a deputy United States marshal at Illinois, Cherokee nation, Indian territory.

VERY HIGH WIND.

New York, March 28.—The wind today is northwesterly and its rate is nearly the highest on record. The wind along the coast is from thirty to sixty-five miles an hour, the highest point being in this vicinity. It will probably continue during the day but may diminish tonight. It has taken some remarkable jumps. Between 9:50 and 9:55 o'clock, it increased twelve miles.

COINAGE

The Subject of a Bimetallic Conference Gives Rise to Gossip.

Without the President's Determination These Delegates Could Not Act.

Washington, March 28.—In regard to the point that delegates from the United States to the international bimetallism conference could not be commissioned under the Wolcott amendment, unless the call was made should provide for a conference for esablishment of free coinage, it is recalled that in outlining the purpose of the proposed conference, the language of the present law is the same as that under which the Brussels conference of 1892 was held and that while the first instructions of this government to its delegates in that conference were to secure free coinage, if possible, they were authorized to use their own judgment in a large measure, and that "failing to secure international bi-metallism," they were advised by the then secretary of the interior, Hon. J. W. Foster, "the next important duty will be to secure, if possible, some action upon the part of European countries to looking to a larger use of silver as currency in order to put an end to the further depreciation of that metal."

The fact is not overlooked, however, that the Brussels conference was held upon the call of the United States, while it is not contemplated that the one now proposed shall be called at the instance of this county. There are some public men here who do not believe that any conference will be called. Judge Holman is among those who holds this opinion. He said today that the movement would amount to nothing and expressed the opinion there would be no call for a meeting and therefore no appointment of delegates by the president.

There was a story current today that in case the president should decide not to complete the commission provided for in the sundry civil bill, the delegates appointed by the senate and house could attend the conference regardless of his action, but this appears to be based upon the merest surmise as none of the senate or house appointees, who alone could be adequate authority for placed upon his utterances.

Judge Culberson, one of the house delegates, remained in the city until today but his friends say he has never contemplated attendance upon any conference that might be called independently of the action of the president. They say for him that the impression which has gone abroad that he was the mouthpiece for the president's views in recent interviews given out by him, in which he expressed his sorrow at the inability of the congressional enactment is entirely unfounded, and that Mr. Culberson has expressed deep regret that such an impression has been such a statement, are in the city.

It is pointed out by those who do not believe that the congressional delegates will undertake to represent the United States independently of the president's action, that the law is based upon the president's determination, and that without action on his part the delegates would have no official standing at a conference of the kind contemplated.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

Ft. Scott, Kan., March 28.—The mystery of the murder of Stewart Strevyl on his ranch four miles east of this city on the night of March 15 was today solved by disclosures made by the wife of Noah Strevyl, a son of the murdered man to the effect that her husband had committed the crime.

The old man was felled to the floor as he sat smoking before his hearth by a blow on the head, and his throat was then cut with a knife. Mrs. Strevyl relates that Noah left home Friday, March 15 and came back the next morning at 2 o'clock. His clothing and hands were covered with blood. He explained that he had fallen and hurt his nose.

Later, however, Mrs. Strevyl states, Noah confessed that he had gone to his father's house and killed him. He threatened Mrs. Strevyl and her two babies with instant death if she gave any information which would lead to his arrest. When he got up in the morning, he burned his coat and vest and overcoat in a brush pile which he had set on fire.

The accused man, after reading his wife's confession, still persisted that he was innocent.

WHEN LADY: WHEN WOMAN.

We may safely decide that in the mere discrimination of sex one may always use the word woman with much greater propriety than elegance, writes Sarah Orne Jewett in a discussion as to when the words "lady" and "woman" should be used, in the April Ladies' Home Journal. Spokeswoman, forewoman, saleswoman are certainly better words in themselves than their counterparts of spokeslady or what one hears still oftener, saleslady. Woman is certainly the proper term in such cases; the personal distinction should be made secondary. We should rather hear anyone say: "A lady who has been spokeswoman at the club," or "a lady who was saleswoman at Messrs. So-and-so's," than "a spokeslady" or "a saleslady." But we must never forget that since common usage bestows the title of lady by courtesy upon women, while one should not use it carelessly one should not deny its use in an arrogant way. We must neither claim it by arrogance and pretense nor forget to be guided by courtesy in giving it.

CHANGED

Military Prison at Leavenworth to be Utilized for Keeping Them.

Other National Prisons Will Probably be Created at Various Points.

Washington, March 28.—In making provision for the transformation of the military prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., into an internal penitentiary as was directed at the last session by a provision in the civil sundry appropriation bill, a new system has been inaugurated by the government which, it is said, will in time lead to a complete change in the method of caring for United States criminals. The system now in vogue is to locate the federal convicts in the various state penitentiaries wherever the best terms can be procured, and it has come to be very difficult to find lodgment for them since the passage of the law prohibiting these convicts from engaging in any employment which will bring the product of their labor into competition with the product of free labor.

There are about 2000 of these convicts, and they are scattered about the country in the state institutions from New York to California wherever the laws of the state permit their acceptance and accomodations can be found. The large majority of them are, however, confined in Eastern institutions, and as many of the prisoners are sent from the Western states and territories the expense of transportation is a large item.

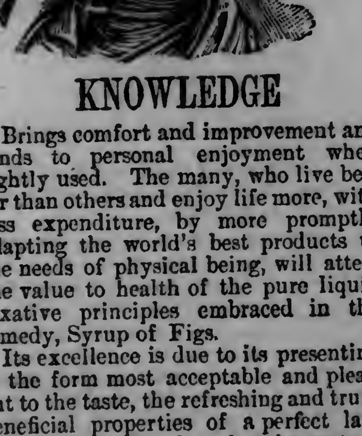
The amount charged by Western states for caring for convicts is so much larger than that charged by Eastern states, however, as to make the saving of the difference on this account of more importance than the saving of the transportation. Some of the Western states charge as much as $1 per day for the care of United States prisoners while the charge in the Eastern states ranges from 20 to 40 cents. Furthermore the United States loses all control of its prisoners when turned over to the state institutions.

The Fort Leavenworth prison will accommodate only about 500 convicts, but it is probable that if the experiment proves successful other similar institutions will be established. Congress a few years ago enacted a law providing for three national prisons to be located, one in the East, one in the West and the third near the center of the country, but the law proved a dead letter as no appropriation was made for carrying it into effect.

In the case of Fort Leavenworth no preliminary expense will be necessary, as the military prisons are in good shape to receive the civil convicts. The prison has connected with it a farm of 1000 acres and is also provided with workshops of various kinds which it is believed, will aid in making the institution self-supporting. The new law provides carefully, however, against the employment of the convicts in any way so as to bring them into competition with free labor. It is estimated that 500 prisoners can be taken care of at a cost of $125,000 the first year, which would be a reduction of about one-fourth of the usual cost.

The law also makes a radical change in the methods of punishment of the war department. While it inaugurates a national system for prisoners sentenced by the United States civil courts it abandons the national system except in extreme cases, for military prisoners. The national plan has been found to be undesirable for the army and the heads of this branch of the service express the opinion that it will be in every way more satisfactory to punish ordinary military prisoners at their respective posts than at a central institution. The principal objection to the national plan in the army is found in the fact that it brings the prisoners who are incarcerated for slight offenses, constituting a large majority of the military prisoners, into contact with hardened criminals and has a tendency to corrupt the offenders of a smaller degree.

It is also urged that the ordinary military offenders can be made useful about the various military posts in doing menial service. There will also be a big saving of expenses in guard duty and in transportation amounting on the latter account, it is believed, to as much as $100,000.



KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

A British Bark Believed to Have Been Wrecked.

ASTORIA, Ore., March 28.—A feeling of apprehension is beginning to come over men in shipping circles at this port regarding the British bark Cupica, now 189 days out from Liverpool with a cargo of tin for Astoria. A representative of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., who is in Astoria from Portland, states that he has given the Cupica up as lost. She is a hard vessel to handle in rough weather and, with a cargo aboard which is all dead weight and not spring-like, would have made the chances for her safety against her. Canning men here have ceased to hope for her arrival, and have made preparations to use American tin plates for the salmon run.

ADVANCE IN IRON ORE.

Lake Superior Producers Name the New Price Basis.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 28.—The Iron Trade Review this week will say: "Within the week the producers of standard Lake Superior Bessemer ores have acquainted their customers with the new price basis that is to be maintained on these ores in 1895—an advance of 15 cents a ton from the opening prices of 1894, and some ore has been sold in the past few days at the higher price.

"Simultaneously, as the result of a movement started before the beginning of the year, Western bar iron manufacturers have got together to try to check some of the demoralizing practices that have made that end of the finished material market a weariness to all connected with it outside of the iron trade."

Shot in Self Defense.

FLORENCE, Col., March 28.—At Wilber, twenty-five miles north of here, Enoch J. Fabran, alias Frank Wagner, a miner, was shot by Frank Herrick in the latter's cabin. Wagner went into Herrick's cabin to compel him to sign a receipt at the muzzle of a revolver for work done but for which payment had not been made. Herrick watched his chance, and when Wagner turned around shot and killed him. He telegraphed for the sheriff and gave himself up. The coroner's jury acquitted him.

An End to Boxing Contests.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 28.—The jury in the case of Charles McKeever, Charles McCarthy and Jack Fogerty, charged with engaging in a prize fight at the Winter Circus building on Jan. 24 and 26 last, came in with a verdict of "guilty" this morning, after being out two days. This will put an end to boxing contests in this city as this was a test case.

Telephoning at Sea.

LAWRENCE, Kan., March 28.—Professor J. L. Blake, of Kansas university, whose successful invention of a means for telephoning between ships at sea and between sea and shore, was tested finally by the government on Monday, arrived home today. Experiments have been conducted for the last five weeks consecutively during all kinds of weather and have not failed.

Duchess of Buccleuch Dead.

LONDON, March 28.—The dowager duchess of Buccleuch, whose serious illness was announced in these dispatches yesterday is dead, aged 84 years. From 1841 to 1846 she was mistress of the robes and was a close personal friend of Queen Victoria.

FURNACE COKE PRICES.

Official Notice Has Been Given of the Price.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Iron Age today will say: "The official announcement that the price of Connellsville furnace coke is to be $1.35 per ton at the oven has removed a fruitful topic for guessing. The figure is higher than was generally believed probable and represents an advance of 45 to 50 cents. The advance will meet much resistance since there is a chance that it may not be firmly maintained. Furnace men will draw upon the accumulated stocks until they are exhausted, so that the coke trade is expected to be pretty dull early in April.

"The steel market has been quiet, prices being close to $15 at Pittsburg. The market was not as strong, however, as the situation in raw material would appear to demand thus far the finished iron and steel trade does not indicate the slightest tendency toward higher prices in spite of prospective advance in cost. In Pittsburg a block of 8000 tons of open hearth plates has been sold for the Allegheny waterworks at the lowest price on record for this grade of material.

"In girder rails some of the mills are capturing very good orders. Cincinnati reports sales of 20,000 to 25,000 tons of pig iron, thus showing a continuance in the activity in that market. In other sections the movement is moderate."

Li Hung Improved.

SHIMONOSEKI, March 28.—The health of Li Hung Chang has so far improved that it is said that the conferences between him and the Japanese officials looking to the conclusion of peace between China and Japan will be resumed next week. The wound in his cheek will not result seriously.

Sullivan's Latest Idea.

BOSTON, March 28.—John L. Sullivan is now able to go out and announces to his friends he has resolved to go into training at once to meet either O'Donnell or Kilrain. Sullivan prefers meeting O'Donnell for the reason that Corbett has stated that O'Donnell can best any man in the world, barring himself.

Georgia Bank Suspended.

MACON, Ga., March 28.—The Clarence bank at Clarence, has suspended, an assignment being made to W. D. Crow, postmaster of Clarence. Liabilities, $73,000; nominal assets slightly greater. The Clarence bank was a private concern.

Shooting at a Prayer Meeting.

GUTHRIE, Oka., March 28.—Reginald A. McGinnes, aged 28, entered a prayer meeting at the "4B" school last night, drew a revolver and fired on Joseph Bradford, a married man, aged 26, inflicting a fatal wound. A feud had existed between the men, McGinnes alleging that Bradford had been intimate with his wife from whom he was divorced three months ago.

A HOLDUP

Robbers Opened the Local Safe, But it Contained No Money.

Bismarck, Mo., March 28.—Train No. 54, which left Poplar Bluff at 10:35 p. m. last night, was held up at Williamsville, a station about twenty miles north of that place, at 11:30 o'clock. The train was in charge of Conductor James V. Webb and was pulled by Engineer Mattis.

As the train neared a lonely spot a short distance north of Williamsville, some one pulled the bell rope and the train came to a halt. Two men, one of whom had a handerkchief over his face and the other a mask of some black material, forced the porter at the point of a revolver to uncouple the engine, mail and express cars from the train and compelled Engineer Mattis to run a short distance up the track with them. The robbers then proceeded to the express car and ordered the messenger to open the safe.

"We are desperate, d—— you," said the leader, a tall man about six feet in height.

The messenger informed them that he could not open the through safe as he did not have the combination. He opened the local safe, but there was no money in it. Meantime the alarm had been given and the citizens were arming themselves. The robbers, becoming frightened, jumped from the train and ran through the woods. Before leaving, however, they secured Conductor Webb's gold watch.

It is thought that the work was done by local talent. Sheriff Hogg is on the scene and scouring the country for the robbers. They will probably be caught.

The train is known as the California express, and is due in St. Louis at 6:06 a. m. It consisted of a baggage, mail and express cars, one coach and three sleepers. The point at which the attempt was made is known as Houck Road crossing, and the mail and express cars were run to the woods of the Black River bottom.

KILLED BY A MANIAC.

Murder of a Minneapolis Girl in New York.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 28.—Mme. Thill believes that her daughter Aimee, who met a violent death in New York yesterday at the hands of John Bigelow, was murdered by a maniac. To a representative of the Associated Press this morning she talked freely about her daughter and her relations with Bigelow.

She declared that Bigelow was an old friend of the family and had known Aimee for several years. He knew her in fact before she went on the stage, having met her here in Minneapolis. It was known to the Thill family that Bigelow had twice been confined in an insane asylum, and Mme. Thill says her daughter often expressed to her a fear of Bigelow and his attentions to her.

Bigelow was very much in love with the girl, but she steadily rejected any nearer relation than that of a friend. Her great ambition was to succeed on the stage and she had no desire or intention of marrying. She had gone to New York to realize her ambition and not to marry, said her mother. If she had desired marriage she had had numberless opportunities in Minneapolis, as she was a girl of singular beauty. It was partly through Bigelow's influence that she had obtained a place in the Drew company.

Wanted It Transferred.

A little boy in this city, whose mother was endeavoring to teach him to be generous with his sister, has profited by the lesson. The mother would always say to him whenever he got anything, "Give half of it to sister." He usually did as he was told, though not always with a very good grace. Recently the little fellow got sick, and it was then that his mother's teaching bore fruit. She was endeavoring to administer a dose of castor oil when the youngster generously exclaimed, "Give it all to sister, mamma!"—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

An All Around Doctor.

According to a letter recently received by Dr. Van Waters from his brother in Seattle, there is a quaint and original doctor located on one of the islands in the sound. He advertises in posters and placards printed in a home outfit. In one of his announcements he says:

"Legs and arms sawed off while you wate without pane.

"No odds asked in measles, hooping coff or mumps.

"Diseases of man, woman or beast eradicated.

"N. B. (Take Notis.) No coroner never yet sot on the remanes of my customers, and enny one hiring me doan't haf to be good layin up money to buy a gravestone. Come won, come awl."

The writer adds that this man does a good business, although you would not expect it, and his patients say he cures disease and does it thoroughly and quickly.—Stillwater Gazette.

Rather Dismal.

"Thought you were down at Atlantic City," somebody ventured.

"So I was," thundered the club kicker. "Been laid up with the grip and thought the change would do me good. Doctor went down with me. Got a seat at a small table where there were only two other men. One of 'em was an undertaker and the other a clergyman. Nice cheerful company for an invalid, wasn't it? Doctor kept asking me about my health, all the time telling me what to eat and what not to eat. Clergyman struck up conversation and began talking about the beauties of the burial service. Undertaker occasionally chipped in with some comment about the large death rate and the particular ravages of the grip. But for the most part he just sat sort of purring at me and gloating over the prospect of more business. I stood it for three meals. Packed up today and came back to the city. Nice, lively crowd, that was! Here, waiter, bring me another whisky and quinine."—Philadelphia Record.

Marinette Iron Works Has Received a Large Machinery Order.

Two Men Arrested for Breaking Into Mrs. Langdon's Home.

Another forged check turned up at the Manufacturer's bank yesterday. This time it was presented at the bank instead of being first passed off on one of the merchants. It was drawn on the Bank of Commerce and was for $23 and some cents. Cashier Smith would not cash it and it was left with him for collection. It was then discovered the maker of the check had no account with the bank and never had. It is thought this came from one of the same parties that have heretofore worked off similar checks around the town.

Received a Good Order.

Directly following the information, that regardless of the stringent times and the inactivity of the lumber market, the saw mills will cut their full quota the coming season, comes the news that the Marinette Iron works has closed a contract with the Franklin Iron Mining company for two improved double duplex hoisting plants, each comprising two 5-foot drums and two sixteen inches by twenty inches horizontal engines directly connected. These plants are specially designed to operate the extra large skips which are being employed on the Mesaba range.

Are Under Arrest.

Joe Thomas and Harry Canfield have been arrested on a charge of breaking into the house of Mrs. Langdon, who lives on Sixty-third avenue. The deed it is claimed, was done on Tuesday night, but it was not until yesterday afternoon that the men were caught by the police. Mrs. Langdon stated that the men came to her house and after rapping several times without gaining admission, broke the door open.

When they came in Mrs. Langdon, who is suffering from a broken leg, got out of bed and chased them out of the house with her crutches.

'Longshoremen Meeting.

The 'Longshoremen's union held a second meeting this week for the purpose of adjusting the scale of wages for the coming season. A committee has been appointed to call on Capt. Inman for the purpose of finding out what kind of a proposition the vessel owners will make. The union will meet again at Svea hall on Monday evening to listen to the report of the committe e.

His Kindly Feeling.

The patient had been sick a long time, and the doctor had done his best, but in vain, and the end was approaching.

"If you have anything to say before going," said the doctor, "it will be best for you to say it now."

"Well, doctor," replied the patient cheerfully, "I have only the kindliest feelings for you, for I'm sure you wouldn't lose so good a customer as I've been if you could possibly prevent it."—Detroit Free Press.

To Preserve Eggs For Winter Use.

Put into a tub or jar a bushel of quicklime, 2 pounds of salt, half a pound of cream of tartar and mix all together with as much water as will reduce the mixture to that consistency which will cause an egg put into it to float with its top just above the liquid. Keep in a cool place.

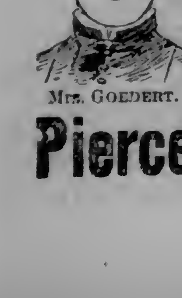
ALL ALONE,

both in the way it acts, and in the way it's sold, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

A long procession of diseases start from a torpid liver and impure blood. Take it, as you ought, when you feel the first symptoms (languor, loss of appetite, dullness, depression). As an appetizing, restorative tonic, to repel disease and build up the needed flesh and strength, there's nothing to equal it. It rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, braces up the whole system, and restores health and vigor.



Mrs. GOEDERT.

Mrs. SUSAN GOEDERT, of Rice, Benton County, Minn., writes: "I have taken three bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and feel quite well and strong now, so that I am able to do my work without the least fatigue."

WHEAT DULL TODAY.

The Market Opened Higher But Soon Sold Down.

The wheat market was dull and inactive today, but had a rather firm undertone. The principal feature was the continuance of dry weather in the Southwest. The complaints are increasing in number as well as in intensity, and the area from which they come is extending. The Cincinnati Price Current's report was rather bullish, as it admitted deterioration during the last week and said that an early rain was necessary in order to prevent serious damage. New York wired that a London cable received there reported serious damage to the Argentine crop by rain, but as the wheat there was harvested last January, it was believed here that the injury would not be very serious. There was not much in cables, the quotations showing very little change, though the continental markets were generally easier. May opened ⅛c higher at 60⅞c, sold up to 61c, and declined ⅛c, ruling pretty steady at 60⅞c until near the close when it lost ¼c. July started at 61½c but sold down to 61⅛c. There was small trading in futures. Little was done in cash stuff, as offerings were light. The mills were offering ½c over May for No. 1 hard and May price for No. 1 northern but secured little. The close was practically unchanged from yesterday, as follows:

No. 1 hard cash, 60⅝c; March 60⅝c; May, 61⅝c; July, 62⅛c. No. 1 northern cash, 60⅝c, March, 60⅝c; May, 60⅝c; July, 61⅛c; September, 59½c. No. 2 northern cash, 57c; No. 3, 54c; Rejected, 51c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 61⅛c; No. 1 northern, 60⅝c. Rye, 49c. No. 2 oats 30⅛c. No. 3 oats, 30c. Barley, 44@46.

The Liverpool Market.

LIVERPOOL, March 28.—Wheat, spot steady, demand poor; No. 2 red winter, 4s 9d; No. 2 red spring, 5s 2¼d; No. 1 hard Manitoba, 5s 2¼d; No. 1 California, 5s. Futures opened quiet but steady with near and distant positions ¼d higher, closed firm with March ¼d higher and other months ¼d higher; business about equally distributed. March, 4s 9d; April, 4s 9¼d; May, 4s 9d; June, 4s 9¼d; July 4s 9¾d; August, 4s 10d. Corn, spot, steady; American, 7s 7d. Futures opened firm and unchanged from yesterday's closing prices but later advanced and closed steady with March unchanged and other months ¼d higher, business heaviest on early positions. March, 4s 2¾d; April, 4s 2¾d; May, 4s 2¾d; June, 4s 2¾d; July, 4s 3d; August, 4s 3¼d. Flour, firm; demand moderate; St. Louis fancy winter, 6s.

GOSSIP.

The wheat market opened strong on continued dry weather and remained so most of the session. Near the close it sold off on private messages predicting rain tomorrow. St. Louis and New York weather stations think rain is indicated while Washington and Chicago do not expect it. Reports by private wire from several points in Texas and Arkansas this afternoon showed no signs of rain, the weather being clear and hot. The rain makers have had the best of it today, but the drys may have their innings tomorrow. It is hardly probable that wheat would sell off much if rains should fall as shorts would want to cover. If there is no prospect of rain tomorrow the market is likely to open considerably higher and may advance sharply. Exports are liberal and primary receipts lighter.

Corn and oats have apparently been fed long stuff today. The strength in wheat caused some heavy buying by scalpers. Provisions continue active, rallying quickly from the quick drops. The stock market had no special feature in it today. Insiders bought Whisky, causing some strength.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

EPIGRAMS

London Society Ridiculed in Some of the Play's Bright Lines.

The latest play by Oscar Wilde, "An Ideal Husband," just produced in New York, has a great deal more action and dramatic interest in it than his last play seen here, "A Woman of No Importance," lately seen in Louisville, but it is hardly less punctuated with epigrams and flippances. There is a clever talky man and a clever talky woman in this new play, just as there were in his former ones, and to these he allots a good portion of the dialogue. Here are some of the brighter hits from the book of the play:

Nowadays people marry as often as they can. It is most fashionable.

You have your price, I suppose. Everybody has nowadays. The drawback is that most people are dreadfully expensive. I know I am.

I think anything better than high intellectual pressure; it makes the noses of young girls so very large.

Truth is a very complex thing.

It is tragic how much our husbands trust us.

London society is entirely made up of dowdies and dandies. The men are all dowdies and the women are all dandies.

Secrets from other people's wives are a necessary luxury in modern life, but no man should have a secret from his own wife. She invariably finds it out. They can discover everything except the obvious.

Life is never fair, Robert. Perhaps it is a good thing for most of us that it is not.

What this century worships is wealth; the god of his century is wealth; to succeed one must have wealth; at all costs one must have wealth.

Do you really think that it is weak to yield to temptation? I tell you there are terrible temptations that it requires strength and courage to yield to.

I am always saying what I should not say. In fact, I usually say what I think—a great mistake nowadays. It makes one so liable to be misunderstood.

The world can't stand a man who always says he is right, but they are very fond of a man who admits that he has been wrong.

"Do you know her well?"
"So well that I got engaged to be married to her once."

She wore too much rouge the other night and not quite enough clothes. That is always a sign of despair in a woman.

It is an excellent charity. The object is to try and bring a little happiness into the homes of the upper classes.

Nothing ages one so rapidly as being too modern.

In my time we were taught not to understand anything. That was the old system. But modern women understand everything, I am told.

I cannot understand this modern mania for curates. In my time we girls saw them running about like rabbits, but we never took any notice of them.

Dining at home by yourselves. Is that quite prudent? But I forgot your husband is an exception.

Morality is simply the attitude we adopt toward people whom we personally dislike.

Fashion is what one wears one's self. What is not fashionable is what other people wear; just as vulgarity is the behavior of other people.

Bachelors are not fashionable any more. They're a damaged lot; too much is known about them.

D—— sympathy! There is a great deal too much of that going nowadays.

Do you really understand what you say, sir?
Yes, father, if I listen attentively.

INEZ MECUSKER.

A Beautiful American Woman Who Is a Famous Ballad Singer.

It is always pleasant to note the success of an American, and more especially of an American woman. Inez Mecusker is a native of Pennsylvania, in which state she was born on the Fourth of July, 1869. She has a very sweet voice, which has been highly cultivated and is of high register. It is lyrical in character and especially adapted for ballad singing, in the rendering of which she stands almost unrivaled on the stage today.

In 1888 Miss Mecusker accepted the position of soprano soloist of the Schubert quartet, leaving it the following season to form an opera company of her own, in which she starred. In the fall of 1890 she became a member of the Boston Lyceum company, but soon left that organization to go on a starring tour in her own company, playing Von Suppe's well known opera "Galatea." When Sousa accepted a call last spring to take his magnificent band to the California Midwinter exposition at San Francisco, he wished to secure an artiste capable of interpreting the great oratorios with chorus and band accompaniment as well as to sing simple English home ballads. Chancing to attend a charity concert in New York, the great bandmaster heard Miss Mecusker sing. Immediately after the performance he called upon her in her dressing room and tendered her the position of soloist with his famous band for the proposed tour. She accepted, and her singing was one of the features of the daily performances at the fair.

INEZ MECUSKER.

Miss Mecusker has temporarily forsaken the concert for the vaudeville stage, because it pays her far better. She has recently accepted an engagement to sing in vaudeville in San Francisco this spring.

Besides the natural advantages of great beauty and gracefulness, Miss Mecusker retains in spite of her success the utmost modesty and simplicity.

Small Boys With Big Salaries.

Among the jockeys there are many with incomes above $4,000, and most of the riders range in age from 13 to 20 years. Some of them before arriving at their majority get enormous salaries, although there has been gross exaggeration in many of the stories published on this particular. The leading jockey of the time is undoubtedly Fred Taral, who rides for the Keenes at a big salary and makes a small fortune annually besides on his outside mounts. It is safe to say his income is not less than $20,000. Next to Taral in the matter of earnings comes little Griffin, who was recently engaged at a salary of $16,500. Simms, the jockey for the Dwyers, makes $10,000 or $12,000 a year, and so does Doggett, another crack eastern jockey. Lamley probably earns $7,000 or $8,000. Alonzo Clayton is the best paid western jockey and must give his 2 per cent on $3,000 or $4,000 surplus a year. Midgeley may get $6,000, and little Perkins does not fall far short of this figure. No other persons so young and with so little ability of an extraordinary nature get the money reward that falls to the lot of the jockey. In the trotting world a few of the best drivers make more than $4,000 a year, but there are not many of them, and none of them gets the salary of a Taral or a Griffin.

Johnstone Bennett's Fads.

Johnstone Bennett, the original American Jane, is an actress of many fads. Her principal one is cleanliness. "To be clean," she says, "is my creed. I like to radiate cleanliness around me," and from her manicured finger tips to her bay rum cropped head the masculine little woman is a living example of what she admires most. Another fad is shirt fronts, and she cherishes a partiality for masculine vests and scant, plain skirts. She is also mannishly devoted to poker, and she will stake her entire company, costumes and all and stay up all night when she gets particularly interested in this fascinating game. A third fad is amateur photography, but this is so perfectly rabid a mania with the little comedienne just at present that she does not even dare to trust herself out of doors with the kodak for fear she will be tempted to snap it at the first acquaintance she meets.

A Champion on Ice.

Trotting on the ice has aroused more interest in the United States this season than ever in the past, in consequence of which several new circuits have been established. In Canada, however, the sport is an old favorite, the chief interest centering around the circuit which includes the racing associations of the cities of Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa.

At the recent meet of the Hamilton association the principal honors were carried off by a white horse named Sheriff. He lowered the world's ice trotting record to SHERIFF, 2:22.

2 minutes and 22 seconds, and also placed the three fastest consecutive heats on ice to his credit, doing them all in less than 2 minutes and 24 seconds. At the same meet a horse called Clara K clipped the world's five mile record, defeating a high class field.

The Canadian circuit is being followed by a very fast and altogether high class lot of horses this season, including several good ones from the United States. The recent meets at the Jacques Cartier track at Montreal and the one at Hamilton were highly successful.

Flutter—With all my heart. Which is it, a—

Flitter—Sh! Not that. I thought you knew that I'm not married. But (triumphantly) I'm engaged to be.

Flutter (doubtfully)—But really I don't see that I can congratulate you. You know I'm not a particular believer in marriage.

Flitter—Ah, but you will congratulate me when you hear all.

Flutter—Now don't, my dear boy. Do't go into raptures and rave about sapphire eyes, golden hair, sweet disposition and all that. I couldn't stand it. Really I could not.

Flitter (with a hurt tone) — Look here, Flutter. Do I look like a man who would rave about such truck? No, sir. She has no golden hair nor sapphire eyes. What her exact disposition is I do not know nor care. She is not particularly young nor particularly old. But she has a profession in which she is an adept. Day by day I have watched her in her glorious career and seen her fame grow. No, sir, good looks are nothing to me, but ability everything.

Flutter (puzzled) — What are you driving at?

Flitter (proudly)—I am engaged to marry the famous authoress of "How to Live Comfortably on $500 a Year," "The Science of Inexpensive Cookery," "Children, and How to Bring Them Up Without a Nurse," etc. Besides this, she is president of the Antilard Cooking class, vice president of a woman's building and loan association and a director of The Training School For the Improvement of Domestic Servants.

Flutter (firmly)—My dear fellow, I must still decline to congratulate you. My wife attended her cooking class.—Brooklyn Life.

A Suggestion.

When the head of the concern arrived at his office on the very cold morning, his room was cold.

"Is the steam on?" he asked. The stenographer girl said it was.

"Ah, I see!" he remarked. "The pipes are filled with cold air," and with that he unscrewed a small plug from one end of the radiator.

The cold air came whistling out and after came a trace of steam. "I'll wait till it heats up," he said.

The steam began to blow through the hole, so he started to screw the plug in again.

"Ouch! Gee! Thunderation!" he screamed as he danced around on one foot. The steam had scalded two of his fingers.

The radiator began "blowing off" like a locomotive and spurting water across the carpet.

"Run for the janitor!" he yelled. "Somebody get that plug and put it in! Go tell the engineer!"

The room was clouding with vapor as he pawed around on the floor for the plug that had dropped while he burned his fingers.

"I can't find it," he gasped as he jumped up again. "This is terrible. What can we do?"

The stenographer girl looked at him and calmly said, "Why not turn off the steam?"—Exchange.

Who It Was.

"Now who is said to support the world?"

"Atlas, miss."

"And who supported Atlas?"

"Please, miss, my book don't say, but I 'spec' it was his wife."

Persevered and Got a Quarter.

Repartee is a valuable weapon, as one of the out of the elbow cherubs who have been doing praiseworthy service in sweeping the crossings since slush has made walking a misery found out, says a Washington paper.

"Please, marm, gimme a little penny," and he held out a grimy hand to a woman of benign aspect who was passing. She shook her head and went on, but the persevering child followed her. "Only a little penny, please, marm."

"But, my child, I haven't a little penny," the woman explained.

"Then," said the cherub, with a merry twinkle in his eyes, "a big quarter will do," and he got it.—Detroit Free Press.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., March 28.—An extensive area of low pressure, accompanied by cloudy weather and brisk to high southwest winds, is central in Northern Montana. A high pressure area which is central over Lake Superior gives fair weather to the lake region and the central valleys. Fourteen above zero in Northeast Michigan and 66 above in Tennessee were respectively the lowest and highest temperatures reported at 7 a. m. today.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 28; maximum yesterday, 50; minimum yesterday, 35.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 7 p. m. tomorrow: Fair, followed by rain or snow and slightly warmer tonight and Friday; brisk northeast to southeast winds.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, March 28.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow. For Wisconsin: Fair and warmer tonight and Friday; southeast winds. For Minnesota: Fair and warmer tonight; Friday fair, increasing southeasterly winds.

THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

There is one feature of Mayor Lewis' annual message to the council which deserves special attention, and that is the portion referring to the operations of the board of public works during the past year. In no other department is there evidence of greater economy having been practiced or of efforts being made to reduce the expenditures to the lowest point consistent with efficiency, and the members of the board are to be congratulated upon the excellent showing.

A comparison of the expenditures last year with those of the previous twelve months will show how the expenditures of the board have been cut down. In 1893 the payrolls of the board reached a total of $7488, while in 1894 they aggregated but $4886.20, showing a decrease of $2601.80. The engineer's payrolls in 1893 were $34,072.20, while last year, including West Duluth, they were only $14,943.68 indicating a decrease of $19,128.52. The expenditures on account of maintenance in 1893 were $46,053.80 while in 1894, including West Duluth, they aggregated $36,186.54. This item shows a reduction of $9,867.26. The sewer department cost $9942.59 in 1893, and it cost only $8855.90 in 1894, including West Duluth, a decrease of $1086.69.

It will thus be seen that the total expenditures of the board in 1894 were $64,872.32, as compared with $97,556.59 in 1893, showing a decrease of $32,684.27 in favor of last year. A still more favorable showing might be made if the exact expense of engineering and board work in West Duluth for the current year were known but the showing here made will illustrate the careful economical manner in which the board is conducting its affairs.

THE NEWS FAKIRS.

The St. Paul Globe of yesterday devoted a column of its valuable space to the "Duluth fiction mill," in which it showed how the newspapers of the country are again being flooded with a choice collection of fakes by unscrupulous Duluth "string fiends." The Globe is doing a good work in thus exposing the news fakirs who are giving Duluth an unenviable reputation abroad in regard to reliability in matters of news. Every correspondent of an outside paper who does not belong to this unscrupulous gang will heartily applaud the action of the Globe and will trust that the expose will open the eyes of the managing editors of the Chicago and Eastern papers who are being imposed upon and swindled by "news" of the character mentioned.

The "string fiends" who thus swindle the newspapers that they serve with news matter from Duluth are not one whit better than the sneak thieves who would enter the business offices of those newspapers and rob their tills. By padding their "strings" with these yarns spun out of whole cloth or grossly exaggerated in order to make them more striking they are obtaining money under false pretences, and consequently are not superior to any petty swindler. Duluth would be well rid of such people. They are a positive injury to the city. When outside newspapers find that a great quantity of the alleged news sent out from here is of the fake order they will view all news matter from this city with suspicion, and the result will be that news matter connected with Duluth's growth and progress will be rejected by the leading papers.

The Herald is happy to state that no member of its staff has been guilty of such dishonest practices, and it cannot find words strong enough to express its condemnation of those who are engaged in the discreditable business. The St. Paul Globe may count upon The Herald's co-operation in exposing these fakirs. It is the only way in which Duluth's reputation can be preserved from contamination.

A jealous paper at Minneapolis, which will be remembered as a way station on the highway to Duluth, says: "Latest reports from Duluth indicate that the lake will be open in a few months, if the present mild weather continues and then we may see the news of the Zenith City again appearing in the report of the clearing houses." This is supposed in Minneapolis to be humor.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

There are some people who talk learnedly on the financial question who profess to find some relation between the price of wheat and the price of silver and who claim that the decline in silver has caused the lower prices for wheat. It is a plausible claim, but there is really nothing in it. The price of wheat is regulated almost entirely by the supply and demand. The low prices of the past year or more are the result of increased production and competition. According to the statistician of the agricultural department, the world's production of wheat during the years named was as follows: For the year 1891, 2,370,000,000 bushels; for 1892, 2,414,000,000 bushels; for 1893, 2,427,000,000 bushels, and for 1894, 2,590,000,000 bushels. These figures, which can be assumed to be approximately correct, show a steady increase in production and explain very clearly the decline in the price.

Not only has the world's wheat production increased, but the American farmer has lost control of the market by the competition of producers in other countries who are able to undersell him on account of the very small expense to them of raising wheat. Upon this point an article in the March number of the Bankers' Magazine, by W. C. Ford, of the bureau of statistics, conveys some interesting information regarding the Argentine competition. Mr. Ford expresses a doubt whether the American farmer will ever regain control of the wheat markets of the world, in view of the small cost of producing wheat in Argentina. Wheat is produced in that country at a cost of 40 cents a bushel, which is supposed to be less than in Russia or in any other country in the world. The advantage of our farmers in the past was in having a fertile virgin soil, costing little and easy to cultivate. This advantage they no longer possess in any large degree. In Argentina, however, wheat-growers still possess it and will continue to possess it for many years to come, since the supply of wheat-growing land there is practically illimitable.

Mr. Ford thinks the American farmer may, under exceptional circumstances—when, for example, the Argentine crop is short—still find sale for his grain at a paying price, but his monopoly is gone. It is difficult to see how he can reduce his expenses sufficiently to make wheat in average years a paying crop. Petroleum and wool are other products over which we have similarly lost control. It is in a time of depression, says Mr. Ford, that a country "realizes its industrial position." When profits are brought down to the lowest possible figure, then production goes inevitably in the long run to the section best fitted for producing cheaply. For this reason not much hope can be entertained of any great increase in wheat prices in the near future. To be successful the American farmer must devote his attention to other products besides wheat.

A NOTABLE EVENT.

The appearance at the Temple tomorrow evening of Durward Lely, the great tenor, is an event of special interest, not only to the Scotch residents of Duluth, but to every musically inclined person in the city. Mr. Lely is ranked among the best of living tenors; indeed it is claimed by many of his admirers that his equal does not exist upon the concert platform or in opera today.

Mr. Lely has a voice of exquisite quality, great range, splendid intonation and perfect steadiness, and to this he adds the touch of the consummate artist. As a singer of Scotch songs his fame among Scotch people everywhere is great, and those who attend the concert tomorrow evening may be assured of a great treat. Mr. Lely was Madame Patti's favorite tenor and accompanied her on several of her tours. He is assisted in his present concert tour by Mrs. Lely, who is an accomplished pianiste.

AN OBJECTIONABLE BILL.

Several boiler inspection bills have been introduced in the house and it is expected that a substitute for all of them will be reported by the judiciary committee. It is reported that one objectionable feature of most of these bills is to be retained, and this is the compulsory state inspection of all boilers, whether previously inspected and insured or not. This would mean a double inspection and increased expense to owners of steam plants, and it is not strange that the members of the legislature are receiving letters and telegrams from steam users all over the state protesting against the bill and asking that it be defeated.

The state boiler inspectors are at the back of this bill. There is no demand from any other quarter for its passage. The object of the state inspectors is to increase their fees. These inspectors were appointed because of their political "pull" and not because they are competent to inspect boilers. They may be competent, but that was a secondary consideration with the appointing power. Under the proposed law any steam boiler in the state would be subject to inspection by these men at any time.

Boiler inspection is desirable. It is necessary. No one, as a rule, recognizes this fact more fully than the owner of a steam plant. The result is that nearly every steam plant in the state is insured, and the insurance is not given by the boiler insurance companies until a careful inspection has been made by the company's inspectors, who are all men of acknowledged ability to perform this work. Under the existing law all boilers already inspected and insured are exempt from state inspection, which is a fair and reasonable provision. The new law should contain a similar exemption. Then the state inspectors can devote the attention solely to boilers which have not been inspected and insured. This will satisfy the steam users of the state and at the same time will secure the inspection of every boiler in the state.

The Schurmeier prison labor bill was recommended to pass by the house late yesterday afternoon. By this bill not more than 15 per cent of the convicts in the state prison can be put at work in the same industry. It is believed this plan will reduce to a minimum the competition of convict labor with free labor, while permitting the prisoners to be given sufficient employment.

Senator Howard yesterday introduced a bill for a constitutional amendment whereby the voting machines used in some parts of New York may be used at elections in this state. Then the result of any election would be known as soon as the polls closed. It is a good thing and the legislature should push it along.

Buffalo is making a bid for the Republican national convention next year. Buffalo would handle the convention in good style and has many advantages for such a gathering, but if Minneapolis wants it again, the Buffalo people may have to wait two years longer.

A man who has been arrested in New York, has been married sixty-nine times. Is it not a shame to arrest a man who has been so much punished already. Think of sixty-nine wives and probably as many mothers-in-law.

It is said that Minister Thurston, on his arrival at Honolulu, will be made minister of foreign affairs. Then he will be on an even footing with Secretary Gresham and can talk back as much as he pleases.

Latest advices from Japan are that Li Hung Chang's condition is favorable, and that the aged viceroy will probably recover. Meanwhile the peace negotiations are necessarily suspended.

Minneapolis has lost $25,000 by the foreclosure of a mortgage on its hospital site. It will now probably offer the site to the state for a normal school or insane asylum.

There are only two more days in which bills can be introduced in the legislature this session, but there is no danger of the legislators running short of material.

The senators refused to shut out the lobbyists. This is not strange. What would a senatorship be worth if there was no lobby to make a bid?

Black Crepons for Skirts and Capes

The latest Paris Mode says under the heading "Any Fabric for a Skirt so it's Black Crepon." The edict of imperious Fashion has gone forth again. The recognized fashion setters of the season have applauded, accepted and adopted its present requirements.

Crepons for Gowns, Capes and Shirts

"Black Crepon"—there's nothing, absolutely nothing, so decidedly popular as a black Crepon Skirt; the waist is left to your own discretion. The production does not commence to supply the present demands. Early shipments to America and subsequent re-orders together with the present heavy purchases here have caused the scarcity. The prominent shops here have advanced the prices 50 per cent, 75 per cent, 100 per cent and in some instances 200 per cent. A 25-piece assortment of the very latest weaves in Black Crepon is selling in our Dress Goods Department at from 75c a yard up to $6.00 a yard, including every new and desirable effect produced for this season.

SQUEEZE

Lon Merritt Says That is the Policy of the Rockefellers.

It Was Laid Down to Him While He Was With Them.

Iron Legislation Will be Investigated by a Chamber Committee.

Lon Merritt was at the chamber of commerce meeting yesterday and during the course of the discussion on the bills designed to encourage the manufacture of iron he made some interesting statements. The Stebbins bill providing for a vote of the people on a constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to appropriate from the general fund for the encouragement of iron manufacture, a sum equal to one-half the money received from royalties on ore mined on state lands and the bill providing for a rebate of the royalties on ore mined on state lands, which shall be manufactured within the state, were read. Expressions of opinion were called for.

E. C. Gridley moved that the chamber approve the Stebbins bill. He suggested some technical changes in the wording. Considerable discussion followed, some favoring one bill and some the other.

Lon Merritt, later listening for some time, arose and said he was inclined to favor the Stebbins bill. He said: "Whatever bonus is given for the manufacture of iron should go to the manufacturer direct, not the mine owner. I probably know more about this matter of royalties on ore on state lands than any of you. It was myself, with the aid of Mr. Braden, who was then state auditor, that drew the bill which is now in effect. It was my idea that it would be the means of fixing the amount of royalty to be paid individual owners.

"Any reduction of royalties which would go direct to the mines held by the two great companies on the range would be a direct gift to them and would damage every other lease and fee mine owner. This same bill for the rebate of royalties was in my hands when I was in the legislature but I never reported it for I was not satisfied with it. The threat of the owners of state mines not to mine any ore is done simply to coerce the legislature into granting a reduction.

POLICY IS TO SQUEEZE.

"It is the policy of the great corporation which now controls the Mesaba range to squeeze and freeze out the holders of all other mines than its own. That policy was laid down to me by these people now in control while I was president of the consolidated mines as the policy of the syndicate. I answered that so far as myself and my brothers were concerned we would use everybody right. Now you must be careful not to steal from the poor to give to the rich.

"The Duluth, Missabe & Northern road today is levying a royalty of from 40 to 45 cents on every ton of ore mined on that range which goes over its line. Now, rather than do anything which will hurt the independent holders we had better do nothing at all. Eventually I suppose these owners will get the benefit of any state aid, anyway, because they are the people who will manufacture the ore if any one does, but the state, if it does not receive an equivalent in taxation of the property of these corporations, will have the benefit of the labor employment, and increased standing abroad."

C. E. Lovett did not like the Stebbin's bill because it would take so long to get it in operation. He favored a more thorough investigation before taking any stand.

E. C. Gridley thought that the passage of the Stebbins bill would have an effect at once. When it became known that such an amendment was to be submitted to the people iron manufacturers would be attracted at once. He said he was not a believer in protection but an abnormal condition has been created by a system of encouragement for Eastern iron industries and the West must for a time do something to counterbalance this.

M. O. Hall wanted a committee to investigate the entire matter of iron legislation and report at a special meeting.

Mr. Gridley withdrew his motion and moved the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the question completely and report at a special meeting on Monday at 4 p. m.

The chair named E. C. Gridley, Lon Merritt, C. E. Lovett, C. F. Johnson and James E. York as the committee.

THE CHAMBER'S FINANCES.

The financial condition of the chamber received considerable discussion. The arrears on the books if paid would discharge all expenses and leave a comfortable balance. President Hugo said something must be done and at once or the doors must be closed. The work of the chamber is not appreciated as it should be. There was considerable talk over ways and means to increase the revenue, but no action further than to approve a form of circular to be sent to delinquents was taken.

The chamber of commerce of Cleveland asked the Duluth chamber to unite with it in securing an investigation for the purpose of determining what effect the Chicago sanitary canal, now building, will have on the water level in the great lakes. The Cleveland body says that no data as to the flow of water over Niagara, through the Detroit river or at other points has ever been preserved and no engineer can secure data sufficient to enable him to give an estimate of the effect of the canal upon which he would be willing to stake his reputation. The Cleveland chamber wants steps taken to secure such data. The matter was referred to the committee on harbors.

Herman Krusky, of Ashland, a manufacturer of hardwood furniture, was recently burned out. His machinery, worth $6000, is uninjured and he wants to come to Duluth, but needs some assistance in the erection of a building. The matter was referred to the committee on manufactures.

J. H. La Vaque was elected a member of the chamber and O. D. Kinney's application was received.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Alabama."

"Alabama" will be presented at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon. Absolutely devoid of clap-trap or catch-penny sensation, "Alabama" is an intensely interesting play and holds the audience spellbound. "Alabama" is purely a Southern play—true to Southern life in every respect and is a story of peace and love twenty years after the war. Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, said of "Alabama": "It is the olive branch of peace. Its acceptance as a successful play by both communities is proof that the war is over and its phases can be discussed without endangering ill feeling. It is a sermon to the American people, and its lesson after all is charity."

The fame of the company presenting "Alabama" is widespread. It includes Frank C. Bangs, for many seasons a joint-star with Booth and Barrett; also Clement Bainbridge, L. P. Hicks, Ethel Irving, Inez Knowlton, Louise V. McElroy and other actors who have become identified with the success of this beautiful play.

Otis Skinner.

One of the most notable dramatic engagements of the season will be that of Otis Skinner at the Lyceum next week. He will give performances on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and Wednesday afternoon and will present three plays. On Monday evening he will appear in Clyde Fitch's comedy, "His Grace de Grammont" a play in which he has won high praise. On Tuesday evening "The King's Jester" by Victor Hugo will be given and on Wednesday evening "Merchant of Venice," Shakespeare's great comedy. On Wednesday afternoon "His Grace de Grammont" will be repeated.

Mr. Skinner's supporting company is an able and efficient one, it includes among others, Frederick Mosley, R. Peyton Carter, Miss Maud Durbin, Miss Sarah Truax, and others who were in Mme. Modjeska's company last season.

Russell H. Conwell.

Russell H. Conwell will deliver the next lecture in the Star lecture course at the First Methodist church on Monday evening, April 8. His subject is "Acres of Diamonds" or "Where to Get Rich and Become Great." This lecture he has delivered nearly 2000 times. The Louisville Journal says of him:

"Long associated with Wendell Phillips, John B. Gough and Henry Ward Beecher on the lecture platform of New England, he has been left without a peer as an entertaining instructor. Americans are justly proud of him as an orator and Christian gentleman."

STRIKES THE SOURCE.

A Pile Cure That Goes to the Root of the Disease.

There are lots of lotions, oils and salves that will, through their soothing influence, relieve temporarily the pain incident to piles. But is that all the sufferer requires? Isn't it a horrible thought to realize that the ease is only temporary and the disease goes on under the surface without a moment's interruption? Wouldn't it be wiser to select a remedy that seeks the source and regulates those deep-seated disorders which induce the disease? Pyramid Pile cure not only relieves the pain at once, but effects a permanent cure of the worst form of piles. You don't have to go through a tedious course of dieting while using it either. It strikes through those delicate membranes and tissues and sets the blood in healthful circulation, reducing at once the painful inflammation and congested tumors. This remedy is not a haphazard combination of drugs, but is a remedy invented by specialists who have treated piles and blood disorders successfully for years. Manufactured by the Pyramid Drug Co., at Albion, Mich. Almost any first-class druggist has it on sale at 50 cents and $1. Don't treat this disease with every lotion and salve that comes along. Remember the parts affected are among the most delicate in the human body. This remedy is absolutely safe and no one need fear to apply it freely on the most inflamed parts. The speed with which it allays the pain is an agreeable surprise to the sufferer.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Max Wirth's drug store. Regular size, 50c and $1.

Lien on the Schooner.

The schooner H. N. Emilie is having a hard time. Yesterday it was announced that H. E. Redmyer had libelled the schooner for $487 for services performed for its owner, his father. Yesterday afternoon Judge Moer filed findings in the mortgage foreclosure case of Eugene La Chance against H. J. Redmyer, finding that $470 was due on the mortgage, and that it was a lien on the schooner.

The Emilie is the vessel that was confiscated last summer by the astute customs officials on suspicion of opium smuggling.

Have You Had the Grip?

If you have, you probably need a reliable medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar to heal your lungs and stop the racking cough incidental to this disease. Max Wirth.

My son was afflicted with catarrh, I induced him to try Ely's Cream Balm and the disagreeable catarrhal smell all left him. He appears as well a any one.—J. C. Olmstead, Arcola, Ill.

CATARRH.

ELY'S CREAM BALM opens and cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Protects the Membrane from colds, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. The Balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

It is believed that orchestral compositions will be found doubly enjoyable if the hearer brings with him some knowledge of the form, and of the composer. The programs of the Thomas concerts are thus early given to the public with the hope that all who are able to go will make themselves familiar with compositions and composers. Mrs. Stocker is arranging some study afternoons in which those who desire can participate.

DURWARD LELY.

Recital of Scottish Song and Story Tomorrow Evening.

Durward Lely's reputation is becoming known to the people of Duluth and the interest in tomorrow evening's concert at the Temple is growing. The Glasgow Times said of the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Lely:

"Those of us who have seen Durward Lely, on the lyric stage never dreams of the versatility of the artist. Last night in the City hall, he made his first appearance in Glasgow in a new entertainment, entitled 'Scottish Song and Story,' in which he displayed a thorough knowledge of the history of the ballads of his native land, and a capacity for story telling which, to say the least of it, fairly took the audience by surprise. Mr. Lely is assisted by his charming and accomplished wife, who, besides playing the accompaniments, rendered variations on Scotch melodies."

It is a matter of great congratulation to Scotch people that one of her sons so talented as is Durward Lely should devote himself to presenting the beautiful song and story of his native land. Although he is capable of securing the finest positions with grand opera companies, he has chosen this field. Among tenors he ranks with the foremost. For several seasons he accompanied Patti in her concert tours. He is not only a good singer but has a fine stage presence and s a fine entertainer.

Harriers Will Run.

The Harriers club organized in connection with the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium takes the first run of the season this afternoon at 4:30 starting from Michigan street in the rear of the Y. M. C. A. building. The run was expected to take about thirty minutes.

The Lacrosse Club.

The Lacrosse club met in Dr. King's office last night and reorganized, electing the following officers: President, Dr. King; vice president, W. J. Darby; secretary, P. Sibbald; treasurer, Frank Crassweller; captain R. J. Baskerville; M. C. Beaton, manager. The president appointed as the board of directors the secretary, manager, and F. C. Carr and William Jamison. The president is an ex-officio member. At the next meeting, next Wednesday, the board will present a constitution.

WEALTH IN POTATOES.

Man Who Begins Raising Them Will Get Rich Very Soon.

The agitation of the Pingree potatoe plan for the relief of the want-stricken members of this community brings up a matter which, while it is insignificant compared with the beds of iron ore and gold and the fields of wheat upon which Duluth may draw for her livelihood, is nevertheless important. That is the wonderful productiveness of St. Louis county's soil.

Nearly all the produce used in Duluth is brought in from other localities. But little is grown here. Yet from the way in which results have been obtained from what small attempts at market gardening have been made here, the fact has been established that there is a fortune waiting for the first man to start market gardening on a large scale. The yields of various vegetables planted here have been really remarkable, as the county fair last fall evidenced. If you do not believe it, talk with D. A. Petrie, A. R. Macfarlane, or some of the other members of the St. Louis County Agricultural society who have tested and proved the fruitfulness of our soil.

If a few men could be induced to go into the business of agriculture, either on the Pingree plan or independently, the beneficial results would be in more than one direction. These individuals would have a clean, wholesome, honorable, independent means of earning their livings, which would be good ones. The consumers of the vegetables thus raised would not only enjoy an excellent quality of produce, but they would be able to plume themselves on patonizing home industries. Not the least item in the list of benefits is the amount of money that would remain in Duluth instead of going to other parts of the country.

Take potatoes, for instance, the average family uses thirty bushels a year. The laboring man brings up this figure, for the toothsome "Murphy," most nutritious and wholesome of vegetables, is the staple article of diet for him because of its cheapness and the amount of nutrition it affords for the price. Some families will not use more than eight or ten bushels a year, but many a laborer with a large family uses fully fifty bushels a year.

There are, approximately, 75,000 people in Duluth. That means 15,000 families. At thirty bushels of potatoes to a family, Duluth then uses 450,000 bushels of potatoes a year. The average price per bushel through the year is about 75 cents. If that is true, Duluth spends $337,200 for potatoes each year. All of that is now spent outside. With enough farmers to supply the demand it would all stay in Duluth and we might be able to sell to Superior until she found out what was going on and started to raise her own "garden truck." And that is potatoes alone. Nearly all vegetables could be grown though some would need hothouses for the winter months. The saving to Duluth would be a considerable sum.

IS "EXPOSING" NOW.

Prof. Walter Sims to Attack the A. P. A. Next Week.

The announcement is made that Professor Walter Sims will "expose the secret conspiracy of the A. P. A." at the Temple on Friday of next week. This will occasion considerable surprise to say the least for Professor Sims has appeared here two or three times in the defense of that organization. Until a few weeks ago he was one of the recognized leaders but withdrew and is now fully as active in exposing it. He promises to hurl some hot shot and to make some startling revelations about the workings of the order.

Visited the Poor Farm.

The members of the Women's Relief society are making a series of visits to the poor farm for the purpose of learning the system in use there and of becoming acquainted with those requiring assistance. Yesterday Mrs. Crowley, president of the society, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. H. B. Moore went out, accompanied by Capt. J. W. Miller.

"That Tired Feeling"

Overcomes us when inferior preparations are recommended by unscrupulous dealers are "just as good as Foley's Honey and Tar Cough Syrup," when we know the unequalled merits of this great medicine. Max Wirth.

Minneapolis Field Day.

The delegates from the Duluth High School association to the meeting of the executive committee of the interscholastic in St. Paul returned last night. Everything was arranged satisfactorily to the Duluth association. Their suggestion as to events were accepted, and they are to have 50 per cent of the gate receipts. The field day at Minneapolis is to be held May 24.

Swept by a Cyclone

Of approbation to the pinnacle of popularity, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has acquired a commanding position, which has occasionally made it a bright and shining mark for knaves who seek to foist upon the community spurious compounds in the guise akin to that of the real article. These are mostly local bitters or tonics of great impurity, and, of course, devoid of medicinal efficacy. Beware of them and get the genuine bitters, a real remedy for malaria, rheumatism, kidney trouble, dyspepsia, nervousness, constipation and biliousness. Physicians of eminence everywhere commend the great invigorant, both for its remedial properties and its purity. A wine glass thrice a day will soon bring vigor and regularity to a disordered and enfeebled system.

[Tune—Greenville.]

Are your fingers stiff and clumsy,
Ones that used to play so fleet?
Go to Coon, buy a Regina.
It will play "Sweet Home" so neat.
It will play you "Rock of Ages,"
Other tunes both old and new;
If you're longing for sweet music,
This short poem is for you.
—N. D. Coon, 105 West Superior street.

The Populist Club.

The Central Populist club was addressed last evening by Judge McGindley who took for his subject, "Toadyism or the Decline of American Manhood." A good sized audience gave ear to the judge and all unite in saying that his effort was highly meritorious.

At the next meeting of the club the regular election of officers will take place.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery, for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at Max Wirth's drug store

THE TIME HAS COME.

It Has Been Neglected Far Too Long.

The Spring is the Time for You to Look Out for Yourself.

Symptoms of This Season You Must Heed to Keep Well.

Most serious are those diseases affecting the liver and kidneys. The very thought of them sends a thrill of horror through the body. When the kidneys cannot work death must result.

The symptoms pointing to weak or diseased kidneys are, headache, pain or weakness in the back, bloating, changes in the water, tired feeling, loss of appetite, gas in the stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, dimness of vision, changes in the skin, sleeplessness and nervousness.

Mrs. C. R. Joyner, who resides at 10 Chapel street, Westfield, Mass., says:

"I was troubled with severe kidney trouble and indigestion, that gave me a nervous, trembling feeling, and I could not sleep very well. I used to wear plasters to relieve that miserable weakness in my kidneys. My liver was also in a bad condition.

"Early in the spring I was feeling so miserable that I decided to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Up to this time I have taken two bottles, and it has done all for me that I represent, and no one who sees and knows me, will doubt a word of what I say. I have lived in this town thirty years.

"Now my health and strength are restored, as I do not have one pain about me. I can eat anything I wish, and am not bothered with the gas in my stomach. I don't even wear a plaster now, and don't have that tired, heavy feeling in going up stairs, and to express myself, can almost skip up and down, and am very thankful, for few can say it who have past their seventy years.

"I think that I came near Bright's disease.

"Some people will not take one thing long enough to give it a trial, and do not know whether it will help them or not.

"Now I feel first-rate, and I give Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy all the praise, and I recommend the Nervura to all."

MRS. C. R. JOYNER.

This great world-renowned preparation, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, goes directly to the weakened or diseased organs and cures them. Its curative action on the liver and kidneys is quick and certain. It makes strong nerves, and pure, rich blood, which is just what you need.

Now in the spring, is the very best time to take it because liver and kidney diseases, as well as nearly all other affections, are more easily and quickly cured now than at any other season. The liver and kidneys are always inactive in the spring, after the long cold winter, and to keep perfectly well everybody should use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy as a spring medicine.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone, at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

HAMILTON'S STATEMENT.

Alexander Hamilton was arrested yesterday by Detective Benson on a charge of using indecent language. His trial was set for 2 o'clock today. Benson accuses Hamilton of calling him bad names.

Hamilton called at The Herald office today and made a statement which he requested be made public. He says a man named Lahey who worked for him painting boats was arrested as a vagrant. He testified in Lahey's behalf and the latter was cleared. As he was leaving the city hall some one remarked to Benson that he failed to convict the man. Benson said:

"Well, when you have such ——— stiffs as witnesses, what can you do?"

Hamilton turned and protested that he did not deserve any such epithets. A quarrel ensued and Hamilton went into police headquarters to see Chief Armstrong, Benson following. He was not there and Hamilton who admits he was excited repeated what Benson had called him and claimed he did not deserve such a name as much as Benson did.

He states that Benson then grabbed him and said "you old gray haired ——— ———, I've got you where I want you now." With that Hamilton says he was thrust into a cell and kept there for two hours. He says his shirt was torn, the buttons of his vest pulled off and his person injured.

This statement made by Mr. Hamilton, is given at his request and may be taken for what it is worth.

HIS HORSE'S VALUE.

His Animal Was Killed and F. Sahlberg Wants Damages.

Fred Sahlberg has sued David Sang for $201 damages. He alleges that on Feb. 1 he was driving a loaded wagon on a Duluth street when Sang came along driving a sleigh at a tremendous speed in a direction at right angles to that in which Sahlberg was going. The two teams collided, and Sahlberg's horses were thrown to the ground, one of the shafts from the sleigh running twelve inches into the thigh of one of the horses. The horse was killed, and for general and specific damages Sahlberg wants $201.

C. M. Johanson has sued Nettie Weimer et al for $300 on a note. The Northwestern Fuel company has sued Jacob Pete for $241.45 for coal.

H. M. Myers has sued L. W. Spear for $116.83 alleged to be due as commissions on a loan which Spear asked him to negotiate but failed to accept.

The State bank has sued R. A. Peers for $472.05 on a note.

In the case of M. J. Tinkham against Miah T. Hulett et al a demurrer has been filed. In the matter of the assignment of Celia Hoff Judge Lewis has signed an order for creditors to file claims before April 27.

LOWER LAKE PORTS.

Capt. La Salle Found the Ice Pretty Solid Down There.

Capt. La Salle returned yesterday from Cleveland. He reports everything quiet in marine circles in the East. The port of Cleveland is surrounded by ice, and not a particle of open water can be seen, though the weather was soft and the wind favorable to a break up. They do not anticipate an early opening of navigation there, and some authorities set the date as late as May 1. From the weather they have had in that country during the winter they thought Lake Superior was frozen from Duluth to Whitefish point, and they could scarcely believe that boats would have no difficulty in getting into Duluth.

NEW IRON COMPANY.

Articles of incorporation of the Elba Iron company were filed with the register of deeds this morning. The object of the company is to mine and ship ore from its location in 58-17, where its headquarters and office will be located. The incorporators are J. H. Chandler, E. L. Merriman, C. W. Hillard, James Bolden and L. T. Beecher, all of Chicago, and the company is understood to be connected with the Minnesota Iron company, as several of its incorporators are also interested in the Minnesota mines.

The capital stock of the company is $100,000 divided into 1000 shares of the par value of $100.

CHANGES IN BYLAWS.

Amended bylaws of the Missabe Mountain Iron company and of the Great Western Mining company were filed with the register of deeds this morning. The companies are a part of the consolidated mines, and their bylaws have been amended with a view to securing uniformity in all the consolidated companies. The principal changes are in the number of directors, which is reduced to three, and in the time of holding the annual meetings, which are fixed so as to bring them at the same time as the meetings of the other companies.

LEADS ALL

Receipts at the Land Office at Duluth Exceed all Others.

Seattle Comes Next to This City But is Far Behind.

Expenses of the Office Were Less Than Ten Thousand Dollars.

For the year ending June 30, 1894, the Duluth land office led every office in the United States as to cash receipts.

The local United States land office this morning received the annual printed report of the commissioners of the general land office and Duluth's figures make a fine showing.

The cash receipts at the local office for the year were $250,587 94. The office making the next best showing was that at Seattle, Wash., where the receipts were $151,531.06.

The year before Helena, Mont., led the procession with receipts amounting to $149,166.74; Duluth came second with $146,727.71. This year Helena is not in it at all and Duluth is $100,000 ahead of Helena's mark for 1893.

Enid, Okla.	$34,600 00
Perry, Okla.	27,020 00
Alva, Okla.	24,385 00
Duluth, Minn.	22,290 00

The difference is caused by an excess of homestead entries in Oklahoma. In the land offices a commission of 2 per cent on the sale of public lands goes toward paying the salaries of the officials. Single minimum homestead entries pay $4 and double minimum entries pay $8. Final proofs pay at the same rate. Timber and stone entries pay $10.

While the Enid, Okla., office exceeded the Duluth office in its earnings quite a bit, yet the receipts at Enid were only $114,502 37.

The total expenses of the Duluth office, salaries, clerk hire, incidentals, etc., were $9767.85. That sum taken from the total receipts $250,587 94 leaves $240,820.09, the net revenue to the government from the Duluth office, an amount nearly double that paid by any land office in all the United States.

RICHARDSON, DAY & CO.,
Exchange Building.

NO NAME DECIDED ON.

The new building on the old board of trade site was originally planned for five stories on Superior street and six on Michigan. The builders are now figuring on running it several stories higher, and Architect Hunt, of the firm of Palmer, Hall & Hunt, is now in the East consulting with the owners of the property. The question has not yet been fully decided so far as the Duluth representatives of the owners know.

The News Tribune will occupy a part of the basement, and because of that fact someone has said that the name of the paper would be attached to the building. This is denied by the Duluth representatives, who say that a name has not yet been decided upon.

A VOLUMINOUS ANSWER.

Judge Sanborn, of the United States circuit court, has made an order permitting the defendants in the case of Alfred and Leonidas Merritt vs. the American Barge company to file an amended and supplemental answer which has been done. The plaintiffs are given thirty days from March 21 in which to demur or reply.

KICKED THE DOOR IN.

In police court this morning Joe Thomas and John Canfield were arraigned on the charge of malicious destruction of property. The charge is based on the alleged fact that they kicked the door in to the house of Mrs. Langdon at West Duluth. Both will be given preliminary examinations March 30. Bail was fixed at $100.

DETECTIVE BENSON EXCEPTS.

Detective Benson is strongly agitated over the statement in yesterday's Herald that there are confidence men in Duluth. He swears by all his reputation as a successful pursuer of evil doers that there is not one. Nay more, he will ante up ten hard-earned dolars for every one that can be found within the city. The Herald did not refer to bunco men but to the sharks who are woodsmen themselves and who rob their brother laborers when they get a chance. Cases of this kind are not infrequent but police assistance in recovering is seldom solicited.

NEW SINGERS' CLUB.

The Duluth Singers' club is the name of a new musical organization, which was organized last evening. The officers are: Franz Schultz, president; James Lynn, secretary; Miss Mae Kennedy, treasurer; Miss Margaret McDonald, musical directress; Miss Julia Donavan, J. Foran, J. H. Delaney, directors. The society is principally organized for chorus singing and it is the intention to start rehearsals on some musical work immediately. The organization has about thirty-five charter members.

GETS NO INCREASE.

County Auditor Halden returned this morning from St. Paul, where he went to look after the measure increasing his allowance for clerk hire from $8000 to $11,000 per year. The bill passed the house Monday and was expected to go through the senate today or tomorrow. The bill is to regulate salaries in counties of between 100,000 and 40,000 inhabitants, and the only change from the old law is that increasing the auditor's allowance. The decision of the chamber of commerce was accepted and no increase was granted the treasurer.

MALT HOUSE COLLAPSED.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 28.—The 5-story malt house at Wainwright's brewery, Thirty-sixth street, collapsed at 7 o'clock this morning. The weight of the grain stored in the upper floors caused the disaster. The loss will be $15,000. Every one in the building escaped, but there are grave fears that several missing pedestrians may have been caught and crushed under the wreck and an active search is now in progress.

RECEIVER WANTED.

Charleston, N. H., March 28.—The trustees of the Conn River Savings bank, at a meeting today, voted to petition the court to place the bank in the hands of a receiver. Bank Commissioners Hatch and Baker recently completed an examination of the bank's accounts.

Change in Firm.

Charles F. Frantz has purchased the interest of Marshall Henzey in the firm of Gordon & Henzey and the firm name will hereafter be Gordon & Frantz. Mr. Frantz was, for several years, bookkeeper and cashier of The Evening Herald and is a well known and popular young man. Mr. Henzey will return to Philadelphia, his former home.

An Idyl of the Road.

Suddenly the cars continued to speed onward.

"Will you please open the window?"

It was a pretty girl who spoke, and the young man in the next seat stepped on himself in three places in his haste to intercept the drummer in the black mustache.

Then the conductor had a try at it, and the porter fetched out some iron instruments and pried in vain.

"Will you permit me?"

A dark man with a shiny valise stepped across the aisle. Out of the shiny valise he took some mysterious implements, highly polished and delicately but strongly wrought. Adjusting these with great nicety and operating them with infinite skill, at the end of two hours the window slowly responded to the man's endeavors.

Hawkshaw the detective, who sat on the coal box, smote his hand upon his forehead.

"There is but one man could do that job," he muttered. Then, putting his hand on the dark man's shoulder, "You are my prisoner," he said.

That is because they are going in that direction.—Rockland Tribune.

Bill to Appropriate Money to Erect Duluth Normal School.

St. Paul, March 29.—A very important joint resolution was introduced in the senate this morning by Senator Spencer and promptly passed under suspension of the rules. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, the city of Duluth, in Minnesota, and the city of Superior, in Wisconsin, at the westerly extremity of Lake Superior, though separated by state lines are geographically and essentially one city, are close in community of interest and already connected by several bridges spanning the grand harbor common to both; and while nature has especially favored these cities in placing at their doors immense deposits of rich iron ores in the Mesaba and Vermillion ranges, vast forests of pine and hard woods, the great water power of the St. Louis river, and the richest agricultural lands on the continent, the genius of man within the past fifteen years has supplanted these advantages by building two modern cities of which any nation might be proud; both already widely known for their commercial and manufacturing importance; containing at this time a combined population of 100,000; being the termini of eight distinct railway systems having a flouring mill capacity second only to Minneapolis; a grain elevator capacity in advance of Chicago; a sawmill capacity the greatest on the lakes, and larger coal docks, iron ore docks, merchandise docks, shipyards and manufacturing plants than any other point in America; and

Whereas, it is believed that the welfare of the communities at the head of the lake shore in the counties of St. Louis and Carlton, in Minnesota and Douglas in Wisconsin, and especially that of the people of Duluth and Superior would be promoted and their interests advanced, the credit of each would be improved and their expenses and taxes reduced by having but one set of public officials, one port collector, one fire department, one lighting plant, one water supply plant, one street car system, free bridges, one board of trade, one method of grain inspection, one code of laws and ordinances, and one general interest in all things, provided the state lines which now divide them and hinder and hold back their commercial and industrial development, were obliterated, and they were united parts of one jurisdiction embracing within its limits one proud city, having for its common harbor the noble bays of St. Louis, Superior and Allouez, and

Whereas, these cities and communities may be brought together, their undue burdens, hindrances and difficulties removed and their mutual good subserved, by annexing to the state of Minnesota and proceedings essential to the state of Wisconsin lying west of the Brule and St. Croix rivers (or such portion thereof as may be deemed advisable), being about twenty-eight townships out of the county of Douglas and one township out of the county of Burnett, and placing the state line where its location was for a time under consideration before the present boundary lines were adopted; therefore be it

Resolved, by the legislature of the state of Minnesota: That the governor of the state be and is hereby authorized to appoint, within thirty days after the adoption of this joint resolution, comissioners as hereinafter provided, to meet treat and confer with like commissioners from the state of Wisconsin with respect to the change of boundary lines and union of the cities herein mentioned, and to report to the legislature at its next general session their conclusions and recommendations thereon, with full facts and information relative thereto, touching and including financial, industrial and commercial statistics, population, public sentiment, terms, time, conditions, plans, legis- Minnesota, that part and protion of bring about such change or modification of boundary lines and confederation of the cities and communities named, together with any and all other facts and data bearing upon the subject. Such commissioners shall be five in number, and shall be selected, two from the city of Duluth and two from the state at large, and the governor shall, ex-officio, be a member and chairman of such commission. Their conferences and meetings shall be had when possible in the cities herein named.

Resolved, that the legislature of the state of Wisconsin is hereby respectfully requested to give its consideration to the subject of these resolutions, and invited to appoint like commissioners in this behalf with full powers to meet and act with the commissioners herein authorized by the state of Minnesota.

Resolved, that the secretary of state is hereby directed to transmit to the governor of Wisconsin, copies of these resolutions immediately after their adoption.

Tomorow is the last day for the introduction of bills and both houses were flooded. Senator Spencer introduced a bill for the regulation of the use of grain threshers. The judiciary committee brought in a substitute bill, relating to the employment of miners.

The game and fish bill was made a special order for next Tuesday. The bill fixing a maximum freight rate for distances of sixty miles and under for common carriers was laid on the table by a vote of 19 to 17.

THE HOUSE.

St. Paul, March 29.—The house insurance committee this morning reported H. F. 253, Mr. Shell's bill to revise and codify the insurance laws, with a large number of amendments and recommended that it pass as amended. The following bills were introduced:

Mr. Johns, to extend the contract for publication of Minnesota supreme court reports. Judiciary.

Mr. McInnis, to appropriate $25,000 to be used in securing plans and constructing foundations for the building of a state normal school at Duluth. Appropriations.

Mr. Brainerd, to provide for Australian ballot system at elections on liquor license. Elections.

Mr. Sander, by request, to amend general laws 1889, relating to savings banks. Banking.

Mr. Reeves, to amend general statutes 1875, relating to town insurance companies. Insurance.

Mr. Reeeves, to repeal law of extra session of 1881, relating to transportation of mineral ores. Mining.

Mr. Reeves, to enable parties to actions to secure an impartial judge in district courts. Judiciary.

Mr. Gunn, to amend general laws 1878, relating to register of deeds. Judiciary.

Mr. Mallette, to repeal general laws 1893, amending law of 1891 relating to sale of lard and lard compounds. Judiciary.

Mr. Nieman, to promote immigration, creating a state board of immigration with a suitable secretary. Immigration.

Mr. Juliar, to amend general laws 1878 relating to licensing of auctioneers. Towns and counties.

Mr. McInnis, to encourage propogation of white fish in lakes and protection thereof. Games and fish laws.

Mr. Mullen, to prohibit residents of Minnesota from uttering checks upon the open account or overdraft system. Banking

Mr. Mellicke, to amend general statutes 1878, as amended 1893, relating to state board of health and bureau of vital statistics. Agrisulture.

Mr. McKenney, to provide for allowance of claims against estates paid in good faith by executors. Judiciary.

J. M. Smith, to authorize city councils to designate city funds and fix the rate of interest. Municipal legislation.

Mr. Robbins, by request, to amend general laws 1881, relating to appointment of a committee to prosecute certain lands claims against the United States. Public lands.

Mr. Barta, by request, requiring all corporations sluicing and towing rafts to keep accounts of all receipts and expenditures. Logs and lumber

Mr. Zier, from the committee on manufactures, reported H. F. 564, regulating storage and sale of explosives, to pass as amended, report adopted.

Mr. Robins, from appropriations committee, reported S. F. 252, to amend general land laws, 1878, relating to the deposit of state funds, to be postponed, Report adopted.

After minor routine the calendar was taken up and the following bills passed: S. F. 310, relative to criminal offenses committed by corporations; S. F. 359, to amend general laws, 1885, regulating employment bureaus; S. F. 407, joint resolution regarding the removal of letter carriers and postal clerks; S. F. 313, for the relief of Peter Barbeau. A recess was then taken until 2 o'clock.

This afternoon the house continued on the calendar, passing the following bills: S. F. 374, to amend section 16, chapter 16, general statutes, 1878; S. F. 499, to amend the law relating to legal newspapers, covering the case of the burned out Hinckley newspaper; H. F. 368, Mr. McInnis, authorizing reassessments for local improvements by cities; H. F. 497, to reimburse Mrs. Mary Hoffman.

The bill introduced by Mr. McInnis for a $25,000 appropriation with which to begin work on the new Duluth normal school limits the total expense for the building to $100,000. Non-resident students will be required to pay tuition, according to another provision of this bill.

TO PRISON FOR LIFE.

Emil Weudlund Found Guilty of Murder at Fargo.

St. Paul, March 29.—A Fargo, N. D., special to the Dispatch says: After a trial lasting three weeks, the jury today returned a verdict of guilty against Emil Weudlund for the murder of Louis Johnson near Fargo June 16, 1894. The penalty fixed is imprisonment for life.

Johnson was shot at about 3 a. m. as he was putting his team in the barn, after returning from a party. The evidence was wholly circumstantial.

Armistice Declared.

NO MONEY AVAILABLE.

Washington, March 29.—There will be no transfer of troops in the army until after July 1, unless there is some necessity for so doing outside of the usual transfers that are made at the end of three or four years' service. There is no money available for such transfers out of the appropriation for the fiscal year 1895. The department has not taken into consideration the matter of transfers under the appropriation available after July 1.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

Chicago, March 29.—A special from Carson, Nev., says: Reinhold Sadlier, lieutenant governor of the state, has been arrested in Eureka county on a charge of embezzlement. The charges were preferred by a stage driver in Sadlier's employ, who says that he held back money he had drawn from the government. Sadlier is under bonds.

FIERCE FOREST FIRE.

Brigantine Junction, N. J., March 29.—A fierce forest fire was burning in this section all day yesterday. It was covered early this morning by employes of the Atlantic City railroad company. The district between Pleasantville, N. J., and this place has been burned. Many buildings and a large quantity of timber were consumed by the flames The loss will aggregate thousands of dollars. The origin of the fire is unknown. The high winds rapidly spread the flames and increased the difficulty of fighting the fire.

A MISTAKEN IDEA.

Washington, March 29.—There appears to be a general impression that congress at its last session amended the pension laws so as to provide for an increase of all Mexican pensions, but it is erroneous. A bill passed the house fixing the rate of $12 per month for all pensions granted on account of services in the Mexican war, but it failed in the senate.

IN CUBA

Puerto Principe Has Been Declared in a State of Rebellion.

Maximo Gomez Said to be at Head of the Uprising.

Captain of the Warship That Fired on the Allianca Removed.

TAMPA, Fla., March 29.—Puerto Principe has been declared in a state of rebellion by the Spanish government. This makes four out of five of the provinces of the island in a state of revolution. The report that Maximo Gomez is in Cuba at the head of the uprising in Puerto Principe is confirmed. Passengers from Havana declare that, so soon as this is officially known, the whole island will rise en masse.

Two engagements were had, one in Bayamo and one in Holguin. The insurgents were successful, and had not reinforcements arrived Col. Santocide and his troops would have fallen into the hands of the insurgents. The manifesto issued by the rebels, inviting Spaniards to espouse the cause of the Cubans, has resulted in gaining valuable support for the insurgents. Gen. Miro who fough: Garrich at Holguin: Gen. Poha, Gens. Estaban, Tamaya; Col. Liens, aide to Tamaya and many other chiefs of the Spanish forces in the last revolution have joined the Cuban forces.

A battle was fought in Ganabano on Saturday. The Cubans were victorious. Two engagements occurred in Manzanillo this week. Capt. Guerra was in command of the Cubans, and Col. Avois of the Spanish forces. The latter were defeated with heavy losses, including two officers.

Many of the Spanish troops arriving in Havana are sick. Vice Consul Gavino Guiterrez has just received this official information by letter from Governor Callaja: "Four battalions of troops arrived in Santiago Du Cuba March 22 and three battalions at Havana on March 25 in all 7000 men. The movement is entirely in the province of Santiago Du Cuba and is composed mostly of negroes. Spanish troops have formed a strong cordon around the province of Santiago to prevent advance movements of insurgents."

The dispatch from Madrid, saying that Martinez Campos had been ordered to Cuba, raises the hopes of the Cubans who say it is the best proof of the gravity of the movement. Col. A. Figuerdo said in an interview:

I believe this dispatch confirms the rumors that Puerto Principe has arisen and Gomez is in command there. Otherwise I do not believe Spain would take such vigorous steps. I am glad Martinez Campos goes to Cuba, for if Maximo Gomez is in the field he will defeat Campos, and then, he is the only man of any importance in the Spanish army.

"I see by the Havana papers he had advised the cortes not to take extreme measures with the Cubans on account of the insurrection, and his will be a conciliatory policy, but in the last revolution no military discipline was preserved and any Spaniard had liberty to shoot any Cuban anywhere he saw him. Many Cubans were run from their homes only to be shot in cold blood by civilians."

It is reported that uprisings have taken place lately in Camaguery under Salvador Cisnenos, Estrada Agramante, Mortojo, former revolutionary leaders. Marquis Santa Lucia, report says, has taken the field, which would indicate that Gomez is on Cuban soil. Cubans are jubilant over the news. Spanish authorities declare that Gomez, Marti and Maseo and the brothers Collazo are still at San Domingo, whence the captain general of Havana receives information daily, confirming their presence.

MADRID, March 29.—Senator Dupuy de Lome, the new Spanish minister to the United States, will accompany Marshal Martinez Campos to Cuba, sailing on April 4 next, the object of his visit to that island being to investigate, before proceeding to Washington, the story of the firing upon the American steamer Allianca. Gen. Arderius, brother-in-law of Marshal Campos, retains command of the Spanish troops at Havana pending the arrival of the marshal.

NEW YORK, March 29.—A special dispatch from Santiago Du Cuba says Lieut. Ybarra has been relieved from command of the Spanish cruiser Conde de Venita which fired upon the American steamer Allianca. Capt. Matens has been appointed to succeed Lieut. Ybarra. Senor Capriles, civil governor of the province of Santiago, has resigned.

THE OFFER DECLINED.

ST. PAUL, March 29—The judiciary committee of the house last night disposed of the Minneapolis propostion to donate Loring park for a capitol site if the legislature would remove the capitol to that city. The offer had been referred to the judiciary committee to decide as to the legality of such an offer.

Two propositions were acted on. First, whether the city of Minneapolis had power to give a legal title to the park for such use, on which the committee was unanimously of the opinion that the city had no such power. Second, could the legislature confer power on the city to give away park property for a capitol site, on which a large majority was of the opinion that such power could not be conferred by the legislature.

This finally disposes of the proposition to donate Loring park to the state for a capitol site, although of course the matter will come up on the floor when the committee reports, but the committee's report will probably be adopted and the offer declined with thanks.

MARIE BURROUGHS TALKS.

The Actress Finally Discusses Her Suit For Divorce.

LOS ANGELES, Cala., March 29.—Miss Marie Burroughs, the actress, has at last consented to discuss her suit for divorce from Mr. Massen. Her story, reluctantly given, is as follows:

"I began suit for divorce in San Jose and I have been notified by my attorney that I can make it uncomfortable for the person who gave to the press the fact that I had commenced action for divorce. I have great respect for Mr. Massen. I like him. I want his friendship, but I would sooner have him as a friend than a husband. There is no reason why we should be enemies. I desire to be free and devote my time to my art, and that is all there is to it.

"I believe in Mr. Massen now more than hundreds of my gentlemen friends but I do not want to marry any of them. In fact I shall never marry again, but shall devote all my time to my chosen profession, enlarge my repertoire, and in time play the pieces which suit best. The papers said that I had occupied the same apartments with my husband in San Francisco. This is untrue. I have not done so since the suit was began, and the hotel registers will prove the truth of what I say.

"Neither my brother nor sister, the former of whom is in Mexico, know anything about my troubles, for I have kept it from them. The first time they will know it is when they receive the newspapers. I have a great desire to avoid publicity for Mr. Massen's sake as well as my own, but I have failed. I am sorry but the fault is not mine."

YANKTON RESERVATION.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 29.—A special to the Journal from Armour, S. D., says: The attempt of the state of South Dakota to tile on 50,000 acres of the best land in the Yankton reservation is arousing bitter opposition.

School Commissioner Lockhart tendered the register of the land office at Mitchell S. D., the fees, amounting to about $500. The register declined to receive them, holding that the proposed action was expressly forbidden in the treaty.

The Yanktons themselves are determined to prevent the proposed action and have signed a vigorous protest to the president. This has been put in the hands of W. T. Selwyn, son of the head chief, who will personally take it to President Cleveland.

The Japanese Advancing.

LONDON, March 29—A special dispatch from Shanghai states that thousands of Japanese landed at Hai Chow, on the coast of the Province of Kiang Su, in which province Shanghai is situated. The landing was effected under the protection of a squadron. The Chinese resisted, but were defeated with a loss of 300 killed. The movement foreshadows an advance on Nankin, capital of the province of Kiang Su.

The Armenian Outrages.

LONDON, March 29.—The Times publishes a long article from a Turkish source, confirming the stories of the Armenian outrages. Editorially it says: "The bare facts will have their natural effect on all who are responsible for our relations with a power which is the very negation of good."

SAFETY OF EMPLOYES.

Opinion by Judge Caldwell Affecting Mining Companies.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 29.—An opinion has been handed down by Judge Caldwell on the responsibility of employers for the safety of employes. The plaintiff's husband had been killed by a falling rock that the foreman of defendant company told him was not dangerous. Judge Caldwell says:

"The doctrine that a mining company can send its employes into the bowels of the earth to conduct its mining operations, without any provision for the proper supervision and inspection of the mine for the security and protection of the miners and the mine, is unsupported by authority, is opposed to sound public policy and is cruel and inhuman.

"The error of a majority of the court in likening the customary work in a mine to sudden calling of men to work after night in the brink of a rapidly rising river, when the brink is caving in, to save property from destruction by the flood, is too obvious to require discussion. Upon the law applicable to this case the majority opinion is a direct and palpable conflict with the opinion of this court."

Judge Caldwell then discusses the evidence in order, as he says, to correct what he considers to be a "total misconception of the facts in the opinion of a majority of the court. Judge Caldwell then discusses the reasoning of the opinion and says that it is as false in logic as it is unsound in law." It, he says, is "a cogent statement of a purely imaginative case."

SUMMER ATTRACTIONS.

Circuit of Street Railway Companies Formed.

The last number of the Street Railway Review gives the particulars of the formation of a circuit by the street railway companies of the cities of Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Des Moines, Davenport, Grand Rapids, Milwaukee and Duluth, for the purpose of securing summer attractions. H. M. Barnet, who has the Twin City Rapid Transit company's privileges at Lake Harriet represented Duluth. It was determined to engage high class vaudeville attractions. The season will begin on May 1 at Kansas City and on June 1 at Minneapolis, other intervening cities taking attractions in turn.

A Japanese family now in Europe has been engaged for eleven weeks and may be kept fifteen. "Pinafore" and other operatic performances will be given in several of the cities. The big money, the Review says, will be obtained from the sale of fares and privileges. Heretofore it has been impossible to secure the best attractions for the reason that they could not afford to play a week and then quit except for such a large sum that no street railway could make anything out of it. By the present plan the attractions can be assured of a long season which will enable the street railways to obtain the best in the market.

The Review says further: "It is the intention to charge no admission fee. Experience has shown that the opinion of the Review on this point is correct, for ventures where admission is charged usually fail. People will go to a free show, though they would not pay money to see the same thing. The primary object of these summer attractions is to increase traffic, and receipts from passengers, not to make the show pay for itself in admissions, and at the same time to increase traffic. Here is where too many companies have made mistakes for they have not acted upon their knowledge of human nature. If the show is free people will flock to it by thousands, if it is not free they will wander there by tens, while empty cars will be going to and fro, the conductors nodding and heavy with sleep because they have no passengers. The thousands will bring in enough money in fares to more than pay the expense of hiring the attraction, which will be insignificant as compared with the amount of money it induces to come into the treasury.

The Duluth Street Railway company will manage the Pavilion this summer instead of leasing it. It is already being fitted up. A stage and drop curtain will be put in so that summer opera may be put on. G. W. Alexandor will look after this part of the work.

The Pavilion will be opened on Sunday and a concert may possibly be given by the City band.

NORMAL SCHOOL BILL.

The McInnis Bill Was Passed by the Senate.

ST. PAUL, March 29.—The senate yesterday afternoon passed the McInnis bill to establish a state normal school at Duluth. There was no discussion on it, and the bill passed by a good majority, as was expected. The vote was: Yeas, 32; nays, 11.

In the house yesterday afternoon, the Howard city charter bill was taken up. Several amendments were offered but all were voted down. There was some discussion but it was so evident that the bill would pass that a vote was forced and within seventy minutes after being taken up the bill was passed by a vote of 95 to 2.

The Sheehan home rule bill was discussed adversely by J. D. Jones and Mr. Littleton and defended by Eli Warner and Mr. Gutterson. A vote being taken, the bill was passed by a vote of 65 to 29

BIG FRAUD.

One of the Biggest Gangs of Counterfeiters Landed by Officers.

Had a Great Scheme for Making Millions by Practicing Fraud.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—After many delays the interanal revenue department has finally succeeded in landing one of the biggest gangs of counterfeiters that have ever operated in California since the days of the Boyd-Ciprico gang that sold the red certificates issued to Chinese by the customs house in China and reaped a fortune.

There were five conspirators in the Boyd-Ciprico gang and there are five in the one just landed. Like its predecessor it also dealt in fraudulent Chinese certificates. The names of the men arrested are: H. L. Foss, freight clerk on the Oceanic Steamship company's docks; James Sullivan, formerly a deputy county clerk; Max Katasaur, a new arrival from Victoria and said to be a leading smuggler of Puget sound; Ferdano D. Cipriico, the man who was tried and acquitted for complicity in the Boyd-Ciprico ring, and M. Greenwald. They are all charged with conspiracy in attempting to land Chinese by means of forged certificates.

The counterfeiters were caught in a room down town which had been a rendezvous, and where many of their operations took place. The officers had to break in the door, and when they secured admission, they found the men tearing up documents and throwing packages of certificates out of the window where they were caught by a waiting detective below. All the members of the gang were landed in the county jail.

The gang had already established agencies at Vancouver, Boise City, Lincoln, Denver, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and Victoria and had laid plans to do business not only with Chinese they intended to import but with as many as possible of the 80,000 registered Chinese supposed to be in the United States. Estimating that they could have reached 50 per cent of the unregistered residents or 16,000, they beheld the profits of their enterprise running far into the millions and they believed their fabulous profits would soon be enough to enable them to bribe officials, buy juries, influence politics and otherwise escape the penalty of their crimes.

Seven Chinese firms in this city were in partnership with the forgers and they had agreed to take 15,000 of the certificates without much delay. The bands is supposed to have begun its operation in Philadelphia, where there is a large paper factory and printing office, the proprietors of which are believed to have undertaken the contract of making the paper and shipping it to Portland.

The imitation certificates have been used and were about to be used more extensively for two purposes—the landing of new arrivals from China by way of Mexico and British Columbia, and for the protection of Chinese now unlawfully in the United States.

T. E. Stillman, of the New York firm of Stillman & Hubbard, representing the Hopkins-Searle interest in the Southern and Central Pacific roads, is here to attend the annual directors' meeting early in April. In an interview Mr. Stillman said: "I do not know who will be the next president of the road. There is no program. I do not know whether it will be Mr. Huntington again or not. I have seen it stated in one of the papers that Mr. Hubbard might be elected or H. E. Huntington. I cannot say either whether Hopkins-Searle's interests are favorable to C. P. Huntington." It is said there may be a fight when it comes to the election.

INSURING OF VESSELS.

Lake Vessels Getting Rates Much Below the Ordinary.

TOLEDO, Ohio, March 29—Following the statement from Detroit that the lake marine underwriters had been unable to agree on a uniform rate for the coming season of navigation, it is learned that an agent of a Buffalo insurance company has been here one week and has secured the insurance on three big lake vessels, owned here, to be syndicated with the policies on 100 others and placed with the Buffalo company in question.

It is understood that he offered a rate far below that which has previously been in force for lake vessels. He exhibited a list of some fifty or sixty vessel owners who, he claimed, had placed insurance at the new rate and said that more had promised to join the alleged combine. The owners of wooden steamers are said to be benefited particularly by the new rule. Crafts owned in Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and Port Huron without exception, it is said, are all insured with the Buffalo concern.

Won by Lewis.

DECORAH, Iowa, March 29.—A wrestling match between "Strangler" Lewis and McMillan, champion wrestler, in this city last night, was won by Lewis in three out of four falls.

Crazed by Religion.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 29.—Mrs. John Gute committed suicide yesterday afternoon by cutting her throat with a large case-knife. The woman was mentally deranged through constant reading of the Bible.

MR. YOUNGBLOOD'S IDEAS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in reading the papers they are surprised that no one as yet has accepted any of the lots offered them for raising potatoes and vegetables. Perhaps they appreciate the kind offer. I think there are a few reasons for not accepting. In the first place the ground has to be plowed, harrowed, furrowed in drills, seed has to be bought and in some places the lots have to be fenced which will cost all the way from $5 to $10 per lot. Of course that settles the matter for such as have no teams or money. An acre can be made to produce from 300 to 1000 bushels of potatoes. There are four 50-foot lots to an acre. Put the product at the lowest figure, a lot would produce seventy-five bushels. Now suppose a man has a shanty or house without a good cellar and should raise say fifty bushels of potatoes, some turnips, cabbage, how would he keep them from freezing when some of the best houses in town are troubled with frost during these long cold winters.

Now this new idea wants a little management. Such lots as can be had down town would not need to be fenced. In going further out a number might be had together. They could be fenced and plowed much cheaper together than single, and then the lots could be divided. The city could well afford to hire a man and team to do the work; that is fence and prepare them ready for planting. As to seed, small potatoes that are thrown out are as good to plant as large ones. I have had as good success with small as large ones. Perhaps small ones might be had in the neighborhood of North Branch where they raise so many very cheaply. Now the question is, would these lots be taken after so much was done? No doubt some would. The balance of the ground already prepared could easily be planted by the city with a little extra help with said man and team, and in the fall Mr. Rockwell could harvest and put away in the cellar at the poor farm all that would be raised and money be saved the county, by dealing them out to the poor as needed. I think there would be money in this plan for the county.

If no lots were taken by poor families a large lot of the unearned increment which the single tax people talk about, might be brought into use, and be made better from year to year, (for the poor you have with you always), for it would be just as easy for the city to dump the street sweepings and manure on these lots as in the bay. The owners would certainly have no objection as long as they were vacant. Now the question is will the city do anything in this line? Why certainly. Our city fathers are generous. Are they not going to increase the salaries of some of the city officials? But, says one: Are they not a little too good? Have they not been reading their Bibles and run across a verse in Matthew XIII, 12, which reads: "For whosoever hath, to him shall be given and he shall have more abundance, but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath." I answer I think that would be charging them with too much of the letter and not enough of the spirit. I think they would serve all alike. Of course if some of the city officials are in need, give them a raise. Don't let them suffer; but remember the poor suffer sometimes also.

Now, laying all pleasantry aside, the people of Duluth do not have to be told that the poor problem is the hardest to solve of any, but why should it be, with thousands of acres of good land at our doors lying idle and 1000 loads of manure thrown away? I have no doubt there are townships in the East that would take our manure and street sweepings and in return agree to support one-half of the poor of this city. Would it not be better to drop the discussion of the two single standards of money, and take up the double standard of land and manure? I think it would bring returns sooner. This theory put in practice might not work perfectly the first year but could be improved on every year. There need not be any fear but that there will be land enough close by for years to come, for it has all been bought at high prices and will be held for the same which will take some years to bring about. Although I expect to leave Duluth for a more genial clime I should like to see her prosper and the above theory carried out, will be one of the means to that end.

A Christian Science Case.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 29.—The Christian Scientists of both Kansas Cities propose to make the trial of Mrs. J. B. Baird an occasion for a general turnout of the followers of that thought. They have prevailed on Police Judge Jones to try the case in spacious quarters where 2000 can be accommodated, and the case will be tried in one of the divisions of the county court. The trial has been postponed by agreement until Saturday, April 6.

The Dervishes Beaten.

PERISHED IN FLAMES.

A Mother and Her Daughter Burned to Death.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Mrs. William Reeves and her young daughter were burned to death at Northport, L. I., today. About 2 o'clock a fire broke out in the residence of Israel Higby, a farmer. Living with him were his daughter, Mrs. William Reeves, and her 14-year-old daughter, Hattie.

Mrs. Reeves was awakened by the smoke and went down stairs to discover the cause. She saw the building was on fire and ran for help. Then realizing that her mother and father and her child were in the burning building, she ran back to render them assistance. She first went to the bed room where her mother and father were asleep and succeeded in getting them from the burning building.

Then she dashed madly back into the burning building to save her daughter. That was the last seen of her until the charred remains of mother and child were found after the fire had been extinguished. The body of Mrs. Reeves was found close by that of her daughter.

FIGHT WITH OUTLAWS.

FORT SMITH, Ark., March 29.—Sam McWilliams, Sam Butler and George Sanders rode into Braggs, nine miles east of Fort Gibson, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning and began robbing the town. T. J. Madden went out the back door of the store and to Johnson Manning, a deputy sheriff, a mile away and gave the alarm. Manning and Hiram Stevens, another Indian deputy, came back and found the outlaws at Madden's store.

A fierce fight ensued between the deputy sheriffs and the outlaws. Mc. Williams and Sanders were killed and Butler was wounded but he made his escape. Joe Morris, clerk for Madden, was shot through the abdomen and mortally wounded. The bodies of the outlaws were brought here at noon to get the reward of $250 offered for McWilliams, who is better known as "Verdigris Kid" and who was a side partner of Jim French. On his body was found a pistol taken from a deputy at the Correta robbery

Buz Lucky was on trial for the same robbery when the body arrived and was convicted an hour later. Sanders has been a desperado for several years, but just joined Verdigris Kid's band. Bill Cook was brought out of jail and identified McWilliams. The body was shipped back to Braggs to relatives.

Eddie Connolly Bested.

BOSTON, March 29—In the presence of 1000 persons at the Suffolk Athletic club yesterday, Paddy Fenton, of East Boston, was given a decision over Eddie Connolly, the St. John Wonder, in the last round of a 15-round contest.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by Eunice A. Scarlett, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagor, to one Thomas Muir, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of November, A. D. 1888, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 29th day of December, A. D. 1888, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Book 37 of mortgages, page 36.

And whereas, said mortgage and debt thereby secured, and the mortgage note evidencing the same have been by said Thomas Muir duly assigned to Maria T. Stoddard, who is now the owner thereof, which assignment of mortgage was by written instrument in due form, bearing date February 20th, 1889, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on February 25th, 1889, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Book 32 of mortgages, page 21.

And whereas default has been made in the payment of the taxes and assessments upon the property described in said mortgage as therein agreed, the assignee and holder of said mortgage has necessarily paid the sum of twenty-four (24) and 44-100 dollars.

And whereas said mortgage and mortgage note are conditioned that upon default of the payment of interest, taxes and assessments as therein provided, the whole amount secured by said mortgage is hereby declared and claimed to be due, owing and unpaid, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of three hundred forty-six (346) and 23-100 dollars, principal and interest; together with the sum of twenty-four (24) and 44-100 dollars taxes, and four (4) and 69-100 premium on insurance, together with the sum of twenty-five (25) dollars attorney fee, as stipulated in said mortgage.

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale, which by reason of said default has become operative, and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt, or any part thereof as secured by said mortgage.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described and covered by said mortgage, viz: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: All that part of lots sixty-two (62) and sixty-four (64), in block one hundred twenty-six, (126) in Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, on file in the office of register of deeds in and for said county, lying between two lines parallel with Tenth street, and eighty-four (84) and one hundred twelve (112) feet distant at right angles therefrom respectively, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, interest, taxes, assessments and disbursements allowed by law, including said attorney's fee; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the sixth (6th) day of April, 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of the forenoon of said day.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William C. Sherwood and Amelia Sherwood, his wife, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagors, to John R. McNeille, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of January 1894, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the county of St. Louis, and state of Minnesota, on the twenty second day of January, 1894, at 11:20 o'clock a. m. in Book 54 of mortgages, on page 623 and,

Whereas, said mortgage and the principal note thereby secured contain provisions that if default shall be made in the payment of the interest due on said principal note as evidenced by any of the semi-annual coupon notes attached thereto at the maturity thereof, and such default shall continue for the period of thirty (30) days, that then and in such case the said mortgagee, his legal representatives or assigns may at his option, and without notice to the maker of said principal note, declare said principal sum as well as any or either of said past due coupon notes as fully due and payable as if said principle note was payable on demand, and may proceed to collect the same by foreclosure of said mortgage, and,

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty (60) dollars of the semi-annual interest due on said principal note January 1st 1895, payment of which was secured by said mortgage, and such default has continued for more than thirty (30) days, by reason whereof said mortgagee has elected to exercise said option, and has heretofore duly declared and does hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by said note and mortgage, and all accrued interest thereon to be now due and payable; and

Whereas, there is claimed to be due and there is actually due on said mortgage debt at the date of this notice the sum of $3583-23 principal and interest, and seventy-five ($75) dollars attorneys' fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure thereof, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz., all that tract or parcel of land, lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The undivided one-half (und ½) of all that part of lot twenty (20), in block five (5), in that part of Duluth formerly called Portland, according to the recorded plat thereof, which lies within one hundred (100) feet of the southerly line of Superior street, the same being all of said lot twenty (20) except the rear or southerly thirty (30) feet thereof, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 22nd day of April, 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of fifteen hundred and eighty-three and 23-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and seventy-five ($75) dollars attorneys' fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

REPORTS

Annual Congregational Meeting of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Reports From the Officers and Different Societies Were Read.

Silver Question Will Be Debated at the Congregational Church.

The annual congregational meeting of Westminster church was held last evening and interesting reports received from various branches of the church work. S. S. Williamson gave a very gratifying review of the Sunday school labors of the past year, which showed a phenomenal increase in number and efficiency.

Maj. Sharp, president of the board of trustees, was unable to be present, so a report from that body was made by Rev. Mr. Keithly. N. M. Little, treasurer, also reported on the financial condition of the church. Other reports were listened to from Miss Lottie Rix, of the Christian Endeavor society; Mrs. S. S. Williamson, of the Ladies' aid and Children's society, and S. E. Jamison, of the Junior Endeavor society.

The treasurer was instructed to prepare a complete and detailed report of the church finances to be read at the church services next Sunday both morning and evening. It was also voted to hold an adjourned meeting next Thursday evening to complete the general work of the church.

WILL DEBATE "COIN'S SCHOOL."

"Coin's Financial School" has been pretty generally read in West Duluth and the work has caused considerable debate on the silver question. The discussion has led to a challenge for a debate which will take place in about two weeks at the Congregational church. The free and unlimited coinage of silver will be upheld by J. O. Hancock and L. A. Barnes and the negative side of the question by Rev. T. M. Price and J. Allyn Scott.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

The trial of Joe Thomas and Harry Canfield for injury to personal property came up for trial yesterday, but the case was continued until March 30, and bail was fixed at $100 each.

The mother of Charles Kauppi, of the firm of Isaacson & Kauppi, died yesterday, aged 76. The funeral will take place on Sunday at the farm.

P. R. McDonnell has broken camp, near Maple, Wis., and Nelse Sickles, Owen McDonnell and the other Duluth men have returned from the woods. They report that they got out all the logs contracted for and that the business was comparatively a successful one.

A missionary from Eastern Turkey will preach at Westminster church next Sunday morning.

Rev. S. E. Jamison went to Sandstone this week to conduct the funeral of Hugh Glenn, of that place.

Rev. F. A. Lawson, of West Superior, will preach at Asbury church Sunday morning.

It is reported that the wife of M. C. Murray, who was taken to the insane hospital a short time ago, died recently at the asylum.

A fine concert and entertainment is being arranged by S. S. Williamson, to be given at Great Eastern hall on April 9. One of the novel features will be a competitive drill between a company of young ladies and one of young gentlemen. The proceeds will go towards building an addition to the Presbyterian church for the Sunday school.

HE CHARGES FRAUD.

Edward Swenson, as special administrator of the estate of Anders Peterson, of Superior, has sued Petrine Peterson to set aside a number of mortgages made by the widow to other parties on the ground that they were without consideration and were made with the fraudulent intention of avoiding her husband's debts.

The Northwestern Fuel company has filed a complaint in intervention in the case of John Cowling against the Zenith Iron company. The fuel company is a judgment creditor of the Zenith Iron company, and the complaint is similar to that of John Cowling, the original plaintiff. It is alleged that the Zenith Iron company is insolvent, and that its debts far exceed its assets. The suit is to declare the company insolvent, to secure the appointment of a receiver, and to enforce the statutory liability of the stockholders under chapter 76 of the statutes.

THOSE IRON ORE CHARTERS.

In reference to the ore-carrying charters recently announced, Cleveland reports that two or three vessel owners of that port are in the deal, which covers 100,000 tons of the product of a mine on the Mesaba range. The delivery of this ore will extend through the season to the end of September. For full season charters producers show a disinclination to offer more than 80 cents from the head of Lake Superior.

HIGHTON LOST HIS WHISKERS.

A. G. Highton, who went down to Stillwater last Monday with Sheriff Butchart and who will remain there in durance for six months, was given an easy position on account of his age. He was given work in the tailor shop. When Highton went to prison he protested strenuously against the custom which forced him to part with his whiskers, and it was necessary for a prison attendant to take the old gentleman by the nape of the neck and jog him along to the barber ship.

THE INSTITUTE CLOSED.

The St. Louis County Teachers' institute, which has been in session this week at the Central High School, closed today after a very profitable term of work under the direction of Superintendent Stultz and the instruction of Professor Lord and Miss McElligott, of the Moorhead normal school.

WHEAT HIGHER TODAY.

The Market Ruled Dull But Was Quite Firm.

The wheat market ruled dull again today, and the business in both cash stuff and futures was limited. It was a firm market, however. The weather reports showed no rain of any consequence and the advices from the country were in the main unfavorable. Prime's summary says that the condition over wide areas is really alarming and unless we have rain within a week or ten days, the result will be disastrous to the crop in many sections. Advices from Topeka were that reports received there of the crop in that state were even worse than had been previously reported. New York reported large export purchases yesterday afternoon. May opened ⅜c up at 61c, advanced to 61¼c, lost ¼c and ruled steady to noon, when it became firmer, selling up to 61½c, but losing ¼c near the close. July opened ½c higher at 61⅝c and gained ¼c. Cash stuff was rather dull. The mills bought a small amount, paying ½c over May for No. 1 hard and the May price for No. 1 northern. The close was ½c higher than yesterday for cash ⅝c higher for May and September and ⅝c higher for July. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard 61¼c, March 61¼c, May 62c, July 62⅞c. No 1 northern cash 60⅞c, May 61¼c, July 61⅞c, September 60¼c. No. 2 northern cash 57½c. No. 3 54½c. Rejected 51½c. To arrive—No. 1 hard 61⅝c, No. 1 northern 61¼c. Rye 49c. No. 2 oats 30½c. No. 3 oats 30c. Barley 44@46c.

Business about equally distributed; March 4s 9d; April, 4s 9¼d; May, 4s 9½d; June and July, 4s 9¾d; August, 4s 10d. Corn spot, quiet; American mixed new, 4s 2¾d. Futures opened steady and unchanged, closed quiet with March and April ¼d lower and other months unchanged from yesterday's close; business heaviest on early positions; March and April, 4s 2½d; May and June, 4s 2¾d; July, 4s 3d; August, 4s 3¼d. Flour, steady; demand limited; St. Louis fancy winter, 5s 9d.

GOSSIP.

The rain prophets thought a few days of spring-like weather and showers along the Canadian boundary might loosen the grip of holders. They sold a little wheat at 55c and tried to yap it down at the opening, but the current of speculation was too strong for them. The country men who see the effect of the dry weather are getting very bullish and are sending in buying orders. It is stated that the Kansas secretary of agriculture has decided to issue no crop report this month, feeling that it may injure the state already suffering from crop failures of last year. The supposition is that the returns he received from correspondents were sensationally bad. It is still purely a weather market, likely to go higher if the drouth hangs on and sure to sell lower when good rains fall.

Corn and oats have dragged along after wheat. The trade was very light. Provisions act rather tired. The anticipated advance did not materialize. The stock market was strong and closed at top prices.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

St. Paul, March, 29.—The Hennepin county delegations in the house and senate met today and decided, in view of the action taken last night by the house judiciary committee, to drop all proceedings in the matter of capitol removal.

WHO WANTS ONE?

Chicago, March 29.—Hagenbeck's animal show has come to grief and anybody who is anxious to obtain a few monkeys, lions, tigers, elephants, parrots or dromedaries at low figures will soon be afforded an opportunity, for the show will be sold at auction within a few days. The trouble came through a confession of judgment for $1700 in favor of Edward Droverling, one of Hagenbeck's trainers.

GAMBLING HOUSE ROBBED.

Glenwood Springs, Col., March 29.—At 12:30 a. m. today three masked men armed with Winchesters entered Campbell & Connor's saloon in this city and commanded all present to hold up their hands. They then proceeded to help themselves to the money in the drawers of the faro table and roulette wheel, amounting to $500. After securing the booty, they fired several shots into the floor and ceiling and retreated out of the front door.

SILVER FIND IN VIRGINIA.

Huntington, W. Va., March 29.—Much excitement prevails in Wayne county now over the supposed discovery of silver on Whites creek. During the past week an immense strike has occurred in a hill which developes quantities of shining metal. The fact has been kept very quiet by the owners of the land and was only this morning made public. A close guard is now being kept on the premises.

GENERAL STRIKE IN BELGIUM.

Brussels, March 29.—The labor party has resolved to placard the streets with an appeal to the working classes to join in the general strike which is being advocated by the socialists and others.

TWO BABES STRANGLED.

Chicago, March 29.—The dead bodies of two colored babies were found in the basement of 1804 State street today. One was a male and the other a female. They had lived to be three or four months old and the police believe they were strangled to death.

UPWARD.

An Advance in Coke Which Means Higher Prices For Ore.

Iron Workers Believe That This Will Result in Better Wages.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 29.—Following the advance voluntarily made by the H. C. Frick Coke company in the wages of its employes in the Connellsville region, the price of furnace coke has been advanced 35 cents per ton, to take effect April 1. Deliveries will be made after the first of the month at the following prices: Furnace coke, $1.35; foundry, $1.50; crushed, $1.65. It is probable that all the Connellsville producers will follow the Frick company and quote the same prices.

Under the old contracts, which will be terminated this month, furnace coke was sold at $1 per ton, which gave the producers little if any margin of profit. A further advance in prices is a possibility in the near future, as the operators are of the opinion that $1.50 per ton should be obtained under the advanced wage scale. It is likely that no long contracts will be taken at tha new quotations if an additional advance is contemplated.

The advance has been anticipated by iron producers for several weeeks, as the Frick company gave notice that the low priced contracts would not be renewed after March. The advance will have an important bearing on the future of the iron industry. By some furnace operators who have contracted to sell pig iron at low coke prices, with deliveries extending into the summer, the advance will not be welcomed, but it will be most cheerful news to the other iron producers and the public generally, as it marks a turn in the tide of low prices in a leading industry which has been very unprofitable to iron manufacturers and workingmen.

It is likely that the advance on coke will be followed by higher prices for ore and manufactured iron and steel. It is a long time since furnace coke sold above $1 and considerable has been sold as low as 85 cents per ton. Iron workers believe that these prices mean higher wages for them and would be pleased to see a general advance in all lines.

The immediate effect of the coke producers' action will likely be an advance in pig iron, which has been selling for about $9 per ton. The furnace operators, whose coke contracts expire April 1, generally speaking have little iron sold ahead. Those who have long contracts based on 90 cents and $1 coke will probably offer to close down, instead of paying the advanced coke prices and running at a loss.

A LITTLE DIVERSION.

Stenographer Roach Relieved The Monotony.

Before Special Judge Boyle this morning Col. Colville was the defendant in a suit brought to recover $55 on two notes given by the old veteran in a horse trade. Last fall he purchased a horse of one George Young for the above sum. Young, in turn, transferred the notes to one Massey, the man from whom Young had purchased the animal.

Col. Colville in his defense today claimed that the animal was guaranteed to be without defect and that soon after it came into his possession he found that it was a "cribber." One day last fall he drove out to Pike lake and the horse hung itself at the manger in the night and died. The claim of fraud and misrepresentation was set up and quite a fight made on that score. The attorneys will submit the case to Judge Boyle on briefs and he will then render his decision.

The case was delayed fully half an hour by the non-appearance of the court stenographer. When he did appear he was in a highly excited condition and played a star part in a little curtain raiser that was most unexpected.

Apologizing to the attorneys for the delay, Mr. Roach stated that he seemed to be disqualified to act as stenographer on account of his religion.

Judge Boyle asked him who said so and Mr. Roach replied that he, the judge, did so himself. His honor denied saying anything of the kind and Mr. Roach grabbed up his note books and got out of the room in a white heat. Just before he entered the special judge's room he handed Judge Edson a typewritten resignation.

According to his letter of resignation the trouble occurred over the employment of a special court stenographer. Mr. Roach has been in the habit of calling in a young lady who is admitted to be competent. Judge Edson directed him to call another young lady. He did so once but afterward called the first one again. Yesterday, he says, Special Judge Boyle came to him and said he had been requested to ascertain what were the religious beliefs of the young lady he was in the habit of calling in. He told Judge Boyle she was a Catholic and asked who had directed him to inquire. Judge Boyle replied that he could not answer without a breach of confidence. Mr. Roach announced to the judge that if religious views were to be made a test in the court he could not continue as stenographer.

Miss Stebbins, who henceforth will be the official stenographer, was sent for and upon her arrival Col. Colville's horse trade was further fought over before Judge Boyle.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., March 29.—The center of an extensive barometric depression has moved from Montana to the southeast part of South Dakota during the past twenty-four hours. Its proximity to the high pressure area northeast of Lake Huron has resulted in a steep barometric gradient, and northeast to southeast gales over the upper lakes. Only a few stations report rain or snow this morning, the measurable precipitation being as follows: Fort Arthur, .20 inch; Bismarck, .10; Sault Ste. Marie, .06; Prince Albert, .04; Miles City, .01. The temperature reports from United States stations ranged from 24 above zero at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to 66 at Des Moines, Iowa, at 7 a. m.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 30; maximum yesterday, 33; minimum yesterday, 27.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 7 p. m. tomorrow: Clearing this afternoon; fair tonight and Saturday; high northeast winds, decreasing tonight to brisk; nearly stationary temperature.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, March 29.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: Light local rains with cooler in west portion tonight; Saturday fair and cooler; southeast gales shifting to westerly Saturday. For Minnesota: Fair and cooler tonight and Saturday; southeast gales shifting to westerly tonight.

THE POTATO-PATCH IDEA.

Surprise has been expressed that while many lots have been offered for carrying out Bishop McGolrick's suggestion for the raising of potatoes and other vegetables by poor families, so far no one has made application for the use of the lots. From this fact, it is argued by some that the poor people do not care to take advantage of the opportunity to supply their families with food. This is undoubtedly an erroneous idea, and a communication from Mr. Youngblood, published in this issue may throw some light upon the question. Mr. Youngblood points out that even with the use of the land given free it will cost something for plowing, harrowing, fencing and seeding and that many people who might desire to take advantage of the offers have not the necessary money to do so. Mr. Youngblood points out how the city and the county might properly assist to solve the problem.

This is the very difficulty in carrying out the scheme which The Herald has apprehended since the suggestion was first made. Land can be secured without any trouble. Owners are ready to assist to this extent. But those who are actually poor and are the people who should secure the advantages of the potato patch plan of course have no money to enter upon it. There must be some cash assistance. This was found to be a necessity in Detroit where the plan was originally put into operation at the instance of Mayor Pingree.

A report on the experience of Detroit says: "Donations of the use of land were liberal, several thousand acres being offered. About 430 acres (say 7000 city lots) were accepted, plowed, harrowed and staked off by the committee into lots of one-quarter to one-half an acre each. About 3000 applications were made for the lots, but owing to lack of funds the committee was able to provide for only 945 families.

"In many cases it was not practicable to get land near by, and persons were assigned occasionally to pieces two miles from their homes. All applicants were carefully investigated by the aid of the poor committee and none but worthy persons with families were helped. Seed potatoes, beans and other seeds were furnished by the committee to those unable to provide them. As it was the middle of June before the work was begun, there was not sufficient time to obtain in every case the best soil, and it was necessary also to purchase plows, harrows, etc., instead of hiring. The crops were planted, cultivated and harvested by the people themselves under the supervision of the committee, including some thirty lots assigned to widows, whose dependent, half-grown boys cultivated the land. Deducting the value of the plows, etc., now on hand, the cost per lot, including breaking the land, which will not have to be done again, was about $3.45 each. About nine-tenths of the pieces were well taken care of.

"The committee estimates that the potato crop averaged about fifteen bushels per lot, which would give 14,175 bushels of potatoes alone. (By good manuring as much as 500 bushels of potatoes can easily be raised upon an acre; 900 bushels are said to have been raised on a single acre, but this is unusual.) Large quantities of beans, turnips and other vegetables were raised and daily consumed of which there is no record, the whole being sufficient to keep the people from want and habits of idleness. The estimated value of the crops produced was $12,000 to $14,000, although many families from dire want were compelled to dig up for consumption certain portions of the potatoes before they had attained any size. The entire cost to the committee was about $3600. This sum was made up by subscriptions, over one-half the amount being contributed by city employes."

In order to make the plan successful in Duluth it will be necessary to follow out the program pursued in Detroit by furnishing those who desire to cultivate the land with the requisite seed and means to plow and harrow the land.

FOR GOOD ROADS

Now that the Anderson bill for a constitutional amendment for taxing the unused lands of the railroad companies in this state has been enacted, the legislature should take up the consideration of the Goodell bill for diverting a portion of the gross earnings tax to the counties containing railroad lands to be expended by those counties in building and improving their roads. The Goodell bill, as it is popularly known, would do much to provide Minnesota with better roads, should it become a law, and The Herald can see no valid objection to its enactment.

It seems hardly necessary to emphasize the desirability of having good roads, and yet the condition of many of the roads in this state leds to the conclusion that the people are sadly in need of education upon this point. In a recent lecture on "Roads" before the students of Union college at Schnectady, N. Y., Col. Francis V. Greene, attempted to account for the deplorable lack of good roads in this country. He showed that the United States really had the longest and best roads in the world, but they were in the form of railrodas. With but one-fifth of the population of Europe they have one and a half times as many railroads. Over one-half of the railroads in the world are within the borders of the United States. According to Col. Greene it was on account of the prodigious amount of capital and thought devoted to the construction of railroads that so little had been done for our highways. But the time was now at hand when a great deal of this attention would be transferred to road building.

In showing the disadvantages of bad roads to the farmer, Col. Greene said that certain elementary principles were evident at a glance, to-wit: The price of farm products is fixed at the great cities or centers of consumption and distribution, and is wholly beyond the farmer's control, and the cost of transportation is a principal factor in determining his profit, or the possibility of any profit. On the railroads this has been reduced until it varies, according to bulk, from 1 cent to 4 mills per ton per mile. But the average roads are so bad that a two-horse team and wagon, the value of which is $3 per day, cannot haul a ton of produce more than ten miles and return in a day. The cost of road transportation is therefore 30 cents per ton per mile, or about forty times as great as the rate on the railroad. The average distance from the farm to the nearest railway station is at least ten miles, so that it costs as much to get the goods to or from the railroad station as to carry them 400 miles on the cars.

It only needs to state these elementary facts, said Col. Greene, to show what an enormous drain bad roads make on our resources. It is evident that an improvement in these conditions is imperative, and the remedy is equally evident, for it has been proved, not only by mechanical experiment, but by actual test, that the same force which draws one ton on a muddy earth road will draw four tons on a hard macadam road. On the improved roads in New Jersey loads of four to five tons are habitually drawn by a two-horse team. This effects a saving of fully three-fourths of the cost of hauling to the station, and reduces the cost of road transportation from 30 cents to 7½ cents per ton per mile. What this saving amounts to may be imagined when it is known that the New York Central railroad carries nearly 20,000,000 tons of way freight in a year. If this is hauled only two miles by road to or from the station, and a saving of 22½ cents per ton per mile could be effected, it would mean a total saving of nearly $9,000,000.

For a judge on the bench to suggest to a witness that he had better stop lying is certainly extraordinary, if not altogether unprecedented. At a recent divorce trial in England Lord Justice Lopes made something very near this suggestion to the defendant in the box, who was denying charges sworn to by numerous witnesses. The judge made the remark that the defendant was raising a dangerous issue, and it might be well for him to confer with his counsel. After this conference the counsel said that his client would not defend his case further; and the judge said that it was only prudent, as had his evidence been continued the court would have been obliged to call the attention of the "public prosecutor" to the case, with a view to proceedings for perjury.

A St. Paul paper had a Trilby symposium the other day, and Du Maurier's heroine was discussed from a variety of standpoints by specially selected authorities. The Rev. S. G. Smith took a hand and made the fur fly. He pronounced the book a "slovenly literary skit" and Trilby an "impossible moral monstrosity." He declared that the religious discussion was miserably weak, and that Little Billee, who "was the only really effective character in the story," was murdered by the author because "he did not know what to do with a flesh and blood character." He predicted that the book would be stone dead in a year, since it bears the same relation to literature that Shoo Fly does to musical history.

Commenting on the report that Duluth people have organized a society for the purpose of locating settlers in Aitkin county, the Grand Rapids Magnet says: "The members of the organization are respectfully notified that when they want more excellent land, they will find thousands of unoccupied acres in Itasca county." The Magnet is right. Itasca county has some of the finest agricultural land to be found in the Northwest, and Carlton county's land is not one whit inferior.

Attacking the pernicious bill extending the state boiler inspection to all boilers which have also been inspected by the boiler insurance companies, the St. Paul Pioneer Press takes the same position assumed by The Herald, and says: "There is no reason why owners of steam plants who are paying insurance on their boilers and are thus paying for their inspection should be subjected to the useless burden of another assessment for state inspection by a man on whose competency no reliance can be placed."

Mrs. Sewall, of Indianapolis, calmly assured the women discussing marriage and divorce in Washington that she considers women's tyrannies and cruelties to men quite as great as those of men to women in the house. Looking to man merely as a "provider," the source of supplies, she thinks quite as much a degradation of man in his home as women meet in national affairs. This is worth repeating and making a note of.

The New York Sun gives its approval to the article in the current North American Review, reviewing the conduct of foreign affairs by the present administration, by Senator Davis of this state. TheSun says that the article is a temperate but caustic review of the situation, and that the senator was embarrassed by the wealth of material at his command. The article has increased the talk of Senator Davis as the next Republican candidate for president.

Judge Baker, of the United States district court for Indiana, finds a way to knock trusts in the head. He simply decides that their organizations are illegal because they are against public policy, and that they can have no standing in courts of law. It is a bold declaration, and if sustained by the higher court, will practically end all such combinations in this country, and save congress a deal of trouble.

The Northern Lumberman has made its appearance, Duluth being the place of publication and M. A. Hays, formerly editor of the News-Tribune, is the editor. It will be issued weekly and will be devoted to the interests of the lumber trade on Lake Superior and vicinity. The first number is of sixteen pages and makes a very creditable appearance. The Northern Lumberman looks like a winner.

Bachelors are to be taxed in Illinois if a bill introduced in the legislature of that state becomes a law and the proceeds are to be used to establish an old maid's home. An unmarried man over 32 years of age and under 65, will be liable to the tax. Such a measure is probably gotten up to boom the matrimonial market.

If men were shut up in their houses without fresh air and with all the cares of the average woman, they would not be merely "naggers," they would shortly become lunatic or imbecile, says Lady Henry Somerset in a North American Review article, rejoicing over the increase of strength of women's minds and bodies of late years.

The world's attention today is peculiarly attracted to two of the three great men whom Gen. Grant on his famous tour declared to be the most remarkable statesmen in the world. Fate has dealt strangely both with Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe and Li Hung Chang at Shimonoseki.

The Duluth normal school has been authorized but there has been no appropriation made for its erection. But this will come later. It is some satisfaction at present to know that Duluth's claim has been recognized.

The Saturday Herald, as usual, will distance all competition tomorrow. As a newspaper, The Herald's Saturday edition is unequalled in this section.

It is too bad that Phoebe Couzins could not receive Fair treatment.

GENERAL COUNSEL CAREY DEAD.

Chicago, March 29.—John W. Carey, general counsel for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, died at 2:25 this morning at the Victoria where he has been ill for some time. Mr. Carey has been connected with the St. Paul company for many years and until a few years ago was a resident of Milwaukee.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT IT IS?

You feel strangely depressed, weak, perhaps have no appetite, and with peculiar pains throughout your body. Perhaps some one will tell you you have the grip. Perhaps you have, but the chances are you are suffering from a derangement of the greatest organs in the body. Do you know this great truth? Much that is called grip is simply a derangement of the kidneys and no man or woman ever had the grip whose kidneys were in perfect order. These great organs of the body throw off the poisons of the body. When they are out of order they cannot do this and the result is the poisons go into the blood and cause rheumatism, influenza and often pneumonia. These are truths which all physicians admit, and it is admitted universally, that there is but one remedy known to the world for deranged kidneys, and that is Warner's Safe Cure. You can't afford to neglect these truths nor these suggestions.

LOST DAYS.

The lost days of my life until today,
What were they, could I see them on the street Lie as they fell? Would they be ears of of wheat
Sown once for food, but trodden into clay?
Or golden coins squandered and still to pay?
Or drops of blood dabbling the guilty feet?
Or spilt water (as in dreams must cheat
The undying throats of hell, athirst always?

I do not see them here; but after death
God knows I know the faces I shall see
Each one a murdered self, with low last breath.
"I am thyself—what hast thou done to me?"
"And I—and I—thyself" (lo! each one saith),
"And thou thyself to all eternity!"
—Dante Gabriel Rossetti.

FOR GRESHAM'S NOTICE.

Another Case of Insult to the American Flag.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 29.—Carl Strekelman, a citizen of Indianapolis, who has been in Africa for several years, writes to friends here that he is in trouble with the French. He writes from Mayumba saying that under the Berlin treaty he has the right to display the American flag over his house and over his boats. The French, he says, deny him this privilege. He asks that Gresham's attention be called to the treatment he is receiving.

He says the French are becoming unbearable in the "conventional basin of the Congo." The first act of the French was to order all American flags down on land. About the first of the year they directed that the stars and stripes should not be displayed over the boats. Mr. Strekelman quotes paragraphs from the Berlin treaty to show his rights. Friends here will refer Mr. Strekelman's complaint of the French to Secretary Gresham.

ATLANTA'S EXPOSITION.

Work of Preparing Government Exhibits Going on.

Washington, March 29.—The work of preparing the government exhibits for the Atlanta cotton states and international exposition is now going on, and by the time the government building is completed, which is expected to be July 1, nearly everything will be ready to forward to the exposition.

By Aug. 1, the installation of exhibits will commence and be completed by the opening day, Sept. 18. The building has 58,000 square feet of space, lighted on the ground floor and this the board thinks will prove ample room for the display of the functions of the government in all its branches.

OMAHA WILL TRY IT.

Omaha, Neb., March 29.—Mayor Pingree's potato patch scheme is going to be tried in Omaha this year. Some of Omaha's largest land owners have agreed to donate large unoccupied tracts of land within the city limits to be used for sustaining the poor of the city. The work will be done under the charge of the Associated Charities.

BERING SEA REGULATIONS.

London, March 29.—In regard to the published statement that Canada has urged Great Britain not to further paralyze British industry by assenting to the enforcement of the Bering sea regulations of 1895, it is officially learned that whatever Canada may desire, the decision of the Paris tribunal on arbitration will be strictly adhered to during the ensuing season and any side issue will not be allowed to affect that decision.

THE VENEZUELAN QUESTION.

London, March 29.— No communications have been exchanged recently between Great Britain and Venezuela on the frontier question. Great Britain has given no assurances that there will be no further trespassing on Venezuelan territory as stated in any dispatch. Great Britain will recognize only the Schomberg line as the frontier.

SNOW STORM AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., March 29.—A heavy northeasterly gale with snow prevailed throughout Nova Scotia yesterday and is still raging. North bay is full of ice, and the ice extends as far as the eye can reach from the northern entrance. Wild fowls are on the ice in great numbers.

In Probate Court, Special Term, March 28th, 1895.

On receiving and filing the petition of Jennie Carlson, of the county of St. Louis representing, among other things, that Charles Wallberg, late of the county of St. Louis, in the state of Minnesota, on the 23rd day of March, A. D. 1895, at the county of St. Louis, died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is a sister of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to her granted:

It is Ordered, that said petition be heard before said court, on Monday the 22nd day of April, 1895, at ten o'clock a. m., at the probate office, in Duluth, in said county.

Ordered Further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said county.

By the Court,
PHINEAS AYER,
Judge of Probate.

THE LELY CONCERT.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Durward Lely appear at the Temple in recitals of Scottish song and story. This opportunity to hear a great tenor will be taken advantage of by Duluthians. The Dundee Telegraph says of this new style of entertainment undertaken by Mr. and Mrs. Lely:

"Mr. Lely is certainly doing a great public service in undertaking this new role. There has in the past been too great a tendency on public platforms to vulgarize Scottish song and story, and in the United States and Canada enthusiastic Scots and lovers of Scotland have been vexed by the degrading of all that was best in distinctively Scottish sentiment. Mr. Lely is an artistic and truthful exponent of Scottish song and story. The songs are rendered in all their native sweetness and sympathy, while the stories lose none of their pawkiness by being told with a good Scottish tongue without descending to the slightest tinge of vulgarism. With such an entertainment Mr. and Mrs. Lely will, when they choose to tour with it, be sure of the heartiest of receptions from the Scots abroad."

Mr. Lely arrived in the city this morning from Winnipeg where he gave three entertainments and closed with a benefit at which the theater was packed. In his entertainment tonight he will give a number of Scotch stories in the dialect. Mr. Lely has bookings up to June. When he closes his season he will return to England. Next season he will go to Australia, New Zealand and will then have been all over the world.

Degree of Honor.

THE FAIR

Agricultural Society Already Has Its Arrangements Well Advanced.

Work of Preparing the List of Premiums is Practically Done.

The Book Will be Published and Circulated at Once.

Last year's county fair was an abundant success. Its promoters arranged Glen Avon rink in a convenient manner, and those in charge of that branch hustled out and got in a brilliant display of exhibits, consisting of incredibly monstrous vegetables, neat and attractive household and school exhibits, plump and bluebloaded stock, art work by local amateurs and foreign professionals, and loads of other interesting and curious things. To crown all, nature brought forth its brightest and happiest brand of weather and the people, for whom it was all arranged, came and saw, leaving their admission quarters in such quantities that a comfortable balance remained.

But that was not a circumstance to the fair the St. Louis County Agricultural society is already preparing for next fall. If you want to see an exhibition of farm, garden, pasture and household products that will make you glad you live in a country that can make such a showing, reserve all your wonder and admiration until next fall, and then turn out and patronize it as you did last year, only more so.

The members of the Agricultural society are starting in much earlier than last year with preparations and with the momentum that a long start will give them they expect to doubly outdo all previous efforts. The work of preparing the list of premiums is already practically completed, and the lists are now in the hands of the printer. The object in publishing the lists now, according to the society's officers, is to give prospective exhibitors ample time in which to prepare their displays for the different departments.

This will be a great improvement over last year, when exhibitors entered whatever they happened to have on hand when the lists were circulated a week or so before the fair. The lists themselves will be larger this year, and their early publication, it is thought, will not only increase the number of entries, but it will have the effect of bringing out a more diversified display of stock and farm products. The lists are to be contained in an attractive 24-page pamphlet embracing ten departments, five of which include articles chiefly of interest to womankind.

Owing to the flattering success of last year's show and to the manner in which the people came to see and left their money at the ticket window so as to secure a nice little balance after all was done, the society has been able to offer prizes that are numerous and well worth contending for. In addition to the regular prizes the members of the executive committee are on a still hunt among the merchants and business men for the special prizes which last year brought out so many exhibits and added so much to the success and interest of the fair.

Following are the departments in which cash prizes and diplomas are hung up to be competed for by St. Louis county agriculturists, stock raisers, etc.: Farm and garden products, kitchen products, dairy products, poultry, ladies' fancy work and household manufactures, juvenile department—for boys and girls under the age of 16, school work and the stock department, embracing all kinds of domestic fauna from hogs to horses.

The fair will be held the week following the state fair at Hamline. The premium lists, which are being published for the society by Frederick L. Seixas, from the press of Nugent & Brown, will be issued about April 1.

DULUTHIANS WON.

Superior Whist Players Defeated By Zenith City Men.

Eight teams of Duluth whist players met at the Spalding last night and went over to Superior to meet the players from the Superior Whist and Chess club in their rooms. The Duluth players won a complete victory, defeating Superior's crack team which is to go to Minneapolis to participate in the professional tournament. The Superior players were Beck, Robertson, Black and White, and they were defeated by a team consisting of Messrs. Jones, Culver, Cullom and Moer by a score of 24 to 10.

Tinkham, Tinkham, Lardner and Ogilvie, of Duluth, tied Wochtel, Greene, Bryant and Whitmore, of Superior, each team making 12 points. The other single games were as follows: Marble and Stevens, Duluth, 17; Baldwin and Osborne, Superior, 5; Foote and Boyd, Duluth, 10; Ross and Butter, Superior, 14; Beaton and Mitchell, Duluth, 12; Banks and Taylor, Superior, 10; Pardee and Hopkins, Duluth, 10; Haxley and Wells, Superior, 14. Duluth gained 51 points to 43 on the single games and 36 to 22 on the team play. Superior will send players to a Duluth tournament in a short time.

You should see the Duluth Van company when you are going to move. They will save you time and money. Only padded vans in Duluth. Estimates free. Trunks to any part of the city, 25 cents. Office, 210 West Superior street; telephone 402.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Alabama."

Tonight "Alabama," Augustus Thomas' great play, will be produced at the Lyceum. It will be given again tomorrow afternoon and evening also.

The return of this beautiful play will be hailed with delight. "Alabama," a story of the South, leaves a pleasant afterthought in the minds of all who see it. It teaches a lesson and opens the floodgates of thought. One always feels better for having seen "Alabama." Laughable and pathetic at times it is at all times intensely interesting.

The cast which will produce the play contains some well known people and a fine production will undoubtedly given.

Otis Skinner.

Otis Skinner needs no introduction to the theater-goers of Duluth. The long list of dramatic portraitures that he has left in this city, as recollections of his fine artistic skill, are too well known to need comment. Perhaps more than any other actor before the public, Otis Skinner has shown during each of his appearances here a steady, insistent, determined improvement in his art, adding every year more to his circle of friends and upholders. The manner in which he has demonstrated his possession of the material which equips an actor for the higher and finer branches of theatrical art, has placed his position and ability beyond question. Much interest is felt in his forthcoming appearance here as a star.

He will appear at the head of his own company at the Lyceum theater on Monday evening in "His Grace de Grammont," on Tuesday in "The King's Jester;" on Wednesday in "Merchant of Venice" and on Wednesday afternoon "His Grace de Grammont."

"Man Without a Country."

Cyril Norman's great scenic production of James W. Harkins' new American melodrama, "The Man Without a Country" will be presented Monday evening at the Temple. This piece is one of the most conspicuous successes of the present New York season. The principal members of the company are Robert Elliott, T. B. Dunn, Henry Hascombe, Henry Stockbridge, Charles Gilbert, J. F. Watson, Herbert Prior, Arthur Howard, Frank Linton, F. S. Hunt, Mrs. Cyril Norman, Miss Argyle Gilbert, Miss Josie Bacon, and little Ada Vanden Gilbert. The latter artist is a child but 7 years of age, whom New York critics pronounce the most remarkable child actress on the American stage.

ICE IS LOOSENED.

Last night's northeast breeze broke up several miles of ice on the outside of the sheet which incloses the harbor and piled it up on the outer edge, bringing clear water within three or four miles of the canal. The whole floe must be loosened, as the ice has been driven plump up against the mouth of the canal where a large sheet of open water stood yesterday. An off shore breeze would be likely to send the whole mass out into the lake if it were of sufficient strength.

HAMILTON DISMISSED.

Judge Edson Found Him Not Guilty of the Charge.

Yesterday afternoon, in the case of the City of Duluth vs. Alexander S. Hamilton, charged with using abusive language to Bob Benson, Judge Edson held that the accused was not guilty and ordered his discharge.

The defense was conducted by H. R. Tinkham. He opened the case by a motion to the effect that the complaint be quashed and the case dismissed on the grounds that it did not state facts constituting an offense, for the reason that the police headquarters office is not a public place; and, secondly, that the complaint was not properly drawn.

Assistant City Attorney Benham held that the police headquarters office is a public place and that the general public is entitled to go there as much as to a store or theater.

Judge Edson said that the question must be a matter of proof, not of pleading.

Mr. Tinkham said that the ordinance against the use of abusive language in a public place was designed to protect the public morals. "There are no morals in police headquarters to protect," he remarked in conclusion.

Judge Edson granted the demand of the counsel for the defense that the witnesses in the case be excluded from the room until called. Bob Benson, the complainant, was not placed on the stand at all.

Ed Force, police secretary, was the first witness called for the prosecution. In substance he said:

"I heard Benson and Hamilton talking loud as they came in. Hamilton wanted to see the chief. Benson told him he was not in. More loud talk attracted my attention. Benson told Hamilton to go off and mind his own business, and that if he did not he would lock him up."

Mr. Force said that Hamilton then called Benson a hard name, and Benson took him and locked him up.

Thomas Hayden testified that Hamilton called Benson a bad name, but the term which Hayden said he used was not so violent as that testified to by Force.

James Murphy, detective for the St. Paul & Duluth road, testified that Hamilton called Benson a name, and his version of the language used was slightly different from that of the others.

A motion to dismiss on the ground that the prosecution had made no case was dismissed.

Hamilton's testimony was practically the same as given in his statement in The Herald yesterday.

Detectives Hayden and Murphy were called in rebuttal to prove that Benson had used no obscene language.

In summing up Mr. Tinkham declared the arrest to be a gross outrage, even if the charge was true. "We have no defensive testimony," he said, "for we were in the lion's mouth—we were in police headquarters."

Mr. Benham in reply said: "There has been much said by the council about being in the lion's mouth. I think the time has come for upholding the police instead of classing them with thugs and bums. I think the police are entitled to the protection of their brother officers of the court." He then proceeded briefly to sum up his side of the case.

Judge Edson in giving his decision spoke of the vagrancy case in which Mr. Hamilton had given him testimony that decided the case. That gentleman went out of court, heard Benson strictures and was incensed at the remarks.

"I am very loath," said his honor, "to take action that will discredit the police. I also am loath to do anything to discredit a man of good repute and a good citizen of long standing. I shall dismiss the case. The defendant is discharged."

REDUCTION OF COST.

City Engineer Reed's Statement Shows a Large Percentage.

The comparative and actual reduction in the cost of operation in the engineering and maintenance departments of the city of Duluth for the years 1893 and 1894, as shown in a statement prepared by City Engineer Reed and the board of public works, is as follows:

In the maintenance department the actual decrease was 15 per cent and the comparative decrease was 31 per cent.

In the engineering department, the actual decrease was 33 per cent and the comparative decrease was 40 per cent.

In 1893, fifty estimates were made and seventy-eight contracts let. In 1894, forty-six estimates were made and seventy-nine contracts let.

In the maintenance department, which comes under the supervision of the board of public works and the city engineer, the actual comparative decrease for the last year was $23,000.

The comparative reductions are calculated by eliminating the cost of the various departments in the suburbs added since 1893.

That the engineering and engineering departments have made the greatest records, is proven by a comparison with the per cent decrease in the other departments. In the health department, there was an increase. The fire department expenses saw only a comparative decrease of 10 per cent and the police department a similar decrease of 8 per cent.

ASSISTANT CHIEF HURT.

About 7:30 last night an alarm of fire was sent in from Garfield avenue and Superior street. In going to the scene of the fire Assistant Chief Jackson was thrown violently from his buggy while making the turn from Mesaba avenue into Superior street. He was seriously but not dangerously injured about the head and legs, and is doing well. The fire proved to be of small consequence and it was easily put out.

COUNCIL CHAMBER,
Duluth, Minn., March 25, 1895.
Regular meeting.
Roll call.
Present—Aldermen Ash, Christensen, Cox, French, Harwood, Hale, Krumseig, Lerch, Mitchell, Nelson, Oie, Olafson, Patterson, Trevillion Westaway and Mr. President.—16.
Absent—None.

The mayor being present was called upon, and presented the following annual message:

Alderman Hale moved that the message of the mayor be received and published with annual reports of officers, and that we express our thanks for the clear and comprehensive message, and further express our confidence in his honor, our mayor.

The motion was supported and carried by a unanimous viva voce vote.

Gentlemen:
According to the provisions of our city charter it is the duty of the mayor to make a statement to your honorable body at the end of each fiscal year, embodying in a brief form the condition of the city's finances and of the different departments of the city government, and to make such recommendations as he may deem advisable for your consideration for the ensuing year.

Although the depressed financial and business conditions of the country have not improved, Duluth has more than held her own. Many business blocks and residences have been erected and many more are now in the course of construction,and a number of new business enterprises have located here, showing the confidence our people have in the present solid condition and future prosperity of the city. There have not been any serious failures The building inspector reports the issuance of $1,556,945 in building permits during the past twelve months.

Several unexpected events have transpired since the present administration assumed control, some of which gave the executive much anxiety and required great care and consideration to avoid serious trouble and expense. During the summer we had to deal with the railroad and coal-handlers' strike, and at the same time were visited by Coxey's army, nearly 600 strong, making about 3000 unemployed men in our city at one time. I am glad to say that these troubles all passed away quietly. No serious acts of violence were committed, our citizens were not annoyed, the railroad trains arrived and departed on schedule time, the extra expense to the city was less than $200 (and that was for supplies which we still have on hand), and the good name of the city was maintained.

We also received and took good care of over 1300 unfortunate fire sufferers for many weeks, and quite a number of them we have with us yet, still being supported by the open-handed generosity of our citizens, who contributed in cash and supplies for this charitable work about $30,000.

A special election was held, the people voting to purchase the gas and water plant, which has been done, and as soon as the supreme court renders its decision, which is expected early in April, if favorable to the city, work will at once be commenced and improvements and extensions will be made that will give us absolutely pure water and an increased fire protection, making the ownership of this plant by the city a permanent and lasting benefit.

CITY FINANCES.

The following report is made to me by the treasurer of the condition of the city's finances:

BONDED DEBT.

City of Duluth general fund 5 per cent	$ 585,000

Total	$1,920,250

The last item of $138,250 was issued at the time the old city of Duluth reverted to a village under a special act of the legislature. Under said act funds for the payment of both interest and principal are provided by the county. The city therefore is paying interest on $1,782,000, amounting to $90,710 per annum. The increase of the bonded debt during the past year is caused by the annexation of New Duluth and Fond du Lac.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENT CERTIFICATES.

City of Lakeside 7 per cent	152,697 40
Village of West Duluth 7 per cent	476,795 33
Total	$857,797 93

The outstanding improvement certificates at the commencement of the year were $1,096,190.65. During the year new certificates to the amount of $44,688 were issued and $283,080.72 paid making a decrease of $238,392.72 in the outstanding certificates.

The outstanding 7 per cent orders of the city of Duluth, New Duluth, Fond du Lac and West Duluth amount to $449,061.01, making a total liability of $3,227,168.94, an increase of $132,816.22 during the year, which is accounted for by the following causes:

New Duluth bonds through annexation	$ 47,000 00
Fond du Lac bonds through annexation	10,000 00
New Duluth orders	19,293 35
Fond du Lac orders	23,176 75
Non-payment of West Duluth assessments	71,120 41
Non-payment of Lakeside assessments	26,722 91
New building for fire department	38,000 40
Total	$ 235,313 82

From the above it will be seen that our total debt would have been reduced $102,497.60 had it not been for the causes above mentioned.

To offset indebtedness there is due the city from property owners:

From divided assessments against which certificates have been issued	$ 857,797 93
From past due assessments about	689,746 32
From county, past due assessments and taxes	365,000 00
Due from Bell & Eyster's bank	42,196 02
Due from American Loan and Trust company	27,834 68
Cash on hand	13,533 99
Total	$1,996,108 94

Value of city hall and jail	$ 125,000 00
Lots 33 and 35 East First street	40,000 00
Lot 185, block 170, Second division	2,500 00
Lots 1 to 6, block 10, West Duluth, First division	4,500 00
Block 32, Lake View	10,000 00
Block 12, Willard & Piper's addition	5,000 00
All engine houses	175,000 00
Fire department equipment	100,000 00
Police patrol system and inventory	13,000 00
Inventory of engineering department and City offices	20,000 00
Boulevard and parkway	400,000 00
Docks	5,000 00
Rice's Point park	90,000 00
Lester River park	40,000 00
Crossley park	25,000 00
Lakeside squares	80,000 00
Cascade square	30,000 00
Portland square	56,000 00
Peter Dean bequest	10,000 00

CITY ASSESSOR'S DEPARTMENT.

Assessed valuations for 1894:

Duluth lands	$ 28,979,911
Duluth structures	6,248,046
Duluth personal property	4,854,115	$40,082,072
New Duluth lands	$ 371,029
New Duluth structures	85,875
New Duluth personal property	56,036	512,940
Fond du Lac lands	$ 159,750
Fond du Lac structures	4,275
Fond du Lac personal property	4,426	$ 168,451
Total assessed valuation of entire city for the year 1894		$ 40,763,463

The assessed valuation of the city for 1893, of territory in the city in 1894, New Duluth and Fond du Lac not being included, $43,300,095. Apparent decrease assessed valuation for 1894 $3,-218,023.

As structures were assessed in 1894 at a less percentage of their actual value than in 1892 and 1893, and as many new structures were for the first time assessed in 1894 add approximately $825,000, making total reduction in city for 1894, $4,043,023.

The decrease of assessment was caused by a depreciation in value of outlying lots and lands. Notwithstanding this reduction in assessed valuation the rate of taxation is less than in previous years.

Expense of assessor's office for the year ending March 1, 1894, $5459.11, showing an increase of $1125.99.

This increase is due to the biennial assessment of real estate, which in 1892 had been made in four districts, viz: Duluth, West Duluth, Lakeside and town of Oneota and to the cost of taking West Duluth personal assessment.

If the expense of taking the assessment in these four districts, by as many different assessors as in previous years is taken into consideration, it would show in reality a very large decrease of cost for the same work.

I take great pleasure in acknowledging the very able and impartial manner in which city assessor, Mr. Samuel F. Wadhams, has performed this most difficult task.

As various estimates of value were put upon the property in the different assessment districts by the four assessors, many lots and parcels of equal value showed a great difference in assessed valuation and it became necessary for the present assessor to adjust and equalize the same. This he has done as far as possible by reducing the higher to the lower values, and I have every reason to believe that the assessed valuations in the entire territory of the city are equitable and just to all.

FIRE DEPARTMENT STATEMENT.

Expenses of department for the year ending Feb. 28, 1894		$151,659 37
Less cost of lots for Headquarters fire hall	$16,500 00
Less cost of fire engine and fire hall at Woodland	10,000 00	26,500 00
Net cost of department running expenses, for the year ending Feb. 28, 1894		$125,159 37
Expense of the department for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895		$179,746 73
Less cost of building fire hall	$38,577 79
Fire hall at Duluth Heights	1,356 29
Expenses of our own private telephone line	540 00	40,474 08
		$139,272 65
Net cost of running department for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895, showing an increase in expenses of	$14,113 28

The following items of expense had to be met and paid by the city for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895, which were not repuired for the year ending Feb. 28, 1894.

Furnishing and running Headquarters fire hall, three months	$ 2,997 12
Hydrant rentals at West Duluth, for 1894	11,464 67
Fire tug service, not charged to this account before	2,400 00
Expense of West Duluth fire hall, ten months	9,823 39
Expense of running fire hall at Woodland four months longer for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895, than for the year ending Feb. 28, 1894	1,327 23
Expenses of fire hall at New Duluth, two months	167 46
Total	$28,179 87

Showing a comparative saving of the department after allowing for the increase of additional building and territory of $14,066.59.

During the year the city has been most fortunate in obtaining the services of John T. Black for chief engineer of the fire department. Having had a long and varied experience in fighting fires in several of the large cities of the country, and having come to us highly endorsed by the people of the cities in which he has served in this capacity, St. Paul being one, where he served as chief for six years, he has done much to bring this important department to a very high standard, and people of experience who have inspected our fire department pronounce it one of the best organized and disciplined in the country.

It will be remembered by our citizens that when this administration assumed control this department was considered unsatisfactory and was unfavorably commented upon. I am glad to say that since Chief Engineer Black took charge all previous jealousies and ill feelings have entirely disappeared, and the members are working together harmoniously, each taking a special interest in the welfare of the department and striving to bring it to the highest state of efficiency.

It must be remembered that owing to the topography of our city it is much more expensive and difficult to give fire protection than in more compactly built cities situated upon a less uneven surface. Although fire protection costs our people a large amount of money, I consider it a wise policy to make such an expenditure as will give the greatest security from losses by fire, and thus put us in a position to demand from fire insurance companies reduction of rates.

Duluth is rated by insurance companies as a city of the third class; but I am assured by those authorized to make the statement that with some needed improvements in the water system and a continuance of the present highly efficient department Duluth will be rated as a city of the first class, giving us the same basis of rate as St. Paul and Minneapolis.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

According to the comptroller's report the total expenditures on account of the police department for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895, amounted to $69,311.42. For the year ending Feb. 28, 1894 (including only two months of the West Duluth district, January and February, $66,713.25. Increase, ;$2598.17. The report of the secretary of police shows the expenses of the West Duluth district for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895, amounted to $13,717. Comparative reduction in entire city of expenses for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895, $8139.75.

This reduction is due first, to reduction of salaries, second, to reduction of force in West Duluth district from sixteen to eight men, and discontinuance of patrol wagon.

This department more than any other branch of the city government, being directly under the supervision of the mayor, it has been my purpose to keep it entirely out of politics and every effort has been made to bring it to the highest standard of efficiency, that life and property may be secure and women can travel any of our streets at all hours of day and night without fear of being molested. In this we have been most ably aided by Chief of Police Harry Armstrong.

By the establishment of the rock pile at Sixth avenue east, through the recommendation of the chief of police, not only has there been a saving during the past fiscal year in the single item of "board of prisoners at county jail" of $4000, but the city has been freed, to a great extent, from vagrants and petty criminals by whom it has been infested heretofore, and the number of arrests for drunkenness has decreased 30 per cent from previous years. At no time during its existence has the city been so free from objectionable characters as at present.

The personnel of the force has been elevated by the careful superintendence of the chief of police. The best feeling exists among the members of the department, all faithfully aiding the endeavors of the mayor and chif and taking a personal pride in raising the standard of this branch of the city government. No one has been discharged except for cause, it being the aim to make officers and patrolmen feel that they are secure in their positions as long as by faithful performance of their duties they retain the confidence of the administration and our citizens.

MUNICIPAL COURTS.

Increase	2,267 96

This increase is due to expense of conducting court No. 2 at West Duluth, estimated expense, $3000.

Decrease	1,520 00

By the opinion of the city attorney placed before you this evening there exists grave doubts as to the legality of court No. 2, located at West Duluth. Many prominent citizens of West Duluth, as well as other parts of the city, have expressed opinion that it would be for the best interests of the entire city that your honorable body recommend the legislature to abolish this court. If this is not done it will be liable to lead to long and protracted litigation between the present incumbent and the city. The present established courts at the city hall have ample facilities for taking care of all the municipal court business of the entire city some years to come.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Dr. Goffe and his able corps of assistants deserve much credit for the careful attention they have given in keeping the city clean and in the very best sanitary condition during the past year. The decrease in the death rate is largely due to the efforts he has made, and today the death rate of Duluth is lower than that of any other city in the country.

Death rate, 9.06.
Deaths during the year ending Feb. 28, 1895 ... 570
Death rate, 8.08.
These death rates are based upon an estimated population of 65,000.

Expenses for the year ending Feb. 28, 1894	$11,660 45
Increase	10,702 09

This increase has been caused by the city being visited with smallpox during the year, which required the building of a smallpox hospital at a cost of $3468. Maintenance of ten patients therein during a period of five months, $3378.87. Also scarlet fever broke out in the Woman's and Children's home, requiring an outlay of $481. The balance of extra expense is caused by the addition of West Duluth requiring a greater number of teams and labor for cleaning.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Receipts, tax levy and fines, ending March 1, 1894		$14,552 68
Receipts, tax levy and fines ending March 1, 1895		14,779 74
The library now has cash on hand		$11,340 65

"Your attention is called to the largely increased patronage of the library. The rooms occupied by the library last year had long been inadequate for the care of the books and the accommodation of the public. The directors have secured nearly double the capacity for both stack room and reading room at a comparatively small advance in cost for rent. Owing to a reduction of 40 per cent of annual appropriation for 1895 it requires a corresponding reduction in expenses. (As this cannot be taken from the central library without seriously impairing its usefulness, the directors have found it necessary to close for a time the reading room at Twentieth avenue west. The reading room at the Bethel is continued, the expense to the library is for reading matter only, and the cost is comparatively light. With the balance on hand at this date the directors hope to be able to place in the library the coming year the most of the more popular new publications and replace old books when necessary."

A full report of the secretary will be published.

This important educational institution has been most ably managed, each one of the directors having been appointed on account of well known business ability and literary attainments. Under their direction the library is constantly growing in size, importance and usefulness. In time, with a continuation of such management, our city will possess one of the important libraries of the state. Each book added is carefully scrutinized by the directors, so that the moral tone of the library may be sustained, and no books are added which are offensive to any class or sect, or detrimental to the minds of the young.'

I sincerely hope that with the increasing prosperity of our city some one of our wealthy citizens in the near future will perpetuate his name by the erection and donation of a public library building commensurate with the greatness of the city.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

While the public schools are managed by a board separate and distinct from the government of the city, their great importance properly invites recognition at this time.

Under the long and continued able management of Superintendent Denfeld, with the co-operation of the board of education, our schools have been brought to their present high standing and are the pride of our city. There are over 8000 scholars now in attendance. A graduate from our high school has the opportunity of receiving a better education than had students in our renowned Eastern universities at the beginning of the century.

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS

For detailed statement see secretary's report.

During the past year the board of park commissioners has not only done much to improve our parks and boulevards, but has also arranged for future improvements of the entire system, as fast as appropriations will permit.

RECEIPTS.

Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1894	1,410 14
	$ 31,823 08
Disbursements	$ 29,439 65
	$ 31,823 08

The most important work done during the past year has been the improvement of Portland square, costing $5717.06. The maintenance and extension of Rogers Boulevard has cost $2354.46. There was expended for aquirement of land during the year $17,189.06. The total amount expended for park and parkway purposes up to date has been $269,263.08. In addition to this there have heretofore been donated to the city and dedicated for park purposes lands estimated to be worth $228,000, and the total area is about 211 acres.

One of the contemplated improvements of the coming year will be that of Cascade square. The character and location of this ground is such that its improvement will be difficult and expensive, but what has so long been an eyesore will be converted into an attractive little park. Many trees have already been purchased and will be planted along the sides of the streets and in many parts of the city during the coming spring.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Decrease	$ 31,823 62

Of this $215,058.27, $41,190.27 was expended for completing West Duluth contracts already under way, the balance $173,868, being expended for grading and improving part of West Fourth street, Fourteenth avenue east, Palmetto street, for sidewalks and various other improvements. (These moneys advanced by the city for improvements, assessments being levied upon property benefited thereby, will be repaid.

Street maintenance—

Decrease	$ 11,514 34

Of this $63,001.25, the sum of $11,563.34 was expended in West Duluth district.

Street lighting—

Expense for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895	48,699 95
Increase	$ 17,090 99

This increase is largely due to the addition of West Duluth which has 140 lights, costing for maintaining, $15,330, and other lights having been placed in the city.

Engineering—

Expenses for the year ending Feb. 28, 1895, this being for the entire city	16,556 22

Office Expenses—

Expenses for the year ending Feb. 28, 1894	$8,760 06
Decrease	$2,173 14

All these savings have been made by reduction of salaries and the economical manner in which the department of public works has been conducted.

I most earnestly recommend to your honorable body that no streets or avenues be opened up or improved, or sidewalks laid in outlying portions of the city, during the coming year unless you are satisfied that said improvements are absolutely necessary and that parties petitioning for the same are able to promptly pay assessments levied upon property benefited.

My reasons for making this recommendation are these: In previous years when times were prosperous and real estate active, large sums of money were expended for such improvements. Owing to the depressed condition during the past two years a great many property owners, the poor and the rich alike, have had these extra burdens of street assessments to take care of, and not being able to do so, in very many cases have been compelled to sell their property at a sacrifice or lose it entirely.

We have now outstanding improvement certificates amounting to $857,797.93 for which the city has obligated itself. Many upon the "Ontario plan" when becoming due, have not been paid and the city is obliged to borrow or use moneys collected from general taxes to meet these payments.

The outstanding orders at the commencement of this administration amounted to $275,765.44. Owing to property owners being unable to pay taxes and street assessments when due the city orders now outstanding amount to $449,061.01.

We must also bear in mind that only a small amount will be paid into the city treasury for taxes before the first of June, and there being only a very little money now in the city treasury, it will be necessary to further issue city orders in order to meet the running expenses of the city and thus considerably increase the amount now outstanding. The credit of the city must be kept at its present high standing, and this can only be done by using the utmost economy in every direction during the coming year, so that obligations already in existence can be promptly met, and by not being obliged to assume additional burdens.

No one would be more glad than I to give work to the laborers of our city, but this cannot in justice be done at the expense of property owners, many of whom now have heavy burdens, even heavier than they can carry.

In the future, when it may be necessary to open up and grade new streets, I deem it advisable to lay gas and water mains and sewers through said streets and make connection to the curb of every lot, thereby preventing the streets being constantly torn up as they have been in the past throughout the entire city, and also making a large saving in the maintaining of such streets in good condition.

There is every reason to believe that the supreme court of the state will render a favorable decision early in April, in the sult of Henry Truelsen vs. the city of Duluth, whereby we will be able to consummate the purchase of the gas and water plants.

The sale of the gas and water bonds having been arranged for,will put the city in funds for the immediate prosecution of the great work of extending the present system. This, with the opening of navigation and resumption of work in our many sawmills and on our docks, will give steady employment to every unemployed man in the city of Duluth, and I sincerely hope will be the commencement of bringing brighter and better times to our great army of laboring men.

The work of extending the gas and water system should be given to our citizens, who have stayed with us and borne the burdens of dull times in preference to those of other cities, or the floating laborers of the country.

When the time comes for your honorable body to appoint commissioners of water and light department, I earnestly recommend that men of the highest character and integrity and of well-known business ability be chosen, without regard to party or politics, for the financial success, benefits to be derived from future extensions and improvements,and the confidence of the people can only be obtained by having such men to manage this important department.

This board of public works has been most ably managed, the members being at all times attentive to the duties of their office. They have taken much pride in keeping the streets and sidewalks in first-class condition,thereby gaining many compliments to our city from strangers upon its general attractive appearance.

CONCLUSION.

I wish to express to your honorable body my most sincere thanks for the hearty co-operation and consideration accorded to me during the past year, also to all officers in the city government who have at all times promptly and willingly given me all the information and assistance desired.

It is with sadness I feel called upon to mention the recent death of one of your number, who had the confidence and respect of the entire city government, and the estimation in which he was held by the people was expressed by his re-election and continuance in the important body of which he was an honored member.

I hope the same harmony and good feeling that has existed during the past year between the executive and legislative branches of the city government may continue during the remainder of my term of office.

Your committee on drains sewers and parks to whom was referred the communication of Health Officer Goffe recommending the construction of a sanitary sewer in Third alley between Sixth and Seventh avenues west, and the report of the board of public works concerning the same, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:
N. N. Oie,
P. Westaway,
Thos. F. Trevillion,
Committee.

In the matter of a report of the board of public works dated March 25, 1895.
It is hereby ordered by the Common Council of the city of Duluth:
That the board of public works, of the city ofDuluth, cause the following improvements to be made, towit:
That a sanitary sewer together with the necessary appurtenances be built in block 26, Third division of Duluth. Said sewer being between Second street and Third street and from Sixth avenue west to Seventh avenue west.
That said board cause said work to be let by contract as provided by law, and after said work shall be placed under contract said board shall proceed without delay to assess 75 per cent of the amount as nearly as it can ascertain the same, which will be required to pay the costs and necessary expenses of such improvement, together with the cost of an easement in lands for slopes or retaining walls, for cuts for fills in connection with said improvement; also for changing or diverting streams and water courses; also for constructing, laying and repairing cross walks and sidewalks, retaining walls, area walls, gutters, sewers, and also for private gutters and sewers, and all other legitimate purposes authorized by the city charter and the amendments thereto, including ten (10) per cent upon the amount which shall be added to the assessment to defray necessary expenses of making survey, plans, specifications and superintendence upon the real estate to be benefitted by said improvement, as near as may be to the benefit resulting thereto, as provided by law. It being the opinion of the council that real estate to be assessed for such improvement can be found benefitted to the extent of costs and expenses necessary to be incurred thereby. If the amount so assessed shall be insufficient to complete the work, then, after the completion of said work the board of public works is hereby ordered to make a final assessment in the same manner as hereinbefore described to pay for the same.

SHOCKING.

Her Mother Sent to Prison For Life For the Crime.

This Preyed Upon Cora's Mind Until She Was Almost Crazed.

Omaha, Neb., March 29.—Cora Smith, formerly a resident of Des Moines, but who has lived in this city since last September, was arrested here and taken to Des Moines this morning. The Smith woman, shortly after being arrested, confessed to having assisted in murdering her father last May. Mike Smith was the murdered man's name, and previous to the last and successful attempt to kill him by poisoning an attempt was made by shooting. The ball passed through his head just back of the eyes, from the effects of which he was blinded.

It was not proven who fired this shot and Smith could not be led to believe that members of his family were plotting to kill him. Not long after the shooting incident poison in small doses was administered, from the effects of which he died last May.

The wife and daughter were arrested, charged with the crime, and in June the wife was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Iowa penitentiary. Cora was discharged when taken before the police judge for a hearing, and after remaining in Des Moines for a short time she came to Omaha. Her associates noticed that something was continually worrying her, but were not aware of the cause.

After her mother was sent to prison she began writing to her, and in one of the letters told how she had assisted in poisoning her father and at the same time implicating her aunt, Mrs. Ellen Leader. This letter fell into the hands of the detectives, as did also other correspondence. In her confession she said that the poison used was purchased by her aunt, Mrs. Leader, and that Mrs. Leader administered several doses, but that the one which resulted fatally was given by herself.

She expressed a desire to return to Des Moines without requisition papers, and said that she would be glad to get a chance to have her mother liberated. She said she was willing to pay the penalty of her crime, and the thought that her mother was serving a life sentence for something she had not done had preyed upon her mind until she had become almost crazed.

The object of the murder was for the purpose of getting the insurance which Smith carried on his life. The amount was $6000, but after the conviction of Mrs. Smith for murder the insurance companies refused to pay the policies. Smith was one of the oldest engineers on the Rock Island road.

A MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Andrew J. Campbell Shot Dead at Lexington, Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., March 29.—Andrew J. Campbell, secretary of the chamber of commerce, president of the Humane society, and a leading fire insurance man, lies dead at his home in this city from a pistol shot fired under mysterious circumstances at daybreak this morning. He occupied a room with his 15-year-old son on the first floor opening on a rear porch.

About 5 o'clock the little fellow was awakened by the crashing of glass in the door and the fall of brickbat on the floor. A moment later he heard a pistol shot, then a quick scuffle and another shot. This was followed by a heavy fall on the floor and hurrying footsteps in the yard. Rushing out, he found his father with a gaping wound in his cheek and blood streaming out. The family was quickly aroused and neighbors who heard the shooting rushed in. Physicians were summoned but life was extinct.

The place bears evidence of a struggle. Campbell's own pistol was near him with two chambers empty and his face is badly powder-burned, proving that the shot must have been fired at short range. The theory of the family and neighbors is that Campbell heard some one at the refrigerator on the back porch and started to investigate. The prowler threw the brick that crashed through the glass door. Campbell pulled his pistol and fired; the man grappled and in the struggle over the pistol Campbell was shot with his own pistol.

Campbel intended going to the nearby town of Versailles this morning and purchased yesterday a two-day accident policy for $5000 in the Standard Accident company of Delaware. He had been in bad health for several years, having suffered partial paralisis as a result of wounds in the civil war. His wife died eight years ago, and he leaves four children.

Bloodhounds were taken to the yard of Campbell's residence this morning. They struck a trail on the brick walk and followed it through an open rear gate, but lost it in the confusion of the tracks of the throng gathered in the alley.

STABBED TO DEATH.

Boston, Mass., March 29.—The Maine schooner Isaac K. Stetson has arrived from Brazil and Cuba with a cargo of sugar. The captain is C. S. Rask; the first mate is J. E. Winslow, and the crew consists of four men.

While at St. Catherines, Brazil, the crew then with the vessel was set upon while on shore by Brazilian officers and so badly cut that two died and one was left in the hospital there who was not expected to recover. The fourth received a stab in the back but it was slight.

The affair occurred Dec. 16. Fred Jensen, a Dane; Ingall Ranschott, Charles Johnson and Nels Johnson, Norwegians, obtained permission to go ashore. Word came that night to Mate Winslow that his men had gotten into a fight, and an investigation found the men in a badly used up condition. Ranschott, Charles Johnson and Jensen were terribly injured, the former having eight wounds. Ranschott and Johnson died soon after being found.

According to the story the men fell in with some women and were talking with them, when a party of soldiers came along and ordered them away. One word led to another, when the soldiers drew their daggers and fell upon the sailors, who were unarmed, and made short work of them.

Capt. Rask saw the American consul and he notified the American minister at Rio. The Brazilion government officials took the matter up at once. It was understood that some of the soldiers had been found but it could not be verified before the schooner sailed.

THE CANADIAN CABINET.

There is No Doubt That Tupper Has Resigned.

CHICAGO, March 29.—A special from Ottawa, Ont., says: Sir Charles H. Tupper spent half an hour in his office last evening clearing up his desk and making everything ready for his successor. So far his resignation has not been accepted, but there is little chance of his returning to the ministry. At the cabinet meeting he was not present.

Mr. Foster was also absent and the report is that he is likely to follow Tupper. The writs for all the by-elections have been issued. There are four vacancies in all in the commons. The elections take place on April 17.

Another Report.

TORONTO, March 29.—The world says today that it has good reasons for believing that Sir Charles Tupper will retain his portfolio as minister of justice. If this be so, and the World is generally well informed politically, it shows that the premier has succeeded in patching up a truce for the present at least.

The Mail, the government organ, gives strong denials to the whole resignation story. It says: "Sir Charles Tupper is still administering the affairs of his department. He has not tendered his resignation and the statements sent broadcast over the world that he has are untrue. This contradiction is given not only on the authority of the minister of justice but with the emphatic confirmation of Sir Mackenzie Bowell."

A MISSOURI MURDER TRIAL.

Carrollton, Mo., March 29.—The prosecution in the Taylor brothers' murder trial rested last night and this morning the defense began their side of the case. The court room was crowded as usual, at least 100 women being present. The testimony in the first two witnesses was immaterial, while that of the third, on direct examination, tended to destroy the state's case against the prisoners. On cross-examination, however, this witness broke down completely and contradicted his direct testimony.

ARMOR TESTS.

Washington, March 29.—Capt. Sampson, chief of the navy department, accompanied by Lieut. Ackerman and Profesor Alger, leave for Bethlehem, Pa., tonight and tomorrow will witness armor tests. The tests will be made of 12-inch diagonal armor of the Iowa and the turret plates of the Oregon.

To the President and Common Council:

Your committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks to whom was referred bids and award of contract for ferry service at the ship canal on Minnesota Point, having considered the same, recommend that material improvement be made in the service now provided for, and recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

E. M. Patterson,
Committee.

Resolved, that owing to the unsuitable means at command, and the great expense of such an undertaking, no contract for steam service be made at this time.

Alderman Patterson moved the adoption of the resolution.

The following report was presented:

To the President and Common Council of the city of Duluth:

Gentlemen—

The undersigned members of the committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks, to whom was referred the bids and award of contract for steam ferry service, having considered the same, would respectfully report as follows:

Recommending that the contract made March 11, 1895, by the board of public works with Duluth Ferry company, the lowest bidder, be confirmed by the common council, the bid for a two years' contract at $25.65 per day.

L. Christensen,
E. F. Mitchell.

Nays—Aldermen Christensen, Cox, Harwood, Mitchell, Patterson, Mr. President—6.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Alderman Hale:

Resolved by the common council of the city of Duluth, that whereas, the municipal court at West Duluth was duly created and organized under and by virtue of sub-chapter 11 of chapter 146 of the general laws of the state of Minnesota for the year 1891, entitled "An act relating to villages of over three thousand (3000) inhabitants and providing for municipal courts therein," and,

Whereas, the said court was continued by virtue of section seven (7) of chapter 56 of the special laws of 1891 as a municipal court of the city of Duluth, and,

Whereas, sub-chapter 11 of said chapter 146 of the general laws of Minnesota for the year 1891 was amended by adding thereto a section number fifty-two (52) by which said section said court was again continued or attempted to be continued as a municipal court of the city of Duluth to be known and designated as municipal court number 2 of said city, and,

Whereas, all necessity for said court has ceased to exist and the continuance thereof will be attended with great expense to the city,

Now therefore, be it resolved, that the legislators from this district be and they are hereby requested to draft a bill for the abolishing of said municipal court number 2 of the city of Duluth and to secure its passage at once.

Alderman Hale moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Nays—None.

Passed March 25, 1895.
Approved March 26, 1895.
Ray T. Lewis,
Mayor.

Alderman Hale moved that the city clerk be and is hereby requested to forward a copy of the resolutions requesting the abolition of municipal court No. 2, together with a copy of the petition relating thereto, to the state senate and each of the members of the legislature from this district.

The question was supported, and carried by acclamation.

By Alderman French.

Resolved that the matter of the adjustment of the indebtedness of the township of Oneota between the creditors of the same and the city of Duluth, be and is hereby deferred for one week.

Alderman French moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

By Alderman Patterson:

Whereas, the police department has shown such efficiency in its service, and the affairs of said department have been administered with such economy,

Be it resolved, that the salary of the chief of police be and is hereby fixed at $2500 per annum; that the pay of the captains of police be increased $10 per month, that of police lieutenants $10 per month, that of detectives $10 per month and all others $5 per month.

Alderman Patterson moved the adoption of the resolution.

Alderman Hale moved to refer to the committee on public offices, officers and elections, and it was so referred upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Ash, Christensen, Cox, French, Harwood, Hale, Krumseig, Lerch, Mitchell, Nelson, Ole, Olafson, Trevillion, Westaway—14.

Nays—Aldermen Patterson, Mr. President—2.

By Alderman Patterson:

Resolved by the common council of the city of Duluth:

That whereas, at a conference heretofore had between the committee on "streets alleys and sidewalks" of this council, the board of public works of the city of Duluth, Minnesota, and the executive officers of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company, with reference to the matter of the railroad crossing at Fifty-fifth avenue west and Columbia avenue in said city of Duluth, it was agreed that said matter should be referred to D. A. Reed, city engineer, and C. H. Martz, chief engineer of said railroad company to determine the manner of effecting such crossing and devise plans and draw specifications in respect thereto, and,

Whereas, said D. A. Reed, city engineer, and C. H. Martz, chief engineer as aforesaid have submitted their report showing the manner of effecting such crossing and submitting plans and specifications therefor, which said report is hereto attached.

Now therefore, be it resolved, that said report, plans and specifications with respect to said crossing be and the same are hereby adopted and the said Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company is hereby authorized and directed to at once proceed to make said crossing in accordance therewith, it being understood that said manner of effecting such crossing and such plans and specifications are only such as the present needs of the city require and are accepted only as a temporary adjustment of this matter.

Resolved further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the common council of the city of Duluth from hereafter directing such extensions, changes and modifications of said crossing as in their judgment the needs of the city may from time to time require.

Alderman Patterson moved the adoption of the resolution and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Nays—None.

By Alderman Mitchell:

RESOLUTION APPOINTING COMMISSIONERS TO AWARD DAMAGES IN CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS.

Whereas, the common council of the city of Duluth deem it necessary that the following improvement be made, to-wit:

A street eighty feet in width, the center line of which is described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at the point of intersection of the center line of Grand avenue (as platted in the plat of "Rearrangement of Lenroot's addition to Ironton," according to the recorded plat thereof) with the southerly line of said rearrangement of Lenroot's addition to Ironton. Thence extending southwesterly on a prolongation in a straight line of said Grand avenue to its intersection with the center line of Poplar street (as platted in the plat of Spirit Lake addition, according to the recorded plat thereof), produced northerly in a straight line. Thence extending southerly along the center line of Poplar street aforesaid and its prolongation in a straight line southerly to a point 1000 feet southerly from the east and west quarter line of section 27, township 49 north of range 15 west of the Fourth P. M., according to the United States government survey. Thence extending southwesterly on a line making an angle of 21 degrees and 15 minutes to the right of aforesaid line to its point of intersection with the central line of Grand Central avenue (as platted in the plats of Rosedale addition to Duluth and Everett Park addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plats thereof), prolonged northerly in a straight line. Thence extending southerly on said center line of Grand Central avenue aforesaid and its prolongation in a straight line southerly on said center line of Grand Central avenue and its prolongation northerly and southerly to its intersection of Grand avenue, as platted in the plat of New Duluth, First division, it being the intention to make the central line of Grand Central avenue aforesaid a continuation in a northerly direction of the center line of Fifth avenue east in the plat of New Duluth, First division, according to the recorded plat thereof; be it therefore

Resolved, that said improvement above named be made, and that R. H. Doran, A. F. Swanstrom, Jr., and A. Rockwell, three persons, disinterested freeholders and qualified voters of said city, no two of whom are residents of the same ward, be and are hereby appointed commissioners to view the premises and assess the damages which may be occasioned by the taking of private property for the purposes aforesaid.

Upon motion of Alderman Mitchell the resolution was referred to the board of public works.

By Alderman Westaway:

RESOLUTION TO BUILD SIDEWALK.

Resolved, that the common council of the city of Duluth deem it necessary that a new sidewalk be built on the westerly side of Eighth avenue west, from the northerly side of First street to a point fifty feet north of the same, and also on the easterly side of Tenth avenue west from the northerly side of First street to a point fifty feet north of the same, and,

Resolved, that the board of public works are hereby directed and required to publish in the official newspaper of the city a notice to all owners and occupants of any and all lots or parcels of land abutting on the portions of Eighth and Tenth avenues west between the above described limits to build so much of said sidewalk as adjoins their lot or lots, at his, her or their own proper expense and charge, and in accordance with plans and specifications on file in the office of the board, within twenty days after the first publication of said notice, and if such owner or occupant fails to build said sidewalk within the time designated, which shall be stated in said notice, and in accordance with said plans and specifications, the same shall be built or rebuilt by the board of public works of the city, and the full cost and expense thereof, together with 10 per cent additional for cost of survey, plans and superintendence, will be assessed against their said lots.

Alderman Patterson moved the adoption of the resolution and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Nays—None.

Question of 'Longshoremen's Wages For 1895 Has Been Adjusted.

The Union and Capt. Inman Have Reached an Agreement.

The Lake Carriers' Association Has Wired an Acceptance.

The question of the rate of wages to be paid lumber handlers in Duluth for the season has been settled in an amicable manner, and there will be no difficulty this season between the Lake Carriers' association and the 'Longshoremen's union. The rate is to be 35 cents per hour when freights are $2 per 1000 and under, and 40 cents per 1000 for freights over $2.

Last year the lowest price paid the lumber handlers was 40 cents per hour. Lumber freights went down to the lowest notch, at one time as low as $1.50 per 1000, but there was no reduction in the rate of wages. The rate ran from 40 cents to 45 cents when freights were $2, and 50 cents when freights ran higher. The Lake Carriers' association considered this rate too high for the present freight rates, and this spring the union was asked to consider a reduction in the scale.

The president of the Duluth union went to Cleveland to confer with the association, but no agreement was reached. W. E. Livingstone, president of the association, and J. C. Gilchrist, chairman of the committee in charge of the question of rates, empowered Capt. B. B. Inman to make the best arrangements he could with the union. Later the union held a meeting and made a proposition of its own accord and appointed a committee to present it to Capt. Inman.

THE TERMS ACCEPTED.

Capt. Inman sent the proposition to Messrs. Livingstone and Gilchrist and yesterday afternoon he received a telegram accepting the terms offered by the union and requesting him to close a contract for the season. This morning the president of the union and the other members of the committee met Capt. Inman at his office and signed a contract for the season at the rates named above. The terms include no extra pay for nights and Sundays.

There has been the best of feeling throughout the whole negotiation and great credit is due Capt. Inman and the members of the union for this amicable settlement. The Duluth 'Longshoremen's union is the best and most business like on the lakes, and they appreciate the position of the Carriers' association and agree to do their share towards a peaceable settlement. The Superior and Ashland associations are expected to take similar action, though each union makes its own scale of wages.

The result of the negotiation is pleasing to all concerned. The extra amount of lumber which will be shipped this year will be ample enough to give the lumber handlers steady work so that their wages will amount to as much as they did under the old rates. Capt Inman estimates that 300,000,000 feet of lumber will go out of this port this season, an increase of 20,000,000 over last year.

President McFadden, of the union, this morning said that the cost of loading lumber depends a great deal on the master of the boat to be loaded. He has seen forty men worked at McClure's mill on two piles front, which, Mr. McFadden claims, makes sixteen men paid for doing nothing. If a captain, too, goes ashore and neglects his duty he is to blame for bad management. The 'longshoremen are of course to blame in that respect some times also "I have studied for twenty-two years the loading of lumber onto boats," said Mr. McFadden, "and I never saw so large a body of good lumber handlers together as I have in the Duluth harbor union and if they are misplaced by mate or captain it is not the fault of the men."

OXFORD

The Scene on the Historic Course Was Animated as Usual.

Putney, Eng., March 30.—Oxford won the fifty-seventh boat race today between the crews representing the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge crossing the line two lengths ahead. The morning was gloomy and cold, but this did not prevent crowds of people from wending their way to Putney in order to watch the final practice of the crews. During the morning both Oxford and the Cambridge boats practiced starting for about a quarter of an hour.

Rain fell at intervals throughout the morning and a strong southwest wind was blowing; but the banks of the river Thames were crowded at an early hour. At 3 p. m., the Cambridge coxswain went over the course again in a steam launch. Happily the wind moderated greatly during the afternoon and at 3:30 p. m., was very light and the water was almost smooth. The press and the umpire's boats took up their places when the hour for the race approached and they were shortly followed by the crews.

Oxford won the toss and chose the Surrey side of the river. The scene on the Thames was as animated as usual, and until the course was cleared the river was alive with craft of all kinds. The boat houses of the two crews were besieged by their admirers early in the day and both Oxford and Cambridge were loudly cheered as they launched their boats. The betting just previous to the start was unchanged from last night. The crews started at 4:08 p. m. and Oxford soon had a lead of half a length.

At Clasper's boathouse Oxford held her lead, but at Craven cottage less than three-quarters of a mile from the start, Oxford was only a quarter of a length ahead and at Walden's the dark blue boat had not increased this lead. At Hammersmith's bridge, a little over one and three-quarter miles from the start, Oxford had increased the lead to half a length and was widening the gap.

At Thornycrofts, about three miles from the start, Oxford was a length ahead and at the Devonshire was leading by two lengths. Oxford at Barnes' bridge, slightly over three and a half miles from the start, held the lead of two lengths and eventually won by that distance.

Oxford started at forty strokes to a minute, the Cambridge's stroke contenting himself with thirty-eight. The dark blues throughout the race pulled steadily and like clock work. Opposite Lead Mills, Cambridge drew up a little, but the hopes of the admirers of the light blues soon faded away and Oxford increased her lead as she liked. Opposite the Dovers, about two miles from the start, Oxford was pulling 39 and Cambridge 38 strokes to the minute. The official time of the winning boat is announced to be 20 minutes 50 seconds.

Tom Timms, or "Timmy," as he is better known, has been 'versity barge man of the O. U. B. C. for the last thirty-two years. He was in a reminiscent mood when seen by a representative of the Associated Press. Said he:

"I have attended every race at Putney since 1862 and the greatest crowd which ever turned out was the one which came to see Harvard in 1869. Of course I did not see the first races but it must have been a great sight at Henley in 1829 when the 'varsities faced each other for the first time, from Hambledon dock to Henley bridge, two and a quarter miles against a summer stream. The books tell us they had no light blue and dark blues. Oxford's colors were nearly those of Christ church, the head of the river, a sort of blue and Cambridge rode in their white shirts with pink sashes, out of compliment to their captain who was a Lady Margaret man. They were a famous lot The Oxford crew were mostly clergy. Afterwards No. 4, Worth, became bishop of Sandras; No. 5 became a prebendary of York; No. 6 dean of Lincoln; No. 7 rector of Tunstall; the stroke, Boland, became rector of Bolton, and the coxswain, Freemantle, became dean of Ripon.

"Cambridge had a rare lot. No. 3 became vicar of Over; No. 4 became dean of Ely; No. 7, Selwyn, became bishop of New Zealand and afterwards bishop of Litchfield; No. 2, Bayford, was a lawyer and chancellor of the diocese of Manchester and Good, No. 5, in the Oxford boat was the heaviest man who ever pulled an oar for 'varsity; he rowed at fourteen stone ten pounds (206 pounds). They fouled at starting but began over again and Oxford won at the bridge by five or six lengths. The time was between eleven and fourteen minutes.

"Then there was the great race at Henley in 1843, when Menser, the Oxford's stroke, fell ill just as he was stepping into the boat and tumbled into No. 5's arms. Cambridge refused to allow a substitute to row so Oxford rowed with seven men—No. 5 going to stroke and bow going to No. 7, leaving bow seat empty. Cambridge refused to row seven men, but the judges said they must and they went at it. Oxford soon showed their metal and below Poplar court they were clear and taking the Cambridge water went in winners by a length's daylight.

"There was another famous day in 1859. I remember the crews pulled together well. Oxford was very strong but rather rough in shape and with uneven feather in some places. On the day of the race it blew a gale from the east. Above Hammersmith the wind was across stream, but after barring this it was dead ahead again and the surf was as bad as Putney. Oxford was almost waterlogged before Cambridge launched its boat, but the low free board of the Cambridge boat caused her to ship even in the paddle of the aqueduct as much or more water than Oxford had taken aboard during the delay. Oxford led from the start. Rounding Craven Point they were two lengths in the clear and at Barnes' bridge they were twice as much in the lead. Off the White Hart, Cambridge foundered. They rowed to the last and though sinking they never tried to steer ashore. They rowed until each man's oar floated out of the oarlocks. Oxford was almost in a sinking state too and another quarter of a mile would have sunk the boat. The now Lord Clenburry was in the Oxford boat, and No. 3 in the Cambridge boat was the present Lord Justice Smith.

"I have seen Oxford win nineteen times in my thirty-two years. In 1865 there was a sensational and exciting race. Oxford won by sixteen seconds although Cambridge shot Hammersmith bridge a clear length to the good. Cambridge was stove in by a tug just after it was over.

"But 1867—until the dead heat three years later—was the closest of all races. Mr. Marsden, the Oxford stroke, could get a lot out of men and though he rowed the slowest stroke ever seen—never got beyond 34—while Cambridge did 38 for the first two miles and then nearly 40, Marsden was always a half length in front. Only the last dozen lengths were taken at 38 and he won by threequarters of a length.

"In 1877 there was the dead heat. Cambridge led by a length at Hammersmith bridge, by half a length when Oxford's bow split his oar. In two strokes Cambridge overlapped us and we only had half a length's lead. It was a tremendous race to the finish. Cambridge overhauling us inch by inch. The umpire's decision has never been agreed to since. The race of 1883 was rowed in a blinding snow storm, when it was so dark you could hardly see the crews from the shore.

ST. CROIX

McInnis' Bill For the Taxation of Vessels Passed the Senate.

Bill For Annual School Census and Creating a Truant Officer.

St. Paul, March 30.—A matter of considerable interest came up in the house today in an unanimous favorable report on the bill establishing an interstate park at the Dalles of the St. Croix, a similar measure being before the Wisconsin legislature. The proposed park consists of 360 acres on both sides of the St. Croix river at what is considered one of the most beautiful spots of natural scenery in America. The movement in favor of the park is being pushed by prominent citizens of both states

Chaplain McCune was absent this morning for only the second time during the session, and the house opened without prayer. A number of petitions were presented and the following committee reports made and adopted: S. F. 583, to establish office of forest marshal and protect forests, with various amendments to make it take in some of the features of other bills on the same subject, to pass; H. F. 577, to promote practical forestry, to pass; H. F. 180, to promote practical forestry, to be postponed; S. F. 73, to amend general laws 1891, relating to appropriation of money by county commissioners for building roads and bridges, to be postponed; H. F. 273, to regulate civil service in the cities and state, to pass; H. F. 682, for higher education, to pass as amended; H. F. 426, amend laws regulating secretary of board of education, to be postponed; H. F. 168, to amend general statutes of 1878, licensing teachers, to be postponed; H. F. 533, higher education, to be placed on general orders. The following bills were introduced:

Mr. Mickelson, to provide for assessment and collection of taxes on grain in elevators and warehouses. Grain and warehouse.

Mr. McInnis, to amend general laws of 1878, relating to organization of townships. Judiciary.

Mr. Cant, granting powers to cities to license peddlers of all kinds. Municipal legislation.

Mr. Underwood, to provide for semi-annual payment of taxes. Judiciary.

Mr. Underleak, to provide for incorporation of educational institutions. Judiciary.

Mr. Warner, for relief of G. M. Hillman, appropriating $5000 for injuries in line of duty in the militia. Claims.

Mr. Swanson, to amend general laws of 1887, relating to drainage, lowering lake levels. Drainage.

Mr. Niemann, to amend general laws of 1887, providing for public school libraries, making $10,000 annual appropriation. Judiciary.

Mr. Cant, to abolish the municipal court in Duluth known as Municipal Court No. 2, formerly existing in the village of West Duluth. Municipal legislation.

Mr. Leach, to appropriate $15,000 for building for hospital and class room facilities at agricultural college. Agricultural.

Mr. Holman, relating to salary of supreme court reporter, fixing it at $2000. Special committee on salaries.

Mr. Anderson, to appropriate $2000 for bridge over the Kettle river at Sandstone. Ronds and bridges.

Mr. Smith, requiring police officers to give bonds in the sum of $1000 for possible suits for damages for false arrests Judiciary.

Mr. Knuteson, to repeal general law 1878, relating to duties of township assessors. Agriculture.

Mr. Barta, authorizing and requiring numbering and filing of plats of additions to cities. Judiciary.

Mr. Barat, to amend general law 1878, entitled actions respecting corporations, requiring publication. Judiciary.

Mr. Barta, to define liability of persons, partnerships or corporations for injuries to employes through negligence of fellow employes. Judiciary.

Mr. Gores, relating to policies issued by live stock insurance companies, prohibiting exceptions from payment where authorities kill such live stock. Insurance.

Mr. Douglas, to regulate hunting or killing of game by non-residents, requiring a license for which $2 shall be paid. Game and fish.

Mr. Mathieson, to amend general laws governing the sale of baking powder. Appropriations.

The house then went into committee of the whole, Mr. Holman presiding, for the consideration of general orders. The following bill was killed: H. F. 94, to abolish capital punishment.

The following were recommended for passage: S. F. 297, to amend general statutes 1878, relating to service of writs of attachment in justice court; H. F. 442, to amend the constitution to prohibit appropriations to any sectarian schools; H. F. 555, prohibiting blacklisting; S. F. 553, Senator Spencer, to determine the boundary between St. Louis and Lake counties; S. F. 357, for the relief of Lieut. William H. Kane, militia surgeon, for injuries; S. F. 450, to provide for dependent children; S. F. 406, to amend section 3, chapter 9, statutes 1893; S. F. 216, to change moneys form state agency fund to state public school expense fund; S. F. 106, to provide for a fourth insane hospital. The committee then rose and reported and a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

Mr. Staples this afternoon introduced the bill for a constitutional convention which was ordered by the house a few days ago. It provides that the matter shall be submitted to a vote of the people at the next general election, and if it meets with approval the next legislature shall pass the necessary laws for the holding of such convention.

Mr. Downs introduced an amendment to the compulsory education law, by providing for an annual school census and by creating a truant officer in cities of over 30,000. The Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis delegations are united in support of the bill.

THE SENATE.

St. Paul, March 30.—This was evidently the last day for bills in the senate, the following being introduced:

Senator Collester, to authorize municipal incorporations to issue bonds to pay floating indebtedness. Towns and counties.

Senator Barr, to regulate construction and management of village lockups. Municipal corporations.

Senator Barr, to amend laws of 1878 relating to change of trial for civil actions. Judiciary.

TWO DEAD

Sheriff Bogard Opened Fire on the Robbers and Killed One.

He Was Killed Himself By the Other Robber, Who Escaped.

Sacramento, Cal., March 30.—The north-bound Oregon express was held up by two men three or four miles north of Wheatland about 2 o'clock this morning. Engineer Bowsher was compelled to stop the train and go back and open the express car. Failing to secure anything in the express car, the robbers went back and started to rob the passengers in the coaches and smoker.

Sheriff Bogard of Teckham county, was on board and opened fire on the robbers in the smoker, killing one of them and being killed himself by another robber. The fireman was shot in the neck and one leg and is thought to be seriously injured.

A passenger named Sampson from Redding was struck on the head and cut. Several passengers were robbed. The dead bodies were turned over to the coroner at Marysville. The dead robber has not been identified, and no accurate description of the man who escaped has been secured.

It was evidently the intention of the robbers to escape on bicycles. The body of Sheriff Bogard and the body of the dead robber were taken into Marysville, where it was discovered that the robber was attired in a full and complete bicycle suit, over which he had drawn a pair of slip overalls. In the overalls he had improvised pockets made of towelling, in which were two big pistols. The dead robber is known in the vicinity of Marysville, where he had eaten several meals in a restaurant during the past few weeks. He is over six feet tall and weighs over 200 pounds. A. Northcote, the fireman, has two bullets in his body and may die.

WEST DULUTH COURT.

Bill to Abolish It Introduced By Mr. Cant.

St. Paul, March 30.—The bill introduced by Mr. Cant to abolish municipal court No. 2, formerly the municipal court of West Duluth, was introduced at the request of many citizens from all portions of the city.

The bill, if it becomes a law, does not become effective until May 18, 1895, extending the term to the full limit of the original law. As there are undoubtedly two sides to every question, there are two sides to this question and a full hearing will be accorded to all persons interested.

The bill was referred to the committee on municipal legislation, of which Mr. Cant is chairman, which is good evidence that both sides will have a full opportunity to present their arguments on the case, if they so desire.

WESTERN GOVERNORS.

They Express Their Views as to Woman Suffrage.

Baltimore, Md., March 30.—In a discussion of the subject of woman suffrage at the Friend's Circle last night, J. K. Taylor presented extracts from letters just received from the governors of Western states.

Governor Morrill, of Kansas, writes: "There has been no complaint. It seems to be successful."

Governor McIntyre, of Colorado: "Their advent into political life will positively and permanently benefit all the people."

Governor Richards, of Wyoming: "Women are now allowed all the privileges that men have in voting. They are not allowed to sit on juries and do not ask for it any more than they ask for military rights."

"Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war. Such were the victories gained by Dr. Price's baking powder at the Chicago and Midwinter fairs.

TO ENFORCE PROHIBITION.

Fargo, N. D., March 30.—The Enforcement league convention has adjourned after a two-days' session. Steps were taken to provide a fund of $25,000 for the enforcement of the prohibition law, and the governor and other state officers were called upon to suppress the open sale of intoxicating liquors in the capital and other cities in violation of the law.

A STABBING AFFRAY.

Chicago, March 30.—James Sipek, a Bohemian workingman, was fatally stabbed today in a political quarrel at Seventeenth and Wood streets. Three men giving their names as Bacek, Larinsky and Araeck are under arrest charged with the crime.

I have found the ROYAL BAKING POWDER to be an absolutely pure cream of tartar powder, entirely free from alum and ammonia, and of the very highest leavening power.

REVOLT

Rebel Leaders In Cuba Ask Americans Not to Believe the Reports.

Insurgents Are More Than Holding Their Own and Are Satisfied.

Spanish Prefects Resign and Will be Replaced by Military Officers.

Galveston, Tex., March 30.—The following message has been forwarded here by one of the several correspondents in Cuba: "In camp, Mansillo, March 20.—For the information of our friends in the United States, I would ask the American people not to believe the stories of insurgent defeats coming from government sources. They are false. We are more than holding our way. By the middle of June we will have 20,000 men in the field. We feel sure of the sympathy of all Americans.
Amador Guerra."

A passenger arriving from Havana today gives it as his opinion that the resignations of the captain general and governors of the provinces will not be accepted by Spain. Senor Polairega will, in all probability, he said, succeed the captain general. The people of Cuba have not yet forgotten Polairega's inhuman treatment of prisoners in the former revolution. The Cubans laugh at soldiers being sent over from Spain. They say it is almost certain that yellow fever will kill half of any number Spain may send over. The insurgents are waiting for June, when the sugar plantations will be idle, to begin their active aggressive movements.

There is much feeling among the Spaniards in Havana against America and Americans. They seem to think the United States is itching for a chance to take possession of the island. A prominent merchant in this connection says, if any American man-of-war should appear at the mouth of the harbor she would be blown out of the water.

There is undoubtedly a deep sentiment in favor of knocking a chip off of Uncle Sam's shoulder. It is also an undoubted fact that it would be the sign for anarchy and bloodshed all over the island. Sympathizers with the insurgents in Havana do not believe Guilterman dead. He was not wounded in the battle and was not affected by any pulmonary complications.

There is as much difference between a cheap chromo and a painting by one of the old masters as between the inferior baking powders and Dr. Price's.

THE SPANISH STORY.

Cuban Prefects to Be Replaced by Military Officers.

Madrid, March 30.—All the Cuban prefects have resigned. They will be replaced by military officers. It is reported that Gen. Antonio Macee, the insurgent leader, has landed in Jamaica. The rebel leader, Henry Brooks, has left Cuba for New York. It is stated that Calaman Garcia is also trying to leave the island.

The appointment of Marshal Martinez Campos to the command of the troops in Cuba has been received with the greatest of satisfaction in that island.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

A Commission of Various Nations is Now Proposed.

Washington, March 30.—It is understood that the effort was made toward the close of last congress to secure a new international commission for the consideration of the seal question with a view of preventing any prohibition will be revived at the beginning of the next session, when it is believed that congress having more time for considering the matter will be favorably disposed toward action.

It was urged when the bill was before congress last session that there was great danger that if the present regulations were allowed to remain in force another year, there would be very few of the seals left to protect but this view is not expressed now and the opinion is expressed that even after this year's crop of pelts has been harvested, there will be a sufficient nucleus remaining to allow a rapid increase in case those left are sufficiently protected.

The commission now proposed is to be composed of delegates from Japan and Russia as well as from this country and Great Britain, and those who pressed the question upon congress at its last session, contend that it is possible to gain the assent of all these nations.

The United States authorities are especialy anxious to secure and extend the closed season so as to embrace August, and if possible September also, as well as May, June and July. This extension of the time would they say, insure the protection of the mother seals until the young should be old enough to take care of themselves.

A POST DISMANTLED.

Tacoma, Wash., March 30.—Lieut. Mitchell, U. S. A., is here in charge of the paraphernalia belonging to the army post at Port Townsend which is being transferred to Vancouver barracks. It consists of wagons, horses and other outfit and is to be shipped south. The Port Townsend post has been completely dismantled, the buildings being left in charge of an officer and four men.

GULLY FOR SPEAKER.

British Cabinet Council Selected W. C. Gully for Speaker.

London, March 30.—The cabinet council sat for three hours today. Premier Rosebery was present. The cabinet council decided to nominate William Court Gully, Q. C., member of parliament for Carlisle, for the speakership, to succeed Sir Arthur Wellesley Peel.

Mr. Gully was born in London in 1835 and was educated at Trinity college, Cambridge. He was president of Cambridge university and was called to the bar at the Inner Temple in 1860. He became queen's counsel in 1877 and bencher of his inn in 1879. He was appointed recorder of Wigan in 1886 and unsuccessfully contested Whitehaven in 1880 and 1885. He has sat for Carlisle since 1886. Mr. Gully is a Liberal, supporting Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy.

TUPPER WILL STAY.

Ottawa, March 30.—The trouble between Sir Charles Tupper and his colleagues has been patched up and today he was in his office in the department of justice. He was seen in conversation with several cabinet ministers with whom he appeared to be on the best of terms. All sorts of rumors are in circulation over Sir Charles' move, but it is generally understood that his latest move was brought about by the action of the Manitoba government in adjourning and refusing to consider the remedial order.

A MINNEAPOLIS FAILURE.

Minneapolis, March 30.—Weitzner, Gruenberg & Co. have filed an voluntary assignment for the benefit of their creditors to Frank W. Davis. This is the culmination of the trouble the firm has been in for the past few weeks It is claimed that the firm will be found to owe fully $90,000.

HOME RULE FOR ALL.

London, March 30.—In the house of commons yesterday, Mr. James Henry Dalziel (advanced Liberal), member for the Kirkilcadie district, moved the adoption of the resolution to give home rule to England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. The resolution was adopted by a majority of 24.

CALL IT "SWAGGER."

French Journals Angry at Sir Edward Grye's Speech.

Paris, March 30.—Most of the French newspapers today agree that M. Hanotaux, the minister of foreign affairs, must reply to the utterances of Sir Edward Grey, the parliamentary secretary of foreign affairs, in the British house of commons on Thursday night, with energetic protests.

Several of the newspapers take the view that Sir Edward Grey's statement was simply "swagger" arising from the fact that the government would find itself in the minority unless it makes a patriotic display.

The Figaro says: "The quay d'orsay (the French foreign office) will show that it knows how, without losing its temper, to put the British foreign office in its proper place."

Why are users of Dr. Price's baking powder like Oliver Twist? They like it so well they always cry for more.

Recital of Scottish Song and Story Last Evening.

An audience of fair size attended the recital of Scottish song and story at the Temple, given by Mr. and Mrs. Durward Lely last evening and all were well pleased.

Mr. Lely has a fine tenor voice which enables him to sing the Scotch ballads in an excellent manner. He has all the true Scotch spirit and conception of the ballads, without which the real music would be wanting. Mr. Lely is quite an actor also which greatly aids him in giving a clear understanding of the songs and especially in bringing out the humor of some of them. His explanations given previous to each song were very interesting.

Among Mr. Lely's numbers were "Annie Laurie," "The Laird of Cockpen," "The Land of the Leal" and others. "O, Open the Door," by Burns was a beautiful number. The most stirring and in fact one of the very best was "McGregor's Gathering." He sang several songs other than the Scotch, among them "Killarney," Sally in Our Alley," "Come Into the Garden, Maud" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. Lely played the accompaniments and gave two piano numbers, selections of Scottish airs.

Will Fight for It.

At the meeting of the Commercial club in the West End last night the proposed abolition of the branch of the public library at the West End came up and received a warm discussion. No efforts will be spared to secure its continuance. The petition to the library board mentioned some time ago has assumed large proportions, and it will be presented to the board at its next meeting. In addition a letter has been signed by about fifty business men to the same effect.

The following committee was appointed to appear before the board: Messrs. Pierce, Whiteley, Leonard, Ole and J. C. Helm. The committee appointed to select a site for the normal school asked more time.

HEART DISEASE 30 YEARS!

Short Breath, Palpitation.

Mr. G. W. McKinsey, postmaster of Kokomo, Ind., and a brave ex-soldier, says: "I had been severely troubled with heart disease ever since leaving the army at the close of the late war. I was troubled with palpitation and shortness of breath. I could not sleep on my left side and had pain around my heart. I became so ill that I was much alarmed, and fortunately my attention was called to

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

I decided to try it. The first bottle made a decided improvement in my condition, and five bottles have completely cured me."

G. W. McKINSEY, P. M., Kokomo, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

ARMISTICE

The War Between China and Japan Has Been Temporarily Suspended.

Armistice for Three Weeks for Moukden, Pechili and Shanti-Tung.

Condition of Li Hung Chang is Still a Matter of Doubt.

Shimonoseki, March 30.—The conference between the Japanese plenipotentiaries and Li Hung Chang's son-in-law, Lord Li, preceded the declaration of the unconditional armistice declared by the emperor of Japan.

It is officially announced that an unconditional armistice for three weeks has been arranged for Moukden, the Gulf of Pechili and the Shanti-Tung peninsula.

Washington, March 30.—The Chinese legation has received a cablegram from Pekin stating that the condition of Li Hung Chang is still a matter of doubt. The authorities regard the information as presenting a later phase than the recent unofficial reports which dismissed the wounds as of slight importance. It does not express fears of serious results, but the tenor of the dispatch indicates that it is still too early to feel assured that Prince Li is entirely out of danger.

The cable was evidently sent from Pekin prior to the announcement of an armistice, as it contains no reference to that fact nor had the legation received other official confirmation of, that even during the early part of today.

Now that a suspension of hostilities has been directed, there is a renewal of interest as to the terms of peace to follow. While there is no definite information on the subject at the Chinese legation, the opinion prevails that the money indemnity will be paid largely in silver. That is the metal in common use in China. Those most familiar with Chinese say there is no gold coin in circulation, although that country has heretofore purchased large supplies of gold bars and from this accumulation has made heavy gold exports.

Wherever used Dr. Price's baking powder lightens labor as well as it lightens food.

HOKE SMITH'S RULING.

A Former Land Decision Overruled by the Secretary.

Washington, March 30.—The secretary of the interior has overruled the former departmental decision in the case of the Willamette Valley & Cascade Mountain Railway company vs. Chapman, which held that the company's failure to respond to the settlers' publication of notice to submit final proof precludes the company from hereafter making objection to the allowance of such entry.

This doctrine was held to be contrary to supreme court decisions, and a similar decision in the case of Braddy vs. the Southern Pacific railway is also overruled. This action is taken in disposing of the appeal case of the Willamette Valley company vs. George W. Hogan, involving lands within the limits of the withdrawal made for the benefit of the road, and Secretary Smith emphasizes the importance of making selections to satisfy the grants as speedily as possible, in order to restore the settlement and enter the surplus remaining in the limits of the withdrawal.

MAY BE TROUBLE.

Pender, Neb., March 30.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of one white man and four Indians. The Indian police, under orders from Capt. Beck, drove a white man off the farm he had leased from the Flournoy company, and the outcome is looked forward to with interest. It is claimed by some that the Indian police may resist arrest on warrants issued under the state laws, under the impression that they will be protected by the agent, in which event the result cannot be predicted Sheriff Mullen accompanied by a deputy has gone after the men. The complaints charge the police with unlawful assemblage.

INGALLS FOR FREE SILVER.

Little Rock, Ark., March 30.—John J. Ingalls on his arrival here was invited by the senate and house of representatives to address them. Mr. Ingalls talked on the currency question, advocating bimetallism. He said the West and the South would stand together for free silver in the next campaign. The people everywhere or majority of them, he said, were for free silver.

BRITISH CABINET COUNCIL.

London, March 30.—Lord Rosebery, the premier, came specially from Epsom today in order to preside at a cabinet council at which, according to the Daily News foreign affairs and the speakership are to be discussed.

TO SUCCEED HILL.

New York, March 30.—Warner Miller has announced himself as the candidate of his party for United States senator to succeed David B. Hill.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous symptom. It means a lack of vitality in the blood—a decrease of the red corpuscles upon which the strength and richness of the blood depends. It comes especially in the Spring because the system has been subject to unusual demands during the cold weather. The wasted vigor must be re-supplied. That tired feeling must be overcome, or else the approaching hot weather will have most serious effects. The best

Spring Medicine

Is Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it cures That Tired Feeling by purifying, enriching and vitalizing the blood, giving it power to carry health to every organ of the body. It "makes the weak strong," not by stimulating, but by actually giving strength, by building up the wasted energies, restoring the appetite and assisting the stomach and digestive organs in their important functions. The importance of attending to this matter of health now cannot be overestimated. Hood's Sarsaparilla will make a vast improvement in your feelings. It will thoroughly renovate your system and fit you for the duties and pleasures of the spring and summer.

The Wonderful Cures

of scrofula, salt rheum, eczema and other diseases which have been accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla have given it the leading place in the field of medicine. When you take Hood's Sarsaparilla to purify your blood you are not experimenting. The facts all prove absolutely that in Hood's Sarsaparilla you have a medicine tried and true. It has cured thousands of others and it will do you good. Do not be induced to buy any other. Insist upon Hood's and only Hip Disease, Sciatic Rheumatism, That Tired Feeling.

"I read that one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would convince me of its merits, and I have found this true.

"Some two years ago two ulcers appeared on my hip, which, after being sore a long time, broke and discharged. I also was attacked with sciatic rheumatism, my leg being drawn so that I could hardly get around the house. I hardly knew what a good night's rest was. The hip trouble caused me great trouble and annoyance, and eczema appeared on my hands. Naturally I began to run down, was weak and low spirited. The physician told me my hip would have to be operated upon before I would get any better. At last I decided to take one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. In three weeks my rheumatism entirely disappeared and I found that

I Was on the Gain.

This was very encouraging, and I found that I could sleep well at night. My health steadily improved, and, of course I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. My hip has been restored to good condition, the sores have stopped discharging and healed up. I am able for the first time in three years to do my own housework, and can walk two miles without trouble. I have no symptoms of rheumatism; that tired feeling has entirely left me. My neighbors say I look better than for many years. I do earnestly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all sufferers, especially those afflicted with impure blood." MRS. A. S. BOWEN, Cline, Arkansas.

"I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for six months. Before I began taking it I had that tired feeling when I got up in the morning, also a terrible headache and my blood was very impure. Since I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla all that tired feeling is gone, also the headache, and my blood is pure again." WILLIAM GARDNER, 10 Tower St., Fall River, Mass.

Makes the Weak Strong.

"I had a tired and drowsy feeling and my nerves were in a bad condition and appetite was poor, so I concluded I would take Hood's Sarsaparilla. After I had taken the second bottle I began to feel much better and I recommend Hood's to all." ELMER J. WOOLLEY, Jamesburg, New Jersey.

Purify Your Blood

"My brother and myself have had scrofula or salt rheum ever since we were born. We took Hood's Sarsaparilla and commenced to get better. When we had taken one bottle and a half each, we were cured. My mother used to be troubled with headache and pains, but took Hood's Pills and was cured." James Scanlon, 54 Roxford St., Norwich, New York.

Hood's and Only Hood's.

"I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for a tired, worn out feeling, and it has proved the best medicine that I have ever taken. I had a breaking out on my face which I thought was erysipelas. I commenced using Hood's Sarsaparilla and have not had any of that trouble since." MRS. H. B. KEADLE, Pickaway, West Virginia.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

FOR EMPLOYES' BENEFIT.

Atlanta, Ga., March 30.—The Atlanta Journal will appear this afternoon in a 48-page edition—the largest edition of a daily paper ever printed in Atlanta—which will constitute one of the most unique pieces of newspaper enterprise on record. It is an employes' benefit edition, the advertisements having been procured by the members of the paper's staff, to whom the proceeds will go.

TROUBLE IN PARAGUAY.

Paris, March 30.—The Figaro announces that the government of Paraguay has withdrawn the exequatar of the French consul on the ground that he incited colonists to leave the country without previously repaying the government advances made these colonists. The French government has retaliated by withdrawing the exequators of all the Paraguan consuls.

ALL BUSY.

Every Saw Mill in West Duluth Will Run This Year.

The Huntress & Brown Mill Has Been Completely Refitted.

Police Have Descriptions of the Manufacturers Bank Forgers.

There will not be an idle saw mill in West Duluth this season. The old Huntress & Brown mill has been refitted by the St. Louis Lumber company, its present owners, and prepared for a full cut. A. H. Petrie, a member of the firm, was up from Minneapolis yesterday and was well pleased with the prospects of the lumber business at the head of the lakes. He stated that his mill would start about April 20.

The machinery is being rapidly set up in the LeSure mill and the new plant will be in readiness for work in a week or two. Although not classed with the Mitchell & McClure or the Merrill & Ring mills in size, this mill is considered one of the most complete and best appointed industries of the kind at the head of the lake. Its running gear includes some very fine machinery, so it is stated by experts, and for a small mill it will easily digest its portion of logs. It is estimated that the cut of the six West Duluth mills will reach 150,000,000 feet of lumber the coming summer.

Have a Description.

The police have been given a pretty good description of the men who presented the forged check at the Manufacturers bank. It is learned that another one turned up at Duluth yesterday drawn by the same parties. The pair who are doing the crooked work are supposed to be father and son the former going by the name of Samuel W. Fisk and the latter by Stanley W. Fisk.

A BAD TEMPER and a bad liver—you'll always find joined together. Make a note of this, and see if it isn't true.

Now, why not give your naturally sunny disposition a chance? Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will do it for you. They correct your disordered liver, clear up your system, and make life look different to you. They do it in a pleasant way, too. They're the smallest, the easiest to take, and the most natural remedy.

Keep a vial of these tiny Pellets in your vest-pocket. They'll give you a permanent cure for Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Indigestion, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and every derangement of the liver, stomach and bowels.

The makers are so sure you'll be satisfied that they'll agree, if you're not, to return the money.

For twenty-five years these Pellets have sold on their merit. Why buy other pills, when P. P. P. are "guaranteed"?

WHEAT FIRM TODAY.

Trading Was Dull and Quiet But Prices Strong.

Wheat started dull but steady today, and later declined moderately, but became firm again and sold up to the top price of the day. The early steady feeling resulted from the continued dry weather. The weather maps showed a low temperature over Kansas, and the belief that relief from the drought would follow caused an easier feeling. Later news was more bullish and the market firmed up. The English markets were reported firmer, a decrease of 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 bus. in the visible supply was estimated, and the later advices showed only light showers and but few of those, and the early sellers began to buy back. The shipments from both coasts were reported at 1,280,000 bus. against 2,986,000 bus. for the same week last year. Trading in futures was of fair volume. Both May and July opened unchanged, declined ⅛c and then advanced, ruling quite firm. July sold up to the split 61⅞—2c, and May's highest point was 61½c. Business in cash stuff was light. The mills bought a little No. 1 hard at ½c over May. Twenty-five cars of No. 1 northern in store sold at 60⅞c. There was quite a movement in oats, several cars selling at 1c advance. Wheat closed ⅛c@⅜c higher than yesterday for cash and May and ⅛c higher for later futures. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard cash 61⅝c. March 61⅝c, May 62⅛c, July 63. No. 1 northern cash 61⅛c, March 61⅛c, May 61⅛c, July 62c, September 60¼c. No. 2 northern cash 57⅝c. No. 3 54⅝c. Rejected 51⅝c. To arrive—No. 1 hard 62c, No. 1 northern 61½c. Rye 49. No. 2 oats 31½c. No. 3 oats 31. Barley 44@46c.

Car inspection today—Wheat 113, oats 8. Receipts—Wheat 68,868 bus. Shipments—Oats 5000 bus, barley 10,616 bus.

Charged With Murder.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 30.—Dr. W. E. Davis, a well known physician of this city, and a white nurse were arrested today and lodged in jail, charged with the murder of Mrs. Lulu Burris, a beautiful young woman. A post mortem examination of her remains showed that she died from the effects of an abortion. Her supposed husband has fled.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

For all Facial Blemishes Use CUTICURA SOAP

Ashamed To Be Seen

Because of disfiguring facial blemishes is the condition of thousands upon thousands who live in ignorance of the fact that in Cuticura Soap is to be found the most effective skin purifier and beautifier in the world, as well as the purest and sweetest for toilet, bath, and nursery. It is so because it strikes at the root of all complexional disfigurations, viz.: the CLOGGED, IRRITATED, INFLAMED, SLUGGISH, or OVERWORKED PORE.

For pimples, blackheads, red and oily skin, red, rough hands with shapeless nails, dry, thin, and falling hair, and simple baby blemishes it is wonderful.

Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Iftired, aching, nervous mothers knew the comfort, strength, and vitality in Cuticura Anti-Pain Plasters, they would never be without them. In every way the purest, sweetest, and best plaster for women and children.

JUDGE BOYLE REPLIES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I see in your issue of March 29, under the heading, "A Little Diversion," my name is dragged into print in a conversation had with the court stenographer, Michael Roach.

The truth is this: Mr. Roach and I were seated about three days ago in the court room of the city hall. We were talking about his abandoning stenography and entering the legal profession. Our conversation drifted to the court stenographers employed to assist Mr. Roach. In the course of our talk I inquired of what denomination the lady was who had been reporting my cases. He replied that she was a Catholic, and very promptly asked me why I had inquired. I told him that the question had been asked me, and that that was probably why I had thought of it. He very excitedly remarked that he did not think that a person's religion should be made a qualification for office and demanded that I should tell him who made the inquiry. Perceiving that he was much wrought up over it and that a trivial matter might be given undue proportions, I replied that it did not matter and that I would not tell him.

I then stated that the young lady who had been reporting cases in my court I deemed an estimable and competent reporter; that I knew that there was no thought of discrimination by any of the court officers on account of religious belief, and that I should be glad to have her called whenever assistance was required. Such was the conversation.

Now, there is no person in Duluth or anywhere else who can truthfully say that I ever uttered a word that could be construed as advocating religious discrimination in filling offices and positions. On the other hand, I have often expressed myself as being opposed to it. As far as the young Catholic stenographer is concerned, I had expressed myself to the clerk of the court as being in favor of calling the young lady in question whenever possible. In fact the young lady herself, I dare say, cannot be induced to believe that I ever discriminated against her in any way.

I might add that no living person has ever suggested to me to discriminate against any Catholic, nor have I ever been consulted about any of the appointments. Mr. Roach might better have remained at his post instead of handing in his resignation to Judge Ensign just three days before the expiration of his term on such a preposterous pretext. John H. Boyle.

Duluth, March 30.

WANTS HEAVY DAMAGES.

Rev. A. H. Randahl Sues a Lutheran Church Paper.

Crookston, March 30.—H. Steenerson, of this city, has been retained by Rev. A. H. Randall, of Lake Park, in a suit brought by the latter against the official church paper of the Lutheran Augusta synod of America.

The suit is for $50,000 damages, the charge being the publication of a list of charges against Randahl, who has lately been deposed from the ministry, the principal being that he has been unduly intimate with a young lady in his congregation.

A banker or a baker, which is better off? The latter if he uses Dr. Price's baking powder.

A BAD WRECK.

Portsmouth, O., March 30.—Carelessness in burning brush at the five-mile trestle caused a destructive fire to the Norfolk & Western railway today. The foundation was consumed, and a freight train was wrecked. Eighteen cars were burned and the loss will be $30,000. No one was injured.

Senator Stevens, to amend law 1878, relating to witnesses in criminal cases, excluding fees for officers. Judiciary.

A recess was then taken until 2:30, when the introduction of bills was continued. During the morning Senator Spencer called up H. F. 532, Mr. McInnis' bill for taxation of vessel property, and it was amended at the request of Senator Masterman, of Stillwater, to apply only to vessels in international waters, and as so amended was passed under suspension of the rules.

OXFORD.

"The year 1869 was the Harvard year. They had a beautiful boat. They had a good reach and clear hard wrench through the waters but the crew had never been trained together. They went as fast as anything afloat for twelve minutes or so they then tired through lack of perfect falling together in the fair oar and they broke down. And Oxford had probably the finest four ever turned out."

What helps the ambitious housewife? Nothing so much as Dr. Price's baking powder.

A MINISTER ARRESTED.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—A capias was issued today for the arrest for libel of Rev. Donald D. MacLaurin of the Woodward Baptist church and acting president of the Detroit civic federation. The complainant is John B. Teagan, who was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for police justice.

DROPED DEAD.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—Mrs. Henry Ledyard, wife of President Ledyard of the Michigan Central, dropped dead this afternoon while walking on the street.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES.

Cloverport, Ky., March 30.—The most destructive forest fire ever seen here is now raging a few miles back of this place. One person is known to have perished and the property loss will run into the hundreds of thousands. The fire started in the southern part of Hancock county and the high wind carried it into Breckinridge county, sweeping everything in its path.

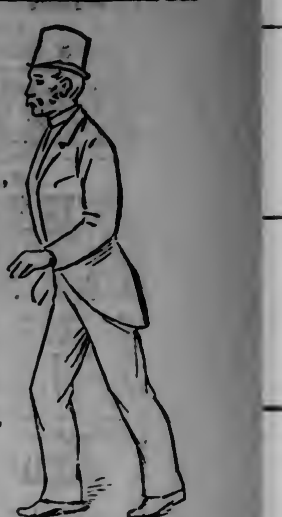
Where Is He Going?



Gentle reader, he is hurrying home. And it's house-cleaning time, too—think of that!

Fifteen years ago, he wouldn't have done it. Just at this time, he'd be "taking to the woods."

But now, things are different. His house is cleaned with Pearline. That makes house-cleaning easy.

Easy for those who do it—easy for those who have it done.

No hard work, no wear and tear, no turmoil and confusion, no time wasted, no tired women, no homeless men.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 331 JAMES PYLE, New York.

THOSE HORRID MEN.

Baltimore Gymnasium Girls Object to Their Presence.

Baltimore, Md., March 30.—The board of control of the Women's college has granted the petition of the girls that men be excluded from their gymnasium exhibitions. Girls who were opposed to the prohibition made evident their grievance by openly displaying crape. A China pug in the office of President Goucher was also covered with mourning.

The gymnasium suit has for its principal feature a wide pair of Turkish trousers reaching below the knee. Ever since the first exhibition was given, it seems that the proportion of men attracted grew larger and larger each time and the average age grew less and less.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., March 30.—The storm which was central yesterday morning over South Dakota has been forced southwest to Kansas by an increase in intensity of the high pressure area over the upper lakes. It was snowing at 7 a. m. today in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Manitoba. Port Arthur reports a snowfall of about two inches since yesterday morning. In the remaining districts the weather has continued fair, with much higher temperature than yesterday in the Ohio valley, Kentucky and Tennessee, and continued warm in the Lower Missouri valley. The thermometer at 7 a. m. today was between 60 and 70 in those districts, and the lowest temperature reported was 18 above zero in Northeast Michigan and the Canadian Northwest.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 36; maximum yesterday, 34; minimum yesterday, 30.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 7 p. m. tomorrow: Continued cool, cloudy weather, with but little, if any, rain or snow; northeast winds, continuing brisk today and tonight.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, March 30.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Minnesota: Fair and colder tonight; Sunday fair; north winds. For North and South Dakota: Local snows and decidedly colder tonight; Sunday fair and colder; north winds.

RAILWAY ENTERPRISES.

Several pages of the current issue of the Railway Age are filled with a detailed statement of railway enterprises under construction, under contract, surveyed and incorporated—the latter including only such projects as seem to have reasonable prospect of realization at some time. Old enterprises of former years which have shown no recent signs of life, and innumerable corporations of which no definite information was obtained, have been excluded, and yet the list shows 373 lines, representing a total of 20,547 miles, on which construction has either been commenced or appears to be proposed for the near future. The year 1894 reached the lowest notch in respect to railway construction for the last twenty years, the track laid falling a little under 2000 miles; but the upward movement now seems to have been begun, and an examination of the statement in the Railway Age leads to the conclusion that 1895 will show a considerably larger total.

It is impossible to say how much of this projected mileage will be built this year or in the next few years. Naturally construction will be increased or decreased in amount as the general financial condition is favorable or unfavorable. But of the 373 roads named the records show that 101, with a total proposed length of 2938 miles, were either wholly or partly graded or under contract at the commencement of the year, and it seems reasonable to suppose that, with the addition of other lines, something like this mileage of new track may be added during 1895, with a possibility of much more if good times are restored. It is interesting to find that new railways are demanded in every one of the forty-eight states and territories, with the exception of little Rhode Island and mountainous Idaho, while the number and length of projected lines in some of these sections is surprisingly large, as, for instance, in Texas, 2912 miles on 31 lines; California, 1390 miles, 14 lines; Arkansas, 1377 miles, 21 lines; Wisconsin, 963 miles, 11 lines; South Dakota, 833 miles, 7 lines; Florida, 775 miles, 17 lines; Pennsylvania, 768 miles, 29 lines; Georgia, 760 miles, 17 lines; West Virginia, 706 miles, 14 lines; Indian territory, 657 miles, 4 lines; Indiana, 565 miles, 8 lines; Colorado, 570 miles, 12 lines, and Minnesota, 522 miles, 7 lines.

Railway building has not ceased, although there are now almost 180,000 miles of steam railways in operation in the United States, because the vast area of the republic is constantly being settled and the demand for new roads is steadily maintained. When it is remembered that to give the United States as many miles of railway in proportion to area as Great Britain now has its mileage must reach 492,000 miles; that taking Illinois as the standard, it must aggregate 522,000 miles, and that to equal the average of Massachusetts our railway system must foot up 772,000 miles, it will be seen, says the Railway Age, that the railway promoter, the railway contractor and the railway supplyman have much business yet to anticipate.

ELECTRICAL POSSIBILITIES.

After describing and illustrating in his article on Nikola Tesla's work, in the April Century, the process and apparatus employed for manipulating the electrical charge of the earth itself, T. C. Martin makes this comment on the unique phenomenon presented: Considering that in the adjustments necessary a small length of wire or a small body of any kind added to the coil or brought into its vicinity may destroy entirely all effect, one can imagine the pleasure which the investigator feels when thus rewarded by unique phenomena. After searching with patient toil for two or three years after a result calculated in advance, Mr. Tesla is compensated by being able to witness a most magnificent display of fiery streams and lightning discharges breaking out from the tip of the wire with the roar of a gaswell.

Aside from their deep scientific import and their wondrous fascination as a spectacle, such effects point to many new realizations making for the higher welfare of the human race. The transmission of power and intelligence is but one thing; the modification of climatic conditions may be another. Perchance we shall "call up" Mars in this way some day, the electrical charge of both planets being utilized in signals.

THE CAPITOL FARCE.

The farcical offer of Minneapolis to give Loring Park to the state as the site for the new capitol has been withdrawn, and Minneapolis has retired from the legislative lobbies in a sadly demoralized condition. It was found that the city of Minneapolis has no power to deed Loring Park; that the state could not constitutionally grant authority to the city to so deed it, and it was further shown that there is a mortgage of $750,000 upon the park, for which the property would be liable, even if it were acquired by the state. The judiciary committee of the house voted unanimously to reject the offer, and Minneapolis hastily withdrew it.

What a farce the whole business has been! The legislature itself contributed to it in some degree by giving the offer consideration. It should not have been given a moment's consideration, because the people of Minneapolis would never consent to the removal of the capitol to Minneapolis. St. Paul donated the present site of the capitol and is entitled to remain forever the seat because the people of Minnesota has the state university and should be content. When it reached out and tried to also grab the capitol it displayed a contemptible spirit of hoggishness. A new capitol is needed at St. Paul. The present structure is utterly inadequate for the state's business. The site which has been purchased for the new building could hardly be improved upon. The price paid was reasonable, and there is no good reason why the erection of the new capitol should not be begun at an early date.

ARMISTICE DECLARED.

A dispatch to The Herald yesterday afternoon announced that the emperor of Japan has declared an unconditional armistice, pending the completion of the peace negotiations, and the war between China and Japan may be assumed to be at an end. Japan was not disposed to declare an armistice until more territory had been occupied by her troops, but the dastardly attempt to shoot Li Hung Chang and the dangerous condition of the Chinese viceroy, owing to the bullet wound in his face, caused a change in the plans of the mikado.

It may be assumed, however, that an armistice would not have been declared, unless the peace negotiations were well advanced. The Chinese commissioners have evidently convinced the Japanese government that they mean business and are ready to agree to any reasonable terms of peace. There is a belief now that Japan will accept payment of the cash indemnity from China in silver. This will be a good thing for China, which has a heavy stock of silver and not much gold, and it will remove the apprehension that there would be another drain of gold from this country caused by the necessity of China securing enough of the precious metal to meet Japan's demands. The probability that Japan will accept silver will therefore prove welcome news all over the world.

There is no indication in today's dispatches as to the territory which Japan will claim as part of her war indemnity, but it is pretty generally agreed that the mikado and his advisers will demand the Island of Formosa. This island lies about 100 miles off the Chinese coast, between the 20th and 21st degrees of latitude, almost within hailing distance of the cities of Canton, Amoy and Tuchan, and will be surrendered by China with more reluctance than any amount of money she is obliged to pay over. The island is about 400 miles long and fifty wide, inhabited by a mixture of races, some of them not yet emerged from their primal barbarism, and if Japan gets it her first duty will be to give it a civilized administration and bring its wrangling tribes into subjection, which the Chinese have never been able to do. It is in the main a mountainous and rugged territory, not very fertile, nor otherwise valuable, but it is of great strategic importance, lying between the China and Eastern seas, and will give naval advantage to the country that possesses it.

Whether the foreign powers will try to interfere with Japan's program of securing Formosa remains to be seen. In discussing this phase of the question, the New York Sun expresses the opinion that her extension to new islands would be in the line of normal development. She is the island kingdom of the Orient. She possesses already a great chain of islands, extending from the peninsula of Kamtchatka to the Tropic of Cancer, stretching nearly thirty degrees in latitude and more than thirty in longtitude. Taking together the Kuriles at the north, the main Nippon possessions in the center, and the Liu Kiu Loochoo islands at the south, a chain is formed reaching nearly to Formosa. The main point to note is that such an annexation would be in the normal line of Japanese extension, and could be insisted upon as a fair war indemnity without any of those objections that China might raise against the dismemberment of her mainland empire or the lopping off of any part of it. China could surrender Formosa or Taiwan, as she calls it, with comparatively little regret, for the Japanese conquest of it would not be visible to many of her people, and the character of the natives has caused some cost and trouble in holding it.

The United States Investor asserts that the great difficulty in raising the value of silver by international concert is the fact that several of the leading powers in Europe are on a paper basis, and their concurrence in a bimetallic arrangement would be valueless. "Russia and Austria," adds the Investor, "are accumulating gold with the object of preparing for war emergencies or resuming specie payments, and it is to be feared that the flow of gold into their treasuries would increase at the expense of the countries which resolved to restore the old parity between gold and silver by an act of legislation.

The plan which the Tillmanites and their Democratic opponents in South Carolina are contemplating to deprive colored men of the ballot includes a partial enfranchisement of women. It is proposed to introduce the color test, and confer the ballot upon women paying a certain property tax, which will be fixed high enough to deprive negroes of the suffrage. In this way it is hoped to increase the number of white voters to an extent that will abundantly insure white supremacy in the state under any circumstances. The South Carolina politicians may find, however, that the enfranchised women will soon vote to abolish the color test.

A sensible plan is now being proposed in France by which a passenger on a railroad train is provided with a seat coupon in the form of the cards we see on "reserved" seats in the theater. The card will show the destination of the passenger, and using a station on the St. Paul & Duluth road by way of illustration, would read like this: "Taken as far as Pine City." The passenger places this card on his seat, when he has occasion to go into the smoking car or leave his place for any purpose, and his place is reserved. What do the railroad men think of a scheme like this?

The bill introduced by Mr. Cant and passed by the house under suspension of the rules in regard to the amount allowed county auditors and county treasurers for clerk hire, provides specifically for $11,000 for clerk hire in the auditor's office this year and $12,000 hereafter. No other changes are made in the existing laws. No increase is made for the treasurer's office.

Senator Proctor's prediction that one of the first acts of the Republican congress will be to restore reciprocal trade relations with other countries is probably correct. It was a supreme act of folly on the part of the Democrats to knock out the policy of reciprocity. It is the only policy under which a nation can get something in return for what it gives in the matter of trade.

The New York Evening Post praises, in no uncertain manner, Governor Morton's special message to the legislature calling its attention to the necessity of action in the direction of reform and improvement in New York city. It says that the governor restored the office of the executive to its rightful power when he came into it.

The Crookston Tribune says it has been a great many years since there has been such a demand for unoccupied government and railroad lands in the Red River valley. The greatest rush seems to be to the new county of Roseau, and a large number of farmers from the East, as well as from parts of Canada, are going into that county.

A Boston man makes this guess as to the authorship of the anonymous "Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc," beginning in the April Harper's: "I should say it is by Mark Twain. I recognize his style. And isn't he the most popular magazine writer?"

It is said that the corporation of Trinity church, New York city, will go out of the business of letting tenements to men and women, and will, in its building operations hereafter, confine itself strictly to business structures.

The Boston Herald says it has become more and more difficult to find men of eminent qualifications who are willing to be secretary of state. What is the Boston paper insinuating?

SOCIETY.

Coming Weddings Are Now the Topic of Society's Conversation.

Assembly Party Will Be Given April 19 at Masonic Hall.

Miss Clara Bull's Unique Party---George MacKenzie's Marriage.

Coming weddings are all the talk in society circles at present and more of them are hinted at than dare be published in the society columns. It is not unlikely that there will be several of considerable social importance during the summer months. June is the month of weddings and will probably see several events this year. Miss Upham and Mr. Fagg, it is said, have chosen July for their wedding month.

The assembly party will be given on April 19, the Friday following Easter. The selection of this date has not been formally made but all the young men favor that date. The party will be given at the Masonic Temple hall and will not be a german.

The Winter club has not decided on any party as yet. William Barton Chapin of the entertainment company is out of the city.

Miss Clara Bull entertained a few friends on Thursday evening at her home in Piedmont terrace. The form of entertainment was something of a novelty and was unanimously agreed to be highly satisfactory. It might be called "Hearts." In the beginning each young man drew for a lady partner. He then was to make love to her for ten minutes. At the end of them each young man progressed—that is he took another young lady for ten minutes and so on. When each young lady had passed ten minutes with each young man all came together and the young ladies took a ballot to determine which of the young men was the best lovemaker. There was no room for doubt for when the result was announced it was found that the choice was unanimous and Paul Phillips was the most ardent young man. No end of fun followed the decision. Dancing filled out the remainder of the evening.

Among those present were: Misses Ingalls, Lillian Ingalls, Bradley, Bailey, Jones, Simonds, Dodge and Bull and Messrs. Jacobi, Geggie, D. R. McLennan, W. McLennan, C. McCormick, Paul Phillips, Leach and Robson.

This afternoon George F. MacKenzie left for Thorond, Ont., where he will be married on Monday, April 15, to Miss Emily Greenfield, daughter of Rev. James Greenfield. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Greenfield and Miss Greenfield went to Scotland from Canada in January. In February Mrs. Greenfield died. Miss Greenfield being in mourning the ceremony will be very private. After the wedding the bridal couple will visit in several cities in Canada. They will arrive in Duluth about May 1 and will reside with Mr. and Mrs. John MacLeod until a residence which Mr. MacKenzie is building at Glen Avon is completed. Mr. MacKenzie is employed in the American Exchange bank and no young man in Duluth has a wider circle of friends.

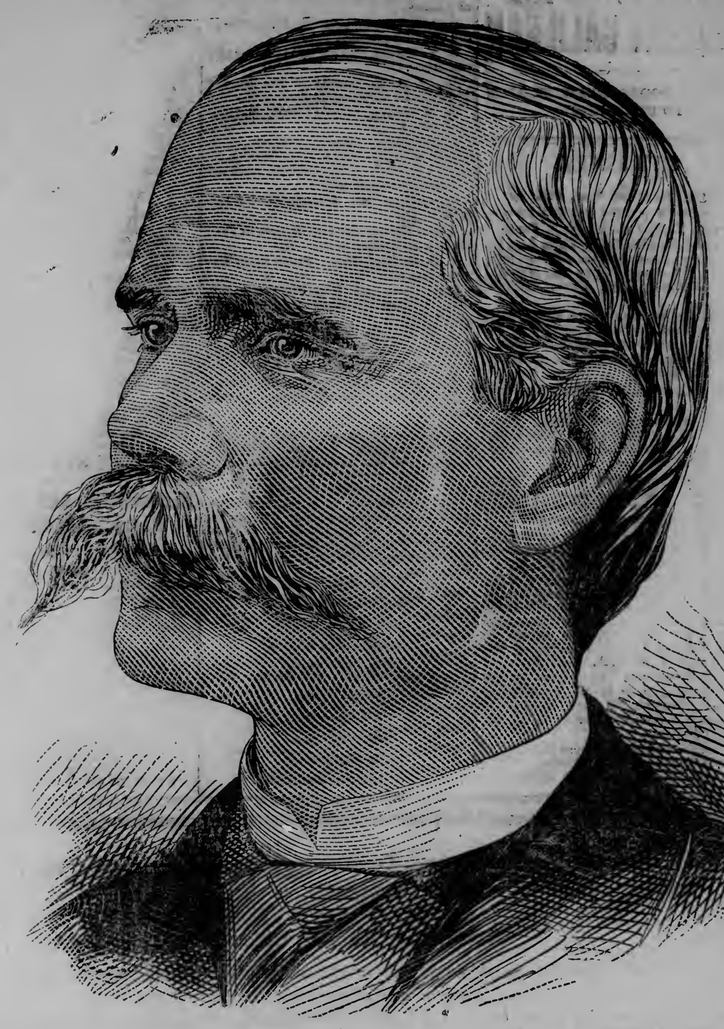
JOHN NEWTON WILLIAMS.

Eminent Inventor of the Williams Typewriter Owes Strength and Health to Paine's Celery Compound.



The writer was in search of news.

The White Mountain region is not prolific of news at this season of the year, but the little town of Bethlehem, N. H., afforded an emphatic proof of the old saying that "fact is stranger than fiction."

Here, under the shadow of Mt. Washington, dwell Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Varney, two of the best known and most highly respected residents of Bethlehem. Their interesting story, together with the really remarkable facts, the truth of which they vouch for in every particular, and which is endorsed by the well-known wife of Bethlehem's popular minister, Rev. L. A. Webster, is well worthy the attention and consideration of the reading world.

"Three years ago," says Mrs. Varley, "I had a shock which afflicted me badly in my head and one side of my face, especeally my right eye. I was confined to my bed for a while, and suffered great pain in my head, which troubled me for several weeks.

"I had very severe headaches for some time, and employed doctors who used a battery on me, giving me only temporary relief. This continued for about two months. About five months later I heard of wonderful cure by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, from a friend of mine, and I resolved to try it.

"I commenced the use of the Nervura, and the effects were immediate and very pleasing. I have now used five bottles and I am able to do hard work most every day—yes, and walk a long distance; and always get to prayer-meeting about the first one, and before many who live much nearer.

"I attribute my cure to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I cheerfully and gladly recommend it to all, and would be glad to answer inquiries. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine.

"My husband has been cured of a severe case of kidney complaint by this splendid medicine. His kidneys troubled him terribly for a long time, but after taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy a short time, he was entirely well. He says it is all that has kept him from grippe this winter, which he has had for several years before."

Mrs. L. A. Webster, wife of Rev. L. A. Webster, of Bethlehem, says:

"I am acquainted with Mrs. Varney, and know her story is true."

It is such cases as these which have stamped Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy as the most successful, most wonderful medicine of modern times; the remedy, indeed, which is effecting more cures all over the country than any and all others combined. It is the great conqueror of disease, and nothing can resist its marvelous curative powers. The newspapers are constantly filled with the testimony of prominent people whom it has cured. But for every such person cured, thousands upon thousands of less prominent people in all classes and walks of life are being restored to health and strength by its potent action.

Particularly is it doing a grand work now, for everybody needs and uses it in the spring, as it has demonstrated prescription of the most successful itself again and again to be the most

It is not a patent medicine, but the certain and effective spring medicine. ing specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that this medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

RUSSELL H. CONWELL.

Lecture on "Acres of Diamonds" on April 8.

Russel H. Conwell will lecture at the First Methodist church on Monday evening, April 8, on "Acres of Diamonds," a lecture which he has delivered nearly 2000 times.

Mr. Conwell has had a varied career. At 20 years of age he entered the Union army and was captain of a company of infantry. Later he served in the artillery branch of the service and as a staff officer.

At the close of the war he graduated in the law department of the Albany university and went to Minnesota, where he began the practice of law. In 1867 he represented the state of Minnesota as its emigration agent to Germany, and became the foreign correspondent of his own newspaper. In 1868 he was engaged as the correspondent of the New York Tribune, and in the year following as the traveling correspondent of the Boston Traveller. In 1870 he was sent to the different countries in Asia by the New York Tribune and Boston Traveller, and made the entire circuit of the globe, filling at that time many important lecture engagements in India and England. He afterwards visited England exclusively on a lecture tour through the important cities of that country. In 1870 he published his first book, "Why and How the Chinese Emigrate." It has been followed by many others of a historical and biographical character. He was a friend and traveling companion of Bayard Taylor, and his biography of that poet and traveler had a very extended sale. His biography of Spurgeon reached a sale of 125,000 copies in four months.

For eight years he practiced law in Boston, and gained great popularity as a lecturer and writer. In 1879 he was ordained to the ministry. In 1881 he accepted a call from Grace Baptist church in Philadelphia, and removed to that city. The church of which he assumed charge at once entered upon a career of extraordinary prosperity, and has become the largest Baptist church in America. They built in 1891 a temple on Broad street, Philadelphia, which will seat comfortably over 4000 people and has a capacity of 5000. Mr. Conwell's preaching draws such crowds of listeners that, for the past six years, admission has been obtained by tickets, and thousands are often turned away.

Although he is not an old man, Mr. Conwell has been in the lecture field more than thirty years, during which period he has delivered here and abroad over 3000 lectures. He is today one of America's most popular platform speakers, and almost the last of the stars who made the platform brilliant in the days of Gough, Beecher and Chapin. He is in constant demand in all parts of the country, and cannot respond to one-half the calls he receives. His large income from his lectures has been wholly devoted to the benevolent work of educating the poor.

A KNOTTY PPOBLEM.

Judge Moer is Wrestling With One Today.

In special term this morning all three divisions of the district court were in session and the short calendar was cleared up at noon with the exception of one knotty case which fell to Judge Moer and which was expected to take up some time. This was the case of Samuel Wells against the Marinette Iron company to recover a small amount on a lien claim for labor. The case in itself is of little importance, but it involves some pretty legal questions, and may alternately affect the whole property of the Marinette company, amounting to about $500,000.

The Marinette Iron company is incorporated under the laws of Wisconsin, but its plant and most of its property is within the bounds of the state of Minnesota. Some time ago, about a year, the company was forced through the hard times to go into liquidation with a view to reorganization with a sufficient capitalization to float the old indebtedness and to resume business on a more solid standing. The dissolution took place under the laws of Wisconsin, and since then the business of the company has continued under an administrator appointed by the Wisconsin courts.

Wells, the plaintiff in the action, was an employe of the company, which owes him several hundreds of dollars wages. The suit is brought to recover that amount, and the claim is made that the company is not in insolvency according to the Minnesota laws. If it were he could not enforce his claim except in the usual manner through the receiver or assignee. His attorneys claim that a liquidation under the laws of Wisconsin does not constitute an insolvency under the laws of Minnesota, and whether it does or not is the question the district court must decide. The question is an important one, as if the court decides that the company is not in insolvency, all other creditors may seek to recover by action in the district court.

The case was still on trial at noon and was expected to last some time.

Get the best, it costs no more. Send your laundry work to the Troy.

MRS. SCOTT--SIDDONS.

Elocutionary Entertainment at the Lyceum.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons will give an entertainment on Wednesday, April 10, at the Lyceum, for the benefit of the Christian Endeavor societies. The Boston Herald has said of her:

"Tremont Temple was packed with people last night. Mrs. Scott-Siddons was the bright particular star of the evening's entertainment, and right royally did she demonstrate that she merited an honorable distinction by the excellent performance of her several selections. Mrs. Siddons is one of the most beautiful women I ever saw on the stage, and that beauty is not one whit diminished when she is away from the footlights. Her features are of that pure, cameo-like quality so seldom seen, and her skin has that delicate, opaque peculiarity, also as rare. Mrs. Siddons is one of the few women of modern stature who impress me as being regally tall. That is, because she carries herself so well. She is as fascinating in conversation and manner as she is lovely in appearance. Her voice is delightfully modulated, with a fine English accent that falls pleasantly upon the ear."

Mrs. Scott-Siddons will be assisted by Mrs. Clara Murray, harpiste. The Chicago Saturday Evening Herald says of her:

"Mrs. Clara Murray, the popular harp soloist, then delighted the audience with her graceful and artistic rendering of a serenade, by Alvars. Mrs. Murray is an exceptionally clever artist, and deserves all the praise bestowed upon her efforts. Her modest and graceful stage deportment, ease and beauty of manipulation were particularly pleasing."

"Music hath charms"—and so has the delicious food made with Dr. Price's baking powder.

SOME STATISTICS.

Nationalities and Religion of Country Aid Applicants.

Capt. Miller has prepared an interesting table showing the nationalities of the applicants for county aid during the last six months of 1894. During that time there were 2688 applicants, and the nationalities are as follows: Swedes, 491; Canadians, 396; Americans, 354; Norwegians, 319; Polanders, 223; Germans, 204; Finns, 202; Irish, 109; Italians, 95; Russians, 80; English, 43; Danes, 34; Icelanders, 26; Austrians, 21; Prussians, 14; Bohemians, 14; French, 12; Swiss, 9; Hollanders, 3.

There were nineteen nationalities in all. The list bears out the proverbial story of Scottish thrift, for there is not a Scotchman on the list except those of Scottish descent included in the lists of Americans and Canadians, and it is reasonable to suppose that their number is small there.

Of these applicants for county aid 1019 were Catholics and 1662 were Protestants. The latter were divided as follows: 391 Lutherans; 146 Methodists; 98 Presbyterians; 73 Jews; 63 Baptists; 54 Episcopalians; 23 Congregationalists; 4 Christians; 4 Adventists, and 253 were just Protestants, with no connection with any particular belief.

The First Applicant.

Capt. J. W. Miller, secretary of the Associated Charities, yesterday placed the first man on the soil to scratch for his livelihood. He was brought in by Rev. Father Kosmerl, and seemed willing and anxious to try the Pingree plan for all there is in it. He was given five lots on Eleventh street near Lake avenue, the use of which was donated by J. H. Darling. Others will probably follow his example. He will be assisted by the promoters of the plan in the work of tilling the soil which has been loaned to him.

Glass no more resembles the real diamond than the cheapest baking powders resemble Dr. Price's. It is the jewel of leavening agents.

ZENITH CITY CADETS.

Last night in the Hayes' block the Zenith City cadets, the Bethel military organization, and the Columbian guards, of Superior, gave a pleasing entertainment. The program opened with a song by the two companies. An interesting feature was a fencing bout of the Columbian guards, Studley and Darling of the Zenith City cadets gave a bayonet contest won by the former. Songs, recitations and drills filled out the program. Light refreshments closed a pleasant evening.

CHANGED THE CHARGE.

This morning Joseph Thomas and Harry Campbell were arraigned before Judge Edson in the municipal court charged with malicious destruction of property. These are the two men arrested at West Duluth for kicking in the door of Mrs. Langdon's house. The charge was dismissed and the men immediately rearrested for vagrancy. They pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial which they probably will not get as the city ordinances do not grant them that right. Their trial was set for a later date.

Perry L. Paine charged by J. Wilkey with grand larceny in the second degree will have a hearing on April 9, 1895, a stipulation continuing the case having been filed this morning.

Alex Welch, guilty of drunkenness, was allowed to go upon promising to walk the path of righteousness and temperance hereafter.

DOES NOT LIKE IT.

Judge Edson was considerably displeased over the sudden resignation of Stenographer Roach. He said that Mr. Roach acted hastily and should have come to him before taking the step. He never told Special Judge Boyle to ask Mr. Roach as to the religious views of the special stenographer, and says if Judge Boyle did, it was a very unwise and ill-advised act. Judge Edson says he has no religious prejudices, has never belonged to a religious society that made discriminations against any sect, and does not believe in them in any way.

Bates-Park Company Accuses W. G. Park of Breaking Contract.

Wants Him Restrained From Engaging in Commission Business.

He Sold the Business Agreeing Not to Continue In It.

The Bates-Park company has asked the district court for an injunction restraining W. G. Park from doing a brokerage and commission business in Duluth. The complaint alleges that the plaintiff, March 1, 1894, purchased from Park his stock and good will, Park agreeing not to continue in business. It is alleged that he has lately opened an office in the building occupied by the Bates-Park company and is threatening to compete with them. The company alleges that this is a breach of his contract, and asks the court to restrain him from doing any further business in this city.

Accompanying the complaint is a notice of a motion for a temporary restraining order. Judge Lewis has signed an order for Park to show cause April 6 why this should not be granted, and in the meantime he is prohibited doing a brokerage and commission business.

The county authorities have begun legal proceedings against W. B. Patton to force him to produce the county records which it is asserted he withheld on his vacation of the office of county surveyor. An alternative writ of mandamus was issued, and in answer Patton says that he has no records belonging to the county. He lately discovered a few which he had overlooked, and these he has returned. The matter will be argued April 6.

Joseph Roy alleges that some time ago he was forcibly ejected from a Woodland car and arrested and confined for disorderly conduct, though he was afterwards acquitted on the municipal court trial. He wants the Duluth Street Railway company to pay him $5000 for these wrongs.

Judge Lewis has signed an order discharging W. H. Blades as assignee of the Northwestern Plumbing and Heating company. Judge Lewis has found for the plaintiff in the mortgage foreclosure suit of Mary Orr against Walter Van Brunt et al., and judgment was rendered by default for $26,403.58.

In the matter of M. A. McKee against L. P. Swanstrom et al. a motion has been filed to strike out the defendant's answer as frivolous. In the matter of the application of the city comptroller for judgment for assessments, Judge Ensign has overruled the objections of the East Duluth company, which raised the question of jurisdiction.

ELKS' ANNUAL ELECTION.

The annual election of the Duluth lodge, No. 133, B. P. O. E., was held last evening with the following result: Exalted ruler, W. W. Walker; esteemed leading knight, K. G. Crocker; esteemed loyal knight, H. S. Moody; esteemed lecturing knight, F. E. Culver; secretary, J. L. Fuller; treasurer, D. T. Adams; tyler, Will N. Smith; trustee, F. A. Patrick; delegate to grand lodge, J. W. Reynolds; alternate, John Panton. After the election there was an informal social session.

COMING TO DULUTH.

Evangelist H. Cordner, of Marinette, Wis., will commence a series of religious meetings at the Bethel on April 4. Meetings will be held every afternoon at 3 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m. The Nashua, Iowa, Post says: "Such a talk as that given by Rev. Cordner is not remembered only while it is passing, but its virtuous tenets are as lasting as man's life. In our opinion Mr. Cordner will soon rival Mr. Moody."

WILL MOVE WEDNESDAY.

The board of trade will not be moved until next Wednesday. The exchange room is not quite finished and cannot be occupied on Monday as was expected. The last session in the present quarters will probably be held on Tuesday morning. A number of the offices have already been moved into the new building. The Imperial Mill company moved on Thursday and has one of the finest offices in the building.

Taylor in Chili.

Minneapolis, March 30.—A special to the Journal from Pierre, S. D., says: Ex-State Treasurer Taylor, of South Dakota has been located at Valparaiso, Chili, where he expects to be safe from extradition. He left Havana five weeks ahead of the Pinkerton detectives.

AN ALABAMA SENSATION.

Probate Judge Randolph Fled Leaving a Big Shortage.

Montgomery, Ala., March 30.—A profound sensation has been caused here by the continued absence of Col. Frank B. Randolph, probate judge of Montgomery county. He is believed to have fled to Central America, having last been seen at New Orleans by a gentleman of this city whom he requested to keep the facts of his whereabouts a secret.

The state examiner of public accounts is now investigating his accounts, and it is officially stated he has discovered a shortage of from $20,000 to $30,000.

THE PHILLIPS MURDER.

Three Men Arrested For a Tragedy in Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., March 30.—A special to the Bee from Tekamah, Neb., says: Three men were arrested last night and this morning, charged with the murder of Robert Phillips. Phillips was killed on the night of Feb. 8, in an attempt to jump a claim he had made on lands along the Missouri river bottoms.

The place where the shooting occurred was claimed by the county authorities to be in Iowa and they refused to prosecute as did also the Iowa officers. The present arrests have been made on complaint of Attorney General Churchill, of Nebraska, the county attorney still refusing to prosecute.

PEORIA'S MAYORALTY.

Peoria, Ill., March 30.—Over 100 persons, dissatisfied with the nomination of William Allen for mayor last night, met today at the Y. M. C. A. building and nominated James T. Rogers for that office. They represent the ministerial and Allen the liberal element. The Democrats will nominate a candidate tonight.

FOOTBALL RULES.

Chicago, March 30.—Several important changes in playing rules were discussed at the meeting of college football players at Evanston today. The committee on rules reported in favor of assigning to each team two umpires and one referee. One substitute from each team was suggested as a linesman in every game. This afternoon a delegate will be appointed to report the results of the conference to a meeting of players at New York.

RISE IN SILVER.

New York, March 30.—The rise in silver today is due to the granting of an armistice and the renewed hope of a declaration of peace by China and Japan on terms which will compel China to pay a heavy indemnity, this requiring her to come into the market as a buyer of silver. It is expected also that with the close of the war a revival of trade in the East will take place, which will make an increased demand for silver.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

New York, March 30.—Fred Metzler, of Milwaukee, is under arrest here upon request of Chief of Police Jansen, of the city named. It is alleged that he embezzled from a cigar manufacturer for whom he was bookkeeper. He will be held until the arrival of officers from Milwaukee.

DULUTH EVENING HERALD.

SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1895.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

SPORTING

Winter Sports Have Now Become a Thing of the Past.

Field Days of the Schools Are the Next Thing in Order.

Duluth High School Representatives Were at Minneapolis This Week.

The formal funeral services over winter sports may be held almost any time now, for unless the season takes an unexpectedly eccentric turn,swings around on another tack and brings in a round of howling blizzards and 30 degrees below zero, they are finished for this year. There has not been a bit of skating in weeks, and all the rinks are bathed in melted ice. There is still a little ice on the lake, but one who ventures out on skates or on an ice yacht does so with his life in his hands.

There will be no more polo, and no more curling, and it is superfluous to state that snow shoes and skis have been laid aside until winter comes again. But summer sports are following closely on the heels of the expiring round of winter games, and but little time will be lost.

* * *

The first things looming up on the horizon are the various field days. The first is that of the Y. M. C. A., to be held May 4. Everything points to a highly successful day. The track at Woodland is in excellent condition, and there is no lack of entries for the various events.

The boys who are entered and who expect to enter are putting in all their spare time at the gymnasium in getting themselves in trim for the coming field day, and from the progress many of them are making it safe to say that several records will be made. The members of the Duluth Boat club and of the High School Athletic association are taking an interest in the event as well as the Y. M. C. A. boys, and many of them will enter.

* * *

Following the Y. M. C. A. field day, at a date not yet set, the High School Athletic association will hold a field day which also promises much. The events will be the same as those decided upon for the interscholistic field day at Minneapolis, May 24, and the winners will go to Minneapolis to compete. A greater amount of attention is being paid to the foot races than to anything else. The high school has several young men who are able to cover ground very rapidly, and unless Minneapolis springs something entirely unexpected the Duluth representatives will bring back a good share of the prizes hung on the foot events.

* * *

The next thing after the high school field day is the Minneapolis day, Saturday, May 24. Meining and Draper went down last Friday, and were present at the meeting of delegates in St. Paul. The arrangements made there were highly satisfactory to the Duluth boys, all their suggestions having been favorably received. The program of events is in entire accord with that outlined by the Duluth High School Association, and the per centage of the gate receipts which goes to the Duluth boys is entirely satisfactory.

* * *

William F. Hatley, of the St. Louis billiard parlors, is in receipt of a letter from Dr. H. S. Samson, the St. Paul billiardist, stating that he expects to come to Duluth in a week or two. Some exhibition games will probably be arranged during his stay.

* * *

The Lacrosse club met in Dr. King's office Wednesday evening and reorganized for the season with the following officers: President, Dr. King; vice president, W. J. Darby; secretary, P. Sibbald; treasurer, Frank Crassweller; captain, R. J. Baskerville; manager, M. C. Beaton.

Dr. King appointed as the board of directors the secretary, manager, W. M. Jamison and F. C. Carr. The president is an ex-officio member. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday, when the directors will present a constitution for adoption.

* * *

An amateur boxing tournament is in preparation to take place about April 26, either in the Lyceum or the Temple, probably in the latter. There will be a large number of entries and the events will include matches in all of the four ordinary classes, heavy, middle, light and feather weights. There will be six to a dozen entries in each class, and the preliminaries will be pulled off in private. The two winners in each class will box for the gold medals which will be hung for each event.

There are a number of promising boxers among the amateurs of the city, and the entertainment will doubtless be very interesting.

* * *

What was probably the last curling match at Glen Avon this season came off Monday evening between rinks skipped by R. J. MacLeod and Charles McMillan for the buttons held by the latter rink. The game was warmly and closely played and in the end MacLeod's rink had the buttons, having won by a score of 12 to 10. In case there is no more ice MacLeod's rink will wear the buttons on their summer clothes.

* * *

Walter Ayers, Harry Hurdon and L. D. Campbell were appointed on a committee to consider plans for reorganization and incorporation of the Duluth Athletic association at a meeting held last Saturday. As soon as their report is ready President Towne will call a meeting of the club to hear it.

* * *

An Irish Lacrosse club is being organized by Frank Horgan and others.

The plans for the "south shore pilgrimage," as the Y. M. C. A. jaunt to Ashland is to be called, are assuming definite shape. The Ramblers' club expects to start from Duluth about June 26, after the high school closes and return in time for the Fourth. On the way down the line of march passes some excellent fishing grounds, notably Pike lake, between Iron river and Mason, and Fish creek. The latter is filled with any number of the noblest and gamiest of the piscatorial tribe,and on account of its inaccessibility it has been fished but little.

On the way down a day or two will be spent in sport among these wild surroundings. At Ashland games of baseball and football and a program of athletic events willl be arranged, and the Duluth boys will show the Ashland athletes what tramps can do. The club will charter a boat from Ashland and go to Washburn and Bayfield, where games of baseball will be played. The jaunt promises any amount of good, healthy romantic sport, and the boys are enthusiastic over their plans.

the annual meeting of the Duluth Boat club will be held next Tuesday evening in the Spalding and officers will be elected.

* * *

The pedestrians on East Michigan street Thursday afternoon were somewhat astounded to see a man start off on a dead run leaving a trail of torn paper behind him. A little later they were still further amazed at seeing about a dozen lusty young fellows in various stages of dishabille follow in a bunch the track of paper left by the first man. It was the first practice run of the Harrier's club, which started from the rear of the Y. M. C. A. building about 4:30 o'clock.

On account of the wind the run was cut to two miles, but it was a good one for that distance and the participants are satisfied with the performance. George Wheatley, the captain of the club, acted as hare. Walter Lafans came in first in thirteen minutes, scoring five points. Hamilton Peyton followed half a minute later, scoring three and Robert Shannon was third with a time of fourteen minutes, scoring one point. The next run will be held next Saturday, and a large number of "hounds" are expected to take part.

There will be a unique entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium next Wednesday night. It will take the form of a masquerade, and a number of young men in costumes fantastic will disport themselves on the gymnasium floor in a ludicrous and interesting manner. The Y. M. C. A. band will furnish music, and a vocal program has also been prepared.

* * *

The Y. M. C. A. Baseball club is preparing a social to be given a week from Wednesday. The club has signed seventeen players, and is at present jubilating over the fact that Kreiwitz is included among that number. Kreiwitz is a cool and clever player, and is a valuable addition to the club.

* * *

Pat McHugh, of Fond du Lac, is a wrestler, and he is so confident of his skill that he agrees to throw any man in Superior or Duluth, three times in an hour at catch weights for a stake of $100 to $250.

* * *

The Duluth whist players defeated the Superior men Thursday night by large majorities of points. On team play Superior stood 22 points to Duluth's 26, and on the single games the score was 51 to 43, also in favor of Duluth. The Superior players will attempt to get revenge by a return series in a week or two.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

"Some time ago," says P. Jewett, an expert bee keeper, "I came across a few articles having reference to bee stings as a cure for rheumatism. The subject had passed from my mind until recently, when a friend of mine, who has suffered from this annoying complaint, was stating his case to me, and I at once remembered what I had read, and told him about it. His curiosity being aroused, he asked to see the articles, and after careful perusal of the same he came to my apiary to try the effect of the remedy.

"My friend is an ex-police sergeant, who has suffered acutely for years from rheumatism and passed through the hands of several medical men, and spent seasons at various convalescent homes, undergoing various kinds of treatment, but all to no purpose. However, not long ago he came to see me, suffering from severe pain in his right elbow and right ankle. With the help of my bees I gave him eight stings, three upon the elbow and five upon the ankle. When he came he could not lift his arm, and it was with very great difficulty that he managed to walk, a distance of two miles, to my place; but twenty minutes after being stung he could work his right arm about as freely as if he had never had any rheumatism in his life.

"On the following night he came down to have another application, and told me he had not had so good a night's rest for six months, as after the bee stings his pain was gone, and his ankle was three inches less in circumference than it had been for two years previously. I gave him sixteen more stings, six on each ankle and four on the elbow, with the result that he was quite free from pain until a day or two ago, when he felt a slight return of his old enemy, and came for a third dose.

"I gave him another twelve stings later on, and he treated me to a short hornpipe, to show me the good he had received from his 'little friends,' as he called them. He is quite anxious for the case to be published, in order to ascertain if any case of permanent cure had been effected by bees."

PLATE GLASS COMBINE.

All Factories to Be Closed For a Month.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 29.--All the plate glass factories in the country, with very few exceptions will close down tomorrow night and will not resume until May 1. In the meantime arrangements will be made to operate the factories under the management of the recently formed combination which is to be known as the Pittsburg Plate Glass company.

All the plate glass business of the country will then be transacted in the main office here, from which it will be apportioned to the different factories, all money being received and paid out at the same office. Two or three of the smaller plants will not be operated but be kept closed in the interest of economy.

The concerns now in the combination are the Standard at Butler, Pa., the Pensylvania,at Irwin Station, Pa., and the De Pauy company with three factories in Indiana but now in the hands of a receiver and out of operation for over a year.

LITERARY

Ernst Von Halle Has Written a Valuable Work on Trusts.

The Century, Scribner's, Harper's and Other Magazines for April.

"Taxation of Personal Property" is the latest work of Thomas G. Shearman which has just been published by the Sterling Publishing company, New York. The high reputation and recognized ability of the author, as well as the eloquent simplicity with which he has invested a subject sometimes thought difficult, will commend the book to every reader. The book is not a large one, but into its few pages are compressed the results of years of research, strenuous thought and careful sifting of truth from falsehood. Mr. Shearman pronounces the taxation of personal property to be impracticable, unequal and unjust, and he contends that justice requires that personal property should be left to pay its taxes through rent, as it cannot help doing, and that the owners of real estate, including railroad and similar franchises, should pay all state and local taxes, collecting them in rent, as they already collect what they now pay.

"Trusts or Industrial Combinations and Coalitions in the United States," is the rather lenghty title of a work on an interesting subject by Ernest von Halle. It is published in cloth at $1.25 by Macmillan & Co., of New York, and should find a place in the library of everyone interested in sociological subjects. The scope of the work may be indicated by enumerating a few of the combines, in their broader sense, that the author briefly touches upon--such as the Standard Oil trust, the cordage trust, railroad pooling, steamship line combines, pork packing, brewing and distilling combines, school book, wall paper and playing card trusts, the steel trade combine, the Western Union telegraph system, general electric companies trust, express service combines, besides gas and water and postal service, copyrights, patents, etc. The author's point of view is eleidatory and impartial, seeking not to take sides for or against combines, still less to pass judgment upon them from a moral standpoint. While he holds up to view their evils, he also points to their manifest industrial advantages.

Macmillan & Co. have issued a new edition of Benjamin Kidd's "Social Evolution," which contains a new preface. This is acknowledged to be one of the ablest books on social development that has ever been published, and it is of great value to every student of the perplexing problems of socialism. Published in cloth, $1.50; paper, 25 cents.

Professor Sloane in his "Life of Napoleon Bonaparte" reaches in the April Century an absorbingly interesting period of Napoleon's rise--namely, the rise of the conqueror, Bonaparte being now seen on a stage proportionate to his powers. The splendid campaign against Italy is undertaken, and the conquest of Piedmont and Milan and the struggle for Mantua are narrated, and the sources of Napoleon's power with his enemies, and of his influence at home, are clearly indicated. The frontispiece of the number is the portrait by Gros of Bonaparte at Arcole. It was painted in Italy in 1797, at the solicitation of Josephine. Among the embellishments are many pictures by French and American artists, besides portraits, and a map of Northern Italy, etc. The same number of the Century contains also a portrait of Madame Rejane by Krohg, a Scandinavian artist, together with an appreciative page by Justin Huntly M'Carthy. Of the fiction in the number, Marion Crawford's "Casa Braccio" sails into smoother waters, and introduces to the reader Mr. Crawford's well-known character, Paul Griggs, and deals with the carnival season in Rome; Mrs. Burton Harrison's "An Errant Wooing," presents her characters at a typical bull fight in Seville. There are three short stories: "A Search for an Ancestor," by Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, which recounts a social transformation in New York; "A Faithful Failure," by George I. Putnam, which deals with an army type; and "An Innocent Offender," by Alice Turner, a humorous story of New England life.

Scribner's Magazine for April abounds in Easter features. The cover itself is a striking arrangement of lilies. The frontispiece is of a particularly excellent engraving by Closson of a painting called "The Worshippers." Then follows a striking series of Easter pictures by four of the best illustrators of our day--Smedley, Lynch, Abbey, and Weeks. These illustrations represent Easter scenes in New York, Paris, Old England and Jerusalem. Another original feature of the number is an Easter hymn (written many years ago by Thomas Blackburn), interpreted in a series of six full pages by Henry McCarter. These pictures are of remarkable decorative value.

President Andrews' "History of the Last Quarter-Century in the United States" sustains the great popular interest of the first instalment. Robert Grant's series on "The Art of Living," which has been so much discussed in the newspapers, deals this month with the subject of "Education," touching in a very practical way the advantages of the public schools as compared with private schools; and also making some very pertinent suggestions in regard to what shall be done with the daughters of the family. The fiction of the April number is one of its strongest features. Instalments of serials by the leading novelists of England and America, George Meredith and W. D. Howells, are of themselves a literary feast.

Paris Students' Balls" is the leading topic discussed by "St. Martin" in his letter to the Argonaut of March 25 The famous Bullier, where students and grisettes have danced their eccentric quadrilles for years past, is to be torn down to make way for modern improvements, and "St. Martin" improves the opportunity to recall some interesting facts about the students' ball and its patrons. He also has something to say of the new comic opera, "La Duchesse de Ferrare," which, strange to relate, is founded on incidents in the career of an artist's model.

One of the recently famous authors is Ian Maclaren, an English clergyman. "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush" has brought him fame. Dr. Robertson Nicoll says of it in the British Weekly: "The book is destined to a great, a long-enduring and an enviable popularity. He has many qualities-- wit, humor, observation--but his distinction is his gift of temperate yet most moving pathos. In this he is unsurpassed by any living writer." Published by Dodd, Mead & Co., 149 Fifth avenue, New York.

Probably no two words in the English language are more misused and abused than "lady" and "woman," and there is much wisdom, therefore, in a popular discussion of the proper usage of the words, such as is given in the April Ladies' Home Journal, by Margaret Deland, Mrs. Burton Harrison and Sarah Orne Jewett. "The Burning Question of Domestic Service" is treated intelligently and interestingly by the Countess of Aberdeen. Jessie Bartlett Davis, the well-known contralto of the "Bostonians," contributes a valuable article on the "Uses of a Contralto Voice;" Mrs. Burton Harrison speaks of the deportment of "The Well-Bred Girl Abroad," and her travel requirements, "The Story of a Vivacious Girl" is the title of a new, bright novelette of girl-life today, which Grace Smart Reid begins and Frank O. Small illustrates.

Easter brides, Easter hostesses and Easter students are remembered by Isabel A. Mallon, Mrs. W. F. Peck and Jane Searle. A beautiful page, "A Revival of Spangle Work," is daintily illustrated. "Laying Out a Small Country Place" is the atractive title of a very practical article by Elizabeth Bisland. The cover of this April Journal is a reproduction of two of C. D. Gibson's most stylish and charming girls, and all through the issue is the freshness and daintiness of springtime and Easter days. This ideal magazine is sold for 10 cents a number and $1 a year by the Curtis Publishing company, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Crawford's last book, "The Ralstons," the second volume of his Lauderdale series, has proved such a success in England that it has gone already into its second edition there. The papers are enthusiastic in its praise. The London Morning Post writes: "It has such strong human interest that the promised series of American tales will be looked forward to with keen anticipation;" and the London Daily Chronicle: "Mr. Crawford is doing for the New York family of Lauderdale what he has already done for the princely Roman house of Saracinesca."

W. H. Mallock, the eminent English student of socialism, has written for the April number of the Forum one of the most luminous explanations of the fallacies of socialism which has ever appeared, entitled "The Real Quintessence of Socialism.'" It is a striking essay in Mr. Mallock's usual lucid style.

To get at the secret of the tramp--to find out why he enjoys being a vagabond--is to solve the problem he presents. Josiah Flynt, in an article on "Club Life Among Outcasts," in the April Harper's, gives an insight into the social side of tramp life, and makes clear its attractiveness to the unbalanced mind of the "hobo." The tramp likes to be a tramp, not only because he is irresponsible, but because good-fellowship is the rule among outcasts. To eradicate the pest of tramps, the "gang" and the "hang-out," which are the tramp's epuivalent for club and club-house, must be broken up and the freemasonry of hobo-land thereby destroyed.

A charming bijou edition of Sardou's lively romance of Madame Sans-Gene, half history, half melodrama has been delightfully translated by Miss Heller, and published in a boudoir edition for playgoers, in cloth, at a phenomenally low price. The liveliest interest is being taken in this work, and thousands nightly crowd the theaters to see the stage version of the patriotic and picturesquely mounted play. Public interest is whetted in the prospect of seeing Mme. Rejane, the great French actress, in the leading role in the great play of the laundress-duchess, who, while loyal to her soldier husband, is able to hold her own with and even to outwit the great Napoleon. The story is replete with interest, as a picture of the lively times of the French revolution and of the easy manners of Napoleon's court. The Home Book company, 45 Vesey street, New York.

The Canadian Magazine for March touches on a large variety of subjects and in a most interesting manner, while the illustrations are numerous and generally good. Arthur Harvey's "Women's Rights in Rome, 195 B.C.," is very interesting reading at the present time. C. T. Long, a former resident of Japan, throws light on the party government of the new great power of the East. Rev. W. S. Blackstock writes from Egypt a graphic description of "An Arab Dinner," at which he was present. J. F. Morris Fawcett castigates the tone of the press of Newfoundland vigorously. "Sacrament Week Around Lake Megantic,"by Margaret Ross, is intensely interesting and true to life. "Buried Under an Avalanche"--a British Columbian experience, by John C. Werner, is thrilling, if in its ultimate results, amusing.

J. L. Hubard, of Virginia, presents the olden time of slavery in a favorable light, as contrasted with the views of abolitionists. The illustrated articles are "A Yankee in Halifax," by Allan Eric; "The Royal Military College of Canada," by several writers; "The Intercolonial Railway," by P. F. Cronin; "Laying a Submarine Cable," by F. A. Hamilton. Fiction embraces "An Original Retribution," by Charles Nelson Johnson; "Like a Mountain Path," by Maud L. Radford, and "Jean Stuart's Encounter with Dougal McTavish." The Canadian Magazine is published by the Ontario Publishing company, Ltd., Toronto; $2.50 per annum; single copies, 25 cents.

"Some Curiosities of Thinking" will be described by Dr. M. Allen Starr, of the college of physicians and surgeons, New York in the popular science Monthly for April. His cases include those of persons with various strange hallucinations, with a defect in one part of the brain only, and some with powers beyond the normal for calculation or music.

The March Arena is a good representative number of this alive and progressive magazine, which, whatever may be said of contemporary literature in general, is certainly showing no decline in vitality and virility with the progress of the New Year. The Arena has thrown itself into the van of the new political and social and literary movement of our day. The March number is as up-to-date as any of its precursors in the field. It opens with a fine autographed portrait of Lady Henry Somerset, who contributes a paper on "The Welcome Child"--a study in the movement for social purity and equal standards of morality for both sexes. The place of honor in the number is given to "Japan: Its Present and Future," by Midori Komatz. Frances E. Willard is represented with a paper on "Scientific Temperance Instruction in the Public Schools," and Professor James T. Bixby, Ph.D., contributes a solid and scholarly discussion of "Mohammed and the Koran," from the advanced liberal point of view of comparative philology and religion.

The publication of John S. C. Abbott's "History of Napoleon Bonaparte" began in 1851, as a serial in Harper's Magazine, and was continued during more than three years. Phenomenally successful at that time (for, from first to last, it proved itself to be the most popular serial that had ever appeared in an American periodical) its place in the esteem of the general public was afterwards assured by an adequate publication in book form. The two handsome volumes, containing almost 1300 large pages, admirable typographically and generously illustrated, are now perhaps more than ever in request, as one result of the wide-spread interest in the illustrious subject of the work.

SPIRIT LAKE AND VICINITY.

Married, at the home of the bride and groom in Duluth on Fifteenth avenue west last Monday, Olie Pierson, of Duluth, and Miss Lola Lenroot, of Spirit Lake. Both parties are well and favorably known in this vicinity, and all join in extending congratulations.

Charles Lundquist met with quite an accident last Monday at the Ironton plant. He was taking a wheelbarrow full of brick on a plank over a ditch and fell backward with the load on top of him and had nearly sunk out of sight in the soft red clay before he was rescued.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Swenson and Miss Celia attended the wedding of Mrs. Swenson's sister in Duluth, Monday.

Miss Edith Herman, of New Duluth, was a guest of Miss Twannette Dash Tuesday and Wednesday at Smithville.

Mrs. R. G. Folkerts and son visited in Duluth Wednesday and Thursday.

Leon Shaw, of Duluth, visited at Smithville Wednesday.

There will be another masquerade ball at Spirit Lake hotel, April 13.

The gospel song service will be held next Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Dash.

Mrs. A. Swenson entertained a party of children March 24, it being the natal anniversary of her two oldest children. Taffy pulling and games made the little ones happy.

Denis Sullivan is recovering from the grippe. He has been very ill with it for the last two weeks.

New Duluth Doings.

New Duluth, March 30.--(Special to The Herald.)--It is understood that Richards' mill will begin operations about April 15.

School will begin Monday after a week's vacation.

Mrs. Hurd and Miss Martha Hurd were in town Monday.

Misses Holm and Peterson, of Foud du Lac, and Miss Smith were in Duluth Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeil are entertaining their nephew, who came from Cloquet last week. He has a brother here who came two weeeks before.

Of tan cloth; the front width is shaped in such a manner that it forms pleats on the sides; bands of copper colored velvet form bands and loops in front; the waist has a velvet garniture and a deep collarette of perforated cloth laid over brown. Seven yards double width material.

Now--the Time to Make Money.

Last month I cleared, after paying all expenses, $175.46; the month before, $149.93, and have at the same time attended to my regular business. I believe anyone, anywhere, can do as well, as I have not a particularly good location and no experience. When you have an article that every family wants it is very easy selling it. It seems strange that a good, cheap Dish Washer was never before placed on the market. With the Climax, which sells at $3, you can wash and dry the dishes for a family in two minutes without putting the hands in water; as soon as people see the washer work, they want one, and that is why so much money can be made so quickly. For full particulars, address the Climax Manufacturing company, Columbus, Ohio. I feel convinced that any lady or gentleman in any location, can make from $5, you can wash and dry the dishes for very soon have a dish washer. Try it, and publish your experience for the benefit of others.

GROUCHY

One of Grouchy's Officers Asserts it Was Impossible to Win.

Says Grouchy Did the Best He Could Under the Circumstances.

Would Napoleon have won Waterloo if reinforced by Grouchy? And why did Grouchy fail to reinforce Napoleon?

This dual question has been the battlebore and shuttlecock of discussion and dispute by statesmen, military men and historical writers ever since the memorable 18th of June, 1815, when the great Corsican, in the space of a few hours, lost Waterloo and the throne of France, says the New York Herald.

Apropos of the present popular revival of Napoleonic interest throughout this country and Europe--an interest reaching almost to a mania--is a most interesting and in some respects unique interview I had only a few years ago with an officer who had served under Grouchy in the Waterloo campaign. This was Francis Radoux, a lieutenant in Capt. Michal's company, Seventy-fourth regiment of infantry, a remarkable man, with a remarkable history; a veteran of 96 years at the time I called on him, and yet both physically and intellectually finely preserved.

Lieut. Radoux was born in St. Savan, province of Brittany, France, Sept. 9, 1790. His childhood was barren of other than commonplace incidents, yet his soul was alive at an early age to the tremendous events which in rapid succession convulsed his nation. The French revolution; the battle of Valmar; the execution of Louis XIV and his queen (Marie Antoinette); the fall of Robespierre; the growing power and influence of a certain captain of artillery, Napoleon Bonaparte by name; the Royalist war in La Vendee; Lord Howe's victory over the French; the conquest of Holland by the French armies; the victories of Bonaparte,commander of the French army in Italy, over the Austrians; his Egyptian evasion and sanguinary work; the battle of the Nile and the destruction of the French fleet by Lord Nelson; the crossing of the Alps by Bonaparte and defeating of the Austrians at Marengo; the renewal of war between France and England; Austerlitz, Trafalgar, Jena, Vimera and Corunna; the rapid promotion of the artillery captain to commander-in-chief and emperor of France --these had all followed in quick succession by the time the boy Radoux had reached the age of 16.

In that year 1806, Radoux enlisted on a French privateer, the Vetren, Capt. Legrand. But after a short and bloodless experience, he, with others, was captured by a British cruiser. He was transferred to a prison ship, and for seven long, weary years and some months he was a prisoner of war. But one day he saved an English officer from drowning, for which service he was unconditionally released.

Radoux at once returned to his native town, where he was received as one risen from the dead. Ere long he married his youthful love, Mlle. Jeanette Adams, and settled down to domestic life, to cultivate the arts of peace.

Napoleon's escape from Elba, his massing of another large army on the Belgian frontier and the rallying of the allied forces to meet him are too familiar facts to need reiteration.

With the flight of the French army from Waterloo, the military career of Radoux ended. The next year he with his wife and infant child, emigrated to America. He settled in Raymond, Me., where for many years he carried on milling, and was also a famous dancing master and violinist--the best in each role, of any man in Maine at that time. His second wife was an aunt, by marriage, to Nathaniel Hawthorne.

It was at his pleasant, richly furnished home in Portland that I met him. Ifound him a nice looking, interesting, polished, genial and agreeable old gentleman. He was in a suit of black and wore ablack velvet skull cap; was evidently under six feet in height, with a straight military figure; had full blue eyes, a smooth, slightly wrinkled face, clear cut, pronounced features, with a small semicircle of gray locks and a beard of medium length and white as snow.

At my request he gave a history of his life connected with the memorable days when his commander, "the emperor," as he affectionately caled him, to a large extent controlled the military and political affairs of Europe. His narrative was straightforward and explicit. It is summarized in the foregoing chapters.

"But there is one point on which I am eager to have your opinion," I said, when the aged veteran had finished his story.

"And what is that, please?"

"As you were an officer under Grouchy, and hence had unusually good opporunity to know the real situation of things, I would like to learn your opinion in regard to the failure of Grouchy to reinforce Napoleon. You know that for a long time afterward there were bitter recriminations between the marshal and the emperor as to how this important duty was attempted to be performed and the reason why Grouchy failed, the day of Waterloo, to arrest the lateral movement of the Prussian troops from Wavre toward Waterloo."

"Yes, yes, I know," responded he old soldier, with animation. "I can assure you that Grouchy did the best he could under the circumstances to carry out the emperor's orders, but it was wholly impracticable."

And he thereupon gave a clear and logical explanation of the case. In substance, he showed that Grouchy, late of the Seventeenth, had been sent with 80,000 men to pursue the Prussian

ON LABOR.

This has been the "off week" in organized labor circles. The assembly meets next Friday evening and, no doubt, considerable business will be up for consideration. Several committees are likely to have reports of importance and a general attendance of delegates will not be at all out of order. At the last meeting, Delegate Meagher, of the electrical workers thought that the social side of the union man in Duluth might be cultivated to a greater extent. He said that last year the assembly agreed to hold a May day ball every year and he moved that one be held this year. Some of the delegates did not remember that any such understanding was ever had and the motion was voted down. It was agreed, however, to take up the question of a May day ball and make it a special order of business at the next meeting.

There is a marked revival of interest in labor union matters over in Superior just now. Meetings are being held and the great work of education, agitation and organization is being pushed with vigor and enthusiasm. Many men are idle just now but work with quite a number of unions is fair.

Committees are getting in their work and marked progress is looked for this season. A live little sheet, called United Labor is now published under the direction of the of the Trades ssembly of Superior. P. J. McKeague is manager. On and after March 30, it will be doubled in size and issued weekly. The subscription price will then be $1 and if the present high qualities are maintained, the publication will be of incalculable benefit to the cause of organized labor at the head of the lakes.

* * *

There is a municipal campaign on over in West Superior and of course the workingman is now beloved and appreciated by the politicians and the anxious candidates. At the meeting of the assembly over there March 11, a delegate from the electrical workers said that he had seen men smoking non-union cigars and he asked that they be more careful. Union men were asked not to accept non-union campaign cigars and to give the donors of such cigars the treatment that those who ignore the union label deserve. This is something of a novel idea in politics but the assembly took the ground that a man who will recognize the union label in handing out campaign cigars is more likely to sympathize with organized labor.

* * *

There is an increasing bond of sympathy between the trades assemblies of Duluth and Superior. The boys across the bay now send delegates to the Duluth assembly and co-operation in all matters affecting organized labor at the head of the lakes will be made a greater feature than ever before from henceforth. The officers of the Superior Trades and Labor assembly are as follows: President, Martin McLean; vice president, F. E. Grant; financial and corresponding secretary, P. J. McKeague; recording secretary and statistician, J. A. Oxelgren; treasurer, Henry Puls; sergeant at arms, John Myers; trustees, F. A. Hicks, Thomas Johnson and George C. Hehl.

The officers of the Duluth assembly are as follows: President, Alfred McCallum; vice president, Robert Haire; recording and corresponding secretary, Charles Leytze; financial secretary, James E. Stevick; treasurer, Fred Schoening; trustees, E. K. Cobb, George C. Findlay and George H. Thompson.

Recently, at the annual meeting of the Lake Carriers' association, held in Detroit, that body resolved to force down wages along the chain of lakes. The association claims that the poor outlook for living rates is such that this action seems necessary to make both ends meet in lake traffic. The proposed reduction from last year's wage scale is very considerable and will affect the coal handlers, lumber shovers, and the 'longshoremen.

* * *

The official paper, United Labor, of the Superior Trades assembly, has these words to say: "The Lake Carriers' association includes all the considerable vessel owners on the lakes, and has ample opportunity to, and no doubt will, exact carrying rates that will be remunerative. But this will not satisfy their greed. Men working only half the year, and then at uncertain hours, at the most laborious kind of work, will be compelled to contribute.

"J. C. Gilchrist, of Cleveland, and Capt. James Davidson, of Bay City, who have become millionaires in the lake carrying business, are chief among those sending out the poverty cry.

"If these men intend to combat the reduction, which they no doubt do, they had better get together and lay their plans of defense immediately. The fight will be forced by the carriers, and can only be overcome by concerted action, and thorough and timely organization.

"To your tents, O Israel."

* * *

On the other side of the bay, a mass meeting has already been arranged in the interest of the dock men and, probably, has been held before this. Nothing, so far as known, has been openly done over here yet and the time for organization is none too long. The 'longshoremen who went to the woods for the winter will soon be back and they, no doubt, will tackle the situation with their usual vigor. Last summer, the Coal Handlers' union had close to 800 members. There are only about fifty now in active membership. There will, no doubt, be a re-organization there before long.

* * *

Thursday afternoon word was received from the Vessel Carriers' association that the proposition of the Duluth 'Longshoremen's union had been accepted. The rate is to be 35 cents per hour when freights are $2 per 1000 and under, and 40 cents per hour for freights over $2. The terms also include no extra pay for nights and Sundays. This does away with all probability of a warfbetween the vesselmen and the 'longshoremen.

* * *

On the evening of Easter Monday, April 15, the members of Cigarmakers' local union, No. 294, will give their sixth annual ball. Turner hall will be the scene of the festivities. Hoare's orchestra will furnish the music and Emil Applehagen will "call off." The committee on arrangements is composed of Nels Anderson, Julius Dworschek and Emil Applehagen. The price of the tickets has been fixed at $1 and the boys propose to give a ball that will make every ticket purchaser feel that he has had double the worth of his money.

* * *

The Tinners' and Cornice Workers' union of Duluth has chosen Joseph Harmon delegate to the national convention of that craft, which meets in Indianapolis next Wednesday. The national convention last year had 270 delegates. The session this year will last ten days or two weeks and in all probability will have a larger attendance of delegates than last year for the reason that the national union has more members and is in better shape, on the whole, than last year. The national convention never yet has met in the Northwest and Mr. Harmon will do his utmost to bring the next meeting to Duluth.

REAL CO-OPERATION.

Though Not Much Noticed, It Is Steadily Growing.

Rev. W. W. Boyd of the Second Baptist church of St. Louis has been delivering a series of lectures on socialism and kindred subjects. Recently he presented the results of a careful investigation of, together with his views on, the subject of co-operation. Among other things he said:

Recent figures have reached me showing the results of distributive co-operation in Great Britain and making a much fuller exhibit. The English "wholesale" annual business is now $50,000,000 a year. The total of the reporting co-operative stores is $250,000,000, the profits, in excess of interest, $25,000,000 plus, the membership 1,400,000 plus. The total trade of co-operative stores in Great Britain from 1861 to 1890, inclusive, was $2,743,436,440, and the profits in excess of interest $233,059,495.

Let us now take a rapid glance at co-operation in the United States. The Puritan settlements gave a practical training in the spirit of co-operation, and in the first industry, that of the fisheries, the form of co-operation followed which has continued, especially in Maine, to the present. Brook Farm, Hopedale and other associations in the decade of 1840-50 were communistic as well as co-operative, and therein lay their weakness. The Workmen's Protective union, 1850, the Patrons of Industry or the Grange and similar organizations, though co-operative, failed because they did not grasp the true principle of co-operation. Yet out of the experience, agitation and education of those 40 years the principles of true co-operation are beginning to be understood and put in practice.

The popular notion of a co-operative store has been for a few persons to subscribe a small capital, buy at the lowest wholesale prices a stock of goods and sell them to the members at cost and perhaps on credit, thus cutting the prices of retail traders. The failure of so many so called co-operative stores in this country is due to this total misconception of what co-operation is. The same thing occurred in England for half a century, until in 1844 the Rochdale weavers discovered the true principle that must lie at the basis of all successful co-operative enterprise—namely, the feeding of co-operation on its profits. The principal features of the Rochdale system, which has proved successful wherever adopted, are these: Each member of the co-operative society is limited to one vote in choosing directors to conduct the business. Only goods of standard quality and in constant demand are bought. All goods are sold for cash, no credit being given, at the regular retail prices. A record is kept of purchases, and the profits, after deducting interest and a certain portion for the reserve funds, are divided quarterly, not on the shares, as in a joint stock company, but on the amount of purchases each has made. The dividend, or rebate, received by each purchaser is placed to his credit against further shares of the capital stock or paid to him in cash, as he desires. Thus the savings are constantly invested in the business, and it is this feeding on profits that gives co-operation capital and stability.

In co-operative production we find that cheese factories and creameries for the manufacture of butter are an established success. Of 150 creameries in New England, 80 per cent are co-operative. In the central and western states one-fourth of the whole number are so. In the northwestern and middle states one-half of the cheese factories are co-operative. Sixty per cent of the cheese made in factories in the United States is the product of co-operative effort. The significance of these statements is seen if we add that the dairy production of the United States is annually 610,000 tons, or about one-third of the world's product, and that our exports for 1889-92, inclusive, were 75,487,380 pounds of butter and $44,609,978 pounds of cheese, a total value of more than $39,000,000. At least one-half of this value was the result of co-operation.

Co-operative manufacturing is the most difficult form of co-operation, yet I have the statistics of 40 such establishments in this country, the managers of which speak of the system in praise.

But co-operation in the United States has won its most signal success in building and loan associations. Originating in Philadelphia in 1831, they are now to be found in most of the northern and western states. In Pennsylvania the people have saved through them $60,000,000. Nearly 100,000 homes in Philadelphia have thus been paid for. Commissioner Wright says that, though the average age of all these associations is but 6.2 years, there are in the United States 5,838 of them, with 1,745,725 shareholders, having net assets of $450,667,594. The total profits have been $80,664,116. He estimates that by this agency these have built in this country nearly 400,000 homes. Bradstreet's reports that the aggregate resources of these co-operative savings associations of the country are nearly 60 per cent of the entire assets of all state, saving, loan and trust companies and private banks and bankers from which reports were received in 1890. Their deposits were less than 10 per cent below those of the national banks and were more than twice as large as the total capital stock of the national banks. With this true after an average life of a little more than six years, what will happen when this new form of co-operation gets its growth throughout the Union?

THE CURSE OF MILITARISM.

We Forget Our Own Situation While Condemning European Institutions.

We of the United States often talk in disapproval of the militarism of Europe, forgetting the fact that our own army of pensioners costs us about $160,000,000 annually, to which must be added $40,000,000 more for our small and very useless standing army, making a total of $200,000,000 of annual expense, fully equal to that of the vast armies of France and Germany.

But our pension system should not be condemned. It is but an act of justice entailed by a false system—that of warfare and militarism, which more than all else has retarded the development of the human family and fettered its happiness. Yet this burden of ours is a great drain upon the resources of a nation even so young and vigorous as our own, for it absorbs the profits on $3,200,000,000 of national values.

The war of the rebellion cost this nation a sum so great that we, the richest and most vigorous of all countries, still feel its effects, for it entailed a debt of bonds and pensions aggregating not less than the inconceivable sum of $6,000,000,000, while the destruction of life and property cost an additional loss to the nation of not less than $2,000,000,000 more, making the staggering aggregate of $8,000,000,000, more than $1,000 to each family existing in the United States at the close of that war.

Had that prodigious expenditure of wealth, labor, diplomacy and blood been devoted to the betterment of the condition of the masses of this nation, we now should not be laboring in the throes of an "era of depression." Men or nations, after spending their best days in a drunken debauch, may with poor grace exclaim, "An era of depression," or "A visitation of Providence." Nations or individuals who indulge in such excesses of passion are only inviting disaster and stern retribution.—"The Problem of Civilization Solved," Mary E. Lease.

Altgeld Versus Cleveland.

Mr. Fithian, Democrat, of Illinois made a speech in congress a few days before the session closed, in which he denounced the president for sending troops to Chicago last July during the A. R. U. strike. He declared that Mr. Cleveland's action was unconstitutional, and when the full facts were known Governor Altgeld's position would be commended everywhere. "I predict," said he, "that the name of Governor Altgeld will live in history as one who in a great crisis in the events of our common country stood for the full and constitutional government against government by injunction, government by force and government in violation of law, which is anarchy of the worst and most vicious sort.

"Whatever may have been the provisions of the federal statutes under the interstate commerce law and postal laws," he said in conclusion, "all lawyers must admit that these statutes must be construed with relation to their bearing to the federal constitution. No act of congress in violation of the constitution can become the law of the land. All acts in violation of the constitution are void and have no more force as laws of the country than the decrees of the czar of Russia, and inasmuch as the constitution clearly forbids the sending of troops into a state without being called for by the legislature or governor of the state the act of the president was not only in violation of the constitution, but in violation of his own office, which requires him to swear to 'protect and defend the constitution of the United States.' Had the action taken by the president been taken by a Republican president he would not have escaped having articles of impeachment preferred against him by this Democratic congress."

Labor Unions Reliable.

The Massachusetts bureau of unemployed has published an interesting and very valuable report on the number of persons who were thrown out of employment while the commercial indisposition was at its height and widespread.

This report shows to what extent capital contracted, how many persons were out of work and how generally the wages of those remaining in employment were reduced. The bureau gave hearings at the principal industrial centers of the commonwealth and gathered a vast store of valuable information.

It was the experience of the inquirers that the leaders of the principal trade organizations could be relied upon for accurate knowledge of the conditions in the various branches which they represented. Their testimony was usually corroborated from point to point as the bureau traveled about.

The bearing of this statement is that to ascertain at any given time what industries in the state have a larger supply of labor than the demand requires information must be sought at the headquarters of the trade unions which are most strongly organized.—Boston Herald.

American Telegraph Union.

Several hundred telegraph operators of New York city have organized the American Telegraph union on the lines of the American Railway union.

The initial meeting was called to order by Robert L. De Akers, who made an address advocating government control of the telegraph lines of the country. He said it was necessary for organized labor to be represented at conventions and to make itself felt by the politicians.

C. E. Thompson was then elected temporary chairman and Henry D. Robinson secretary.

A plan of permanent organization was ably presented by Wilbur O. Eastlake, providing for a board of nine directors to take charge. The members chosen for the board are: R. L. De Akers, W. O. Eastlake, J. P. Regan, C. E. Thompson, T. J. Dunn, D. L. Russell, J. J. Whalen, T. J. Casey and J. S. Newman.

IN THE SLUMS.

Description of a Part of London That Will Fit Several American Cities.

An evil of slum life is drunkenness among women. The causes are the lack of proper food and nourishment, producing a desire for stimulant, the need of warm rooms and clothing for the cold, and damp atmosphere demanding something to "warm up," the reactions from their dissipation craving an excitant, the misery of poverty, the gnawings of remorse, the sinkings of despair, losing woe in the exhilaration of intoxication and the insensibility of the "dead drunk."

One of the saddest features of the slums is the breaking up of the home. It comes after the father and mother have strained every nerve to keep together, daily tramping mile after mile for work, rising long before day to be on hand for odd jobs about the wharves or a possible need of extra porters. "No work" shuts the door against hope, shuts in sorrows, starvation, illness and death.

Among many instances here is one: The father of five children had been out of work for six weeks. For months he had been able to get only occasional jobs. He was too much of a man to go to the poorhouse. His home had been so happy. He and his wife had starved themselves for the children. One evening after a long day's vain search for odd jobs he came home, looked with anguish at the wan faces and sunken eyes of his dear ones and was soon after found dead—a suicide. The struggle to keep from going down is heroic. In a once happy home the baby died of lack of nourishing food. "No work." The furniture was sold to pay for baby's funeral. The mother would not have a parish funeral. As one said, "Would you like to feel your soul was buried down deep with another baby on top of it? That's how I feel." At last he had to sell his tools. Now no hope! Just then a Salvationist found them and work was given them.

When the home is broken up, when there is no money to pay even a slum rental, the homeless people are set adrift. One Sunday evening, down by the docks at Stepney, about 600 men with no home, not even twopence for a lodging, stood in line at the door of a large hall. I was assured by the secretary of the Congregational union having charge of this work that fully 75 per cent of these men were honest and were not brought down so low because of drink, but because they could not find work. They are allowed to sleep in the chairs of the hall, but their luxury is to stretch out in the aisles or near the platforms, of course on the bare, cold floor. Sunday evenings they are given a mug of hot tea and a chunk of bread and are entertained by speeches, songs, music and recitations.

Looking into their faces from the platform, one may read many stories of life. Some have not lost the bright look of hope that it will all come out right somehow; others are sad and desperate, but grimly determined not to give up; others are so tired looking, as if trouble had done them to death, while many seem listless, despondent, despairing, resentful and morose. The superintendent shows me an artist, a physician, a teacher, a university wrangler, who have had sad, tragic experiences. Among faces wan and white may be seen features refined and brows showing intellectual power.

No home, no work, no power to do their life work. As they sing, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" tears steal down the faces of several white haired men, and there's a boy in front who has evidently washed his face in the river near by and combed his hair with his fingers. He has around his neck an old handkerchief for a collar, only a rag of an undershirt and his coat over that. When they sing the refrain softly, he gulps down his feeling, forces back the tears and then fumbles at the handkerchief and buries his face in it, while his body shakes with his sobbing. —J. W. Hegeman.

Creation of Capital.

Consumption is always primary to production. It is the great producer of wealth. The working classes get less than half of what they earn. As they are the bulk of consumers and have only the wherewithal to purchase half of that which they produce, the minority or the plutocracy reaps the great surplus or profit which being out of all proportion cannot be consumed by them. Hence the creation of a reserve or capital. There is nothing now but autocracy in industry, while what we really need is democracy in industry. We frequently hear people speak of the equal rights of capital and labor, but there is in reality no such thing. Capital is the production of labor. We cannot have labor without a laborer, but we can have capital without a capitalist.—Lawrence Gronlund.

A Co-operative Coal Mine.

The Co-operative company is being organized to reopen the Renton coal mine, ten miles south of Seattle, Wash., which has been closed for the last eight years. It was last operated by Mr. Simpson of San Francisco, but when his miners struck he closed it and has never reopened it. The company, with $100,000 capital stock, will be composed of miners and consumers, none of whom will be allowed to vote more than ten shares, and expects to employ about 300 men.

To Inquire Into the Causes of Poverty.

The general assembly of the state of New York has adopted a resolution that a committee of five be appointed with power to hold public hearings in New York city to inquire into the nature, extent and causes of the wretched condition of 100,000 women in the city, on many of whom families are dependent, whose average wages are 60 cents a day, while a larger proportion receive a much smaller sum, the result of which is misery, immorality and crime.

The State Printing.

At the last meeting of the Minneapolis Typographical union it was decided to ask the legislature to have the state printing done with hand-set matter and to establish a state printing office. It was also decided to collect dues in future from the members of the union by assessing each one 1½ cents on each dollar earned. This went into effect Monday. It is proposed to have 1 cent of this go into the general fund and the ½ cent into the out-of-work fund.

GROUCHY

army, which had been defeated at Ligny, but with a force fully inadequate to cope with the entire Prussian army, especially as Blucher, its commander, in the interim, had been reinforced by a large division under Gen. Bulow. Besides, the roads, owing to the heavy rains of the night of the 17th and the morning of the 18th—Waterloo day—were very muddy and slouchy, making the movement of the wagons and artillery slow and difficult. Then, again, had Grouchy early known that Bulow and Blucher had made a diversion to join Wellington, twelve miles distant, at Waterloo, leaving Thielman, with only 17,000 men, to hold him in check as best he could, he perhaps would have done differently; though even then it is still a question whether he could have fought Thielman with results sufficient to allow of his reaching Napoleon in season to afford him any aid.

"Yes, Marshal Grouchy did the best he could!" repeated M. Radoux, with emphasis. "I was there, and I know whereof I speak. The emperor's plans were well laid, but my commander could not accomplish the impossible. So the emperor of necessity fought single handed and alone against the combined superior numerical force of Wellington and Blucher; and the result was Waterloo and his crown were lost!"

WAS NOT A BIGAMIST.

Another poker story is told in Washington. The game was poker and the players were men prominent in American public life. One was a statesman from Kentucky and the other Judge "Tom" Nelson, of Indiana, ex-minister to Mexico, and one of the brightest wits America has produced. A Western senator dealt cards. There was a careful "skinning" of indicators on the part of the participants, and Judge Nelson found the result such as to guarantee the advisability of chipping in. The Kentuckian did likewise, with an eagerness that denoted strength in his particular direction. The others dropped out. The Kentuckian and the Hoosier each demanded a single card, and the senator deftly flirted them off the deck.

"Two blues better, Tom."

"Two more than you."

"I'll have to lift you about as many, Tom."

"Well, I'm sorry, but you must meet a further increase of ivory."

So it went until the Kentuckian began to doubt the efficiency of the three ten-spots he had in his left hand. There was too much in the pot to allow him to lay down, so he sighed and called the judge with the words:

"What have you got, Tom?"

HOW AN ADVERTISEMENT SAVED A WOMAN'S LIFE.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

"For four years I suffered with female troubles. I was so bad that I was compelled to have assistance from the bed to the chair. I tried all the doctors and the medicines that I thought would help me.

"One day, while looking over the paper, I saw the advertisement of your Vegetable Compound. I thought I would try it. I did so, and found relief. I was in bed when I first began to take the Compound. After taking four bottles, I was able to be up and walk around, and now I am doing my housework. Many thanks to Mrs. Pinkham for her wonderful Compound. It saved my life."—Mrs. HATTIE MADAUS, 184 North Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

VERSATILE LE MOYNE.

William J. Le Moyne, the leading old man of the New York Lyceum stock company, is one of the best known actors in America, for he has been on the stage with practically no interruption since 1852, and for several years before that time had been a prominent member of the various amateur dramatic societies of Boston, the city of his nativity.

Mr. Le Moyne's professional debut was made unexpectedly in Portland, Me., May 10, 1852, as the first officer in "The Lady of Lyons" in support of Catherine Sinclair, who was Edwin Forrest's wife. Two nights afterward he was called upon to do Friar Laurence in "Romeo and Juliet." The following evening he played a long farcical role, and during the same engagement he was seen as Polydor in "Ingomar," Sir Oliver Surface and other as widely divergent characters. This brief recital of Le Moyne's first few weeks on the stage furnishes an unanswerable argument to the deluded few who stubbornly assert that the present conditions are as favorable as the old stock system to the full development of actors.

Since that time the history of Mr. Le Moyne is the history of the top stratum of the American stage. He has played all sorts of parts with our best stags and our worst, but since before the "late unpleasantness" he has been recognized as one of the best mummers on this side the Atlantic. In 1879 he became a member of the famous old Union Square theater stock company in New York city. There he remained three seasons, when he joined Augustin Daly, but left that manager after one year's service to enlist under the banner of the Mallory brothers, the ministers who then had the Madison Square theater, of which Daniel Frohman was the acting manager. When about five years later Mr. Frohman left to establish the Lyceum theater stock company, Mr. Le Moyne went, too, and has been with him ever since.

He is a thoroughly natural actor, who never insults an audience by a slovenly performance, and personally is a delightful man of great culture and refinement.

The Cyclist and the Judge.

A Copenhagen bicyclist was recently arrested for riding on the footpath leading to Lyngby church. The judge thundered out the words, "You have been cycling on the Lyngby church footpath?"

"You will have to pay a fine of 4 kraner."

The accused took four coins out of his pocket and laid them on the bar. "But tell me, your worship, have Prince Waldemar and Princess Marie permission to cycle on the path in question?"

The judge rubbed his nose. "Um! No. Certainly not. Is this your first offense?"

"Yes, your worship, and my last," answered the culprit.

"Well, then, I will let you off with a caution this time."

The cyclist gathered up his money, made his bow and walked off. But when he got to the door the judge called out to him:

"Hello, you there! Did you actually see Prince Waldemar and Princess Marie riding on that path?"

"I? No, your worship!" replied the cyclist, with a twinkle in his eye, and was gone.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE BY ADVERTISEMENT.

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, executed and delivered by Herbert R. Tinkham, Emory Tinkham and Margarette J. Tinkham, mortgagors, to H. T. Reed, mortgagee, dated the first day of March, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds, of the county of St. Louis, in the state of Minnesota, on the 8th day of March, A. D. 1892, at 11:40 o'clock a. m. in Book 72 of mortgages, on page 659, on which there is claimed to be due, at the date of this notice, the amount of twelve hundred ninety-three and 80-100 dollars ($1293.80).

And no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the mortgaged premises therein described, and the said mortgaged premises will be sold by the sheriff of said county of St. Louis, at public auction, to the highest bidder therefor, for cash, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on Wednesday, the 15th day of May, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-five, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to satisfy the amount which shall then be due on said mortgage, with the interest thereon, and costs and expenses of sale, and seventy-five ($75.00) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure.

The premises described in said mortgage, and so to be sold, are the lot, piece, or parcel of land situated in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, and known and described as follows, to-wit: Lots numbered eleven (11), twelve (12), thirteen (13), fourteen (14), fifteen (15), sixteen (16), in block numbered fifteen (15), and lots numbered two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5), six (6), seven (7), eight (8), nine (9), ten (10), eleven (11), twelve (12), thirteen (13), fourteen (14), fifteen (15), sixteen (16), in block numbered twenty (20), and lots numbered one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5), six (5), seven (7), eight (8), nine (9), ten (10), eleven (11), twelve (12), in block numbered twenty-two (22), all in Cremer's Addition to West Duluth, according to the plat thereof now on file or of record in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota. Above premises will be sold subject to right-of-way and condemnation proceedings of the D. M. & N. Railroad Company.

STRANGER THAN FICTION.

An Event of Striking Importance Which Happened Under the Shadow of Mt. Washington. The More You Investigate It, the Stranger the Facts Become.

MR. SAMUEL VARNEY AND WIFE.

The old-time visionary inventor has given place to the practical, hard-working professional inventor of today.

The successful inventor must now be a business man as well as a man of mechanical ideas.

The high tension of the nervous system, often kept up for months and months, makes tremendous drafts on the health of those busy brain workers. Many succumb to nervous prostration when they seem just on the point of surmounting every difficulty.

Of all the countless recent useful inventions, none has passed through so many or so rapid a course of improvements as the typewriter. Today the latest perfected machine is undoubtedly the Williams typewriter, which represents a vast amount of cumulative invention.

John Newton Williams, its inventor, was born in 1845 in Brooklyn, N. Y. He spent his early manhood on the Western frontier. Subsequently he settled in Kentucky, where he became known as one of the most successful stock breeders in the state.

But it is as an inventor that he has won his national reputation. Several most useful and important inventions were made by him before he produced the Williams typewriter, a machine that probably excels all others in the most important features.

Mr. Williams, speaking of the labor expended in bringing the machine that bears his name to its present perfection, says:

"Some four years ago, when engaged in experimental work on the Williams, I was putting about sixteen hours per day of hard work and worry, and came near breaking down. Although very particular and regular in my habits and careful about eating, my stomach troubled me. It was difficult to eat and more difficult to digest and assimilate my food, my stomach acting in sympathy with an over-worked brain. A friend had sent some Paine's celery compound to one of my business associates, and knowing him personally, and seeing what it did for him, I thought I would try it. I commenced taking it before meals and it at once stimulated my appetite and aided digestion. I took two bottles and was much benefited.

"Again two years later I was troubled with nervousness and indigestion, and again took Paine's celery compound with great benefit. My wife, after her long illness last summer, and severe nervous prostration, and some trouble with indigestion, concluded to try Paine's celery compound a few weeks ago, and she is now taking it with steady improvement. Several of my friends have taken it on my recommendation and are now practical believers in its great restorative powers. I have found the celery compound a tonic and restorative that I could lean upon with confidence in time of trouble."

NO SURRENDER.

The Colonel's Presence Spoiled Effect of the Play.

It is the custom in small country theaters when a military play is acted, and men are required on the stage for soldiers, for the colonel of the regiment then quartered in the town to lend a certain number of his men to the manager, who is, of course, glad, for good conduct, to add a little extra money to their small pay, says Cassells' Journal.

On a certain occasion of this kind the regiment happened to be an Irish one. At the end of the last act a very warm battle was to be fought between two armies. The soldiers were represented on one side by the supers attached to the theater, and on the other side by the regulars sent from the garrison. One of the performances was a "benefit" night, and "under the patronage of the colonel and officers of the regiment," all of whom were present.

Everything went splendidly up to the battle scene, when the signal was given for the fight to cease, and for the regulars, who personated the beaten foe, to retreat. But on this particular evening they took no notice of the signal but still fought on in terrible earnest, and punished their opponents so unmercifully that at last they threw down their weapons and used their fists instead.

The result can be imagined. The actors shouted to the men to retreat, as they had done quietly night after night, but in vain. Eventually the curtain had to be dropped on the raging conflict, when the manager dashed furiously on the stage, and demanded, angrily, "What does all this mean? Why didn't you retreat?"

An Irish sergeant, with his face very much damaged, replied, indignantly, "Shure, an' is it retrate you'd have us, with the colonel in front?"

Does Not Believe a Monetary Conference is Likely.

Washington, March 29.—Senator Stewart, of Nevada, is among those who do not consider the prospects for an international monetary conference very bright. He does not believe that one will be called. Referring to the matter he said:

"The main dependence of those who count upon an international conference appears to rest upon the supposition that Germany will take the initiative. I do not expect Germany to move in that direction. It is well to remember that whatever the reichstag may resolve, action still rests with the emperor, and I do not see any favorable augury for silver in the fact that the new chancellor, Prince von Hohenlohe, has received instructions to consult Bismarck in the affairs of state. The revival of the Bismarck influence is not favorable to silver in that quarter."

Iron Plant to Start.

AKRON, O., March 29.—S. L. Severance, of Cleveland, representing the creditors, has purchased the plant of the Akron Iron company at sheriff's sale. The plant has been in a receiver's hands until recently when an order of sale was made by the court. The purchasers paid $200,200 for the property, $87,000 for the real estate and $113,200 for the assets. The plant will be started with a full force soon.

A MISSING AGENT.

Boston, March 29.—D. L. Holaway, manager of the Union Life Insurance company in this city, stated to a reporter of the Associated Press that negotiations for the return of John C. Bache, the missing New York agent of the company, are at a standstill. "While I am convinced that Bache is in Canada, yet we do not know in what part. I do not intend to go to Canada to look for Bache, as I am of the opinion that it would be a futile search."

Mine Workers' Convention.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 29.—Mike Barrett, president of the Coke Workers' organization, has issued a call for a convention of the mine workers of the Connellsville region to be held at Scottdale next Wednesday. There is dissatisfaction over minor points in the new scale which goes into effect next Monday. Some of the workers claim the advance is not enough and that it will be handicapped by giving the men less work, advancing house rents and prices of goods in the supply stores.

Dahomey Giant Dead.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Judge Gilbert, known professionally as the Dahomey giant, died in this city today. Gilbert had been on exhibition in circuses and dime museums for the past ten years with his wife, whom he first met in Minneapolis and who was also of unusual stature.

All Danger Passed.

SHIMONOSEKI, March 29.—The surgeon who is attending Li Hung Chang, has made a report in which he states that his patient is making favorable progress towards recovery. There is no discharge from the wound and the pulse and temperature are normal. The surgeon adds that all danger is passed.

Steamer Foundered.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 29.—Advices from Mazatlean are to the effect that the steamer Diego, formerly the Manuel Dublin, is believed to have foundered on March 24, while on the way across the gulf from Guaymas to Lapaz. A steamer has left Guaymas to search for the Diego.

Won By Wildman.

LONDON, March 29.—In spite of the scratching of C. G. Duff's Cleister and the bad weather prevailing, great crowds assembled today at Aintree, to witness the grand steeple chase. The race was for 2500 sovereigns. John Widger's aged chestnut gelding, Wildman, from Borneo, by Decider out of Wildduck, was first; Mrs. F. B. Atchison's Cathal, gelding by Cassock out of Daffodil, was second, and Maj. A. Crawley's Vanderberg, aged bay gelding by Dutch Skater, out of Vuorata was third. Nineteen horses ran.

A Duty on Bikes.

According to a Washington dispatch, the general board of appraisers of customs has sustained the collector at Duluth in a case appealed by W. C. P. McGovern. The latter brought in a bicycle from Canada. The collector levied a 35 per cent duty on it as a manufactured article. McGovern claimed that it should come in free under the head of "wearing apparel and other personal effects not mentioned." The general board sustains the tax of 35 per cent.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 31. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Christ's yoke.—Math. xi, 28-30; John xiv, 14, 15.

A yoke represents a burden, and we are all born under or willingly take on some kind of a yoke. We are all carrying some kind of a load or burden. The Jews to whom Christ spoke the words in Math. xi, 28-30, were under the burden or yoke of the law. But a hard yoke it was. It required much of them, but gave them no strength or assistance in their burden bearing. Christ, therefore, called upon them to give up the yoke of the law, to become His disciples and to take His yoke upon them. To all wearing yokes, whether the yoke of the law, the yoke of pride, of sensuality, of worldliness, of ambition or self indulgence, Christ comes with the same request to give up these yokes and take His yoke upon them.

Christ's yoke is obedience to His commandments. He does not try to allure us into discipleship by telling us that as Christians we shall have no burdens to bear. Indeed Christ is very careful always to guard against such a false impression. He founded His kingdom upon a cross. He said, "If any man will come after Me, let him take up his cross and follow Me." He urged those to whom He appealed to become His disciples to count the cost before they did so, because it might be necessary as His followers to suffer much in the world. Christians have burdens to bear and yokes to wear as well as those who are not Christians, but with this difference: Christ's yoke is easy, and the others are not.

Christ's yoke is easy. This is Christ's own testimony. "My yoke is easy, and My burden is light." The Christian's yoke is easy because Christ helps him to wear it. He gives him strength and grace to obey His commandments. The yoke is often a cross, and yet it is light, for Christ Himself always bears the heavier end of it, as He did on the way to Golgotha, when Simon was compelled to assist Him. Christ's yoke is easy because it is a labor of love. Love lightens burdens always. To obey those we love, to bear burdens for them is a pleasure. It is not a hardship or a difficulty, be the burden ever so heavy or the way ever so long. Christ's yoke is easy, too, in the light of what it brings to us. No cross, no crown. It is through tribulation that we win heaven. It is through the light afflictions of the present that we obtain glory hereafter. Christ's yoke is indeed "like the plumage of the bird, an easy weight, enabling it to soar heavenward."

Wearing the yoke of Christ is the test of our love to Him. "If ye love Me, keep My commandments" (John xiv, 15). Obedience is, therefore, the test of love. Let us, therefore, obey His commandments, let us take His yoke upon us that we may prove our love to Him who first loved us.

Bible Readings.—Deut. vi, 2; x, 12, 13; Eccl. xii, 13, 14; Isa. ix, 2-4; x, 27; Ps. xix, 8-10; cxix, 127, 143; Mark ix, 41; Gal. vi, 9; Eph. vi, 2, 3; Phil. iv, 3, 4; Heb. xii, 1, 2; I John v, 3, 4; II John vi; Rev. ii, 10; vii, 13-17.

Memorial For Rev. Dr. Gordon.

At the first meeting after the death of their beloved pastor, Rev. A. J. Gordon, D. D., his Christian Endeavor society decided, upon the recommendation of their foreign missionary committee—for the society has two missionary committees, home and foreign—to attempt to raise $200 as the nucleus of a special memorial fund to Dr. Gordon. This was to be in addition to the $600 already pledged for the support of their missionaries. None but the young people was present in the room, and yet at once more than $400 was raised for this purpose. A debt of $200,000 rests heavily upon the American Baptist Missionary union. It is the splendid purpose of these Endeavorers of the Clarendon Street Baptist church of Boston to arouse the Baptist young people of the land to pay off this debt. They hope their $425, which will doubtless soon become $500, will be added to by every Baptist young people's society in the United States, in proportion as God has blessed the members. In no better way could they honor the memory of the noble Christian minister and missionary worker who has gone. It is not too much to hope that with the earnest and prompt co-operation of all Baptist young people even so large a sum as $200,000 can speedily be raised. Were all the societies to do only a tenth as well as Dr. Gordon's Endeavorers, the task would be accomplished.

New York City Churches.

According to latest returns, there are in the city of New York 522 churches, of all denominations. These afford a seating capacity of 400,000. The most numerous churches are Episcopalian with 103 church edifices. Then come the Roman Catholics with 84; the Presbyterians follow with 70; the Methodists have 65 and the Baptists 50; the Jews have 46, and the Congregationalists only 7. The Roman Catholics have increased the most rapidly during the last 90 years, having more than doubled in that time. But only a small part of the inhabitants of the city attend church at all.—Journal and Messenger.

Tripping Into Town.

A little lass with brown,
A little lass with raven locks,
Went tripping into town.
"I like the golden hair the best,"
"And I prefer the brown."
"And I the black," three sparrows said,
Three sparrows of the town.

"Tu-whit, tu-whoo!" an old owl cried
From the belfry in the town.
"Glad hearted lassies need not mind
If locks be gold, black, brown.
Tu-whit, tu-whoo, so fast, so fast,
The sands of life run down!

"And soon—so soon—three white haired dames
Will totter through the town.
Come then for nye the raven locks,
The golden hair, the brown,
And she will fairest be whose face

Swept by a Cyclone

Of approbation to the pinnacle of popularity, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has acquired a commanding position, which has occasionally made it a bright and shining mark for knaves who seek to profit upon the community spurious compounds in the guise akin to that of the real article. These are mostly local bitters or tonics of great immediate, and, of course, devoid of medicinal efficacy. Beware of them and get the genuine bitters, a real remedy for malaria, rheumatism, kidney trouble, dyspepsia, nervousness, constipation and biliousness. Physicians of eminence everywhere commend the great invigorant, both for its remedial properties and its purity. THEATERS

New Melodrama, "The Man Without a Country," at the Temple.

James A. Herne in His Play, "Shore Acres," Coming Next Week.

The attraction at the Lyceum theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights will have a two-fold interest; first, Otis Skinner will make his first appearance in this city as a star, and secondly, it will be the first production in Duluth of Clyde Fitch's new comedy-drama, "His Grace de Grammont," and Victor Hugo's great tragedy, "The King's Jester." "The Merchant of Venice" will also be presented.

Mr. Skinner's ability as an actor is so thoroughly recognized in this city that there is no need to sing his praises now. He is one of the few American actors we have today who have the versatility to play all parts well. But it is as a romantic actor that he shines particularly and it is safe to say that in this line of characters he has no superiors on our stage. It is a role of this type that he will impersonate in Mr. Fitch's new play—a daring soldier, a dashing gallant of elegant mein and fashionable dress. It is a character that will undoubtedly find delightful and impressive expression in Mr. Skinner's graceful bearing, impassioned eloquence and artistic temperament.

The Chevalier de Grammont, the hero of Mr. Fitch's new play, is a striking and picturesque personality. He was one of the most famous gallants of the court of Louis XIV. and was celebrated as much for his wit as for his daring as a soldier and gallantry as a courtier. Light-hearted, merry and brilliant, he was an especial favorite of the French monarch until he became involved in a love affair with Madame Houdencourt, the king's favorite. For this he was exiled and took up his residence at the court of Charles II of England. He was gladly welcomed to the court of the "Merry Monarch," where his reckless extravagance of play, his brightness of spirits and elegance of dress and deportment won for him a position of favor in the estimation of the king, similar to that which he had previously enjoyed at the court of Louis. It is in this period of English history that the author has found material for his play, selecting notable historical personages for his characters and weaving about them an original story of stirring romantic interest and dramatic strength, lightened by scenes of comedy and rare humor.

The story deals with the love affair of de Grammont and Miss Hamilton. The latter is a young woman innocent of the vices of court life with whom the king becomes smitten when she is presented for the first time. He selects de Grammont to assist him in winning the young woman's favor. The gallant chevalier, instead of wooing her for the king, falls in love with her himself. His passion is reciprocated. Through the connivance of Lord Jermyn and two Court ladies, Mrs. Middleton and Mistress Warnester, the jealousy of the young girl is aroused and she is subsequently made to appear as willingly accepting the attentions of the king. De Grammont upbraids her for her fickleness and utters a violent tirade against the king. He is ordered under arrest but escapes; returning later to bid his sweetheart a last farewell, the court plotters lead him to believe that Miss Hamilton has gone to the court at the king's solicitation, but in realty she has gone to his majesty to plead for his pardon. He permits himself to be placed under arrest in order to get into the presence of the king. He is brought before his majesty a prisoner where he denounces the king with bitter invectives. For this he is ordered to the Tower, but the confession of those who seek his ruin at this juncture, obtains for him the king's pardon, who also sanctions his union with Miss Hamilton.

The play will have a handsome and elaborate production. The time and locality permit of much richness in the matter of costumes and stage settings and no expense has been spared to make the production adequate in every respect. Historical accuracy has been striven for in every detail. The costumes were designed by Percy Anderson, of London, from the old portraits of the Court of Charles, painted by Sir Peter Lely and now hanging in the Royal Palace of Hampton Court. Walter Burridge has supplied the beautiful and artistic set of stage pictures.

Mr. Skinner's supporting company is a strong and capable one. It includes Frederick Mosley, R. Peyton Carter, Wadsworth Harris, Frank L. Sylvester, J. Burgess Bradshaw, Mark Fenton and the Misses Maude Durbin, Sarah Truax, Pamela Keith, Rose H. Shuman and Maude Mareen.

"His Grace de Grammont" will be repeated at the Wednesday matinee.

"THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY"

A new melodrama is to be at the Temple on Monday night. It is "The Man Without a Country," written by James W. Harkins, Jr. While the story of the play is in no sense a dramatic telling of the events in the history of Philip Nolan, the drama was inspired by Rev. Edward Everett Hale's famous novel of the same title, which has been very generally read in America, and especially in New England. "The Man Without a Country" was so favorably received that it made a successful run of three weeks. It was afterwards produced at the Grand Opera house, Boston, and from there returned to New York, where it ran for two weeks longer.

As it will be presented at the Temple, it is a remarkable example of the wonderful advancement made in the stage craft during the past five years. There are five great scenes, all of which are carried by the company. The opening scene is a ward in a yellow fever hospital in New Orleans, which is followed by an exterior view of Corporal Dumont's home on his plantation at Thibodeaux, La. The third scene shows the interior of the Salville sugar mill and a great mechanical novelty in the shape of a practical sugar cane crusher, operated by two thoroughbred Arabian horses. The fourth scene is a revolving one, showing the interior of the belfry of St. Cecilia's church, New Orleans. This is a night picture, and the mechanical effects introduced in connection with it are said to be a new departure in stage realism. The final scene is an interior of Corporal Dumont's home. The scenery was painted by Harley Merry, scenic artist of the Broadway theater, New York.

The story of the play is in most respects an original one. Each act is filled with stirring situations, and the climaxes are such as to command repeated curtain calls.

The company presenting this piece is a remarkably strong one, and includes Robert Elliott, Henry Hascomb Elleny, Stockbridge, Arthur Howard, Mrs. Cyril Norman, Josie Bacon, Argyle Gilbert. Little Ada Vanden Gilbert, a child of but 7 years of age, enacts the difficult role of Ruth, Robert's blind sister in an interesting and most artistic manner.

HERNE'S "SHORE ACRES."

"Shore Acres," James A. Herne's famous play will be at the Lyceum on Friday and Saturday of next week with a matinee on Saturday. The New York World's critic said when it was produced in the great metropolis:

"It has been the fashion, I believe, to sneer at Mr. James A. Herne and his New England realism. But if the author-actor turns out much more work as good as his new play 'of 'Shore Acres,' to which we were introduced last night at the Fifth Avenue theater, the sneers very soon will give place to cheers, and we shall be swearing that we always knew that Mr. Herne was a prophet.

"The tale he has told in 'Shore Acres' is but a pretext for the portrayal of a New England family. And the brief moments of dramatic—or, more properly speaking, melodramatic—action which relieve the even flow of the story are the finest features of the play.

"A coarse-grained farmer, Martin Berry, and his amiable wife, with their children, have been skillfully grouped round the central figure of a gentle-hearted old man, Nat Berry, a type of unassuming abnegation, love and tenderness. The plot, if plot there be, is all summed up in one long conflict between Nat's kinder, higher nature, and his brother Martin's hard, grasping character. It closes with the victory of the good old man and Martin's penitence.

"Among a score of other life-like figures whose acquaintance we make are a resentful self-willed daughter and her sweetheart, a free-thinking doctor, a group of life-like rustics and some of the least objectionable children I remember having seen on the boards.

"The third and shortest act takes place in the interior of a lighthouse, and introduces an effective storm scene. The denouement is extremely unconventional, and the curtain comes down slowly on the figure of old Nat silently retiring to his bedroom in the farmhouse, which, by his devotion, he has rescued from his brother's creditors.

"The play is elaborately, far too elaborately, staged, the lighthouse and storm scenes being particularly effective, and it is admirably played by the whole company.

GILMORE'S BAND.

A few days ago Gilmore's band, which will be at the Lyceum on April 20, appeared in Atlanta, Ga., and the Journal of that city said:

"It was clearly demonstrated last night that, great as was Gilmore's band when it was swayed by Patrick Gilmore's magic wand, it is greater still under Victor Herbert's masterful leadership. Herbert is great in all those attributes which combine to make the great musician. As composer he is original and strong; as violoncellist he is the finished artist; as conductor he is graceful and magnetic. He controls his bands so easily that the hearer cannot understand how he obtains such marvelous results. What Theodore Thomas is to be the symphony orchestra, Victor Herbert is to the military band. Every member on last night's program was so vehemently applauded that encore after encore had to be given. Victor Herbert made concessions to the popular taste and threw in several light and tuneful selections after the more pretentious works. Thus did he satisfy all classes of listeners.

The soloists acquitted themselves brilliantly. Madame Louise Natali won a distinct success and captured her hearers. She is a true artist who illustrates the greatness of Madame Marchesi, her distinguished teacher.

The violoncello solos of Mr. Herbert were delightfully played, and all the other soloists did equally efficient work.

MRS. SCOTT-SIDDONS.

In April Mrs. Scott-Siddons, the famous elocutionist, will appear at the Lyceum under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor societies. No English woman visiting our shores and submitting herself to the popular judgment has ever achieved so large a share of merited praise as Mrs. Scott-Siddons. She is admired for the classic loveliness of her face, the sweetness of her disposition, the unspeakable charm of her presence, and for the incomparable talent she undoubtedly inherits from her renowned ancestress, the great Sarah Siddons. Mrs. Scott-Siddons has been among us so long, is identified so closely with all branches of the drama in our country that we have learned to forget her English birth and love to regard her as the fairest type of American womanhood. By the careful pursuit of the mission marked out for herself in earlier years, she has won a place upon the scroll of fame that will endure forever.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons will be assisted by Mrs. Clara Murray, harpiste, who is undoubtedly one of the foremost harpists of America. The Minneapolis Journal said of Mrs. Murray's playing:

"Mrs. Murray's mastery of the harp that most expressive instrument, was a revelation. She is of modest and sweet appearance, and plays with a grace in perfect accord with the harmony her trained fingers evoke. Her technique is that of an artist in love with her instrument, and aside from her wonderful instrumentation, she gives life and spirit to the tone."

PROFESSOR WALTER SIMS.

The announcement that Professor Walter Sims is to "Expose the Secret Conspiracy of the A. P. A." at the Temple Opera house on Friday night, April 5, has occasioned considerable surprise and comment in both Protestant and Catholic circles. Mr. Sims, until his withdrawal a few weeks ago was the recognized leader of the A. P. A. movement in America. In fact he was the only noted advocate of the order. At the time of Mr. Sims' withdrawal a sensation was created when he openly charged a secret conspiracy in the order. Mr. Sims is a bold and fearless talker and in all probability he will hurl some fiery shots in his lecture. He undoubtedly will make some sensational and startling revelations about the workings of the A. P. A. order.

"ALABAMA" AT THE TEMPLE.

Notwithstanding the fact that the News Tribune gave a month's subscription with every ticket to "Alabama," last night there was a fairly large attendance and the parquet was comfortably filled, though the dress circle was not, only about 100 persons being in it. Everything points to a better house tonight.

"Alabama" is one of the sweetest and most charming stage pictures of sectional characters and customs ever put on the stage in this country. Those who are acquainted with the scenes in which the action of the play tak es place speak highly of the truth of Augustus Thomas' portrtaits. Those bred in northern latitudes can only say that whether the play is true to the life it attempts to picture or not, it all looks very pretty and natural as though it might exist line for line somewhere.

The plot is not at all extraordinary, and the disproportion of table of action in different settings would result in a miserable failure. But such is the charm of the soft, broad, Southern drawl, which, by the way, is imitated to perfection by the members of the company, of the gentle Southern chivalry, and hospitality, and the strength of the character drawing which fills the play, that interest never flags from the initial rise to the final fall of the curtain. Though "Alabama" cannot with justice be called the greatest American play, since it represents but one section of America, it is certainly a noble dramatic production, and it will have a long lease of life on the American stage.

The company is much changed since "Alabama" was last seen here several years ago, and the changes are not all for the better. Yet, on the whole, the presentation is satisfactory and well balanced. Frank C. Bangs is Col. Preston, a living monument to a sustained sectional animosity, and his work is probably the most satisfactory part of the play. As the old planter, childish, yet strong in his feeling of bitterness against those who have wrecked his cause and his happiness, he is excellent.

George B. Miller played Col. Moberly, a typical Southerner, from his slouch hat and shoe string tie to his gallant "I kiss yo' hand," and he filled his part with truth and grace. L. P. Hicks as Squire Tucker, was satisfactorily amusing. Clement Bainbridge was excellent as Capt. Davenport, and Bingley Falls as Mr. Armstrong looked well, but had poor control of his inflection. Charles Moore as Lathrop Page was somewhat youthful in his methods, but at times filled what was required of him. E. E. Raymond, as Raymond Page, made a melodramatic villain who bit his lip too much and didn't accord with his surroundings. Edward Maas as Decatur was good.

Inez Knowiton as Mrs. Page was thought somewhat lifeless. Miss McElroy and Ethel Irving had little to do. Emylin Barr as Atlanta Moberly was very "cute," though somewhat gauche in her movements.

Tonight the coupon opprobrium will be removed from the performance and it is to be hoped that when "Alabama" returns it will not be saddled with such a handicap. Though the house below was fair last night, the credit is due the reputation of the play. There was a good crowd in the gallery, and there were people there who never saw a performance from the gallery before.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Max Wirth's drug store. Regular size, 50c and $1.

Princess of Wales Going to Copenhagen to Visit Her Parents.

At the Same Time the Prince Will Visit Lady Brooke.

Premier Rosebery Now Able to Sleep Without Use of Narcotics.

London, March 30.—(Copyrighted, 1895, by the Associated Press.)—With the Prince of Wales' return from the river, the announcement is made that the princess of Wales is going to Copenhagen next week on a visit to her parents, taking the queen of Denmark. This has started gossip afresh and has brought into prominence the fact that the prince and princess of Wales seldom remain in the same country together. The princess has spent very little time in England during the past two years. Incidentally it is announced that the prince of Wales will soon pay another visit to the earl and countess of Warwick, the latter being more generally known as the famous beauty, Lady Brooke, her former title.

During the stay of the prince of Wales at the Riveria his partiality for Americans, especially for American ladies, was again remarked with many flattering comments from expectant Britishers hovering near. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winslow and Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Goelet were seen to be on terms of intimacy with the prince which were enjoyed by but few English people.

In the prince of Wales' set much regret is expressed at the fact that the gale of Saturday last did much damage in the grounds of Sandringham palace, the residence of the prince. It is said that the loss through the storm will foot up over $10,000. Among the trees blown down were some planted by the prince of Wales himself, which had special historical interest.

Influenza is no longer a startling feature of London, although many victims of the epidemic are still on the debatable ground between recovery and relapse. The Lancet and British Medical Journal both announce that Lord Rosebery has gained strength greatly, and that he was able this week to sleep without the use of narcotics. At the same time it is learned from a most excellent source that the premier's physicians are much alarmed on account of the fact that his stomach has given out and that his system refuses to respond to stimulants. On top of this the premier insists upon attending daily to certain business which makes the situation unfavorable to recovery.

Both the Lancet and British Medical Journal finally admit that the duke of York, heir presumptive to the throne, is suffering from a mild form of influenza.

A subscription has been opened for James McN. Whistler by the Pall Mall Gazette, and a number of artists are contributing to the fund.

An interesting point which has arisen in connection with the Oxford and Cambridge boat race, and one which will interest college men in all countries, is the question of cost of sending a team to Putney from the great English universities. A representative of the Associated Press during the week asked this question of the Rev. E. Sherwood, master of Magdalen college schools, honorary treasurer of the Oxford University Boat club, a member of the Oxford crews of 1873 and 1874, and one of those admirable divines who do not find preaching a bar against an ardent love of honest sport. He said the crew of Putney costs about £500.

The revenue of the O. U. B. C. comes from three sources. The principal one is life membership fees from new men. Every man who intends participating in any college races at Oxford is obliged to join the O. U. B. C. and become a life member by paying £5 10s. The new men average about 150 a year. Secondly, there is the entrance fee of £5 for each boat in the college races. This produces about £260. Thirdly, there is a capital grant from each of the colleges. A college having 100 men will pay £200 and one having fifty men will pay £10 We could, of course, ask for more in the event of a deficiency, but we prefer to keep it about as above. The capitation grant brings in nearly £200, so our yearly income is about £2650. It takes the whole of it to meet our expenses for club houses, barges, etc., and any little surplus that remains goes to reduce the debt on our club house. We pay only the extra expenses of the men, providing the boat, of course.

The Cambridge University Boat club does not get its funds in quite the same manner as Oxford, as each man on joining his college club at Cambridge does not subscribe to the university boat club. The university makes an estimate of the expenses in the beginning of the year of college clubs. The assessment last year was for about £1000—18½ per cent of the college clubs' incomes. Of this sum £450 was required for Putney.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, executed and delivered by Margaret M. Brisbin and John B. Brisbin, her husband, mortgagors, to Alexander Macrae, mortgagee, dated December 27th, 1892, and recorded in the register of deeds office of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on January 6th, 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book one hundred three (103) of mortgages, on page two hundred eighty-four (284), which mortgage was duly assigned, with the debt thereby secured, to Milton Homet, by an instrument dated January 6th, 1893, and recorded in the register of deeds' office of said county on January 11, 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book eighty-three (83) of mortgages, on page three hundred thirty-two (332); such default consisting in the non-payment of the two semi-annual installments of interest upon the debt secured by said mortgage, each amounting to the sum of $120, which became due, respectively, on July 1, 1894, and January 1, 1895, by reason whereof the said assignee of said mortgage has elected to exercise the option to him given in said mortgage, and has declared and does hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, with all accrued interest thereon, to be now due and payable;

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of three thousand two hundred ninety-one and 30-100 ($3291.30) dollars, principal, interest and exchange;

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described herein, viz:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

The east one-half (e½) of the west one-half (w½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) of section one (1), in township forty-nine (49), north of range fifteen (15), west of the 4th P. M. according to the government survey thereof; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the sixteenth (16) day of April, 1895, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Barbara M. Kriz, widow, mortgagor, to Conrad Kalb, mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1894, with a power of sale therein contained, which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2500) and interest thereon, according to the conditions of one promissory note for $2500.00, due in five (5) years, with ten interest coupons attached thereto, each coupon being for a payment of semi-annual interest as therein specified and drawing interest after maturity at the rate of eight (8) per cent, all bearing even date with said mortgage, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 15th day of September, 1891, at four (4) o'clock p. m., in Book 76 of mortgages on page 85, and

Whereas default has been made by the said mortgagor in the payment of the two semi-annual installments of interest of $100.00 each due on said note and mortgage, on the 1st day of July, 1894, and on the 1st day of January, 1895, respectively, amounting to the sum of two hundred dollars ($200), as specified in the coupons therefor attached to said mortgage note and bearing even date with said mortgage, and

Whereas the said mortgagor covenanted in said mortgage to keep the buildings on said mortgaged premises insured for not less than the sum of twenty-seven hundred dollars ($2700), payable in case of loss to said mortgagee to the amount secured by said mortgage and to pay all taxes and assessments that might be duly assessed on said premises, or any part thereof, and that in case of a failure to so keep the buildings insured and such taxes paid as in such mortgage provided, then the said mortgagee might effect such insurance and pay such taxes and assessments, and all sums by him paid therefor should become an additional lien upon said premises and collectible as a part of said mortgage and bear interest at the rate of eight (8) per cent; and

Whereas, default has been made by the said mortgagor in keeping the buildings on said premises insured and paying the taxes and assessments assessed against said premises, and the said mortgagee has, by reason thereof, effected insurance thereon and paid therefor the sum of thirty dollars ($30) and paid as taxes and assessments assessed thereon, the sum of one hundred twenty-six dollars and seventy-five cents ($126.75), with claims an additional lien on said premises for the sums so paid; and

Whereas, said mortgage contains a covenant that if default be made in any of the conditions or covenants in said mortgage contained, to be kept and performed by said mortgagor, then the whole sum shall become due and payable without notice, at the election of the said mortgagee, and by reason thereof the said mortgagee has elected to declare and does hereby declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is therefore claimed and declared to be due and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of $2500.00, principal and interest, $100.00 insurance paid by said mortgagee, and $126.75 paid as taxes and assessments, and $100.00 attorneys fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure hereof; and

Whereas, no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been commenced to recover the debt secured by said mortgage and insurance and taxes paid by said mortgagee, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative by reason of the defaults and election above mentioned and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described and covered by said mortgage, to-wit: Lot fifty (50), block fifty-one (51), Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, which said premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said mortgage debt and insurance, taxes and assessments paid by the said mortgagee on said premises, and one hundred dollars ($100) as attorneys' fees, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth in said county and state, on the 8th day of April, 1895, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale, as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Patrick S. Barry on the 1st day of December, 1891, mortgaged to Carleton College lot No. one hundred and thirty-three, of block No. forty-four, Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the survey and plat of said division on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, to secure the payment of one hundred dollars with interest thereon, at eight per cent, November 1st, 1894. This mortgage was filed for record Dec. 12th, 1891, in the office of the register of deeds of said county of St. Louis, and was duly recorded in Book 49 of mortgages, on page 616.

There is now due on the debt secured by said mortgage, for principal and interest, the sum of one hundred and eleven dollars and ninety-four cents, no action has been brought for the recovery of any part of the same due from the mortgagor, and default has been made in the payment of the same.

Therefore, in pursuance of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and of the statute in such case made and provided, the above described parcel of land will be sold by the sheriff of St. Louis County, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, at the front door of the county court house, in Duluth, Minnesota, on Monday, the 22nd day of April, 1895, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to satisfy the amount then due on the debt secured by said mortgage, with interest and the costs and disbursements of this foreclosure, including an attorney fee of twenty-five dollars provided in said mortgage.
